Re: Commonwealth of Pennsylvania & State of New Jersey v. President United States of America et al., Nos. 17-3752, 18-1253, 19-1129, 19-1189 (Argued May 21, 2019) (McKee, Shwartz, Fuentes)

Dear Ms. Dodszuweit:

The Appellee States respectfully write to bring a matter to the Court's attention and to respond to the June 10, 2019, letter filed by Intervenor.

First, the States respectfully inform the Court that the Supreme Court today denied certiorari in California v. Azar, 911 F.3d 558 (9th Cir. 2018), cert. denied, Little Sisters of the Poor v. California, 18-1192 (order list attached).

Second, the States respectfully respond to Intervenor's recent 28(j) letter. That letter argues that DeOtte v. Azar, 4:18-cv-00825 (N.D. Tex. 2019), shows "that the agencies were right" in issuing the rules at issue in this case. In DeOtte—like the other injunctions on which Intervenor relies—the agencies did not contest plaintiffs' claims.¹ Intervenor reasons that the agencies' issuance of rules creating broad exemptions from the mandate is justified by the subsequent decision of those same agencies not to contest lawsuits seeking exemptions from the mandate. Even the agencies have not made this circular argument.

In fact, DeOtte demonstrates why courts exercise caution in relying on judicial decisions made without adversarial briefing. A cursory review of the decision raises several serious questions. For instance, there is a significant question concerning whether the claims are time-barred; the classes certified seem to include plaintiffs whose claims are prohibited by res judicata, including the individual plaintiffs in Real Alternatives; and the decision rests on a factually inaccurate argument—also advanced by Intervenor here—regarding prior assertions made by the government in earlier litigation.²

Eight of the nine circuits to address the issue before Zubik—in cases the government did defend—held that the accommodation did not violate RFRA. Those decisions were correct, as this Court recognized in Real Alternatives. And based on the sound reasoning of those decisions, the rules cannot be justified.

Respectfully submitted,

² Intervenor suggests (at 1-2) that this argument was acknowledged by the Supreme Court in Zubik, and (at 1) that the States have made similar “concessions” to those they allege the government made. Neither claim finds any support in the material Intervenor cites.
