MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT OF RESPONDENTS
LOUISIANA CHILDREN'S MEDICAL CENTER AND HCA HEALTHCARE, INC.

Respondents Louisiana Children’s Medical Center and HCA Healthcare, Inc. (“the Hospitals”) hereby move for summary judgment in Case No. 23-cv-1890 against the Federal Trade Commission pursuant to Rule 56 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The Commission’s petition asserts that the Hospitals violated Section 7A of the Clayton Antitrust Act, 15 U.S.C. § 18a, by consummating their hospital acquisition without complying with Section 7A’s requirements of notice, disclosure, and a pre-merger waiting period. Invoking Section 7A(g)(2)(A) and (C), the Commission seeks an injunction (a) mandating that the Hospitals comply with Section 7A’s waiting period and disclosure requirements, (b) prohibiting any further integration of the Hospitals “until expiration of the statutory waiting period,” and (c) requiring LCMC to give the Commission 30 days’ notice “before acquiring any hospital or other medical facility, either directly or indirectly, in the State of Louisiana for the duration of the hold separate order,” regardless of whether it is required to do so under Section 7A. Dkt. 1 at 2, 9-10.

The Court should deny each of the Commission’s requests for injunctive relief and enter summary judgment in favor of the Hospitals. The petition fails on the merits because the Hospitals are entitled to state action immunity from the federal antitrust laws. The Hospitals are therefore entitled to a judgment entered in their favor stating that they did not violate Section 7A. Separately, the equities do not warrant injunctive relief. The public interest cuts sharply against enjoining an acquisition that was authorized and supervised by a State Legislature and State Attorney General, and is therefore exempt from federal antitrust laws under the state action doctrine.

As explained in the Hospitals’ accompanying memorandum of law, this case turns on three questions, all of which can be resolved on undisputed facts. The first question is whether the Hospitals’ acquisition satisfies the two well-established requirements for state action immunity. The material facts compelling that conclusion are largely a matter of public record, and none is subject to genuine dispute. The second question is whether state action immunity applies to Section 7A of the Clayton Antitrust Act. That is a purely legal question, and it should be decided in favor of the Hospitals and the State of Louisiana under a long line of Supreme Court precedent. The third question is whether the Commission can establish that the public interest favors enjoining an intra-state acquisition that the State of Louisiana has determined supports the public interest of the State, and has expressly immunized from federal antitrust law. Louisiana's assessment of the public interest of its citizens is again a matter of public record that cannot be genuinely disputed.

Accordingly, for the reasons set forth in the accompanying memorandum of law, the Hospitals move the Court to deny each of the Commission's requests for injunctive relief and enter summary judgment in favor of the Hospitals.

INTRODUCTION

The Supreme Court has long held that conduct attributable to States is exempt from “the federal antitrust laws.” FTC v. Phoebe Putney Health Sys., Inc., 568 U.S. 216, 219 (2013); Parker v. Brown, 317 U.S. 341, 351 (1943). Respondents Louisiana Children’s Medical Center (LCMC) and HCA Healthcare, Inc. (HCA) (“the Hospitals”) consummated a hospital acquisition that was authorized and supervised by the Louisiana Attorney General under a Louisiana statute that expressly grants immunity from federal antitrust laws. Under the state action immunity doctrine, the acquisition is exempt from “the federal antitrust laws.” Phoebe Putney, 568 U.S. at 219.

One federal antitrust law is Section 7A of the Clayton Antitrust Act. 15 U.S.C. § 18a. Section 7A is an enforcement tool for Section 7, which prohibits anticompetitive mergers. When it applies, Section 7A imposes a pre-merger waiting period that can last up to a year, notice to the Federal Trade Commission, and compliance with lengthy, burdensome, and expensive requests for information. Indeed, while the Commission has, in this litigation, almost exclusively focused on Section 7A’s pre-merger notification filing, compliance with Section 7A requires much more than just notice. Compliance is a lengthy process that routinely costs millions of dollars, entails voluminous productions of documents and sensitive company data, and imposes a waiting period that the Commission can extend to a year or more. That process exists, by design, only to enable the Commission to block consummation of mergers that would violate Section 7.

The Commission concedes that the state action doctrine applies to Section 7. There is also no legitimate dispute that the Hospitals’ acquisition qualifies for state action immunity. Nevertheless, the Commission asks this Court for an injunction under Section 7A that halts integration of the hospitals and mandates compliance with its waiting period and disclosure requirements.¹ The Commission makes this request on the unprecedented theory that Section 7A, uniquely among the federal antitrust laws, is carved out from the state action doctrine.

No injunction is warranted, and the Hospitals are entitled to summary judgment. On the merits, the Commission fails on both issues presented. First, the acquisition satisfies the “authorization” and “supervision” elements for state action immunity. Under Louisiana law, the State Attorney General issued a “certificate[] of public advantage” (COPA), along with a detailed set of terms and conditions implementing active supervision, thus placing the merged entity under State “supervision and control.” La. Stat. § 40:2254.1. Accordingly, for this transaction, the Legislature intends to “substitute state regulation ... for competition,” and “grant[] ... state action immunity ... [from] federal antitrust laws.” Id. Based on these legal provisions and undisputed facts, the acquisition meets the requirements for immunity as a matter of law.

Second, contrary to the Commission’s view, the state action doctrine applies to Section 7A of the Clayton Antitrust Act, just as it applies to the other federal antitrust laws. Like each of the other antitrust laws, Section 7A contains no clear statement that Congress intended it to apply to States or state-controlled mergers, or that it should be interpreted “to compromise the States’ ability to regulate their domestic commerce.” S. Motor Carriers Rate Conf., Inc. v. United States, 471 U.S. 48, 56 (1985). And—as this case vividly illustrates—applying Section 7A to state-controlled mergers would egregiously interfere with state regulatory programs.

Regardless of the merits as to Section 7A, moreover, the Commission cannot obtain injunctive relief because the discretionary factors overwhelmingly favor Respondents and the State. On the one hand, a pointless waiting period does not serve the public interest. And it would indeed be pointless. The purpose of Section 7A is to prevent consummation of mergers that violate Section 7, particularly to avoid the unscrambling problem that arises once an illegal merger has been consummated. For a merger that is exempt from Section 7, however, there will never be any basis to unscramble it, and Section 7A therefore serves no purpose. On the other hand, an injunction would affirmatively harm the public interest. The State of Louisiana has determined that the acquisition serves the interest of the people of the State. Enjoining integration would nullify that policy choice and severely impinge on the State's COPA program.

BACKGROUND

A. The Hospitals' Acquisition Was Implemented Under Louisiana's COPA Program, Which Displaces Federal Antitrust Law For Hospital Mergers

Louisiana is one of 19 States that have enacted COPA statutes. SOME ¶¶ 1–2. Louisiana's statute creates a regulatory program to authorize healthcare mergers and place them under State "supervision and control." La. Stat. § 40:2254.1. The statute dictates "the intent of the legislature" to "substitute state regulation of [healthcare] facilities for competition between facilities," and to "grant[] ... state action immunity ... [from] federal antitrust laws." Id.

The Louisiana Attorney General (AG), as head of the Louisiana Department of Justice ("Department") is tasked with administering the statute. Parties may apply to the Department for a "certificate of public advantage" (COPA). Id. § 40:2254.4. After review, the Department may grant a COPA, subject to "terms and conditions," only if it "finds that the agreement is likely to result in lower health care costs or is likely to result in improved access to health care or higher quality health care without any undue increase in health care costs." Id.

After approval, the Department must "active[ly] supervis[e]" the merger. Id. § 40:2254.9(3). The Department has authority to promulgate supervision regulations, enforce compliance with a COPA’s terms and conditions, and ultimately to “revoke a certificate.” Id.; see id. §§ 40:2254.4, 40:2254.6(A); La. Admin. Code tit. 48, pt. XXV, § 517.

The Hospitals applied for COPA approval on October 10, 2022. SOMF ¶ 13. LCMC is non-profit, community-based health system based in New Orleans, Louisiana. Id. ¶ 15. HCA owned and operated three Louisiana hospitals through a joint venture with Tulane University of Louisiana. Id. ¶ 16. Under the transaction (the “Acquisition”), LCMC would acquire Tulane University Medical Center, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital. Id. ¶ 17. The Acquisition was designed to increase access to high-quality clinical services and health care in the New Orleans region and to expand hubs for specialty care, innovation, and academic medicine. Id. ¶ 19. LCMC committed to making $220 million in capital investments to modernize the facilities (such as investing in robotic surgical systems), offer new medical services (such as kidney, pancreas, liver, bone marrow, and stem cell transplants), and add new specialty care units. Id. ¶¶ 20, 62.

The Department reviewed the application’s detailed substantive information regarding the transaction, the facilities, and the likely effects on health care and competition in the state. Id. ¶¶ 22–28. The Department obtained input from expert consultants, and from the public through a notice and comment period and public hearing. Id. ¶ 23–26. Based on this review, the Department concluded that the Acquisition “is likely to result in lower health care costs or is likely to result in improved access to health care or higher quality health care without any undue increase in health care costs.” La. Stat. § 40:2254.4; SOMF ¶¶ 27, 29. The Department approved the Acquisition and granted a COPA on December 28, 2022. SOMF ¶ 29.

The COPA’s “Terms and Conditions” provide for comprehensive supervision. Id. ¶¶ 30–34, 36–38. Under the “Rate Review” provision, LCMC “may not contract with a third-party payor for a change in rates” without prior written approval. Id. ¶ 31. LCMC must also submit quarterly, semi-annual, and annual reports, enabling the Department to ensure that LCMC’s activity remains consistent with the State’s policy goals. Id. ¶¶ 32–33. If the Department determines at any time that LCMC’s activities are not consistent with those policy goals, it may impose “a plan to correct any deficiency.” Id. ¶ 33. And the Department may “revoke the COPA” if it is “not satisfied with any submitted corrective action plan,” if LCMC fails to comply with the Terms and Conditions, or if the Department “otherwise determines that the transaction is not resulting in lower health care costs or greater access to or quality of health care.” Id. ¶ 34. Relying on the COPA and the Department’s supervision, the Hospitals closed the transaction on January 1, 2023, and announced the closing on January 3, 2023. Id. ¶ 35.

B. Federal Law Regulates Mergers Under Sections 7 And 7A Of The Clayton Act

The principal federal statutes regulating mergers are Section 7 and Section 7A of the Clayton Antitrust Act. Under Section 7, “[n]o person shall acquire” ownership or assets of “another person” if “the effect of such acquisition may be substantially to lessen competition.” 15 U.S.C. § 18.

The Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act (HSR) added Section 7A. Id. § 18a. It prohibits consummation of mergers without notice to the Commission, imposes a pre-merger waiting period, and conditions the ending of that waiting period on compliance with the Commission’s information requests. Id. The purpose of Section 7A is to enable federal antitrust authorities to assess and prevent mergers that violate Section 7, and to avoid the difficulty of unwinding an illegal merger after it has already been consummated. H.R. Rep. No. 94-1373, p. 5 (1976). The Commission wields control over the length of the waiting period and the scope of the information requests, which typically cover a wide range of sensitive company documents and information. This process, known as a “second request” for information, can last up to a year or more. § 18a(e)(1)(A); SOMF ¶¶ 45, 48–49. The cost of responding to a second request routinely exceeds $4 million and can reach $20 million. SOMF ¶¶ 45–47, 50. Parties who merge without compliance are subject to daily penalties that can exceed $50,000 per day. § 18a(g)(1); SOMF ¶ 44. Section 7A also authorizes the Commission to seek injunctive relief. But injunctive relief is discretionary: A court “may order compliance,” and “may grant such other equitable relief as the court in its discretion determines is necessary or appropriate.” § 18a(g)(2)(A), (C).

C. The Commission Seeks To Enforce Section 7A Against The Hospitals’ State-Controlled Merger

To the Hospitals’ knowledge, the Commission has never enforced Section 7A against a COPA-approved merger. Instead, the Commission has submitted comments and participated in state-led hearings during COPA review processes without raising Sections 7 or 7A. SOMF ¶ 39.

The Commission has now reversed course. Here, it did not participate in the COPA process. Id. ¶ 40. Three months after the Acquisition closed, the Commission insisted that the Hospitals make a Section 7A filing and halt integration of the hospitals while it determined whether the transaction violates Section 7, and threatened penalties for failure to comply. Id. ¶¶ 41–43. After the Hospitals sought declaratory relief in this Court, the Commission filed this petition in the District of Columbia, asserting that the Acquisition violated Section 7A. Dkt. 1.

The petition seeks an injunction (a) mandating that the Hospitals comply with Section 7A’s waiting period and disclosure requirements, (b) prohibiting any further integration of the Hospitals “until expiration of the statutory waiting period,” and (c) requiring LCMC to give the Commission 30 days’ notice “before acquiring any hospital or other medical facility, either directly or indirectly, in the State of Louisiana for the duration of the hold separate order,” regardless of whether it is required to do so under Section 7A. Dkt. 1 at 2, 9–10. As authority for these requests, the Commission invokes § 18a(g)(2)(A) and (C). Id. at 2.

The Hospitals moved to transfer the petition to this Court. In opposition, the Commission argued that the court should not even decide the underlying immunity question. Dkt. 25 at 13, 17. According to the Commission, Louisiana’s COPA statute and the Louisiana AG’s approval and supervision of the Acquisition were irrelevant, and the only question was whether state action immunity applies to Section 7A, so there was no need to transfer the case to Louisiana. Id.

Judge Amy Berman Jackson disagreed and transferred the case to this Court on May 23, 2023. Dkt. 31. One part of Judge Jackson’s reasoning remains particularly relevant now. As she explained, “the essential fact here that cannot be ignored is that Louisiana has already granted the COPA and the transaction has already taken place.” Id. at 21. Thus, “the state action question”—that is, whether this transaction meets the requirements for state action immunity—“must be resolved first.” Id. at 22. After all, if the Acquisition is “exempt” from “federal antitrust enforcement”—meaning the FTC cannot obtain relief against the merger under the Clayton Act, regardless of what it determines the Acquisition’s competitive effects to be—then requiring a waiting period and costly compliance with information requests would be “an empty exercise now.” Id. For those reasons, transfer was warranted to permit this Court to determine “the effect of the COPA.” Id.

After the case was transferred, this Court granted the Hospitals permission to move for summary judgment. No. 23-cv-1305, Dkt. 67.

LEGAL STANDARD

Standard for summary judgment. Summary judgment is proper if there is no genuine issue of material fact and the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c). While the court must draw reasonable inferences in favor of the nonmovant, the nonmoving party must do “more than simply show that there is some metaphysical doubt as to the material facts.” Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co., Ltd. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586 (1986).

Standard for injunctive relief. Injunctive relief is discretionary under Section 7A, which provides that the Court “may order compliance,” and “may grant such other equitable relief as the court in its discretion determines necessary or appropriate.” 15 U.S.C. § 18a(g)(2)(A), (C). To obtain an injunction, the Commission must demonstrate that the Hospitals violated Section 7A, see id. § 18a(g)(2), and that the well-established equitable factors favor injunctive relief. See, e.g., VRC LLC v. City of Dallas, 460 F.3d 607, 611 (5th Cir. 2009) (requiring proof of “success on the merits,” “irreparable injury,” balancing of harms, and showing of “public interest”). “Mandatory injunctions are particularly disfavored,” moreover, “and are generally not granted “unless extreme or very serious damage will result.” FTC v. Lake, 181 F. Supp. 3d 692, 704 (C.D. Cal. 2016). At minimum, in all cases the Commission must demonstrate that the “public equities” favor an injunction. See FTC v. CCC Holdings Inc., 605 F. Supp. 2d 26, 35–36 (D.D.C. 2009).

ARGUMENT

I. THE ACQUISITION SATISFIES THE REQUIREMENTS FOR STATE ACTION IMMUNITY

A. Conduct Attributable To A State Is Exempt From The Federal Antitrust Laws

The Supreme Court has long presumed that Congress—absent a clear statement to the contrary—would “not intend to compromise the States’ ability to regulate their domestic commerce.” Motor Carriers, 471 U.S. at 56; accord Parker, 317 U.S. at 351. Accordingly, the Court has consistently interpreted federal antitrust statutes to exempt “state action or official action directed by a state.” Parker, 317 U.S. at 351. “Relying on principles of federalism and state sovereignty,” the state action doctrine provides that “the federal antitrust laws” do “not apply to anticompetitive restraints imposed by the States ‘as an act of government.’” City of Columbia v. Omni Outdoor Advert., 499 U.S. 365, 370 (1991).

The Court first applied this principle in Parker, holding that the phrase “[e]very person” in the Sherman Act was insufficiently clear to include States or “official action directed by a state.”

317 U.S. at 351. The Court has since applied this to merger challenges under Section 7 of the Clayton Act, Phoebe Putney, 568 U.S. at 222–25, and has repeatedly held “that federal antitrust laws are subject to supersession by state regulatory programs.” FTC v. Ticor Title Ins. Co., 504 U.S. 621, 632–33 (1992); see Hunnicut v. Tafoya-Lucero, 2022 WL 832566, at *4 (D.N.M. Mar. 21, 2022) (“The state action exemption ... appl[ies] to all of the federal antitrust laws.”).

Crucially, the exemption extends to “nonstate actors carrying out the State’s regulatory program.” Phoebe Putney, 568 U.S. at 219. This is essential, the Court has explained, to avoid “compromis[ing] the States’ ability to regulate their domestic commerce.” Motor Carriers, 471 U.S. at 56. “If Parker immunity were limited to the actions of public officials, ... a State would be unable to implement programs that restrain competition among private parties.” Id. Any “plaintiff could frustrate” the State’s regulatory program “merely by filing suit against the regulated private parties, rather than the state officials who implement the plan.” Id. at 56–57.

In light of those concerns, “anticompetitive acts of private parties are entitled to immunity” if they satisfy two elements. Phoebe Putney, 568 U.S. at 225; see Cal. Retail Liquor Dealers Ass’n v. Midcal Alum., Inc., 445 U.S. 97, 105 (1980) (adopting the two-part test). First, the State must have authorized the challenged anticompetitive conduct—it must be “clearly articulated and affirmatively expressed as state policy.” Phoebe Putney, 568 U.S. at 225. “[N]o express mention of anticompetitive conduct” is required. Town of Hallie v. City of Eau Claire, 471 U.S. 34, 41–42 (1985). But “the State must have foreseen and implicitly endorsed the anticompetitive effects.” N.C. State Bd. of Dental Exam’rs v. FTC, 574 U.S. 494, 507 (2015).

Second, the conduct must be “actively supervised” by the State. Phoebe Putney, 568 U.S. at 225 (quoting Midcal, 445 U.S. at 105). Active supervision means “that state officials have and exercise power to review particular anticompetitive acts of private parties and disapprove those that fail to accord with state policy.” Dental Exam’rs, 574 U.S. at 507. Its purpose is “not to determine whether the State has met some normative standard, such as efficiency,” Ticor, 504 U.S. at 634, but to ensure that the State “exercise[s] ultimate control over” the challenged conduct, id. This is an “objective standard[,]” and “does not depend on the subjective motivation of the individual actors.” DFW Metro Line Servs. V. Sw. Bell Tel. Corp., 988 F.2d 601, 605 (5th Cir. 1993). To satisfy active supervision, a state official must (1) “have the power to veto or modify” the challenged conduct, (2) “review the substance of the anticompetitive decision,” and (3) make a “decision” that the conduct “accord[s] with state policy.” Dental Exam’rs, 574 U.S. at 515.

B. The Acquisition Is Attributable To The State Of Louisiana

The State’s express grant of immunity, and its “supervision and control,” La. Stat. § 40:2254.1, of the Acquisition, far exceed these two requirements.

1. For clear articulation, the Louisiana Legislature unequivocally authorized “mergers ... and consolidations among health care facilities for which certificates of public advantage are granted.” La. Stat. § 40:2254.1. The express “intent of the legislature” is to “substitute state regulation ... for competition,” and to “grant[] ... state action immunity” from “federal antitrust laws.” Id. This crystal clear statement authorizing and immunizing COPA-approved mergers goes well beyond “implicitly endors[ing]” allegedly anticompetitive conduct. Dental Exam’rs, 574 U.S. at 507. There is no question that “suppression of competition is the ‘foreseeable result’” of the COPA statute. Columbia, 499 U.S. at 373. The statute as implemented here meets the clear articulation requirement. See, e.g., DFW Metro Line, 988 F.2d at 605 (statute provided that state “regulation shall operate as a substitute for ... competition”).

2. Next, the Department’s review and approval of the Acquisition satisfies active supervision. The Department had power to veto or modify the Acquisition, reviewed its substance, and affirmatively decided to allow the Acquisition as consistent with state policy.

a. The first step in any active-supervision inquiry is to identify the “particular anticompetitive acts” that must be supervised. Dental Exam’rs, 574 U.S. at 507, 515; DFW Metro Line, 988 F.2d at 605–06 (court must “identif[y] the challenged conduct” to evaluate “active supervision”). Here, the challenged act is the closing of LCMC’s Acquisition on January 1, 2023, which the Commission asserts violated Section 7A. Dkt. 1 ¶¶ 5, 10, 13.

Under Louisiana’s COPA statute, the Department had “power to veto or modify” the Acquisition as required for immunity. Dental Exam’rs, 574 U.S. at 515. The statute empowers the Department to grant or deny a COPA, and an application is automatically denied unless the Department acts. La. Stat. § 40:2254.4(A)–(C). The Department could also modify the Acquisition by imposing “terms and conditions” on approval of the COPA, id. § 40:2254.4(C), or by denying the COPA outright unless the Acquisition was modified.

The Department also “review[ed] the substance of” the Acquisition. Dental Exam’rs, 574 U.S. at 515. The application exhaustively detailed the substance of the Acquisition and its likely effects on health care and competition. SOMF ¶ 18. The Department reviewed the application and the substance of the Acquisition, retained expert consultants, provided a public notice-and-comment period, received input from a wide range of stakeholders, and held a public hearing on December 8, 2022. Id. ¶¶ 22–28. Based on that review, the Department affirmatively decided that the challenged conduct “accord[s] with state policy.” Dental Exam’rs, 574 U.S. at 515; SOMF ¶ 29. Specifically, the Department concluded that the Acquisition “is likely to result in lower health care costs or ... in improved access to health care or higher quality health care without any undue increase in health care costs.” La. Stat. § 40:2254.4; SOMF ¶¶ 27, 29. The Department accordingly approved the Acquisition and granted a COPA. Id. ¶ 29.

These undisputed facts easily meet the governing standard for active supervision. See Dental Exam'rs, 574 U.S. at 515. These circumstances are worlds apart from cases rejecting active supervision, where there was no state actor involved at all in the decision, id.; see Patrick v. Burget, 486 U.S. 94, 102 (1988); or where the anticompetitive conduct would take effect by default, subject only to a “negative option” by a passive state actor, Ticor, 504 U.S. at 638.

b. The Commission appears to contend that the Court must assess whether the Department has engaged in ongoing supervision after the Acquisition closed on January 1, 2023. See Dkt. 28 at 16. Not so. The relevant time for assessing immunity is the date when the Acquisition closed (January 1, 2023) because that is when the alleged violation of Section 7A occurred. That follows from the statute’s text and purpose. The operative provision of Section 7A prohibits persons from “acquir[ing]” assets without observing the waiting period, and it is the “acqu[isition]” that triggers liability. 15 U.S.C. § 18a(a). Thus, the question is whether the State has supervised the acquisition itself, not what follows after the acquisition. That makes sense because the purpose of the statute is to identify and prevent anticompetitive mergers before they are consummated.

Even if post-acquisition supervision were required for purposes of section 7, the only forward-looking question for purposes of Section 7A would be whether there are procedures in place at the time of closing that facially provide for supervision in the future.² Any further inquiry would arise only in a subsequent, as-applied challenge under Section 7, not in an enforcement action for retroactive compliance with Section 7A. Cf. Ticor, 504 U.S. at 629–31, 638–40 (reviewing as-applied challenge to supervision of price fixing regulation).

And here, the COPA’s terms and conditions facially provide for ongoing supervision. SOMF ¶¶ 30–34, 36–38. Under these provisions, the Department controls prices charged to third-party payors, which LCMC may not change without “prior written approval.” Id. ¶ 31. LCMC is subject to regular reporting requirements regarding its progress towards various quality, cost, and access benchmarks, the first of which was filed on May 31, 2023. Id. ¶¶ 32, 36, 38. The AG also controls LCMC’s ongoing activities, and may at any time impose “a plan to correct any deficiency” if “an activity of [LCMC] is inconsistent with the [State’s] policy goals.” Id. ¶ 33. Finally, the AG may “revoke the COPA” for failure to comply with supervision conditions or if the “transaction is not resulting in lower health care costs or greater access to or quality of health care.” Id. ¶ 34. These procedures satisfy active supervision against the Commission’s facial challenge.

Indeed, even in a context where ongoing supervision is necessary, “[a]ctive supervision need not entail day-to-day involvement in [a supervised entity’s] operations or micromanagement of its every decision.” Dental Exam’rs, 574 U.S. at 494. The State’s “review mechanisms” need only provide “‘realistic assurance’ that [the challenged] anticompetitive conduct ‘promotes state policy, rather than merely the party’s individual interests.’” Dental Exam’rs, 574 U.S. at 515 (citation omitted). That is precisely what the COPA’s supervision provisions accomplish.

II. THE STATE ACTION DOCTRINE APPLIES TO SECTION 7A OF THE CLAYTON ACT

A. The Federalism And Textual Rationales For The State Action Doctrine Apply With Full Force To Section 7A

The only question, then, is whether state action immunity applies to Section 7A of the Clayton Antitrust Act, just as it applies to Section 7. It does. Mergers attributable to a State are “exempt” from “the federal antitrust laws.” Phoebé Putney, 568 U.S. at 219. Section 7A is a federal antitrust law. Like the Sherman Act and Section 7 of the Clayton Act, Section 7A applies only to a “person,” not a State, and lacks a clear statement that Congress intended “to compromise the States’ ability to regulate their domestic commerce.” Motor Carriers, 471 U.S. at 56. Federalism principles, too, apply equally to Section 7A, and Section 7A undercuts state COPA programs by imposing waiting periods and penalties on state-controlled mergers.

1. Section 7A of the Clayton Antitrust Act is indisputably a federal antitrust law in both form and function. It exists to prevent mergers that would violate Section 7 because they “substantially lessen competition.” 15 U.S.C. § 18; see United States v. Smithfield Foods, Inc., 332 F. Supp. 2d 55, 58 (D.D.C. 2004). Its key provisions prohibit mergers during a waiting period and authorize the Commission to demand information solely for the purpose of assisting a Section 7 challenge. 15 U.S.C. § 18a(a). Section 7A then imposes penalties for merging without observing the waiting period, enforceable “in a civil action brought by the United States.” Id. § 18a(g)(1). These penalties are a form of antitrust liability, as “there can be no reasonable dispute that an HSR Act civil penalty action arises ‘under the antitrust laws.’” United States v. Blavatnik, 168 F. Supp. 3d 36, 41 (D.D.C. 2016). And the penalties arise not merely for failure to give notice, but for merging too soon. Id. § 18a(a). Because Section 7A is a “federal antitrust law[],” Phoebe Putney, 568 U.S. at 219, mergers attributable to the State are “exempt” from Section 7A, just as they are exempt from Section 7. Id.

2. Parker’s federalism rationale applies forcefully to Section 7A. A key reason for the state action doctrine is “respect for ongoing regulation by the State.” Ticor, 504 U.S. at 633. To that end, the Supreme Court has consistently invoked a clear statement rule to avoid interpreting antitrust statutes in a way that would “compromise the States’ ability to regulate their domestic commerce.” Motor Carriers, 471 U.S. at 56. Specifically, the Court has repeatedly held that state action—including private conduct authorized and supervised by the State—is exempt from federal antitrust statutes because they lack a clear statement that they apply to States or state action. Surgical Care Ctr. of Hammond, L.C. v. Hosp. Serv. Dist. No. 1 of Tangipahoa Par., 171 F.3d 231, 234 (5th Cir. 1999) (discussing Parker’s clear statement rule and explaining that “[t]he doctrine of clear statement is vital to the concreteness of federalism”). This is grounded in “the well-established principle” that federal courts must “be certain of Congress’ intent before finding that federal law overrides’ the ‘usual constitutional balance of federal and state powers.’” Bond v. United States, 572 U.S. 844, 858 (2014) (quoting Gregory v. Ashcroft, 501 U.S. 452, 460 (1991)). Where traditional state powers are concerned, “Congress [must] enact exceedingly clear language if it wishes to significantly alter the balance between federal and state power.” Sackett v. EPA, 143 S. Ct. 1322, 1341 (2023) (emphasis added). As a result, “the federal antitrust laws are subject to supersession by state regulatory programs.” Ticor, 504 U.S. at 632–33.

“[R]espect for ongoing regulation by the State” also requires extending immunity to private parties. Id. at 633. “If Parker immunity were limited to the actions of public officials, ... a State would be unable to implement programs that restrain competition among private parties.” Motor Carriers, 471 U.S. at 56. Any “plaintiff could frustrate” a State’s regulatory plan “merely by filing suit against the regulated private parties, rather than the state officials who implement the plan.” Id. at 56–57. This would “reduce Parker’s holding to a formalism.” Id. at 57. Immunity therefore extends to private parties both to “preserv[e] the State’s own administrative policies,” Ticor, 504 U.S. at 633–34, and to prevent federal antitrust laws from “compromis[ing] the States’ ability to regulate their domestic commerce,” Motor Carriers, 471 U.S. at 56.

Applying Section 7A to COPA-authorized mergers would frustrate the State’s regulatory program and “reduce Parker’s holding to “a formalism.” Id. at 57. The Louisiana Legislature has expressed the State’s policy to “substitute state regulation ... for competition” among health care facilities. La. Stat. § 40:2254.1. The AG spent months in the approval process, determined that the Acquisition serves Louisiana’s public interest, entered into an arrangement for ongoing supervision, and authorized the transaction to close immediately. Supra p.4. In direct contradiction, Section 7A would impose a waiting period—subject to a potential year-long extension, during which the merging parties must expend millions of dollars to comply with voluminous demands for data, documents, and depositions. Supra pp.5–6.

The delay is particularly problematic because “lengthy review periods ... may prove fatal to a transaction.” Int’l Competition Policy Advisory Committee to the Attorney General, Final Report 93 (2000). Further, the COPA statute itself sets time limits for review and approval of the merger. La. Stat. § 40:2254.4(C). And the State’s approval can be contingent on terms and conditions that depend on immediate integration of the facilities. The Hospitals, for example, made specific commitments to the State, such as modernizing hospital assets, making capital investments, recruiting providers, and relocating services to increase patient access. SOMF ¶¶ 20, 62. Many of those commitments would have been hindered or impossible if the Acquisition had been delayed by Section 7A’s waiting period. Id. Indeed, the Commission’s attempt to use Section 7A to enjoin the acquisition—months after it closed under the COPA—starkly illustrates the disruption to state COPA programs that would occur if the state action doctrine did not apply. See SOMF ¶¶ 51–63 (describing deleterious effects of the requested injunction). In many instances, including here, Section 7A could effectively nullify the State’s COPA program. Indeed, potential merger parties may not engage with the AG in the first place if they would continue to bear the risk of a costly, protracted federal merger investigation irrespective of a COPA.

At bottom, applying Section 7A to a COPA-approved merger is in direct conflict with the State’s regulatory approval process. Far from “respect for ongoing regulation by the State,” Ticor Title, 504 U.S. at 633, it is an affront to ongoing regulation by the State.

3. Next, Congress used the operative word “person” the same way in Section 7A, Section 7, and the Sherman Act. See 15 U.S.C. § 18a (“no person shall acquire”), § 18 (“No person ... shall acquire”), §§ 1–2 (“Every person who shall make”). This is dispositive. Under Parker’s clear statement rule, the phrase “[e]very person” in the Sherman Act did not include States or “action directed by a state.” Parker, 317 U.S. at 351; see Uetricht v. Chi. Parking Meters, LLC, 64 F.4th 827, 833 (7th Cir. 2023) (recounting Parker’s reliance on “persons”). This accords with the firmly established “presumption that ‘person’ does not include the sovereign.” Vt. Agency of Nat. Res. v. U.S. ex rel. Stevens, 529 U.S. 765, 780 (2000). And—crucially—because the Sherman Act lacks a clear statement that it applies to States, it also does not apply to state-controlled private conduct. Motor Carriers, 471 U.S. at 56–57; Midcal, 445 U.S. at 105.

This same rationale applies to Section 7A. Just as in Parker, Section 7A applies only to “persons,” not States. Just as in Motor Carriers, state-controlled conduct is also exempt, because to hold otherwise would reduce Parker’s holding to a mere “formalism.” 471 U.S. at 56–57.

In previous briefing on this issue, the Commission argued that there is “no ambiguity in the word ‘person’” under Section 7A, and that its regulations define “person” to exclude a State but include private parties. Dkt. 28 at 9. But neither the statute nor the regulation speaks to the issue here: whether state-controlled mergers are exempt. The Clayton Act, of which Section 7A is a part, defines “person” generally to include private parties, but its definition says nothing about States and—more importantly—nothing about state-controlled conduct. 15 U.S.C. § 12(b). The regulation, in turn, parrots the statute: It defines “person,” but says nothing about state-controlled conduct, and it expressly excludes States. 16 C.F.R. § 801.1(a)(1)–(2). Absent a clear statement, the statute and regulation do not apply to States or state-controlled mergers, and neither the statute nor regulation contains any such clear statement. Indeed, the only clear statement is that States are exempt under the regulation, which cuts in favor of the state action doctrine. *Id.*³

4. Two other provisions in Section 7A support the conclusion that state-controlled mergers are exempt. The statute exempts 12 categories of mergers, and two categories embrace mergers covered by state action immunity, particularly when read in light of Parker's clear statement rule.

a. First are “transactions specifically exempted from the antitrust laws by Federal statute.” 15 U.S.C. § 18a(c)(5). Mergers that qualify for state action immunity are specifically exempted by the antitrust statutes themselves, as those statutes have been interpreted by the Supreme Court. That makes good sense. If a transaction falls outside the other antitrust laws, there is no reason to impose Section 7A's requirements on it.

b. Section 7A also exempts “transfers to or from ... a State.” § 18a(c)(4). This is broad enough to include mergers attributable to the State through the state action doctrine. After all, the authorization and supervision requirements are keyed to determining whether conduct is “the State's own.” Ticor, 504 U.S. at 634–35. In that light, the exemption for transactions “to or from ... a State” comfortably applies to all mergers that qualify as state action.

³ Not surprisingly, the Commission seeks no deference for its view of state action immunity. The Commission has never issued a regulation interpreting Section 7A to apply to state-controlled mergers. Even if it had, no deference would be warranted. A clear statement is required before courts will assume Congress meant to delegate authority over such a major question as whether to “compromise the States' ability to regulate their domestic commerce.” Motor Carriers, 471 U.S. at 56. The Supreme Court has accordingly never deferred to the Commission in its state action precedent. In addition, a regulation is not entitled to deference when it merely parrots the statute. La Union Del Pueblo Entero v. FEMA, 608 F.3d 217, 222–23 (5th Cir. 2010).

c. But it would make no difference even if those two exemptions did not apply. For the reasons explained above, applying Section 7A to state-controlled mergers would (at best) directly interfere with or (at worst) vitiate state COPA programs, and courts should not “lightly attribute” such an intent to Congress. Parker, 317 U.S. at 351. Indeed, an “exceedingly clear statement” is required if Congress “wishes to significantly alter the balance between federal and state power.” Sackett, 143 S. Ct. at 1341. Section 7A is nowhere close. It applies only to “persons,” a key textual element cutting in favor of state action immunity. And the only relevant clear statement—that “States” are expressly exempt, 15 U.S.C. § 18a(c)(4)—cuts in favor of applying the state action doctrine and in favor of the reasoning in Midcal and Motor Carriers, not against it.

Rather than properly applying the governing clear statement rule, the Commission relies on an implicit negative inference drawn from the fact that “state action immunity” is not specifically listed among the 12 exemptions. But an implicit inference is not a clear statement. See Landgraf v. USI Film Prods., 511 U.S. 244, 288 & n.2 (1994) (a negative inference is “no substitute for clear statement”). In truth, the only way to adopt the Commission’s position is to draw inferences against the State at every turn: first in the word “person,” then in the (c)(5) exemption, then in the (c)(4) exemption, and then in the statute as a whole. That is contrary to the mandate from the Supreme Court to apply a clear statement rule in favor of States, and to interpret federal antitrust laws to exempt conduct attributable to a State.

5. It also makes no sense to apply Section 7A to state-controlled mergers. The express purpose of pre-merger review is to avoid the unscramble-the-eggs problem that arises in a Section 7 enforcement action once an illegal merger has been consummated. Smithfield Foods, Inc., 332 F. Supp. 2d at 58; H.R. Rep. No. 94-1373 at 5. But if a merger is exempt from Section 7 enforcement, there is no reason to subject it to Section 7A. Congress recognized this by excluding from Section 7A all transactions that are “specifically exempted from the antitrust laws.” 15 U.S.C. § 18a(c)(5). Judge Jackson recognized the same point in her transfer order, explaining that pre-merger review is “an empty exercise” for a merger that is “exempt” from “federal antitrust enforcement.” Dkt. 31 at 22. This refutes the Commission’s argument that exempting COPA-approved mergers will frustrate the purpose of Section 7A. Dkt. 28 at 19–20.

Nor is the Commission correct when it says the state action exemption “cannot be decided unilaterally” in the first instance “by the merging parties.” Dkt. 28 at 11; see id. at 1, 14–17. Merging parties routinely make unilateral determinations as to whether they are exempt, either because they fall below monetary thresholds or because they fit within the 12 statutory or 29 additional regulatory exemptions. See 15 U.S.C. § 18a(a) (thresholds); id. § 18a(c) (exemptions); 16 C.F.R. pt. 802 (regulatory exemptions). And if the Commission disagrees with the parties’ determination, it may bring an enforcement action like this one for a court to answer the question, or the Department of Justice can seek penalties. 15 U.S.C. § 18a(g). This is routine, and Congress plainly contemplated it when it enacted the statute. See, e.g., United States v. Farley, 11 F.3d 1385, 1388 (7th Cir. 1993) (enforcement action where defendant asserted the acquisition “fell within the investment-only exemption contained in the HSR Act”); Compl. (Dkt. 1). It is one thing to argue that defendants in such enforcement actions must establish that state action immunity applies; it is quite another to argue, as the FTC does, that the exemption can never be raised at all.

B. The Commission’s Arguments Should Be Rejected

1. The Commission claims that Section 7A is excluded from the state action doctrine because Section 7A’s requirements are “procedural,” and the state action doctrine supposedly applies only to “substantive” antitrust laws. Dkt. 28 at 7; see No. 23-cv-1305, Dkt. 36 at 3 (arguing that the “state-action doctrine . . . is a defense to substantive antitrust law,” not “to the procedural requirements of the HSR Act”). This is wrong on multiple levels.

a. State action precedent has never distinguished between substantive and procedural antitrust laws. The Commission cites no state action case even mentioning such a distinction, which is a strong reason to reject it. See Moore v. Harper, 143 S. Ct. 2065, 2086 (2023) (rejecting attempt to introduce substance/procedure distinction without support in precedent). Instead, the question is whether Section 7A is one of “the federal antitrust laws,” Phoebe Putney, 568 U.S. at 219, and whether applying it to state-controlled mergers could “compromise the States’ ability to regulate their domestic commerce.” Motor Carriers, 471 U.S. at 56. On that point, the Supreme Court’s reasoning strongly supports applying the state action doctrine to 7A. “If Parker immunity were limited to the actions of public officials, ... a State would be unable to implement programs that restrain competition among private parties.” Id. So too, if Parker immunity did not extend to 7A, States would be unable to implement COPA programs.

That reasoning—not any slippery distinction between substance and procedure—undergirds each state action case. See Phoebe Putney, 568 U.S. at 236 (relying on “respect for the States’ coordinate role” and hesitance to “read[] the federal antitrust laws to restrict the States’ sovereign capacity to regulate their economies”); Ticor, 504 U.S. at 633 (relying on “respect for ongoing regulation by the State”); Midcal, 445 U.S. at 103 (relying on “federal structure”). For good reason: It is easy to imagine ostensibly procedural requirements that would interfere with state regulatory programs as much as any supposedly substantive rule, like a law imposing a one-year delay on all state-controlled mergers or a law requiring States to take certain steps as part of a COPA approval process. More broadly, there is no doubt that ostensibly procedural requirements can implicate federalism concerns. E.g., Printz v. United States, 521 U.S. 898, 902 (1997) (Congress may not commandeer state officials to carry out procedures of federal law). “Procedure, after all, is often used as a vehicle to achieve substantive ends.” Moore, 143 S. Ct. at 2086.

b. The Commission insists that Section 7A is merely procedural because it does not impose liability for anticompetitive mergers and because it applies to some transactions that are ultimately not anticompetitive. Dkt. 28 at 9–10. If anything, this makes a stronger case for the state action doctrine to apply to Section 7A. It makes no sense to subject a state-controlled merger that is exempt from Section 7 to a waiting period and filing requirements to determine whether it might otherwise violate Section 7. Moreover, the Commission’s position would gratuitously delay even transactions like this one that unequivocally qualify for state action immunity from Section 7 and also have no anticompetitive effect, undermining state COPA programs without serving any antitrust purpose at all. Only a bureaucrat could love such an expansionist reading of the statute.

Section 7A is also not purely procedural in any meaningful sense. See Weatherly v. Pershing, LLC, 945 F.3d 915, 925 & n.48 (5th Cir. 2019) (“distinctions between substance and procedure are inherently ephemeral and thus difficult to draw”). After all, it prohibits consummating mergers during the waiting period, conditions that waiting period on responding to substantive information requests, and imposes steep penalties, accruing daily, for failure to comply. See Sims v. Great Am. Life Ins. Co., 469 F.3d 870, 884–85 (state law imposing a fine is substantive); cf. 17A Moore’s Federal Practice - Civil § 124.07 (“[D]amages are a matter of substantive law”). Those penalties are a form of antitrust liability, not a mere procedural hoop.

2. Next, the Commission insists that state action is a “defense,” unlike sovereign immunity, and the “state action defense” “does not “immunize a defendant from suit” or “from being investigated.” Dkt. 4 at 7–8. That is irrelevant. The Hospitals have never claimed to be immune, in the Eleventh Amendment jurisdictional sense, from suit or subpoena. The Hospitals simply contend that the state action doctrine exempts their conduct from the antitrust laws, and that they can assert that defense in an enforcement action like this one. And while the Commission insists that the state action doctrine can only be asserted as a defense, what it actually means is that the state action doctrine cannot be asserted as a defense when it comes to Section 7A.

The Commission's argument rests on a false analogy to a subpoena, claiming that "the HSR Act ... is no different from other investigations that may begin with the issuance of a subpoena." Id. at 8. Section 7A is vastly different. It prohibits merging without observing a waiting period, conditions that waiting period on compliance with information requests that dramatically exceed the scope of subpoenas and other compulsory processes, imposes a filing fee and substantial monetary penalties, and permits the Commission to seek to enjoin mergers that fail to comply. By contrast, subpoenas issued under the FTC Act do not impose a waiting period, filing fee, or penalties, and they do not enjoin mergers. See FTC v. Weyerhaeuser Co., 665 F.2d 1072, 1073 (D.C. Cir. 1981). A separate enforcement proceeding requiring proof on the merits—and allowing defenses on the merits—is required to enjoin a merger. Id.

Regardless, the Commission's analogy is also irrelevant. The appropriate question is not whether Section 7A is a form of compulsory process; it is whether Section 7A contains a clear statement that Congress truly meant to "compromise the States' ability to regulate their domestic commerce." Motor Carriers, 471 U.S. at 56. It does not.

The Commission's cited cases are inapposite, too. Dkt. 1 at 8; Dkt. 28 at 13–14. The Commission emphasizes cases about interlocutory appeals from state-action determinations under the collateral order doctrine. E.g., SmileDirectClub v. Battle, 4 F.4th 1274, 1277 (11th Cir. 2021) (en banc); see Acoustic Systems, Inc. v. Wenger, 207 F.3d 287, 291 (5th Cir. 2000). At most, the cases hold that Parker is not the same as Eleventh Amendment immunity, which the Hospitals have never disputed. These cases are perfectly consistent with the Hospitals' assertion of state action as a defense to this enforcement action.

As the Supreme Court has long recognized and repeatedly reaffirmed, the federal antitrust laws leave room for States to structure and execute their regulatory programs in accordance with their sovereign interests. The federal antitrust laws also leave room for the States to carry out their regulatory programs through private actors. Section 7A is just such a federal antitrust law. And the State of Louisiana's COPA is just such a regulatory program. The Court should reject the Commission's novel theory, which threatens to interfere with the State's health care policy and assessment of the public interest of its citizens, in precisely the ways the state action doctrine has long sought to avoid. The Hospitals are entitled to judgment as a matter of law.

III. THE PUBLIC INTEREST STRONGLY FAVORS RESPONDENTS AND THE STATE

Regardless of how this Court rules on whether the state action doctrine applies to Section 7A, the public interest and other discretionary factors weigh heavily in favor of allowing Respondents and the State of Louisiana to implement their COPA-approved Acquisition. The key point is that the Acquisition was at least exempt from liability under Section 7 when it closed on January 1, 2023. Supra pp.10–13. As Judge Jackson concluded, if the Acquisition is exempt from Section 7, then the waiting period and merger review under Section 7A would be “an empty exercise now.” Dkt. 31 at 22. In other words, if Section 7 liability is impossible, then there will never be a reason to undo the Acquisition, and Section 7A serves no purpose. Needless to say, a pointless pre-merger waiting period serves no public interest.

Likewise, the Commission cannot show that irreparable harm would result if the Hospitals are not subjected to purposeless compliance with Section 7A. The Commission is not irreparably harmed because it can pursue its supposed investigation through other, legitimate investigatory powers if it chooses. For the waiting period, there is no irreparable harm to law enforcement or the public because the Acquisition is exempt from Section 7 itself.

On the other side of the scale, enjoining integration would severely undercut the State’s policy choice and implementation of its COPA program, harming the citizens of Louisiana. Because States have primary regulatory authority over their own domestic affairs, the state action doctrine establishes that “federal antitrust laws are subject to supersession by state regulatory programs.” Ticor, 504 U.S. at 632–33. The State has expressed its policy choice to “substitute state regulation” of healthcare facilities “for competition between facilities.” La. Stat. § 40:2254.1. The Louisiana Legislature and AG have applied that state policy to the Acquisition—a purely intrastate healthcare merger within the State’s core regulatory authority. The State has determined that the Acquisition serves the public interest of its citizens. The Commission’s request to enjoin the merger would undermine that policy choice and “compromise the States’ ability to regulate their domestic commerce.” Motor Carriers, 471 U.S. at 56.

Even more concretely, enjoining integration will harm patient care and cause other harms to healthcare in Louisiana. SOMF ¶¶ 51–63. The Acquisition was designed to benefit the people of Louisiana by allowing the Hospitals to increase access to high-quality clinical services and health care in the New Orleans region, and the COPA application detailed the plan to achieve those benefits. Id. ¶¶ 19–20. The AG conditioned the COPA on LCMC’s commitments that it would improve access to high-quality healthcare by modernizing hospital assets, making capital investments, recruiting providers, and relocating services. Id. ¶¶ 18–20. Those commitments will be delayed or rendered impossible if the Court halts further integration. Id. ¶¶ 51–63.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, this Court should deny each of the Commission’s requests for injunctive relief and enter summary judgment in favor of the Hospitals.

JUDGE LANCE M. AFRICK
SECTION I

MAGISTRATE JUDGE

DIVISION 5

THIS DOCUMENT RELATES TO:

Case No. 23-cv-1890

STATEMENT OF UNDISPUTED FACTS IN SUPPORT OF RESPONDENTS’ MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

In accordance with Local Rule 56.1 and Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c), and in support of their motion for summary judgment pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 56, Respondents Louisiana Children’s Medical Center (LCMC) and HCA Healthcare, Inc (HCA) (together, “the Hospitals”) submit the following separate and concise statement of material facts for which they contend there are no genuine disputes.

Certificates of Public Advantage

1. Louisiana is one of 19 States that have enacted certificate of public advantage (COPA) statutes. See Amy Y. Gu, Updated: States with Certificate of Public Advantage (COPA) Laws, Source on Healthcare Price & Competition (Aug. 10, 2021), <https://sourceonhealthcare.org/updated-states-with-certificate-of-public-advantage-copa-laws/>.

2. A summary of states with COPA statutes can be found at <https://sourceonhealthcare.org/updated-states-with-certificate-of-public-advantage-copa-laws/>.

3. Louisiana’s COPA statute creates a regulatory program to authorize healthcare mergers and place them under State “supervision and control.” La. Stat. § 40:2254.1; Ex. K at ¶¶ 7–8.

4. The Louisiana statute states that it was the intent of the Louisiana legislature to authorize cooperative agreements, mergers and consolidations among health care facilities. La. Stat. § 40:2254.1; Ex. K at ¶¶ 7–8.

5. The statute provides that “the intent of the legislature” is to “substitute state regulation of [healthcare] facilities for competition between facilities,” and to “grant[] ... state action immunity ... [from] federal antitrust laws.” La. Stat. § 40:2254.1; Ex. K at ¶¶ 7–8.

6. The Louisiana Attorney General, as head of the Louisiana Department of Justice (“Department”), administers the COPA statute. La. Stat. § 40:2254.4; Ex. K at ¶¶ 9–14.

7. Parties may apply to the Department for a COPA. La. Stat. § 40:2254.4(A); Ex. J at ¶ 4; Ex. K at ¶ 9.

8. The Department may not grant a COPA unless it holds a public hearing on the application and it “finds that the agreement is likely to result in lower health care costs or is likely to result in improved access to health care or higher quality health care without any undue increase in health care costs.” La. Stat. § 40:2254.4(B); Ex. K at ¶ 10.

9. The Department may issue a COPA “subject to terms and conditions, as the [D]epartment may determine are appropriate, in order to best achieve lower health care costs or greater access to or quality of health care.” La. Stat. § 40:2254.4(C); see Ex. K at ¶ 13.

10. Additionally, the Department is required to adopt and has adopted rules to “effect the active supervision” of agreements between health care facilities, which may include reporting requirements for parties to an agreement for which a certificate is in effect. Id. § 40:2254.9(3); see La. Admin Code. tit. 48, Pt XXV, § 517; Ex. K at ¶¶ 12–14.

11. The Department’s rules can be found at La. Admin. Code. Tit. 48, Pt XXV, Section 501 et seq.

12. The Department has authority to enforce compliance with a COPA’s terms and conditions, including by “revok[ing] a certificate.” La. Stat. § 40:2254.6(A); Ex. K at ¶ 14.

The Acquisition and COPA Approval

13. The Hospitals applied for COPA approval on October 10, 2022. Ex. J at ¶ 4; Ex. K at ¶ 15.

14. The Hospitals publicly announced the transaction that same day, October 10, 2022. Ex. B; Ex. C.

15. LCMC is a non-profit, community-based health system based in New Orleans, Louisiana. Ex. A at B-3.

16. HCA previously owned and operated three hospitals in Louisiana through a joint venture with Tulane University of Louisiana. Ex. A at B-7–8.

17. Under the transaction (the “Acquisition”), LCMC agreed to acquire Tulane University Medical Center, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital. Ex. A at B-8–9; Ex. J ¶ 4; Ex. N at 2.

18. The parties’ 175-page COPA application described the transaction, the parties and their operations, the services they offer, their contractual relationships, the competitive dynamics and market conditions for health care services in the New Orleans area, the projected cost-savings that would result from the transaction (including from the elimination of certain duplicative expenses and optimization of capital expenditures), and specific investments and other patient-friendly initiatives that LCMC would be able to undertake as a result of the Acquisition. Ex. K at ¶ 16; see generally Ex. A.

19. The COPA application stated that the Acquisition would allow the Hospitals to increase access to high-quality clinical services and health care in the New Orleans region and to expand hubs for specialty care, innovation, and academic medicine. Ex. A at B-10–17; Ex. J ¶¶ 5–6.

20. In the COPA application process, LCMC committed to making $220 million in capital investments to modernize the facilities (such as investing in robotic surgical systems), offer new medical services (such as kidney, pancreas, liver, bone marrow, and stem cell transplants), and add new specialty care units. Ex. A at B-10–17; Ex. J ¶ 12.

21. The Hospitals supplemented their COPA application on November 2, 2022; November 4, 2022; November 10, 2022; November 15, 2022; and November 18, 2022. Ex. K at ¶ 19; Ex. M at 1.

22. The Department reviewed the application’s information regarding the transaction, the facilities, and the likely effects on health care and competition in the state. Ex. K at ¶ 28; Ex. A at B-3–73.

23. The Department obtained input from expert consultants who reviewed the COPA application. Ex. K at ¶¶ 25, 28; Ex. L at 2–3.

24. The Department held a notice and comment period. Ex. K at ¶¶ 23, 26; Ex. L at 5–6, 122.

25. The Department received and reviewed numerous comments from the public, including a wide range of stakeholders. Ex. K at ¶ 28; Ex. L at 122–38.

26. The Department held a public hearing on December 8, 2022. Ex. K at ¶¶ 20–27; Dkt. 37-3–37-10; see generally Exhibit L.

27. The Department concluded that the Acquisition “is likely to result in lower health care costs or is likely to result in improved access to health care or higher quality health care without any undue increase in health care costs.” La. Stat. § 40:2254.4; Ex. K at ¶ 28.

28. The Department considered the COPA application and the public comments received in connection with the hearing, and Department attorneys and staff analyzed the transaction, the facilities, and the likely effects on health care and competition in the state, including with input from expert consultants who reviewed the COPA application. Ex. J at ¶ 5; Ex. K at ¶¶ 28–29.

29. Following that review, on December 28, 2022, the Department determined that the application materials satisfied the statutory requirements and that a COPA should be issued in connection with the Acquisition. Ex. J at ¶ 5; Ex. K at ¶¶ 28–29; see generally Ex. M.

Supervision Under the COPA

30. The COPA's "Terms and Conditions" provide for ongoing supervision. Ex. K at ¶¶ 30–37; see generally Ex. N.

31. Under the "Rate Review" provision, LCMC "may not contract with a third-party payor for a change in rates" without "prior written approval." Ex. N at 6; see Ex. K at ¶¶ 33–34.

32. LCMC must also submit quarterly, semi-annual, and annual reports. The Louisiana Attorney General can, at any time, determine that LCMC's activity is inconsistent with the State's policy goals. Ex. N at 7–10; Ex. K at ¶¶ 31–32.

33. If the Department determines that "an activity of [LCMC] is inconsistent with the policy goals" of the State, the Department may impose "a plan to correct any deficiency." Ex. N at 2.

34. The Department may "revoke the COPA" if it is "not satisfied with any submitted corrective action plan," if LCMC fails to comply with the Terms and Conditions, or if the Department "otherwise determines that the transaction is not resulting in lower health care costs or greater access to or quality of health care." Ex. N at 3; see Ex. K at ¶ 36.

35. The Acquisition closed on January 1, 2023, and the closing of the Acquisition was publicly announced on January 3, 2023. Ex. D.

36. LCMC filed its first quarterly report with the Department on May 31, 2023, and submitted rate-review applications in April, May, and June 2023. Ex. K at ¶ 34.

37. The Department completed its rate review of two contracts on June 30, 2023, and is currently reviewing the other rate-review application. Ex. K at ¶¶ 34–35; Ex. O.

38. The Department evaluated LCMC's quarterly report for progress toward 11 specific improvements to quality and access to healthcare. Ex. K at ¶ 32.

Interference with State Regulatory Process

39. The Federal Trade Commission has submitted comments and participated in state-led hearings during COPA review processes, without raising Sections 7 or 7A. See FTC Policy Perspectives on Certificates of Public Advantage, at 1 n.2, 11 n.49, 12 n.62 (Aug. 15, 2022), <https://www.ftc.gov/news-events/news/press-releases/2022/08/ftc-policy-paper-warns-about-pitfalls-copa-agreements-patient-care-healthcare-workers>.

40. The Commission did not participate in the Louisiana COPA approval process for the Acquisition. Ex. K at ¶ 38.

41. The Commission first informed counsel for the Hospitals of its view that Section 7A applies to COPA-approved mergers on or around April 4, 2023. See Dkt. 5-6.

42. The Commission informed counsel for the Hospitals that the Commission's position was that the Hospitals were required to make a Section 7A filing and halt integration of the hospitals. See Dkt. 5-8; Dkt. 5-12.

43. The Commission told Counsel for the Hospitals that "civil penalties are accruing." Dkt. 5-12 at 1.

44. Potential penalties under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Act are currently more than $50,000 per day. See Ex. E at 1.

45. One study found that the average Second Request investigation was reported as taking six to seven months and resulted in average compliance costs of $5 million. See Ex. F at 2.

46. The study reported that for larger deals, costs can quickly rise to the $10–$20 million range. Id.

47. A former FTC Commissioner stated that the median cost of Second Request compliance is approximately $4.3 million See Ex. G at 4.

48. According to that Commissioner, full-phase merger investigations can last from several months to a year or more. Id.

49. Another Department of Justice official reported that in 2017, significant merger reviews by U.S. antitrust enforcers took an average of 10.8 months to resolve. Ex. H at 2.

50. Another study concluded that in 2014, median cost of compliance with a Second Request was more than $4.3 million, with a range of $2 million to $9 million. Ex. I at 11.

Consequences of Granting the Commission's Requested Relief

51. Halting further integration over a period of several months to over a year would carry numerous consequences for LCMC. Ex. J at ¶¶ 7–12.

52. Tulane Medical Center faces staffing shortages that have forced it to reduce potentially lifesaving services. Id. ¶ 9.

53. For example, Tulane Medical Center has had to consolidate its cardiac catheterization staff into a single team due to staff attrition, meaning it can now treat only one stroke patient at a time. Id.

54. LCMC expects that it can stabilize Tulane Medical Center's staffing shortages by transitioning its clinical care providers and staff to LCMC employment on October 1, 2023, but it would be unable to do so if integration is halted. Id.

55. For another example, LCMC plans to move a linear accelerator, which is used to provide radiation therapy to treat cancer patients, from Tulane Medical Center to East Jefferson General Hospital. Id. ¶ 10.

56. Moving the linear accelerator will allow East Jefferson General Hospital to treat four to five times more patients per day than Tulane Medical Center is able to treat today. Id.

57. Relocating the machine requires at least 8 weeks, including extensive planning, and relocation will be significantly delayed or impossible if LCMC is unable to continue integration.

Id.

58. Delaying the move of the linear accelerator will restrict the availability of radiation treatment for cancer patients. Id.

59. For a third example, LCMC plans to repurpose vacated space in Tulane Medical Center for use by Tulane University's planned nursing program. Id. ¶ 11.

60. The Louisiana State Board of Nursing will evaluate the space in November prior to the Board's consideration of the nursing program in December. Id.

61. Halting the integration of clinic services into LCMC will threaten the success of the launch of the nursing program, which is needed in light of the nursing shortage across the state.

Id.

62. As part of the COPA approval process, LCMC also committed to establish an academic medical center at East Jefferson General Hospital, including making $220 million in capital investments to modernize its facilities (such as investing in robotic surgical systems), offer new medical services (such as kidney, pancreas, liver, bone marrow, and stem cell transplants), and add new specialty care units. Id. ¶ 12.

63. An order requiring that the parties cease integration efforts would impede LCMC's ability to fulfill this promise to the Department. Id. ¶¶ 8, 12.

LOUISIANA ATTORNEY GENERAL'S Request for Information Form for Certain Cooperative Endeavor Agreements, Joint Ventures, Mergers and Consolidations among Health Care Facilities

INSTRUCTIONS AND DEFINITIONS

1. All responses to the Request for Information Form must be typed or clearly printed in black ink. You must use only the official forms.

2. All documents and appendices must be provided in compliance with the following:

(a) One set of original documents and three (3) separate sets of legible and collated copies of all documents must be submitted.

(b) With respect to the submission of appendices, each appendix shall be submitted in a separate legal size folder clearly marked with the appendix number along with the name of the entity or entities submitting the information and the date of the Attorney General's Request for Information, set forth in Instruction #9. For example, Company X, Appendix A, July 1, 1996 or Company X and Company Y, Appendix A, July 1, 1996; and

(c) Each document must be consecutively numbered and labeled along with an abbreviation for the entity or entities. For example, the first document of a submission by Company X, would be labeled CX0001 and the first document of a joint submission of Company X and Company Y would be labeled CXY0001. These initials and numbers should appear in the lower right-hand corner of each document.

3. All amendments or late-filed documents or responses must be clearly labeled to indicate which Request or appendix folder the document should be placed in upon receipt by the State. Such documents must be submitted in compliance with all other instructions herein.

4. Unless otherwise indicated, documents to be produced pursuant to this Request for Information Form include each and every document prepared, sent, dated, received, in effect, or which otherwise came into existence during the last three (3) years through the date of the production of documents pursuant to this Request. Responses to the Request must be supplemented, corrected, and updated until the close of the transaction. The Attorney General, at his discretion, may require the production of additional documents.

5. Unless otherwise approved by the Department, for each Request calling for the production of documents, produce each and every responsive document in each entity's care, possession, custody, or control, without regard to the physical location of those documents.

6. If an entity possesses no documents responsive to a paragraph of this Request, that entity must state this fact, specifying the paragraph(s) or subparagraph(s) concerned, in the response. If an entity must submit documents at a later date than that set forth in Instruction #9, the following procedure is required: the entity must state this fact, specify the paragraph(s) or subparagraph(s) concerned, identify the document(s) to be produced, and state the expected date of production.

7. If an entity asserts a privilege in response to a Request, that entity must state the privilege, the basis of the privilege, and identify the documents and Request to which the privilege attaches.

8. Responses to Requests not requiring the production of documents should be typed or clearly printed in black on the Request for Information Form. If additional space is required, you should attach additional 8 1/2" x 11" size pages, clearly noting at the top of the page to which Request the additional information is responsive and the identity of the entity providing the information. For example: Company X, Continuation to Request #3.

9. All responses to this Request for Information shall be sent by United States Mail, hand delivered, or a nationally recognized express delivery service to the following individual.

Director, Civil Division
State of Louisiana
Department of Justice
Civil Division
1885 North Third Street, 6th Floor
Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70802
Post Office Box 94005
Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70804-9005

10. The Request for Information Form is not complete or valid without completed Certification and Verification Affidavits for each entity executed under oath in the presence of a notary and attached to the Request for Information Form.

11. Copies may be submitted in lieu of originals as long as the entity indicate(s) that the documents are copies, the location of the originals, and the reason for the substitution of copies. All originals must be returned as set forth in the Certification and Verification Affidavits. Additionally, the entity must sign the Certification of Verification Affidavit(s), agreeing that the documents are authentic for the purposes of Louisiana law.

12. All questions regarding these forms, the scope of any Request, and instruction, or any definitions shall be directed to the Assistant Attorney General listed in Instruction #9.

13. This Request for Information Packet should include all of the following forms:

Form	Instructions and Definitions
Form	Request for Information Form
Form	Certification and Verification Affidavit

If your packet is missing any of the above listed forms, please contact the Assistant Attorney General listed in Instruction #9 immediately. Your response to the Request for Information Form is not complete until the Attorney General's Office has received all of the above listed forms, fully completed.

14. Each entity that is a party to the Agreement must complete the entire Request for Information Packet.

LOUISIANA ATTORNEY GENERAL'S APPLICATION

REQUEST FOR INFORMATION FORM

For Certain

COOPERATIVE ENDEAVOR AGREEMENTS, JOINT VENTURES, MERGERS AND CONSOLIDATIONS AMONG HEALTH CARE FACILITIES

PLEASE CAREFULLY REVIEW THE INSTRUCTIONS AND DEFINITIONS PRIOR TO COMPLETING THIS FORM

Note: If the information is not supplied under any of the following items, provide an Explanation of why the item is not applicable to the transaction or the parties.

1. Name of each Party: Identify each entity which is a party to the cooperative endeavor agreement, joint venture, merger, or consolidation (hereinafter referred to collectively as "Agreement") in accordance with 40:2254.1, et seq., including the address of the principal business office of each party. Include in your response the identity of any (a) parent, (b) subsidiary, and/or (c) affiliate of each entity.

2. Contact Person for each Party: Provide the full legal name, title, address, telephone and facsimile number for the persons authorized to receive notices and communications with respect to the application.

3. Directors and Officers: Identify by full legal name and title each and every director and officer of each entity.

4. Corporate Documents: Attach as Appendix A, all corporate documents relating to each entity filing this Request. Include corporate documents of all parents, subsidiaries, or affiliates. For the purpose of this Request, "corporate documents" means the charter or articles of incorporation, bylaws, and any and all amendments to each corporate document.

5. Description of Proposed Agreement: Attach as Appendix B a detailed description of the proposed agreement, including:

(a) A list of any services or products that are the subject of the proposed agreement or transaction;

(b) A description of any consideration passing to any person under the agreement or transaction, including the amount, nature, source, and recipient;

(c) A description of each party's contribution of capital, equipment, labor, services, or other value to the transaction, if any;

(d) Identification of any other services or products that are reasonably likely to be affected by the proposed agreement or transaction;

(e) A description of the geographic territory involved in the proposed agreement or transaction;

(f) If the geographic territory described in item (e) is different from the territory in which the applicants have engaged in the type of business at issue over the last five years, a description of how and why the geographic territory differs;

(g) Identification of all products or services that a substantial share of consumers would consider substitutes for any service or product that is the subject of the proposed agreement or transaction;

(h) Identification of whether any services or products of the proposed agreement or transaction are currently being offered, capable of being offered, utilized, or capable of being utilized by other providers or purchasers in the geographic territory described in item (e);

(i) Identification of the steps necessary, under current market and regulatory conditions, for other parties to enter the territory described in item (e) and compete with the applicants;

(j) A detailed explanation of the projected effects, including expected volume, change in price, and increased revenue, of the agreement or transaction on each party's current businesses, both generally as well as the aspects of the business directly involved in the proposed agreement or transaction;

(k) Each entity's estimate of their respective present market shares and that of others affected by the proposed agreement or transaction, and projected market shares after implementation of the proposed agreement or transaction;

(l) Identification of business plans, reports, studies, or other documents that discuss each entity's projected performance in the market, business strategies, competitive analyses and financial projections, including any documents prepared in anticipation of the cooperative agreement, merger or consolidation, as well as those prepared prior to contemplation of the transaction;

(m) A description of each entity's performance goals, including quantitative standards for achieving the objectives of:

(1) lower health care costs; or

(2) higher quality health care or greater access to health care in Louisiana without any undue increase in health care costs.

(n) A description of how the anticipated efficiencies, cost savings and other benefits from the transaction will be passed on to the consumers of health care services;

(o) A description of the net efficiencies likely to result from the transaction, including an analysis of anticipated cost savings resulting from the transaction and the increased costs associated with the transaction;

(p) A statement of whether competition among health care providers or health care facilities will be reduced as a result of the proposed agreement or transaction; whether there will be adverse impact on quality, availability, or cost of health care; whether the projected levels of cost, access to health care, or quality of health care could be achieved in the existing market without the proposed agreement or transaction; and, for each of the above, an explanation of why or why not;

(q) A description of why the anticipated cost savings, efficiencies and other benefits from the transaction are not likely to result from existing competitive forces in the market; and

(r) If information is not supplied under any of the above items, an explanation of why the item is not applicable to the transaction or to the parties.

6. Description of Negotiations of the Agreement: Attach as Appendix C a detailed description of all discussions and negotiations between each entity resulting in the proposed Agreement. To the extent practicable, this response should include, but not be limited to, a summary outline in date sequence of any and all meetings held with the following parties with respect to the proposed transaction:

(a) With each entity's financial advisors or investment bankers related to the proposed Agreement (including, but not limited to, management, committees of the board of directors or meetings of the full board);

(b) With prospective networkers, merging partners of each entity, together with a brief summary of the results of such meetings; and

(c) With other parties deemed significant to the transaction (including, but not limited to, outside experts or other consultants).

7. Closing Date: What is the expected date of closing of the proposed Agreement? Attach as Appendix D a copy of any proposed Agreement.

8. Governmental Filings: Attach as Appendix E all filings with respect to the proposed Agreement, including all amendments, appendices, and attachments, and each report or document provided to each federal, state, or local governmental entity regarding the proposed Agreement. Include copies of forms to be provided to each such entity, the answer to information or questions on such forms, and each attachment submitted in connection therewith.

9. Meetings with Governmental Officials: Attach as Appendix F summaries of all meetings with federal, state, or local authorities regarding any filings or documents referenced in Request #8. Also, include each and every document which memorializes or discusses any and all meetings or other communications with the United States Department of Justice, Federal Trade Commission, or any other state, federal or local governmental entity in connection with the proposed transaction.

10. Prior Agreements: Identify all prior Agreements between the parties within the last three (3) years, including the following information for each:

- (a) Date of Agreement;
- (b) City/State;
- (c) Brief Description.

11. Letters of Intent: Attach as Appendix G any and all drafts and final versions of any and all letters of intent, confidentiality agreements, or other documents initiating negotiations, contact, or discussion between the parties to the Agreement.

12. Contracts or Purchase Agreements: If any assets are passed to any Party under the Agreement, Attach as Appendix H any and all drafts and final versions of asset purchase agreements, contracts or agreements to transfer assets. Your response must also include any attachments, amendments, schedules, or appendices to such agreements.

13. Fairness Opinions: If any assets are passed to any Party under the Agreement, Attach as Appendix I any and all fairness opinions analyzing the proposed Agreement along with any supplemental analysis prepared by any entity or its experts. Include in your response the name of the company and the person(s) who prepared the opinion, their business telephone numbers and addresses, the agreement or engagement letter with such company or person, and background information regarding the company or person's qualifications.

14. Meeting Minutes and Other Information: Attach as Appendix J the following documents with respect each meeting during which the proposed Agreement was discussed, whether regular, special, or otherwise, of the board of directors or board of trustees for each entity.

- (a) Announcements and the persons to whom the announcements were sent;
- (b) Agenda;
- (c) Minutes and/or resolutions of the board of directors or board of trustees for each entity which reflect or discuss the proposed Agreement, including those regarding the final vote;
- (d) Each written report or document provided to the board or board members, including, but not limited to, each committee report and each expert's report;
- (e) Each proposal or document referencing or regarding possible or actual Agreement;
- (f) Each presentation to the board or any committee to the board; and
- (g) Each attachment to (a) through (f).

15. Valuation Information: Attach as Appendix K each appraisal (with each attachment), evaluation (with each attachment), and similar document (with each attachment) concerning the financial performance of each party to the transaction for the preceding five years, their assets, their properties, their worth as a going concern, or their market value. This Request shall include, but not be limited to, any appraisals of the common stock of any entity, any appraisals involving property held by any entity.

16. Information Regarding Other Offers: Attach as Appendix L each appraisal (with each attachment), evaluation (with each attachment), and similar document (with each attachment) concerning any negotiation, or proposal either initiated or received by any entity regarding the proposed Agreement, and the dollar value of such proposed Agreement.

17. Mission Statement: Attach as Appendix M any and all mission statements of each entity.

18. Press Releases and Related Information: Attach as Appendix N any and all press releases, newspaper articles, radio transcripts, audiotapes and videotapes of any television commercials or reports regarding the proposed transaction and any other offers identified in Request # 16.

19. Financial Records: Attach as Appendix O all of the following for the last six (6) fiscal years for each entity, unless otherwise indicated:

- (a) Audited and unaudited financial statements. Audits are sometimes presented in abbreviated form or in fuller form, with detailed supplements. Provide the most detailed form of your audit that is available.
- (b) Consolidating statements (balance sheets and income statements for each fiscal year);

- (c) Year-to-date internal financial statements for the most recent month-end available during the current year. Be sure that the statements are comparative (with the same period of the previous fiscal year), otherwise provide last year's internal financial statements for the corresponding period as well;
- (d) If separate audited financial statements are prepared for any of your affiliates, or any parent or, please provide those audits, together with comparative year-to-date financial statements for each such member, affiliate, parent or subsidiary;
- (e) Projected capital expenditure requirements for the next three (3) years;

4. Corporate Documents: Attach as Appendix A, all corporate documents relating to each entity filing this Request. Include corporate documents of all parents, subsidiaries, or affiliates. For the purpose of this Request, “corporate documents” means the charter or articles of incorporation, bylaws, and any and all amendments to each corporate document.

Response to Specification 4:

Information responsive to this request is attached as Appendix A.

5. Description of Proposed Agreement: Attach as Appendix B a detailed description of the proposed agreement, including:
- (a) A list of any services or products that are the subject of the proposed agreement or transaction;
 - (b) A description of any consideration passing to any person under the agreement or transaction, including the amount, nature, source, and recipient;
 - (c) A description of each party's contribution of capital, equipment, labor, services, or other value to the transaction, if any;
 - (d) Identification of any other services or products that are reasonably likely to be affected by the proposed agreement or transaction;
 - (e) A description of the geographic territory involved in the proposed agreement or transaction;
 - (f) If the geographic territory described in item (e) is different from the territory in which the applicants have engaged in the type of business at issue over the last five years, a description of how and why the geographic territory differs;
 - (g) Identification of all products or services that a substantial share of consumers would consider substitutes for any service or product that is the subject of the proposed agreement or transaction;
 - (h) Identification of whether any services or products of the proposed agreement or transaction are currently being offered, capable of being offered, utilized, or capable of being utilized by other providers or purchasers in the geographic territory described in item (e);
 - (i) Identification of the steps necessary, under current market and regulatory conditions, for other parties to enter the territory described in item (e) and compete with the applicants;
 - (j) A detailed explanation of the projected effects, including expected volume, change in price, and increased revenue, of the agreement or transaction on each party's current businesses, both generally as well as the aspects of the business directly involved in the proposed agreement or transaction;
 - (k) Each entity's estimate of their respective present market shares and that of others affected by the proposed agreement or transaction, and projected market shares after implementation of the proposed agreement or transaction;
 - (l) Identification of business plans, reports, studies, or other documents that discuss each entity's projected performance in the market, business strategies, competitive analyses and financial projections, including any documents prepared in anticipation of the cooperative agreement, merger or consolidation, as well as those prepared prior to contemplation of the transaction;

- (m) A description of each entity's performance goals, including quantitative standards for achieving the objectives of:
 - (1) lower health care costs; or
 - (2) higher quality health care or greater access to health care in Louisiana without any undue increase in health care costs.
- (n) A description of how the anticipated efficiencies, cost savings and other benefits from the transaction will be passed on to the consumers of health care services;
- (o) A description of the net efficiencies likely to result from the transaction, including an analysis of anticipated cost savings resulting from the transaction and the increased costs associated with the transaction;
- (p) A statement of whether competition among health care providers or health care facilities will be reduced as a result of the proposed agreement or transaction; whether there will be adverse impact on quality, availability, or cost of health care; whether the projected levels of cost, access to health care, or quality of health care could be achieved in the existing market without the proposed agreement or transaction; and, for each of the above, an explanation of why or why not;
- (q) A description of why the anticipated cost savings, efficiencies and other benefits from the transaction are not likely to result from existing competitive forces in the market; and
- (r) If information is not supplied under any of the above items, an explanation of why the item is not applicable to the transaction or to the parties.

Response to Specification 5:

[This Item contains proprietary, competitively sensitive information redacted from the public version.]

Information responsive to this request is attached as Appendix B.

6. Description of Negotiations of the Agreement: Attach as Appendix C a detailed description of all discussions and negotiations between each entity resulting in the proposed Agreement. To the extent practicable, this response should include, but not be limited to, a summary outline in date sequence of any and all meetings held with the following parties with respect to the proposed transaction:
- (a) With each entity's financial advisors or investment bankers related to the proposed Agreement (including, but not limited to, management, committees of the board of directors or meetings of the full board);
 - (b) With prospective networkers, merging partners of each entity, together with a brief summary of the results of such meetings; and
 - (c) With other parties deemed significant to the transaction (including, but not limited to, outside experts or other consultants).

Response to Specification 6:

[This Item contains proprietary, competitively sensitive information redacted from the public version.]

Information responsive to this request is attached as Appendix C.

7. Closing Date: What is the expected date of closing of the proposed Agreement? Attach as Appendix D a copy of any proposed Agreement.

Response to Specification 7:

[This Item contains proprietary, competitively sensitive information redacted from the public version.]

The Transaction is expected to close on or about January 1, 2023, dependent upon the issuance of a certificate of public advantage by the Department of Justice.

A copy of the Academic Affiliation Agreement, Membership Interest Transfer Agreement, and Unit Purchase Agreement is attached as Appendix D.

8. Governmental Filings: Attach as Appendix E all filings with respect to the proposed Agreement, including all amendments, appendices, and attachments, and each report or document provided to each federal, state, or local governmental entity regarding the proposed Agreement. Include copies of forms to be provided to each such entity, the answer to information or questions on such forms, and each attachment submitted in connection therewith.

Response to Specification 8:

Attached as Appendix E are the filings that have been identified to date as responsive to Specification 8. The Parties have not submitted any governmental filings as of the date of submission of this Application. Any necessary filings will be submitted to the appropriate federal, state, or local governmental entity by the Parties once finalized. Accordingly, the filings identified in Appendix E are subject to change.

9. Meetings with Governmental Officials: Attach as Appendix F summaries of all meetings with federal, state, or local authorities regarding any filings or documents referenced in Request #8. Also, include each and every document which memorializes or discusses any and all meetings or other communications with the United States Department of Justice, Federal Trade Commission, or any other state, federal or local governmental entity in connection with the proposed transaction.

Response to Specification 9:

[This Item contains proprietary, competitively sensitive information redacted from the public version.]

Response to Specification 5(a):

The Entities

1. LCMC Health

LCMC Health is a non-profit, community-based health system based in New Orleans, Louisiana. LCMC Health was founded as Louisiana’s first freestanding children’s hospital and has grown into a health care system built to serve the unique needs of communities and families across New Orleans, the Gulf Coast, and beyond. With a total of 1,862 beds, over 2,700 physicians and providers, and a family of six hospitals, LCMC Health offers the largest and most comprehensive children’s hospital in Louisiana, a Level I trauma center, cancer center, burn center, and stroke center, among other innovative services. With its focus on providing high-quality health care for every person and parish in Louisiana and beyond, LCMC Health is accredited by The Joint Commission, and recognized by U.S. News and World Report, the American Heart Association, Leapfrog, and other organizations for its high-quality services. LCMC Health has outperformed certain state data for healthcare-associated infections (“HAIs”), as compiled by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services. For example, LCMC Health’s aggregate rate of catheter-associated urinary tract infections (“CAUTI”) (0.569) is significantly lower than the Louisiana average (0.689).⁴ In 2022, Becker’s Hospital Review recognized LCMC Health as one of the “150 Top Places to Work in Healthcare” and in 2021, LCMC Health was named to the list of Forbes’ “Best Employers.” Also in 2021, LCMC Health earned the “Brand of the Year” award from Sprout Social; the “Joy in Medicine” recognition from the American Medical Association; and the “Digital Health Most Wired” recognition from the College of Healthcare Information Management Executives (“CHIME”). Modern Healthcare awarded LCMC Health two “Gold” designations—the highest honor in each category—in 2021 for its vaccination campaign and Physician Directory Redesign Project.

LCMC Health has consistently proven itself a committed community health partner. Since its start, when it was formed through the combination of Children’s Hospital and Touro Infirmary (“Touro”), staving off Touro’s financial distress in 2009, LCMC Health has established a proven track record of investing in the strength of individual hospitals. Its role in shaping the landscape of New Orleans communities is shown by its historic partnerships with state and local governments, which have positioned LCMC Health to operate hospitals in underserved communities. For example, in 2012 through 2013, LCMC Health partnered with the State of Louisiana to operate the Interim LSU Hospital and the future University Medical Center New Orleans, following the shuttering of Charity Hospital during Hurricane Katrina. This public-private partnership, along with eight other public-private partnership hospitals in the state, provided a nearly $2.7 billion boost to the Louisiana budget while reducing emergency room wait times, increasing outpatient visits, eliminating waiting lists for prescriptions and primary care, and expanding specialty services.⁵

LCMC Health also has a strong track record of successfully partnering with academic institutions to provide world-class health care services and training, as demonstrated by its decades-long partnership with Louisiana State University (“LSU”). Through its partnerships with LSU and other universities, thousands of medical, dentistry, nursing, and allied health students train in LCMC Health hospitals every year. LCMC Health employs more LSU faculty as medical staff than any system in the state, [REDACTED]

Most recently, LCMC Health committed $75 million to LSU over the next five years for cancer research and treatment for patients and revolutionary STEM education programs for future health care professionals. As LSU’s lead clinical partner in the vision for ascending the LCMC Health/LSU Cancer Center to a National Cancer Institute (“NCI”)-Designated Cancer Center, LCMC Health aims to develop world-class, multidisciplinary cancer care and clinical research programs driven toward earning NCI designation for Louisiana. The investment will help transform health care in the region by offering enhanced care and access for cancer patients and additional resources and training for students.⁶ As evidenced by such commitments, LCMC Health is dedicated to playing a vital role in employing and training the next generation of Louisiana health care professionals.

LCMC Health’s commitment is further demonstrated through its capital investments of more than [REDACTED] across the LCMC Health system over the past five years. LCMC Health is dedicated to offering care broadly, with special emphasis on underserved communities, and its proposed relationship with Tulane University will expand its ability to do so.

Today, LCMC Health offers six hospital locations that provide a continuum of care to the families of the Gulf South region and beyond:

- Children’s Hospital New Orleans (“Children’s Hospital”). Founded in 1955 and located in New Orleans, Children’s Hospital is a 257-bed, not-for-profit, Magnet-certified pediatric academic medical center offering over 40 pediatric specialties for infants, children, and adolescents from Louisiana’s 64 parishes, nearly every U.S. state, and nine countries. Children’s Hospital is Louisiana’s first and only full-service hospital operated exclusively for children and provides training opportunities for both LSU and Tulane University. In 2022, Children’s Hospital was recognized as a Best Children’s Hospital by U.S. News & World Report. Children’s Hospital provides inpatient services in all pediatric, medical, surgical, and psychiatric subspecialties with a staff of more than 600 pediatric providers, and provides outpatient services in more than 50 subspecialties. Children's Hospital also provides a large array of community benefit and wellness programs, including research activities and special programs for the handicapped and medically underserved. Between 2019 and 2021, nearly 73% of patients served at Children's Hospital were Medicaid patients.

In 2017, Children's Hospital broke ground on the most significant expansion project in the hospital's history: a new medical tower with expanded cancer, emergency, cardiac intensive care, and surgical centers, along with a freestanding behavioral health center. This $300 million investment brought together infrastructure, technology, and unmatched expertise to deliver health care for Louisiana's children.

Children's Hospital has been recognized for offering unparalleled educational enhancement, innovation, and improved access to high quality pediatric health care.

- East Jefferson General Hospital (“EJGH”). EJGH is a 407-bed community hospital located in Metairie, Louisiana. Founded in 1971, EJGH has deep roots in Jefferson Parish. LCMC Health committed to investing $100 million over a five-year period in EJGH after acquiring EJGH in 2020. EJGH has grown with the East Bank community, offering a breadth of expertise across all areas of care, including brain and spine care; cancer care; heart and vascular care; primary care; orthopedics; surgery; and women's health. EJGH has consistently received awards for quality of care,⁷ including numerous accreditations by The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations, as well as Magnet certification from the American Nurses Credentialing Center for a fifth consecutive term. Only 32 organizations out of more than 6,000 in the U.S. have received a fifth designation, and EJGH is the only hospital in Louisiana to receive Magnet certification for five consecutive terms.
- New Orleans East Hospital (“NOEH”). NOEH is a 50-bed full-service hospital that provides primary and secondary services to the city of New Orleans, including complete surgical, intensive, and stroke care; diagnostic imaging; laboratory; rehabilitation; sports medicine; and emergency care. LCMC Health's partnership at NOEH has secured vital health care services for the surrounding community since its doors opened in 2014. That year, the City of New Orleans agreed with LCMC Health—the only provider organization willing to consider the role—to serve as its partner in operations, bringing NOEH, a full-service hospital, back to New Orleans East for the first time since Hurricane Katrina. Today, NOEH employs over 120 physicians, who are dedicated to improving the health of residents in New Orleans East, Gentilly, St. Bernard, the Lower Ninth Ward, and beyond.

In 2020, NOEH was awarded hospital accreditation from The Joint Commission and a Get with the Guidelines Silver Plus Stroke Quality Award. It has received a Primary Stroke Center certification from The Joint Commission since 2019. In 2017, NOEH opened the Rhesa & Alden J. McDonald Jr. and Sue Ellen & Joseph C. Canizaro Diabetes Center offering comprehensive care and support to those affected by diabetes. The hospital has subsequently been recognized by the American Diabetes Association and American Heart Association as a provider of high-quality care.

- Touro Infirmary (“Touro”). Touro is a long-standing community-based, not-for-profit hospital located in New Orleans. Providing 360 inpatient beds and employing 387 physicians, Touro has served the New Orleans community for over 169 years, offering a full suite of primary and specialty services, including women’s health, surgery, intensive care, skilled nursing inpatient services, inpatient and outpatient rehabilitation services, emergency care, and specialized care through its Woldenberg Village retirement community. As one of Louisiana’s busiest delivery hospitals, with over 2,500 deliveries in 2021, the Family Birthing Center at Touro is equipped with private labor/delivery and postpartum suites, acute neonatal intensive care services, and a comprehensive infant security system. In 2009, Touro and Children’s Hospital formed LCMC Health.

Touro has garnered a number of quality awards and certifications, including a rank of #1 on Newsweek’s list of America’s Best Physical Rehabilitation Centers and The Joint Commission’s Gold Seal of Approval for Chest Pain Certification and Advanced Certification for primary Stroke Centers. The Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities (“CARF”) has also accredited Touro for several programs, including Comprehensive Integrated Inpatient Rehabilitation; Spinal Cord System of Care; Brain Injury Rehabilitation; Stroke Specialty; Amputation; and Cancer Rehabilitation.

- University Medical Center New Orleans. University Medical Center New Orleans is an academic medical center located in downtown New Orleans, as well as a public-private partnership with the State of Louisiana with a commitment to provide care to uninsured, high-risk Medicaid patients. With 446 inpatient beds, almost 3,000 full-time employees, 5 trauma rooms, 19 surgical suites, 60 behavioral health beds, and 2.3 million square feet for health care services, the hospital provides exceptional patient-centered care and a world-class academic experience through advanced research, leading technology, and innovation. From expert primary care and the widest variety of specialty care to cutting edge emergency care and a Level 1 Trauma Center, University Medical Center New Orleans offers the area the widest breadth of health care services. In conjunction with its research partners, including the Tulane University School of Medicine, University Medical Center New Orleans is home to the Avery C. Alexander Academic Research Hospital and the largest training center for health care professionals in Louisiana. It seeks to become a leading world-class academic medical center and the destination of choice for exceptional health care. In 2021, University Medical Center New Orleans launched a second $6.2 million linear accelerator machine in the Cancer Center. The LCMC Health/LSU Cancer Center seeks to develop into a distinguished center for cancer treatment in the heart of Louisiana.

University Medical Center New Orleans has earned several prestigious awards, including, for example, The Joint Commission's Gold Seal of Approval, a symbol of quality that reflects an organization's commitment to providing safe and effective patient care, and the American Heart Association/American Stroke Association Target: Stroke Honor Roll Gold Plus Quality Achievement Award. The hospital also hosts an Advanced Primary Stroke Center; an accredited Center of Comprehensive Care for Pulmonary Hypertension; The Joint Commission-certified Primary Stroke Center; and American Burn Association-verified Burn Center. The Infectious Diseases Society of America has designated the hospital as an Antimicrobial Stewardship Center of Excellence, recognizing the hospital's achievement in meeting standards for responsible antimicrobial use.

- West Jefferson Medical Center (“WJMC”). WJMC operates a 377-bed hospital located in Marrero, Louisiana. In 2015, through an agreement with Jefferson Parish, WJMC joined the LCMC Health system. At a time that WJMC was facing significant financial challenges, LCMC Health stepped in to provide financial stability and capital investment to modernize the facility and clinical capabilities, including committing to funding $340 million in capital improvements. Today, with over 1,460 employees, including 471 physicians, WJMC provides general acute care, clinical care, and other health care operations at several locations in the region. Its specialties include brain and spine care; cancer care; ear, nose and throat care; emergency care; gastrointestinal care; women's health; general surgery; heart and vascular care; orthopedics; respiratory care; urology; and more.

WJMC has been recognized repeatedly by national and state organizations that measure quality and excellence in clinical care. In 2020 and 2021, WJMC was awarded Healthgrades Patient Safety Excellent Award. In 2019, WJMC was named by Healthgrades one of America's 250 Best Hospital; achieved an “A” Leapfrog Hospital Safety Grade; and was recognized by Blue Cross and Blue Shield for Louisiana as providing higher quality Bariatric Surgery and Maternity Care. That same year, WJMC also earned The Joint Commission's Gold Seal of Approval and the American Heart Association/American Stroke Association's Advanced Certification for Comprehensive Stroke Centers. WJMC has achieved a Level 2 Geriatric Emergency Department Accreditation.

In providing comprehensive care in the region, LCMC Health also has a series of partnerships and investments, including multi-site urgent care centers through a partnership with Premier Health; partial ownership of Crescent City Surgical Centre; and two retirement and rehabilitation communities, Audubon Retirement Village and Woldenberg Village.

2. HCA-Affiliated Entities

HCA Healthcare, Inc. is a publicly traded, for-profit health system based in Nashville, Tennessee. Columbia/HCA of New Orleans, Inc., Medical Center of Baton Rouge, Inc., Columbia Healthcare System of Louisiana, Inc., and HCA Inc. are the parties to the Unit Purchase Agreement and are affiliates of HCA Healthcare, Inc. (such affiliates collectively referred to herein as “HCA”).

University Healthcare System, L.C. (“UHS”) is a multi-hospital system that serves as the primary health system partner of Tulane. UHS operates Tulane University Medical Center, Tulane Lakeside Hospital, and Lakeview Regional Medical Center (collectively, the “UHS Hospitals”). UHS is a joint venture between Tulane and affiliates of HCA Healthcare, Inc., Columbia/HCA of New Orleans, Inc. and Medical Center of Baton Rouge, Inc., which hold a majority stake in UHS. UHS offers nationally renowned and award-winning medical research capabilities, and is a vital institution for serving patients in New Orleans and the surrounding communities.

3. Tulane

Tulane School of Medicine is the medical school of Tulane, a top-ranked university and research institution located in New Orleans, Louisiana. The Tulane School of Medicine began as a medical college in 1834, and has grown into one of the foremost research universities in the country. The Tulane School of Medicine is one of the oldest medical universities in the South and represents a vital medical education resource for the region. The Tulane School of Medicine provides training and clinical oversight to the three UHS facilities described below.

This transaction involves the following UHS Hospitals:

- Tulane University Medical Center (“TUMC”). TUMC is Tulane’s current academic center based in downtown New Orleans. An acclaimed teaching, research, and medical facility serving the greater New Orleans area, TUMC has served patients in New Orleans and beyond since 1976. With 235 beds, TUMC offers primary, secondary, and tertiary care through 26 UHS clinics across seven locations and several centers, including the Tulane Abdominal Transplant Center, Cancer Center, Center for Wound Healing, Hernia Center, and Cardiovascular Institute. In 2021, TUMC had almost 7,000 discharges.
- Tulane Lakeside Hospital (“Tulane Lakeside”). Tulane Lakeside is located in Metairie, Louisiana. Since 1964, Tulane Lakeside has delivered more than 100,000 babies and today emphasizes women’s health services, as well as ambulatory surgery, orthopedic surgery, and neonatal care. Its 121-bed hospital is home to Tulane Breast Health Center, a surgical center, and a Level III neonatal intensive care unit. In 2021, Tulane Lakeside had almost 2,650 discharges.
- Lakeview Regional Medical Center (“Lakeview”). Lakeview is a 167-bed, full-service, acute-care hospital offering medical care throughout St. Tammany Parish. Located in Covington, Louisiana, Lakeview delivers a variety of inpatient and outpatient services to Louisiana’s Northshore region, including nationally recognized heart and stroke care, diabetes care, orthopedic services, outpatient rehabilitation services, women’s and senior care, award-winning behavioral health services, and a comprehensive range of outpatient services. Its emergency department is the only Level II trauma center in St. Tammany Parish. In 2021, Lakeview had over 7,000 discharges.

Description of the Transaction

On January 14, 2022, LCMC Health and Tulane signed a letter of intent⁸ to enter a transaction involving a long term academic and clinical affiliation, which contemplated that HCA will transfer its ownership interest in UHS to Tulane and LCMC Health will then acquire the membership interests of UHS from Tulane to become the sole member of UHS (the “Transaction”).⁹ UHS, including the three UHS Hospitals described above, will become a locally operated, not-for-profit entity as a part of the broader not-for-profit LCMC Health organization.

As outlined in the Academic Affiliation Agreement, Membership Interest Transfer Agreement, and Unit Purchase Agreement,¹⁰ LCMC Health, Tulane, and HCA will enter into a series of financial arrangements, commitments, and investments to support the goals of the Transaction.¹¹ Specifically, to allow for an academic affiliation between LCMC Health and Tulane under the Academic Affiliation Agreement, two prior agreements will be executed to convey the ownership interests in UHS from HCA to LCMC Health. First, through the Unit Purchase Agreement, HCA will convey its respective interests in UHS to Tulane. Next, under the Membership Interest Transfer Agreement, and immediately following HCA’s conveyance of its interests to Tulane, Tulane will convey its interests in UHS to LCMC Health. As the sole owner of the UHS Hospitals, LCMC Health will be positioned to enter into an Academic Affiliation Agreement with Tulane to support the goals of the Transaction discussed throughout this Application.

Post-Transaction, the Parties will be better positioned to provide access to enhanced clinical services and high-quality health care to patients residing in the New Orleans region and throughout the entire state of Louisiana. The Parties have the unique opportunity to create a world-class, destination academic health system that advances and delivers health care services for all patients of Louisiana. LCMC Health and Tulane will remain steadfast in their commitment to restoring and improving the combined health care system to provide patients with much needed health care services.

⁹

[REDACTED] EJGH will become a premier, destination academic medical center in Jefferson Parish while the Parties bolster University Medical Center New Orleans’ downtown operations and relocate certain academic specialty care from TUMC to EJGH.

¹⁰ Attached as Appendix D.

¹¹ See the response to Specifications 5(b) and 5(c) for more detail.

5(b). A description of any consideration passing to any person under the agreement or transaction, including the amount, nature, source, and recipient;

5(c). A description of each party's contribution of capital, equipment, labor, services, or other value to the transaction, if any;

Response to Specifications 5(b) and 5(c):

The Transaction will empower LCMC Health and Tulane to leverage each other's strengths, drive greater collaboration, and promote the delivery of quality health care in the New Orleans region.

A primary driver of the Transaction is the Parties' shared desire to invest in the future of health care in the community and increase the quality of and access to academic medicine. The Parties intend to anchor this effort in two ways: first, by enhancing services at University Medical Center New Orleans to serve Orleans Parish; and second, by establishing a new, premier academic medical center and a leading teaching institution in Jefferson Parish. The Parties believe these efforts will advance health care services in the greater New Orleans area by combining clinical service offerings and, through a newly established academic medical center, supporting additional medical training, recruitment, and retention of high-caliber clinicians.

Further, LCMC Health and Tulane currently engage in a significant amount of medical research, with Tulane alone spending approximately $230 million on research. Additionally, LCMC Health, for example, currently supports research "across the biomedical spectrum, from lab-based science and translational research to clinical trials in all major disease areas."¹² Tulane also conducts an array of medical research,¹³ including supporting its Clinical Trials Cooperative Core Laboratory that provides "specialized services to investigators who conduct basic, translational, and clinical research."¹⁴ Together, the Parties will be able to collaborate in further research endeavors, such as combined clinical trials, to push the boundaries of medical practice to provide patients and students access to enhanced health care services.

To effectuate the Transaction, as more specifically described in the Unit Purchase Agreement, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] will be paid to HCA at the closing as consideration for the Transaction under the Agreement. Beyond these payments, LCMC Health and Tulane will also collectively contribute substantial capital, equipment, labor, and services to accomplish their goals and enable significant benefits from the Transaction. LCMC Health will enter into a series of ongoing financial arrangements with Tulane, including a commitment to provide at least $220 million in capital investments to EJGH, Tulane Lakeside, and Lakeview in the first five years following the close of the Transaction.

The Parties intend to focus these investments on improving physical clinical space and enhancing the academic capabilities required to establish a premier academic medical center in Jefferson Parish. The Parties will transition or relocate advanced clinical services currently provided at TUMC to EJGH, including services not currently offered at EJGH. As described above, the Parties intend to fund at least $220 million worth of initial capital improvements at EJGH, Tulane Lakeside, and Lakeview to increase capacity for higher acuity patients, expand space for teaching requirements, and modernize facility infrastructure. These funds will be used to update equipment, expand critical care assets [REDACTED] add specialty care units [REDACTED] improve procedural space, and promote strategic investments.

Beyond the initial capital commitment of at least $220 million, LCMC Health plans to invest [REDACTED] to expand its Electronic Medical Records (“EMR”) system, the Epic platform, to Tulane Lakeside and Lakeview. Using a unified EMR system enables physicians to transition care seamlessly across facilities and allows patients to more easily access clinicians through their Epic MyChart patient portal, to the benefit of patients throughout the greater New Orleans area, including on the Northshore.¹⁵

In addition, LCMC Health has also committed to support Tulane’s academic health care mission. Examples of these academic support areas will include:

- Academic Support: Academic funding to support the Tulane School of Medicine’s goal of delivering the highest quality patient care and preparing the next generation of distinguished clinical and scientific leaders, including annual mission support payments. Tulane plans to use the funds for clinical, research, and academic purposes. LCMC Health will also provide sufficient administrative, personnel, facility, and equipment support for Tulane’s undergraduate and graduate medical education teaching programs. In turn, the improvements will aid the Parties’ ability to recruit and retain medical students, medical residents, Tulane medical school faculty, physicians, and other health care providers.
- Clinical Services: Annual funding to support clinical and lab services, faculty support, and recruitment at EJGH, TUMC, Tulane Lakeside, and Lakeview. The funding commitment and the Parties’ combined clinical service offerings will further advance providers’ clinical capabilities, improve health care quality, and create a practice environment that attracts and retains talent.
- Payment for Residents and Fellows: Annual funding of the actual cost of all salaries, benefits, and reasonable expenses for Residents and Fellows providing services at TUMC, Tulane Lakeside, and Lakeview.

¹⁵ See the response to Specification 5(m) for more detail.

Through the Transaction, LCMC Health and Tulane are focused on investing in the future of health care in New Orleans and beyond. LCMC Health and Tulane believe that combining their capabilities will enable the Parties to promote a shared community-oriented mission to drive quality health care for all patients in Louisiana.

5(d). Identification of any other services or products that are reasonably likely to be affected by the proposed agreement or transaction;

Response to Specification 5(d):

The Transaction brings together two mission-driven, local organizations with one shared goal—preserving and expanding access to high-quality, personalized health care throughout the greater New Orleans community.

LCMC Health and Tulane intend to combine resources to address the health care needs of patients in the greater New Orleans area and throughout Louisiana. The social determinants of health—the conditions in the environments where people are born, live, learn, work, play, worship, and age, which contribute to wide health disparities and inequities—present difficult challenges to improving the health of patients in the region.¹⁶ Post-Transaction, the combined system will be better equipped to address these health issues by providing increased access to enhanced clinical services, as discussed throughout this Application.¹⁷

1. Developing EJGH as a premier academic medical center.

As described in the response to Specifications 5(b) and 5(c), a sizable portion of LCMC Health’s preliminary $220 million commitment combined with the Parties’ shared vision will transform EJGH into a premier academic medical center that provides new and enhanced clinical service offerings, as described below.

Clinical relocation and unit improvements – The Parties have a three-pronged approach for enhancing clinical services at EJGH. First, the Parties are exploring establishing new health care service offerings that are not currently provided at EJGH. Second, LCMC Health and Tulane plan to combine the Parties’ existing clinical capabilities, such as neurosurgical services, to provide patients with enhanced capabilities at EJGH. Third, the Parties plan to improve emergency services by modernizing the emergency department at EJGH and combining the Parties’ existing trauma services.

Strategic capital investment – LCMC Health is also planning to invest additional funding to improve facilities by increasing operating room capacity, establishing new intensive care space and specialty care space, and modernizing the emergency department.

Routine capital – The Parties plan to make several other enhanced infrastructure investments at EJGH to create a world-class academic medical center. These efforts would address current facility maintenance issues and also equip the Parties with the resources and infrastructure to support cutting-edge medical research. For example, the Parties will explore purchasing new, high-end equipment, such additional, upgraded robotic surgical systems and a linear accelerator, installing updated inpatient beds, renovating the emergency room, among other strategic facility updates. Beyond EJGH, LCMC Health and Tulane also plan to enhance operational capabilities at Tulane Lakeside and Lakeview, including the pre-natal and newborn health care currently provided at Tulane Lakeside, to the benefit of patients throughout the greater New Orleans area, including on the Northshore.

2. Repurposing TUMC to advance medical education, workforce development, clinical research, and health care delivery.

As part of the Transaction, the Parties plan to enhance clinical services in downtown New Orleans and the surrounding communities.

Relocation of clinical services – Importantly, the Parties do not plan to discontinue any services currently provided by LCMC Health or Tulane. Instead, the Parties will transfer several clinical services from TUMC to EJGH and University Medical Center New Orleans, maintaining access to all of the same services and making more efficient use of those locations. Additionally, the Transaction will allow the combined system to add certain tertiary and quaternary medical services that are not currently available at LCMC Health for adults, including kidney and pancreas transplant, liver transplant, and bone marrow and stem cell transplant services. Similarly, specialized oncology services will also be added and/or enhanced, including urologic oncology, neuro-oncology, a comprehensive lung cancer program, and gynecologic oncology services. LCMC Health is committed to ensuring no jobs are lost as a result of the Transaction.

Table 5(d) outlines the services currently offered by the Parties; these services will continue to be offered post-Transaction and will be better coordinated and enhanced through the combined system.

Repurposing current facilities – Tulane is planning to repurpose the existing 600,000 square feet of developed space on which the TUMC facility is located in Orleans Parish. Tulane plans to establish a new Nursing Program in excess of 25,000 square feet, with the goal of graduating approximately 220 new nursing students each year;¹⁸

Tulane is also evaluating a plan to develop a new medical and surgical education and training center that uses advanced technological models and robust video communication platforms to advance physician and patient education and training.

The Parties are also exploring ways to address the nationwide shortage of forensic pathologists burdening coroners' offices.¹⁹ These new and expanded facilities would aid in recruiting and retaining medical school students, residents, faculty, and physicians, as well as high caliber teachers to Orleans Parish.

Enhanced medical research capabilities – Tulane's nationally renowned and award-winning medical research capabilities are a vital aspect of serving patients in New Orleans and the surrounding communities. The Transaction allows Tulane to solidify its reputation and advance its campus by investing in additional innovative medical research facilities and capabilities. Tulane and other developers committed approximately [REDACTED] to further develop Tulane's downtown campus, including: (1) the development of the shuttered Charity Hospital facility into a new, cutting-edge research facility, including adding graduate programs and a dedicated research space with the capacity of hosting 600 research personnel on site to further attract and retain clinical talent; (2) redevelopment of 55,000 square feet of lab space in the Tulane School of Medicine building; (3) development of a Tulane residence in the old Warwick Hotel; (4) development of a Tulane police station; (5) development of a 12,000 square foot gym; and (6) repurposing of the TUMC building.

Creating Centers of Excellence – Together, LCMC Health and Tulane can establish several Centers of Excellence. For example:

- The Joint Commission and the American Heart Association have previously recognized the Tulane Stroke Program as a Comprehensive Stroke Center; the Center is one of only two Joint Commission Certified Comprehensive Stroke Centers in Louisiana, and the only one in Orleans Parish. [REDACTED]

- LCMC Health and Tulane plan to improve the post-Transaction level of quality of cardiac care services [REDACTED]

- [REDACTED]

3. Enhanced recruitment and retention of clinical talent to the community.

Post-Transaction, a destination academic health system that consolidates patient volumes across a single system of care will drive the Parties' ability to attract and retain high caliber specialty physicians. Higher volumes and higher quality physicians will support enhanced clinical services, opportunities for continued medical education, medical research, and development of Centers of Excellence. All of this will ultimately improve quality and access to health care. The significance and effect of combined patient volumes on health care quality, access, and cost is described in more detail in response to Specification 5(m).

Attracting medical students, residents, and fellows – Post-Transaction, Tulane medical students, residents, and fellows will be able to train across a larger health care system and develop clinical proficiency through a larger patient population and expertise in more research and teaching opportunities. Medical students are attracted to a health care system that offers a top-of-the-line clinical experience, combining a high-caliber faculty, wide selection of nationally recognized health care services, mentoring programs, and updated facilities and technology. Further, medical students and residents will be afforded the opportunity to train in an interdisciplinary environment in coordination with the planned Tulane Nursing Program. Additional training opportunities, including in rural care delivery settings, may be provided to residents through the Family Medicine residency program, further expanding training opportunities for medical professionals. Consistent with Tulane's academic mission, the Parties plan to invest in new lecture rooms, clinical research labs, student lounges, and study areas.

Attracting and retaining physicians – The Parties' financial commitment to the establishment of a premier academic health system with combined service lines and enhanced capabilities will allow LCMC Health not only to retain medical students, residents, fellows, and existing practitioners but to attract providers to the broader New Orleans community. The Parties' enhanced suite of clinical support resources, such as an enhanced electronic medical record platform, additional support staff to streamline dictation and charting, continued training and access to training facilities, and an increased concentration of medical professional peers, are all aimed at enhancing the clinical experience and reducing potential burnout.

The Parties' post-Transaction efforts to repurpose existing facilities serve their shared goal of improving access to and promoting high-quality health care. Enhanced service lines and a new premier academic medical center reflect LCMC Health and Tulane's shared mission of expanding access to services for patients in New Orleans, the surrounding communities, and beyond.

5(e). A description of the geographic territory involved in the proposed agreement or transaction;

5(f). If the geographic territory described in item (e) is different from the territory in which the applicants have engaged in the type of business at issue over the last five years, a description of how and why the geographic territory differs;

Response to Specifications 5(e) and 5(f):

The Parties provide health care services to patients throughout the greater New Orleans region, an area with a population of over 1.2 million people.²⁰ With hospitals in Orleans, Jefferson, and St. Tammany parishes, LCMC Health and the UHS hospitals serve patients in communities throughout Southeast Louisiana, including New Orleans, Metairie, and on the Northshore. The Parties also draw a significant number of patients from the adjoining parishes of St. Bernard, St. Charles, Plaquemines, Lafourche, St. John the Baptist, Tangipahoa, and Washington.

Additionally, the Parties have locations throughout Louisiana, including in Alexandria, Baton Rouge, Covington, Destrehan, Gretna, Harvey, Kenner, Lafayette, Lake Charles, LaPlace, Luling, Marrero, Metairie, Monroe, New Orleans, River Ridge, Slidell, and Terrytown parishes, and beyond. Accordingly, the Parties provide services to patients throughout the state, including at LCMC Health's Children's Hospital Specialty Care centers in Monroe (more than 280 miles from New Orleans in the northern part of the state) and Lake Charles (more than 200 miles from New Orleans in the southwestern part of the state). Post-Transaction, the combined health care system will be better positioned to bridge geographic divides and provide high-quality health care to patients in the surrounding communities and throughout Louisiana.

Thus, the Parties' geographic territories span the state of Louisiana, drawing patients from all 64 parishes for inpatient and outpatient services. Although a sizeable portion of the Parties' patients live in immediate parishes—including Orleans, Jefferson, St. Charles, St. Tammany, and St. Bernard—both LCMC Health and the UHS hospitals also serve many patients residing throughout the entire state. In 2019, for example, the Parties provided inpatient services to patients from 61 out of 64 of Louisiana's parishes and hospital-based outpatient services to patients from all 64 parishes. Over the last five years, this geography has not changed.

As depicted in the maps in Table 5(e)-1 and Table 5(e)-2, LCMC Health and Tulane currently provide health care services to patients from every corner of the state. Post-Transaction, the Parties will be capable of providing high-quality, personalized health care services to patients residing in all parishes in Louisiana.

5(g). Identification of all products or services that a substantial share of consumers would consider substitutes for any service or product that is the subject of the proposed agreement or transaction;

Response to Specification 5(g):

As outlined in response to Specification 5(d), LCMC Health and Tulane each provide a wide breadth of inpatient and outpatient services across each of the Parties' locations. As discussed in response to Specification 5(h), patients are increasingly comfortable with electing for care in outpatient settings. Patients view outpatient services, such as ambulatory surgery centers, as viable alternatives for treating certain acute conditions.²¹ Thus, both LCMC Health and Tulane will continue to face competition, not only from other inpatient care providers, but also from a growing number of outpatient facilities, as outlined in more detail in response to Specification 5(h).

²¹ Zack Budryk, Alternatives to Inpatient Stays May Improve Patient Satisfaction, Fierce Healthcare (Oct. 4, 2016), <https://www.fiercehealthcare.com/healthcare/alternatives-to-inpatient-stays-may-improve-patient-satisfaction> (“As the healthcare industry increasingly tilts in the direction of outpatient services, research shows numerous acute conditions can be treated in outpatient settings at no cost to quality or patient satisfaction.”).

5(h). Identification of whether any services or products of the proposed agreement or transaction are currently being offered, capable of being offered, utilized, or capable of being utilized by other providers or purchasers in the geographic territory described in item (e);

Response to Specification 5(h):

1. LCMC Health and Tulane face competition from a number of hospitals, health systems, and other facilities that provide general acute inpatient care and outpatient services in the region.

As detailed below, the services the Parties provide are currently offered to patients in LCMC Health and Tulane's service areas by numerous competing health care providers. Patients from throughout the state of Louisiana receive services at the Parties' hospitals. Therefore, the Parties compete with a vast number of health care providers located throughout the state, beyond those highlighted in this Application. Post-Transaction, the combined health system will continue to face competition from these providers, including large and significant health systems with substantial market share. As the Parties expand services, combine existing resources, and continue to recruit physicians and other health care providers, these providers will spur competition among other inpatient and outpatient facilities in the region.

- (a) LCMC Health and Tulane compete with myriad other inpatient facilities and offsite emergency departments throughout Louisiana.

Many competing providers offer inpatient and outpatient services in the Parties' service areas. Post-Transaction, robust competition for inpatient hospital services will continue from more than 35 other hospitals, listed in Table 5(h)-1, located in surrounding parishes. As discussed below, the Parties will continue to compete with large and significant health systems in the region, many of which are expanding and gaining strength.

The Parties also face competition from offsite emergency departments, which are separate facilities that provide emergency services and often provide related ancillary services such as laboratory and pharmacy services. Notably, LCMC Health and Tulane both face competition from offsite emergency departments, including two in Jefferson and St. Tammany Parishes, as listed in Table 5(h)-2.

- (b) The combined entity will continue to face competition from other health systems in the region and beyond.

Several large and significant health systems in the region compete vigorously with LCMC Health and Tulane, including Ochsner Health System ("Ochsner") and Franciscan Missionaries of Our Lady Health System. The Parties expect continued competition from these and other large health systems in Louisiana, many of which are undergoing substantial facility and service expansions. For example:

- Ochsner Health System ("Ochsner"). With 40 hospitals and more than 300 health and urgent care centers in Louisiana and the surrounding region, Ochsner is the largest health care system operating in the state. Its flagship hospital, Ochsner Medical Center, is a 767-bed acute care hospital located approximately six miles from EJGH, University Medical Center, and TUMC. Ochsner Medical Center has established three Centers of Excellence (Ochsner Cancer Institute, Ochsner Multi-Organ Transplant Center, and Ochsner Heart and Vascular Institute). In 2022, Ochsner earned a Leapfrog Hospital Safety Grade of “A” and Magnet Recognition for Excellence in Nursing Services. Other Ochsner hospitals in the greater New Orleans area include Ochsner Medical Center – Kenner, Ochsner Medical Center – West Bank, Ochsner Medical Center – North Shore, Ochsner Baptist, and Ochsner St. Anne Hospital, among numerous additional hospitals that have partnered with or are managed by Ochsner. For example, on the Northshore, Ochsner has joint operating agreements with Slidell Memorial Hospital, a 223-bed public acute care hospital in Slidell, and St. Tammany Parish Hospital, a 281-bed public acute care hospital in Covington.

In the past few years, Ochsner has expanded through several partnerships, acquisitions, and investments, including a multi-year $360 million expansion across multiple facilities and major centers.²² For example, in 2016, as part of a $12.8 million project, Ochsner opened a 20,000-square-foot cancer treatment center in its O’Neal Lane campus in Baton Rouge.²³ In 2018, Ochsner opened its new West Campus in Jefferson Parish, a 130,000-square-foot building that includes a skilled nursing facility, a long-term acute care unit, and an inpatient physical rehabilitation hospital in a new five-story building.²⁴ More recently, in 2021, Ochsner and St. Tammany Health System opened a new cancer center following the completion of a 75,000-square-foot, $50 million facility, doubling the size of the previous cancer center.²⁵ Also in 2021, Ochsner opened a new outpatient center in Metairie, a 12,500-square-foot, newly renovated facility that offers women’s health, primary, and pediatric care services onsite and features 27 examination rooms, a blood draw lab, an X-ray room, and two waiting areas.²⁶ Earlier this year, Ochsner completed a planned merger with Rush Health Systems—the largest healthcare system in eastern Mississippi and western Alabama—through which Ochsner added seven hospitals and more than 30 clinics.²⁷ In 2018, Ochsner and LSU Health Shreveport formed Ochsner LSU Health Shreveport, a public-private partnership providing care to patients in North Louisiana, with a Level 1 Trauma Center and Level II Pediatric Trauma Center, a Level 4 Epilepsy Center, a Level III Trauma Program at its Monroe Medical Center, a Thrombectomy-Capable Stroke Center, and Louisiana's first Advanced Interventional Cardiology Suite, among others. Ochsner LSU Health Shreveport recently invested more than $200 million in capital improvements; renovated more than 225,000 square feet at its St. Mary Medical Center; expanded its ICU capacity; and increased from seven to more than 20 outpatient locations.²⁸ Ochsner has announced plans for additional multimillion dollar expansions for 2022 and beyond, including a $15 million investment in community health care clinics and senior clinics in St. Tammany Parish and Baton Rouge.²⁹ Finally, Ochsner has announced it will continue to expand its cancer treatment services in Baton Rouge, including building a specialty pharmacy for cancer drugs as a part of a $10 million project.³⁰ The planned expansion will also include new patient exam rooms, treatment rooms, and consultation rooms for a wide variety of oncology services.

- Franciscan Missionaries of Our Lady Health System (“Franciscan Missionaries”). With a total of 1,747 licensed beds, Franciscan Missionaries is one of the largest health systems in Louisiana. Franciscan Missionaries operates ten hospitals and numerous clinics and other facilities located throughout Louisiana and Mississippi, including Our Lady of the Angels Hospital in Washington Parish, Our Lady of the Lake Ascension in Ascension Parish, and Our Lady of the Lake Regional Medical Center in Baton Rouge.³¹ Our Lady of the Lake Regional Medical Center includes a 988-bed hospital and a Level I Trauma Center, as well as two freestanding emergency rooms, outpatient imaging and surgery centers, and nearly 15 urgent care clinics.³² In 2019, Our Lady of the Lake was awarded Magnet status for excellence in nursing services by the American Nurses Credentialing Center and was named Hospital of the Year in the large hospital category by the Louisiana State Nurses Association and the Louisiana Nurses Foundation.³³

In 2021, Our Lady of the Lake Regional Medical Center announced plans for a $100 million investment in a new state-of-the-art cancer center serving Baton Rouge and the Gulf South region.³⁴ The health system also announced that it purchased nearly 13 acres in St. Tammany Parish to construct a new facility, which will join the system's numerous clinics and surgical centers in the area.³⁵ In 2022, Our Lady of the Angels Hospital opened a new Family Medicine Clinic in Washington Parish, while Our Lady of the Lake Regional Medical Center announced the acquisition of a children's developmental center that provides outpatient pediatric therapy clinic in the Greater Baton Rouge area.³⁶

- (c) The combined entity will continue to face competition from outpatient facilities and post-acute care facilities.

Patients have many independent alternatives for outpatient services.³⁷ Outpatient care includes ambulatory surgery centers, primary care clinics, retail clinics, community health clinics, urgent care centers, skilled nursing homes, specialized outpatient clinics, imaging service facilities, and emergency departments.³⁸ In general, the shift to outpatient settings is due to clinical innovation, patient preferences, and financial incentives. This is reflected by the vast number of competing—and growing—outpatient facilities, nursing homes, assisted living facilities, and hospice care facilities located in the greater New Orleans area that compete for patients with the Parties.³⁹

Table 5(h)-2 provides a listing of other health care facilities within LCMC Health's and Tulane's immediate community.

- (d) The combined entity will continue to face competition from non-traditional providers, including telehealth and retail competitors that are expanding in the region and beyond.

The use of telehealth services as alternatives to traditional in-person health care has increased exponentially in recent years.⁴⁰ Though the rise in telehealth has since slowed after an initial surge during earlier stages of the COVID-19 pandemic, the number of telehealth visits remain substantially greater than pre-pandemic levels.⁴¹ Patients continue to seek health care services outside of hospital settings, choosing instead to receive care through telemedicine and other alternative providers like urgent care centers rather than emergency departments.⁴² Hospitals and other traditional in-person providers face competition from virtual care providers that offer patients convenient and efficient access to services.⁴³ Post-Transaction, the Parties will continue to compete with both retailers and telehealth providers, many of which are expanding.⁴⁴ Major retailers are expanding into the health care space to offer both in-person and remote care alternatives to traditional brick-and-mortar-based practices. For example, with its recently proposed acquisition of concierge primary care company One Medical, Amazon has sought to expand into the role of a health care provider.⁴⁵ Other retailers, like CVS, Walgreens, and Walmart, have similarly announced their intentions to expand their health care offerings by moving into the primary care and home health space.⁴⁶

2. The Transaction will enhance competition.

Louisiana law provides that the Department may not issue a certificate of public advantage (“COPA”) unless it finds that a transaction “is likely to result in lower health care costs or is likely to result in improved access to health care or higher quality health care without any undue increase in health care costs.” R.S. § 40:2254.4. This proposed Transaction will result in higher quality and improved access to health care without any undue increase in health care costs because it will not result in a meaningful reduction in competition for inpatient and outpatient services in the area.

Competition is valuable because it can benefit consumers. The “principal objective of antitrust policy is to maximize consumer welfare by encouraging firms to behave competitively.”⁴⁷ If the Transaction is consummated, the net effect will be to promote, not lessen, the traditional benefits of competition in the Parties’ geographic service areas.

The Transaction will allow the combined entity to compete more effectively against large and significant health systems in the area, many of which are growing themselves, as evidenced by Ochsner’s recent merger with Rush Health Systems, for example.⁴⁸ As the combined entity expands services, increases investment in Tulane Lakeside and Lakeview, and recruits physicians and other health care providers post-Transaction, LCMC Health and Tulane will increase the number of providers in the community and spur competition among other inpatient and outpatient facilities in the region. Moreover, the Transaction will allow the Parties to develop a premier academic medical center, through a portion of the $220 million investment aimed at furthering Tulane’s academic mission. In so doing, the Transaction will expand access to Tulane’s world-class medicine at new, destination-level sites of care, thereby naturally promoting competition for such services while improving access to and choice of health care services for patients in the region. Additionally, as detailed above, the combined entity will continue to face competition from several general acute care hospitals, outpatient facilities, and post-acute care facilities in the geographic service area.

⁴⁸ See, e.g., Rush Health Systems Officially Becomes Ochsner Rush Health, Ochsner Health (Aug. 1, 2022), <https://news.ochsner.org/news-releases/rush-health-systems-officially-becomes-ochsner-rush-health>.

Finally, the statutory framework in effect in Louisiana protects against competitive harms by providing several avenues for ongoing, active supervision of the combined entity by the Louisiana Department of Justice, Office of the Attorney General. The approval of any COPA is conditioned upon “the periodic submission of specific data relating to cost, access, and quality.” LAC 48:XXV.515. LCMC Health must submit an annual report “evaluating whether the [approved agreement] has been complied with during the preceding year.” R.S. § 40:2254.11. Specifically, the reports must provide “information relative to the continued benefits, any disadvantages of the agreement, and sufficient information to evaluate whether any terms and conditions imposed by the department have been met or otherwise satisfied,” including “a detailed explanation of the actual effects of the agreement on each party, including any change in volume, market share, prices, and revenues.” LAC 48:XXV.517. The Department, in turn, must determine “whether the terms and conditions are being met or otherwise satisfied.” R.S. § 40:2254.11. Importantly, the Department has the authority to revoke a previously-granted COPA if it determines that the Transaction “is not resulting in lower health care costs or greater access to or quality of health care than would occur in [its] absence.” R.S. § 40:2254.6. Thus, supervision by the Department will ensure that the combined entity will act in furtherance of the public policies that underlie the Louisiana legislation’s statutory provisions.

5(i). Identification of the steps necessary, under current market and regulatory conditions, for other parties to enter the territory described in item (e) and compete with the applicants;

Response to Specification 5(i):

Louisiana law promotes competition among health care providers by maintaining low barriers to entry for providers seeking to establish new services and expand existing services, because the state does not require a “certificate of need” (“CON”). Consequently, several hospitals are undergoing or have undergone significant facility and service expansions in New Orleans and the surrounding area.

1. Louisiana does not require hospitals to apply for certificates of need.

Many states limit hospitals’ abilities to expand services by requiring them to seek government approval before entering or expanding in the state. State CON laws typically establish requirements for state approval before a new health care provider can enter a market or an existing provider can make certain capital improvements. In such states, if a hospital wants to build a wing or add additional beds, for example, it must first seek regulatory approval. The state will determine whether there is sufficient public “need” for the capital improvement and either grant or deny the provider’s application. These restrictions typically lead to reduced competition and innovation, as the laws impose additional regulation and prevent new providers from expanding or entering.⁵⁵ By eliminating competition, CON laws drive up cost, lower quality, and limit the availability of needed services.⁵⁶

Hospitals in Louisiana are not shielded by CON laws.⁵⁷ Louisiana hospitals can decide how to best serve their patients—whether by expanding facilities, offering new services, or purchasing new equipment—without seeking such government approval. As detailed below, the Parties will continue to face the threat of significant competition from other potential providers—in addition to substantial existing competition—that can challenge the hospitals simply by arriving at their doorstep or improving existing nearby facilities.

2. Health care providers in surrounding parishes are currently undergoing significant expansions, demonstrating the ease of entry for inpatient and outpatient services in the area.

⁵⁵ Maureen K. Ohlhausen, Certificate of Need Laws: A Prescription for Higher Costs, 30 Antitrust 50 (Fall 2015), https://www.ftc.gov/system/files/documents/public_statements/896453/1512fall15-ohlhausenc.pdf.

⁵⁶ Patrick A. Rivers, Myron D. Fottler, & Jemima A. Frimpong, The Effects of Certificate of Need Regulation on Hospital Costs, 36 J. Health Care Fin. 1, 11 (2010) (finding that CON laws “may actually increase costs”); Thomas Stratmann & David Wille, Certificate-of-Need Laws and Hospital Quality, Mercatus Center (Sept. 2016) (“CON regulations lead to lower-quality care for some measures of quality”).

Hospitals, health systems, and other facilities—including both Louisiana and out-of-state providers—have recently entered into or expanded service in the Parties’ geographic service area.⁵⁸ These substantial expansions demonstrate the ease with which hospitals and other health care service providers can enter the market under current market and regulatory conditions. For example:

- Ochsner. Ochsner broke ground in 2021 on a “super clinic” in Metairie, a 185,000-square-foot facility that will include, among others, primary and specialty care clinics, outpatient surgery, physical therapy, a drive-through pharmacy, endoscopy suites, a Medi-Spa, behavioral health services, and a cardiology and catheterization lab. The clinic, which is expected to open in early 2023, will be equipped with technology for telemedicine and will also feature a 10-bed “micro-hospital” to accommodate overnight stays.⁵⁹ Ochsner also recently announced plans to build a 132,000-square-foot neuroscience center near Ochsner Medical Center that will include an Innovation Center, integrative and aquatic therapies, and a neurological rehabilitation center.⁶⁰

In 2018, Ochsner opened a new campus as part of a $360 million expansion of its Jefferson Highway complex. The campus includes a skilled nursing facility, an inpatient rehabilitation hospital and a long-term acute care unit.⁶¹ Ochsner also recently opened a $25 million, 51,600-square-foot health clinic in Ascension Parish with 18 exam rooms, a laboratory, a full radiology suite, and a second floor built for future growth;⁶² an outpatient health center offering women’s health, primary, and pediatric care services in Metairie in December 2021;⁶³ and a new primary health care clinic located in New Orleans East providing primary and specialty care, such as cardiology, diabetes management and education, podiatry, and smoking cessation services, in October 2020.⁶⁴ Recently, Ochsner has also significantly expanded its cancer care capabilities, including a 115,000-square-foot, $56 million addition to the Gayle and Tom Benson Cancer Center located in New Orleans in September 2020 and a new

These additions are just a few examples among Ochsner's many new and expanded facilities throughout the state, including in Baton Rouge, Lafayette, Shreveport, and more.⁶⁶ Ochsner has also announced plans for additional expansions, including a $15 million investment in community health care clinics and senior clinics in St. Tammany and other parishes planned for 2022.⁶⁷

- St. Tammany Health System. A Covington, Louisiana hospital, St. Tammany Health System announced in October 2021 that it plans to construct a $75 million comprehensive surgical center in St. Tammany Parish. The new center will include twelve surgery suites as well as supporting departments and services, including preoperative and postoperative care, beds for overnight stays, surgical sterilization, imaging, lab, pharmacy, rehabilitation, and more.⁶⁸
- The Surgery Center. In May 2021, a New Orleans board-certified plastic and reconstructive surgeon announced plans to build a $5 million ambulatory surgical center in New Orleans. The facility, The Surgery Center, primarily serves the physician's practice and offers cosmetic and reconstructive surgery to patients in the New Orleans area.⁶⁹

Louisiana.”⁷⁰ In June 2022, Montecito Medical acquired a 7,064-square-foot ambulatory surgical center building in Shreveport.⁷¹

- Arise Vascular. In August 2021, Austin, Texas-based Arise Vascular, in conjunction with local Louisiana physicians, opened a 10,800-square-foot cardiovascular surgery center in Lafayette, the first ambulatory surgical center in the area to exclusively perform cardiovascular procedures.⁷²
- Mary Bird Perkins Cancer Center. In November 2021, Mary Bird Perkins Cancer Center (“Mary Bird”), with locations in Baton Rouge and Covington, finalized an agreement to partner with OneOncology, a national platform for independent oncology practices.⁷³ The partnership enabled Mary Bird to expand oncology services and recruitment of additional medical oncologists at its location in Covington.
- Cardiovascular Specialty Care Center of Covington. In May 2017, the Cardiovascular Specialty Care Center of Covington opened in Covington, Louisiana. The practice provides various cardiology and internal medical services.
- CHRISTUS Shreveport-Bossier Health System. In 2022, CHRISTUS Shreveport-Bossier Health System opened a new Cardiovascular Center of Excellence at CHRISTUS Highland Medical Center in Shreveport. The heart center is the result of a $43 million investment over the past five years and includes an emergency room, 16 new patient beds, new ICU beds, surgical suites, and labs. The medical staff includes CHRISTUS Shreveport-Bossier’s cardiology partners at Advanced Cardiovascular Specialists, a practice based in Shreveport.⁷⁴

These expansions demonstrate that competition is alive and well in Louisiana. Hospitals and other providers of inpatient and outpatient services are able to enter Louisiana and expand, as needed, to meet patient needs in the state. Post-Transaction, the Parties expect to continue to face competition from new and existing competitors.

5(j). A detailed explanation of the projected effects, including expected volume, change in price, and increased revenue, of the agreement or transaction on each party's current businesses, both generally as well as the aspects of the business directly involved in the proposed agreement or transaction;

Response to Specification 5(j):

Following the Transaction, the Parties expect to retain existing patient volumes and revenue through expanded clinical services, improved access to quality care, enhanced patient experience, and an academic health system accessible to all residents of Louisiana. The Parties also expect to attract new patients and associated revenues and operate more efficiently to drive costs down for patients.

1. The Parties' combined patient volumes will fuel improved quality of care post-Transaction.

The Parties' proposal to create a combined academic health system will increase patient volume by retaining prior patient volumes and attracting new patients through better care coordination, greater combined expertise, and higher-quality care. The Parties expect that, system-wide, volumes will not be reduced because the Parties will be able to better coordinate clinical services and improve access to care. Moreover, the combined volumes and clinical expertise will lead to improvements in the quality of services offered at the combined system.⁷⁵ Improvements include the Parties' plans to enhance training and recruitment of additional primary care physicians, specialists, and subspecialists; develop Centers of Excellence; and upgrade catheterization lab suites at University Medical Center New Orleans, among many others.⁷⁶ The Parties expect these enhanced facilities and higher quality services to increase retention and attract new patients. Moreover, patients that would have otherwise left the region or the state for high-end services may instead choose to receive care locally at either EJGH or University Medical Center New Orleans.

Additionally, the Parties anticipate that the Transaction will lead to increased patient volumes at certain facilities following the relocation of clinical services from TUMC. For example, the Parties expect increased patient volumes at EJGH after relocating services from TUMC to EJGH, [REDACTED].⁷⁷ Similarly, the Parties anticipate increased patient volumes at University Medical Center New Orleans and Touro following the relocation of certain services from TUMC to LCMC Health's downtown New Orleans hospital. These increased volumes will in turn improve quality, as increased patient volumes correspond with increased quality across a number of services.⁷⁸

2. The Parties expect to increase revenue post-Transaction, which can be reinvested locally to improve health care in the region.

⁷⁵ See the response to Specification 5(m)(3)(b), (4) for more detail.

⁷⁶ See the responses to Specifications 5(d) and 5(m)(6), (8) for more detail.

⁷⁷ See the response to Specification 5(m)(4) for more detail.

⁷⁸ See the response to Specification 5(m)(4) for more detail.

The Parties also expect to both retain existing revenue and grow revenues following the Transaction. Planned investments in the combined health system, development of centers of excellence, and enhanced clinical services will continue to draw the Parties' existing patient population, but it will also draw new patients to the combined entity. Increased revenues can be reinvested locally to improve health care in the region, thereby benefitting patients and the community at large.⁷⁹

3. The Transaction will not lead to “unduly increased” prices.

The Parties remain committed to providing access to high-quality health care at low costs and will continue to do so post-Transaction. There are several factors that will prevent “unduly increased” prices post-Transaction, including:

- A COPA participant must submit price data in its annual report. LAC 48:XXV.517(B)(3). The Attorney General may then disapprove any changes to hospital service rates through informal mechanisms, through an enforcement action, or through revocation. R.S. §§ 40:2254.9–40:2254.11; LAC 48:XXV.517. This authority to provide ongoing supervision ensures that costs do not balloon for patients.⁸⁰
- The Transaction will not reduce competition among health care providers or health care facilities. Rather, the Parties will continue to face robust competition from large and significant health systems, hospitals, and other facilities. This competition, in turn, will incentivize the Parties to keep costs down to remain competitive with other providers of health care services in the area, including Ochsner's many hospitals in the greater New Orleans region.
- The Transaction will result in substantial efficiencies and cost savings,⁸¹ which will allow the Parties to improve health care quality without unduly increasing costs.
- Post-Transaction, the Parties will continue to provide services at low or no cost to patients in underserved populations, including by continuing to provide charity care and services to sizeable Medicaid and Medicare populations.⁸²

⁷⁹ See the response to Specification 5(n) for more detail.

⁸⁰ See the response to Specification 5(m) for more detail.

⁸¹ See the response to Specification 5(o) for more detail.

⁸² LCMC Health provides medical care without charge or at reduced costs to residents of its community through financial assistance. In addition, consistent with its charitable purpose, LCMC Health funds a broad range of community programs, including health seminars, health screenings, in-home caregiver services, counseling, pastoral care, health enhancement and wellness programs, to serve the health needs of the community. See the response to Specification 5(m) for more detail.

5(k). Each entity's estimate of their respective present market shares and that of others affected by the proposed agreement or transaction, and projected market shares after implementation of the proposed agreement or transaction;

Response to Specification 5(k):

The Parties' resulting combined market shares for inpatient and outpatient services as part of the Transaction will enable the combined system to provide better quality, personalized health care services for patients living throughout the entire state of Louisiana. However, the Parties will continue to face robust competition from large and significant health systems, hospitals, and other facilities.

Tables 5(k)-1 and 5(k)-2 contain the projected post-Transaction, state-wide market shares, based on data from 2019, for the Parties and other health care systems in the surrounding communities for both inpatient and outpatient services. Together, LCMC Health and Tulane account for only 12% share of inpatient share for commercial payors and 15% share of hospital-based outpatient services for commercial payors, compared to Ochsner, which accounts for 27% and 35%, respectively. Both Parties draw patients from all 64 parishes in Louisiana, which will continue post-Transaction given the Parties' commitment to enhancing clinical service and quality, advancing medical education and research, and ultimately improving overall patient experience.

Inpatient Services – Post-Transaction, Ochsner would remain the largest health care system in Louisiana, serving more patients than LCMC Health and Tulane combined. In 2019, Ochsner had a 30% share of inpatient services in Louisiana. Then, Franciscan Missionaries of Our Lady had a 14% share. In contrast, LCMC Health had a 12% share of inpatient discharges in Louisiana in 2019, and Tulane had a 4% share. Post-Transaction, the Parties would have a combined 16% of inpatient visits throughout the state of Louisiana. Furthermore, as outlined in response to Specifications 5(h) and 5(i), the Parties will continue to face considerable competition from several leading health care systems as well as a litany of other regional centers providing health care services to patients throughout Louisiana.

⁸⁵ Ochsner has a partnership with LSU Health Shreveport and a joint venture with CHRISTUS Health. See Ochsner Health and LSU Health Shreveport Join Forces to Improve Healthcare in North Louisiana, Oschner Health (Sept. 24, 2018), <https://news.ochsner.org/news-releases/ochsner-health-system-and-lsu-health-shreveport-join-forces-to-improve-heal>; CHRISTUS Health and Ochsner Health Finalize Partnership in Lake Charles, Ochsner Health (Sept. 5, 2018), <https://news.ochsner.org/news-releases/christus-health-and-ochsner-health-system-finalize-partnership-in-lake-char>.

⁸⁶ Operated by Steward Health Care System.

Outpatient Services – Ochsner currently provides the biggest share of outpatient services to patients in Louisiana, with 31% of hospital-based outpatient visits, and would likely maintain this position post-Transaction. As for other health care systems, Franciscan Missionaries of Our Lady Health System had a 15% share, CHRISTUS Health had a 4% share, and Willis-Knighton Health System had a 4% share of hospital-based outpatient visits in 2019. Post-Transaction, the Parties would have a combined 19% of outpatient visits throughout Louisiana.

As noted in response to Specification 5(e), the Transaction will allow the Parties to better address the current health needs for patients across the state – an impact neither party can accomplish individually.

5(l). Identification of business plans, reports, studies, or other documents that discuss each entity's projected performance in the market, business strategies, competitive analyses and financial projections, including any documents prepared in anticipation of the cooperative agreement, merger or consolidation, as well as those prepared prior to contemplation of the transaction;

Response to Specification 5(l):

The following business plans, reports, studies, and other documents have been identified as responsive to Specification 5(l):

5(m). A description of each entity's performance goals, including quantitative standards for achieving the objectives of:

(1) lower health care costs; or

(2) higher quality health care or greater access to health care in Louisiana without any undue increase in health care costs.

Response to Specification 5(m):

The Transaction will allow the Parties to achieve their goals of providing greater access to higher quality health care without an undue increase in health care costs, to the benefit of the greater New Orleans community. As detailed below, the Parties plan to achieve these goals through specific commitments that will produce numerous quantitative benefits to the community.

1. The Parties' non-profit status, post-Transaction, will allow the entities to continue providing care to underserved populations.

After the Transaction returns UHS' operations to a local, not-for-profit institution, the Parties will continue providing access to higher-quality services at low or no cost to underserved populations. These services, which include providing health care to significant Medicaid and Medicare populations, serve as a continuation of the Parties' historic commitment to providing care for these patients. For example:

- LCMC Health and Tulane serve a higher percentage of Medicaid and Medicare patients, based on the number of discharges, than many competitors in the region.⁸⁷ In 2019, for example, 78% of LCMC Health discharges and 74% of Tulane discharges were Medicaid and Medicare patients, compared to 70% for Ochsner.⁸⁸
- When considering Medicaid patients only, the Parties serve a significantly higher percentage of such patients than many other hospitals and health systems in the area. For example, in 2019, 42% of patients served at LCMC Health were Medicaid patients, as compared to just 32% of patients served at Ochsner and 28% of patients at Franciscan Missionaries of Our Lady Health System.⁸⁹
- Compared to other hospitals and health systems in the state, LCMC Health and Tulane serve a more varied mix of payors while other hospitals serve more commercial payors. For example, in 2019, just 18% of LCMC Health discharges and 19% of Tulane discharges were commercial patients, whereas 21% of Ochsner discharges and 23% of discharges at Franciscan Missionaries of Our Lady Health System were commercial patients for that same time period.

Additionally, the hospitals' non-profit status post-Transaction will allow them to continue to provide charity care to individuals without the ability to pay. Non-profit hospitals receive the benefit of tax exemption in exchange for providing benefits to the community.⁹⁰ The benefit of this tax exemption, in turn, allows non-profit hospitals to provide charity care and other financial assistance services to patients. A recent report found that tax-exempt hospitals provided more than $110 billion in total benefits to their communities in 2019 alone, the most recent year for which comprehensive data is available.⁹¹

The Parties' hospitals provide charity care—unbilled and uncollected expenses for patients unable to pay for services—in addition to the Medicare and Medicaid services discussed above, and will continue to do so post-Transaction. LCMC Health's hospitals already operate as non-profit hospitals, a tradition that stretches back to its original children's hospital, and they will continue to do so after the Transaction. Today, LCMC Health provides both financial assistance, defined as medical care without charge or at reduced costs to residents of its community, as well as community support, which includes a broad range of community programs designed to meet the health needs of the community that are funded and resourced by LCMC Health.⁹² Community support includes educational programs such as health seminars, health screenings, in-home caregiver services, counseling for patients and families, pastoral care, health enhancement and wellness programs, telephone information services, and the donation of space for use by community groups.

The provision of charity care by the UHS Hospitals will only be enhanced by the Transaction. These hospitals will take not-for-profit status following the Transaction, allowing them to provide more significant charity care and other services at low or no cost to patients in the area. As non-profits, the UHS Hospitals will join in LCMC Health's tradition of providing both financial assistance and community support to Louisiana's patient populations.

2. The COPA statute's supervision provisions will ensure costs are contained for the benefit of patients.

The Louisiana Department of Justice, Office of the Attorney General, has authority to supervise COPA recipients, ensuring that health care costs will not be unduly increased. Specifically, a party to a COPA must submit regular reports with "specific data relating to cost, access, and quality" to the Office of the Attorney General for review.⁹³ LAC 48:XXV.515. The reports must include detailed explanations of any changes in prices and a description of "how the agreement has affected the cost”—as well as quality and access—“of services provided by each party.” LAC 48:XXV.517. After reviewing these reports, the Department has the authority to revoke a previously granted COPA if it determines that the Transaction “is not resulting in lower health care costs or greater access to or quality of health care than would occur in [its] absence.” R.S. § 40:2254.6. Post-Transaction, LCMC Health will submit annual reports in accordance with these requirements.

Additionally, the applicable statute requires “direct” and “active” supervision of the implementation of an agreement for which a COPA has been granted, thereby granting the Attorney General the authority to approve or deny future changes to hospital service rates. R.S. §§ 40:2254.1; 40:2254.9. In doing so, the statute prevents a party from increasing inpatient and outpatient prices without justifying such increases to, and receiving approval from, the Attorney General. Thus, by providing for supervision by the Attorney General, the statutes in effect in Louisiana will ensure that health care costs do not unduly increase as a result of the Transaction.

3. Post-Transaction, the Parties will be well-equipped to improve quality, measured quantitatively, by combining services and sharing clinical expertise.

The Parties’ hospitals have proven track records of providing quality care to patients in the greater New Orleans area, as demonstrated by a number of awards, designations, and certifications. Though the hospitals’ current performances have been recognized and awarded, opportunities remain to improve the quality of care delivered. By consolidating clinical programming and patient care, the Transaction will allow the Parties to improve quality across the combined health system, measured quantitatively by various national metrics and rankings, through increased patient volumes and by combining services at University Medical Center New Orleans, Touro, and the new academic medical center located at EJGH. In doing so, patients will benefit from the quality and expertise each hospital brings to the combined entity post-Transaction.

- (a) The Parties’ hospitals have been awarded numerous accolades and designations demonstrating high levels of quality care.

Recognition of EJGH’s Quality. EJGH has consistently been awarded a number of accolades related to quality of care. For example, in July 2022, EJGH received an overall CMS 4-Star rating, the region’s highest rating,⁹⁴ based on how well it performed across different areas of quality, such as treating heart attacks and pneumonia, readmission rates, and safety of care.⁹⁵ EJGH received a CMS 3-Star rating in Patient Experience, which is based on patients’ evaluations of communication with doctors and nurses, responsiveness of hospital staff, communication about medicines, cleanliness and quietness of the hospital, discharge information, transition to post-hospital care, and overall rating of the hospital.⁹⁶ Similarly, in 2021, EJGH received Healthgrades' Patient Safety Excellence Award, recognizing EJGH as top in the nation for providing excellence in patient safety by preventing infections, medical errors, and other preventable complications.⁹⁷ In 2022, EJGH was named one of America's 100 Best Hospitals for Prostate Surgery, according to Healthgrades. Additionally, in spring 2022, EJGH was one of only 932 hospitals nationwide to receive Leapfrog's highly-coveted "A" safety grade—the highest possible marker—based on its performance in preventing medical errors, infections, and other harms.⁹⁸ EJGH was also ranked in the top 10% of all hospitals in America by CareChex for overall medical excellence and patient safety in four specialties, was designated #1 in its market by CareChex in five specialties, and was designated in the top 10% of its market by CareChex in four specialties.⁹⁹

EJGH's quality of care has also been recognized through numerous awards from highly-regarded national and state organizations, including: the Joint Commission (Gold Seal of Approval); the American Heart Association (Gold Award); the American Nurses Credentialing Center (Magnet Recognition); and Blue Cross Blue Shield of Louisiana (Blue Distinction Center for Knee and Hip Replacement).¹⁰⁰ Additionally, EJGH has numerous accreditations, certifications, and designations, which demand a high level of quality to obtain and maintain, including: Louisiana Birth Ready Plus Designation; Baby Friendly Redesignation; American College of Cardiology Transcatheter Valve Certification; Joint Commission Thrombectomy Capable Stroke Recertification; American Association of Cardiovascular & Pulmonary Rehabilitation – Pulmonary Rehabilitation Program Certification and Cardiac Rehabilitation Program Certification; American Heart Association (Mission: Lifeline EMS Recognition); and American College of Radiology Accreditation in CT, Mammogram, MRI, Nuclear Med, Ultrasound, Radiation Oncology, and PET.¹⁰¹

Recognition of University Medical Center New Orleans's Quality. University Medical Center New Orleans has also been recognized through accolades and designations that require a high level of quality to obtain and maintain, including The Joint Commission's Gold Seal of Approval, designation as an Antimicrobial Stewardship Center of Excellence by the Infectious Diseases Society of America, and the American Heart Association/American Stroke Association's

In July 2022, University Medical Center New Orleans received a CMS 3-Star patient survey rating.¹⁰⁴

Recognition of TUMC's Quality. Similarly, TUMC has received various awards and recognitions demonstrating quality, including The Joint Commission's Gold Seal of Approval, Aetna Institutes of Quality recognition, and a Certificate for Outstanding Contribution in Promoting Patient Safety With Medical Devices from the Food and Drug Administration and MedSun Patient Safety Staff.¹⁰⁵ TUMC received a CMS 3-Star patient survey rating in July 2022 and a "B" Leapfrog safety grade in spring 2022.¹⁰⁶ The hospital was rated High Performing in stroke, heart attack, and five other procedures or conditions by U.S. News, and according to CMS in July 2022, only 1% of patients left the emergency department before being seen, less than the national average of 2%.¹⁰⁷ Left without being seen ("LWBS") data is commonly used as an indication of quality, with lower rates demonstrating higher quality.¹⁰⁸

Additionally, TUMC has been awarded Advanced Comprehensive Stroke Designation by The Joint Commission; Carotid Artery Stenting Facility Certification by CMS; Chest Pain Center Accreditation by the Society of Cardiovascular Patient Care; Echocardiography Accreditation by the Intersocietal Accreditation Commission; Accreditation by the Foundation for the Accreditation of Cellular Therapy; Bariatric Surgery Program Accreditation by the Metabolic and Bariatric Surgery Accreditation and Quality Improvement Program; Accreditation by the Commission on Cancer Accreditation Program; Mammography Accreditation by the American College of Radiology; and Laboratory Accreditation by the College of American Pathologists.¹⁰⁹

Recognition of Tulane Lakeside's Quality. Tulane Lakeside has received many recent accolades and accreditations for its quality. The hospital received an "A" grade on the Spring 2022 Leapfrog Safety update and was named a Top Teaching Hospital nationally by The Leapfrog Group for the second time in December 2021.¹¹⁰ Also in 2021, Newsweek named Tulane Inpatient Rehabilitation Center at Tulane Lakeside one of America's Best Physical Rehabilitation Centers.¹¹¹ Tulane Lakeside is a GIFT-Designated Birthing Facility, and in 2021 was awarded the Birth Ready+ Designation by the Louisiana Department of Health for the highest level of consistent application of practices that promote safe, equitable, and dignified birth.¹¹² Tulane Lakeside has received Accreditation by The Joint Commission, Laboratory Accreditation by the College of American Pathologists, and Mammography Accreditation by the American College of Radiology.¹¹³

Recognition of Lakeview's Quality. Tulane's Lakeview Regional Medical Center has been recognized for providing quality care on a number of metrics. - (b) After the Transaction, the Parties will continue to improve and maintain high quality of care.

As part of the Transaction, the Parties plan to relocate and combine clinical services from TUMC to University Medical Center New Orleans and a new academic medical center located at EJGH. Doing so will allow the Parties to enhance quality by sharing the clinical expertise and practices that led to the various accolades and accreditations earned by EJGH, University Medical Center New Orleans, and TUMC separately.

After clinical services are transitioned to EJGH, patients that currently receive these services at TUMC will benefit from the high-quality care being provided at EJGH. The combined entity will be well-equipped post-Transaction to continue making use of the best practices, protocols, and programs that have led to EJGH's CMS 4-Star rating, "A" Leapfrog grade, and multiple other quality awards. At the same time, patients that receive care post-Transaction at EJGH and University Medical Center New Orleans will have the benefit of TUMC's excellence in stroke, heart attack, and various other procedures that have been recognized as high performing at TUMC. Similarly, where TUMC currently outperforms EJGH on quality measures—such as in LWBS rates—the combined entity post-Transaction will have the benefit of TUMC's expertise in improving quality in these areas.¹¹⁸

The Transaction will also allow the Parties to amplify each individual hospital's quality achievements by increasing both patient volumes and coordination of care between facilities and providers. As discussed in more detail below, higher volumes are associated with better outcomes, and increased care coordination can reduce medical errors—and costs—such as those associated with treatments by different physicians who do not coordinate with each other.¹¹⁹ Thus, by combining patient volumes and through relocating clinical services, the Transaction will enable the Parties to improve quality, measured by various national metrics and rankings.

4. The Transaction will lead to higher patient volumes, which are associated with better outcomes.

The Transaction will help the Parties to improve the quality of care through increased patient volumes. Higher volumes are strongly associated with better outcomes across a wide range of procedures and conditions.¹²⁰ For example, patients with myocardial infarctions admitted to hospitals with low volumes were 17% more likely to die within 30 days after admission than in high-volume hospitals.¹²¹ Similarly, stroke patients in high-volume units had better outcomes than those at low-volume units, as reflected by shorter lengths of stay at the initial hospital and reduced bed use in the first year after a stroke.¹²² Mortality and length of stay also significantly improve when trauma volume exceeds a certain threshold of cases per year.¹²³ Thus, patient volume can serve as a proxy for quality of care and as a driver of recognition for clinical excellence, and, in light of that correlation, patient volume is one factor in ranking clinical programs.¹²⁴

¹¹⁷ Accreditations and Certifications, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, <https://lakeviewregional.com/about/awards.dot>.

¹¹⁸ In July 2022, EJGH reported 2% of patients left the emergency department before being seen, compared to 1% at TUMC. Care Compare, CMS, <https://www.medicare.gov/care-compare>.

Here, the Parties plan to increase patient volumes—and corresponding improvements in quality of care—by combining the clinical programming currently offered at EJGH and TUMC at one location. At the same time, moving clinical services from TUMC to EJGH will also increase patient volumes at University Medical Center New Orleans, resulting in improved outcomes for patients across the state.

This relocation is a direct result of the Transaction. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Post-Transaction, the Parties estimate that the expanded EJGH facility will see significant increases in patient volumes, with increases in patient volumes also expected at University Medical Center New Orleans. LCMC Health's facilities will be able to absorb TUMC's volumes, given the respective current licensed bed count at each facility, while also maintaining available capacity for additional patients.

In sum, post-Transaction, volume will shift from [REDACTED] TUMC to LCMC Health's nearby locations through the relocation of services to EJGH and University Medical Center New Orleans, allowing better utilization of the facilities even as additional capacity at each facility will remain available for incremental patients. This increased volume can be expected to lead to better outcomes for patients in Jefferson and Orleans Parishes and beyond.

5. LCMC Health will implement an integrated Epic-based EMR system to increase care coordination and reduce medical errors, thereby improving quality and efficiency for the overall patient experience.

The Parties also seek to improve quality, efficiency, and patient experience post-Transaction by implementing a uniform EMR system across all facilities. Currently, LCMC Health uses a fully integrated electronic records system, Epic, across all facilities it owns and manages. The Tulane facilities, on the other hand, currently use a different system, Meditech. In recent surveys, Epic has outperformed Meditech on a number of measures, including meeting business needs, ease of use, quality of ongoing product support, and feature updates.¹²⁵ Further, Epic enables the Parties to build a platform that is very user-friendly for patients, allowing direct communication with providers, access to appointment scheduling, and the ability to make payments online, all of which directly enhance the patient care experience. Additionally, Meditech does not communicate seamlessly with LCMC Health's EMR system. This lack of interoperability can create inefficiencies when a patient is treated by both LCMC Health-affiliated and Tulane-affiliated providers, as it requires LCMC Health and Tulane to use inefficient, costly processes to collect and transmit patient information to the other system. Because of the relatively close proximity of the Parties' hospitals, patients obtain services from both systems on a regular basis.

After the Transaction, additional capital, estimated at [REDACTED] will be invested to implement Epic at Tulane Lakeside and Lakeview. The unified EMR system will make patient histories and treatment records—from any of the Parties' various locations—readily available to providers in real time and allow for seamless communication among providers. A single records system can also lead to improved patient outcomes, including reducing medical errors and decreasing unnecessary duplication of health care services,¹²⁶ all leading to more efficient and higher quality care for patients living in the greater New Orleans area, including on the Northshore in St. Tammany Parish.¹²⁷ For example, studies have found associations between EMR use and a lower number of medication errors, higher guideline adherence, and reduced documentation time.¹²⁸ In studies of ambulatory quality, specifically, EMR use was associated with higher quality of care overall and in various specific measures, including certain blood testing in diabetes, breast cancer screening, chlamydia screening, and colorectal cancer screening.¹²⁹ Additionally, implementing a single EMR system will allow patients to more easily access clinicians through their Epic MyChart patient portal. These benefits cannot be achieved without the Transaction, as implementation of a single EMR system is not financially or operationally feasible without the Transaction.

6. LCMC Health's initial capital investment of at least $220 million will enhance facilities to improve quality and patient experience post-Transaction.

LCMC Health prides itself on its longstanding commitment to reinvesting in its operations with the goal of improving patient experience and patient care. Since 2017, LCMC Health's capital spending has totaled [REDACTED]. These capital improvements, from renovating existing facilities to opening a new 48,000 square-foot medical center in Metairie, show LCMC Health's commitment to enhancing quality and increasing access in its community. Representative capital improvements in recent years include:

- Transforming the Children's Hospital campus with a $300 million expansion that created 230,000 square feet of new clinical care space, including a new, 57,000 square-foot Surgery Center, expanded Emergency Department, new Cardiac Intensive Care Unit, and new main concourse, lobby, and registration center, among others;¹³⁰
- Investing [REDACTED] in infrastructure, IT, and other projects to expand, renovate, and improve EJGH in 2021;
- Building the Ridgelake Health Center in Metairie, a $30 million, 48,000 square-foot medical space offering specialty pediatric services; multi-specialty adult practices including Primary Care, Cardiology, Urology, General Surgery, and Obstetrics/Gynecology; an Oncology and Infusion Center; and an Imaging Center;
- Opening a Level 1 Burn Center and a Primary Care Center; the launch of a Center for Weight Loss and Bariatric Surgery and Palliative Medicine Program; and constructing a $14 million Ambulatory Surgery Center at University Medical Center New Orleans;¹³¹
- Investing $86 million to modernize WJMC, including renovating and expanding the Outpatient Surgery Center; remodeling the Emergency Room to increase capacity; and

relocating the Endoscopy department to a brand new space, spanning over 10,000 square feet, with a new dedicated entrance, parking, and large waiting room;¹³² and

- Adding four Urgent Care locations and four Primary Care clinics and acquiring new pediatric clinics across the region, including the Northshore, in 2018.¹³³

Post-Transaction, LCMC Health will continue to improve patient experience through significant capital investments, including an investment of at least $220 million over the initial five-year term of the Academic Affiliation Agreement.¹³⁴ Through this initial investment, LCMC Health plans to support growth and modernization of Tulane Lakeside and Lakeview, and transform EJGH into a premier academic medical center, focusing on investments that will increase capacity for higher-acuity patients, expand space for teaching requirements, and modernize the facility's infrastructure. For example, LCMC Health estimates funding:

- Clinical relocation and unit improvements for, among other improvements, operating rooms and ICU/CCU;
- Strategic capital investments towards information technology updates, emergency/ambulatory expansion, and academic research space (such as meeting rooms, office space, library, and computer center); and
- Routine capital investments towards modernization of EJGH, Tulane Lakeside, and Lakeview and investments in medical equipment (such as acquiring a linear accelerator, Varian TrueBeam, and Da Vinci robotic surgical system).

Beyond this dedicated capital investment of at least $220 million, after the first five years, LCMC Health has plans to continue funding quality-enhancing capital expenditures at EJGH, Tulane Lakeside, and Lakeview consistent with its past practice of funding similar capital expenditures at its other hospitals.¹³⁵ Through the Transaction, capital needs will be met, benefitting not only patients but also physicians and employees in Orleans, Jefferson, and St. Tammany Parishes and throughout Louisiana. Additionally, LCMC Health's commitment to providing capital investment as a means of achieving and maintaining high quality services will ensure that future needs are met as they arise, further enhancing outcomes and patient experiences.

7. Educational initiatives will address community health needs to improve quality and ensure access to care.

The Parties seek to address community health needs, including increasing access to care, as indicated by the Parties' participation in Community Health Needs Assessments for the greater

New Orleans area last year. LCMC Health and Tulane both completed yearlong Community Health Needs Assessments in 2021 (“2021 CHNA”) to determine significant needs and concerns in the community and identify the top priorities for each Party’s various hospitals in the area.¹³⁶

LCMC Health and TUMC’s 2021 CHNA reports both identified (1) access to care and (2) health literacy as predominant health needs in the community, among others. Concerns about access to care and continuity of care are evident among community members, and low health literacy is a key factor contributing to poor health outcomes in the community, because it affects patients’ ability to access care and manage their health.

In response to the 2021 CHNA, LCMC Health has identified a number of success measures and actions to address the priorities of access and health literacy, which the Parties intend to continue and approach jointly post-Transaction. For example:

Access to and continuity of care. LCMC Health aims to increase the accessibility of health services (both primary care and specialty care) through strategies that expand patients’ options and decrease barriers to access. For example, LCMC Health offers telehealth options for a wide variety of services for both adults and children, including urgent care virtual visits for adults, and for children, general pediatrics for both check-ups and sick care, 24/7 on demand urgent care, specialty care in more than 30 specialties, and pediatric mental and behavioral health services.¹³⁷ LCMC Health also offers a free “Ask a Nurse” hotline to address any health-related concerns or questions for both new and existing patients.¹³⁸ Recent studies have shown that telehealth services and virtual care offerings like these can serve key roles in reaching rural communities, especially, where access remains a primary obstacle for patients seeking care.¹³⁹ Post-Transaction, the Parties will be better equipped to expand the reach and variety of virtual care options available to patients in both rural and urban communities through the combined entity’s enhanced service offerings. For example, these services may be provided by expanding telemedicine to rural and critical-access hospitals and through expanded physician network coverage in remote physician office locations. Additionally, LCMC Health aims to increase transportation options for patients. In July 2022, LCMC Health was awarded American Cancer Society transportation grants for its hospitals totaling $83,000, which will provide patients and families reliable and safe transportation options to and from cancer-related treatment appointments.¹⁴⁰

Health education and literacy. LCMC Health aims to increase its ability to improve patient education, by, for example:

- Documenting patient satisfaction with educational materials;
- Assessing and reviewing patient education materials through a patient's eye for ease of understanding;
- Providing employees with educational opportunities related to patient education; and
- Partnering with the City of New Orleans Health Department in its "Be in the KNOW" campaign to educate local residents on the importance of health care advocacy and to empower communities for better health.¹⁴¹

In setting these goals in a CHNA implementation plan and determining the appropriate actions needed to achieve them, LCMC Health anticipates decreasing barriers to services and growing initiatives related to appropriate educational and literacy level materials to the benefit of patients in New Orleans.

8. The Parties will ensure greater access to higher quality care by preserving hospital services and through capacity improvements, clinical optimization, and improved recruitment opportunities fostered by the Transaction.

The Parties also aim to improve access to higher-quality health care services for Louisiana residents, which the Transaction will facilitate in a number of ways. For example:

- The Parties do not plan to discontinue any services currently provided by LCMC Health or Tulane. Rather, the Parties are considering transferring and enhancing several advanced clinical services to EJGH, which will increase access to these new services for patients of Jefferson Parish.¹⁴² Meanwhile, University Medical Center New Orleans will remain the premier academic medical center location for LCMC Health in Orleans Parish. Patients will then benefit from access to the improved quality of these services enabled by the Transaction, as previously discussed. These efforts will allow the Parties' patient care personnel to develop additional proficiency in care delivery, improve outcomes, and enhance patient experience. More robust clinical programming will also offer providers a more rewarding practice environment, contributing to a greater ability to recruit and retain clinical talent.
- The Parties plan to modernize the Emergency Department at EJGH. Patients in Jefferson Parish will have access to enhanced emergency and other services afforded by the new and improved spaces. Additionally, the Transaction will allow for a more efficient use of space across all facilities, Parties expect capacity to remain available for additional patients, ensuring access across all facilities.

- The Parties plan to combine certain service lines to increase patient volumes and optimize the use of resources, resulting in more-efficient, higher-quality care for patients. Increased volumes will allow providers to improve their skills by performing procedures more regularly, thereby reducing adverse events.¹⁴³ Additionally, the more efficient use of existing resources will free up capital to be reinvested in expenditures that can further enhance patient services.

- Recruitment and retention of medical providers will increase access to care. The Parties seek to create a new, premier academic medical center with expanded clinical services and opportunities for top-tier providers to improve their skills in facilities with higher volumes.¹⁴⁴ The addition of this academic medical center, coupled with the LCMC Health system and University Medical Center New Orleans, creates a broader, more appealing organization for physicians to build their career, thus supporting improved recruitment and retention. In addition, Tulane plans to open a new Nursing Program and other mixed-use offerings at the existing TUMC facility, in order to train and, ultimately, employ the next generation of New Orleans nurses.

5(n). A description of how the anticipated efficiencies, cost savings and other benefits from the transaction will be passed on to the consumers of health care services;

Response to Specification 5(n):

The Transaction's benefits will be passed on to consumers and the local community through reinvestments aimed at improving health care quality and revitalizing downtown New Orleans.

The Transaction will lead to numerous cost savings and efficiencies, which will allow the Parties to reinvest in their facilities and clinical service offerings to the benefit of patients and the greater New Orleans community. Specifically, the Parties anticipate that the Transaction will lead to at least [REDACTED] in annual, recurring efficiencies.¹⁴⁵ These efficiencies include, among others, cost savings resulting from the relocation of TUMC to EJGH; the elimination and reinvestment of annual management fees; and the optimized use of capital spending. The cost savings resulting from these efficiencies can be reinvested locally to improve health care to the benefit of patients in the surrounding communities and felt by patients throughout Louisiana.

1. The Transaction will support the local and regional economy to the benefit of the greater New Orleans community.

The benefits of the Transaction will be passed on to New Orleans and Louisiana by bolstering the local economy. [REDACTED]

2. The Transaction will lead to repurposing TUMC to the benefit of the greater New Orleans community.

The Transaction will allow the Parties to engage in various Tulane-led projects to revitalize downtown New Orleans. As described in the response to Specification 5(d), Tulane is considering ways to repurpose the facility currently being used as TUMC, which includes more than 600,000 square feet of facility space, as well as significant and necessary parking space in downtown New Orleans, [REDACTED].¹⁴⁷ The Parties plan to relocate clinical services to EJGH and repurpose the TUMC facility for other uses that will benefit the community—including, for example, developing a new Nursing Program, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] These new offerings will aid in attracting patients throughout the region and recruiting and retaining physicians, nurses, medical students, residents, and faculty, while also providing additional employment and training opportunities for local students and cutting-edge medical research opportunities. Furthermore, new job opportunities will be created to staff the new Nursing Program, expanded labs, the traumatic brain injury evaluation and rehabilitation program for veterans, and expanded educational space, among others. The Parties plan to fill these expected future job opportunities with New Orleans community members, further augmenting the benefits of the proposed Transaction to the community.

The Parties also seek to improve education for the local community and infuse Orleans Parish with additional capital and employment opportunities. In addition to developing a new Nursing Program and expanding labs, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Tulane is also evaluating a plan to develop a new medical and surgical education and training center that uses advanced technological models and robust video communication platforms to advance physician and patient education and training. [REDACTED]

Additionally, LCMC Health and Tulane are exploring ways to collaborate to address the nationwide shortage of forensic pathologists—highly-specialized physicians with intensive training to determine cause and manner of death through post mortem examination, evaluate reports of anatomic and laboratory evidence, and give expert testimony in court regarding their investigations of deaths and sexual assaults. Due to dwindling enrollment, the number of accredited forensic pathology programs nationwide has fallen from 72 to 45, with only approximately 40 new forensic pathologists graduating each year. The Parties are considering the following strategies to address this shortage and alleviate the burden on coroners' offices nationwide:

- identifying, cultivating, and providing financial support for interested Tulane University School of Medicine residents to seek training through an existing fellowship program, under the condition that such fellows return as faculty of Tulane and spend their clinical time contracted with regional coroners' offices to build in-state expertise in the sub-specialty;
 - supporting more senior hires to the faculty at Tulane to teach residents and pathology assistants and support regional coroners' offices with their clinical time;
 - providing expanded training opportunities for Tulane University School of Medicine pathology residents in coroners' offices across South Louisiana;
 - attracting more pathologists' assistants to the market from existing and future Tulane classes of students through additional training in forensic pathology.
3. Cost savings and efficiencies can be reinvested to improve health care quality to the benefit of consumers of health care services.

The anticipated efficiencies and cost savings resulting from the Transaction will allow the Parties to fund significant investments aimed at improving the quality of health care services provided to patients in the region. Such capital investments will be above and beyond the initial investment of at least $220 million already committed by LCMC Health. LCMC Health has a long history of funding significant capital expenditures as a means of achieving and maintaining high quality services. The cost savings and efficiencies resulting from the Transaction will contribute to LCMC Health's ability to fund such projects to ensure that future capital needs are met as they arise. Patients will benefit directly from these improvements in the form of new medical equipment, modernized facilities, and improved patient experience. Additionally, continued investment in the Parties' facilities, including a new, premier academic medical center at EJGH, will allow the Parties to recruit more highly-skilled physicians—thereby offering enhanced clinical services and benefiting patients in the surrounding communities.

4. Significant competition from surrounding health care providers will incentivize the Parties to pass on cost savings to patients.

In addition to benefitting patients by improving the quality of health care services accessible to them, the Parties will be incentivized to pass on cost savings to patients. Studies have shown that competition among hospitals strongly correlates with lower prices.¹⁴⁸ The Parties will continue to face strong competition post-Transaction from a myriad of large and significant health systems, hospitals, and other providers of inpatient and outpatient services in the region.¹⁴⁹ To compete effectively as a combined system, the Parties will need to offer a wide variety of high-quality services and unparalleled patient experience compared to their competitors to attract patients—including keeping costs low—as there are numerous alternatives available to patients in New Orleans, the surrounding parishes, and throughout the state of Louisiana.

5(o). A description of the net efficiencies likely to result from the transaction, including an analysis of anticipated cost savings resulting from the transaction and the increased costs associated with the transaction;

...

5(q). A description of why the anticipated cost savings, efficiencies and other benefits from the transaction are not likely to result from existing competitive forces in the market;

Response to Specifications 5(o) and 5(q):

The Transaction will allow a better coordination of resources and decision-making, resulting in significant efficiencies that can be reinvested locally to improve health care in the region. LCMC Health estimates that the combined system may achieve [REDACTED] in annual, recurring efficiencies that could not be realized without the Transaction.¹⁵⁰

Annual, Recurring Savings:

- Relocation of Tulane University Medical Center to East Jefferson General Hospital:

LCMC Health plans to relocate TUMC to EJGH and University Medical Center New Orleans. Currently, both TUMC and EJGH campuses are operating with significant available bed capacity, [REDACTED]

The planned relocation will not only create a new academic health anchor facility at EJGH in Jefferson Parish, but it will also strengthen clinical services at LCMC Health's existing academic medical center of University Medical Center New Orleans in Orleans Parish, and allow the combined system to realize significant cost savings. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] These savings include, for example, utilities costs, facility maintenance costs, contracted services, and other savings.

- Elimination and Reinvestment of HCA Management Fees and Replacement of HCA Corporate Services: [REDACTED]

UHS pays HCA annual Management Fees as consideration for HCA providing day-to-day management and other services to UHS. The Management Fees support HCA corporate-level

¹⁵⁰ The Transaction will also allow for a more efficient use of capital spending. The efficiencies that have been quantified as of this filing are included below and do not include the significant, incremental efficiencies and quality improvements that the Parties expect to achieve through enhanced and expanded clinical service lines.

¹⁵¹ Based on 2021 volumes and licensed bed counts.

administrative functions, such as audit fees, real estate and design, and other corporate costs. [REDACTED] Post-Transaction, the Parties are no longer obligated to pay Management Fees and, instead, can reinvest in local operations.

In addition, HCA provides a number of corporate shared services (“Corporate Services”) to its member hospitals, including revenue cycle services, human resources services, payroll, health information management, credentialing, information technology infrastructure and services, and supply chain services. Out-of-state employees and HCA or its affiliates provide these services. [REDACTED] Post-Transaction, LCMC Health will offer these services locally by integrating UHS within its own corporate services infrastructure and hiring additional local support.

LCMC Health estimates that by eliminating HCA’s Management Fees and by offering Corporate Services locally could conservatively achieve [REDACTED] in cost savings.

- Increased 340B Funding: [REDACTED]

Currently, neither TUMC nor EJGH qualify to participate in the 340B Program, a federal program that limits the cost of outpatient drugs to hospitals serving vulnerable communities to manage rising prescription drug costs (“Covered Entities”).¹⁵² The purpose of the 340B Program is to enable Covered Entities to stretch scarce federal resources, reach more eligible patients, and provide more comprehensive services.¹⁵³ For-profit entities do not qualify, and EJGH currently does not meet a statutory threshold tied to low-income patient services.

[REDACTED] These savings will be reinvested locally to improve health care in the region, thereby benefitting patients and the community at large.¹⁵⁴

Optimized Use of Capital Spending:

The Parties’ plans to relocate TUMC to EJGH will allow the Parties not only to achieve annual, recurring cost savings [REDACTED]

¹⁵²Fact Sheet: The 340B Drug Pricing Program, American Hospital Association (March 2021), <https://www.aha.org/fact-sheets/2020-01-28-fact-sheet-340b-drug-pricing-program>.

[REDACTED] Rather, LCMC Health will invest at least $220 million over the next five years to, in part, transform the EJGH facility into a modern academic medical center.

[REDACTED]

The Transaction will allow the Parties to forego these costly and duplicative expenditures, while also improving quality and access for the patients currently served by this facility.

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

One-Time Costs to Achieve Savings:

As described in the response to Specification 5(m), LCMC Health plans to implement its Epic electronic medical record (“EMR”) platform at Tulane Lakeside and Lakeview. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Using one platform will help physicians provide seamless care to the same patients across several locations. This projected one-time cost is estimated at approximately [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

5(p). A statement of whether competition among health care providers or health care facilities will be reduced as a result of the proposed agreement or transaction; whether there will be adverse impact on quality, availability, or cost of health care; whether the projected levels of cost, access to health care, or quality of health care could be achieved in the existing market without the proposed agreement or transaction; and, for each of the above, an explanation of why or why not;

Response to Specification 5(p):

1. The Transaction will enhance competition.

Following the Transaction, the Parties will continue to face robust competition from large and significant health systems and inpatient and outpatient facilities in the region and beyond.¹⁵⁷ The Transaction is procompetitive and will not reduce competition among health care providers or health care facilities. Ochsner in particular will continue to serve as a significant competitor post-Transaction. Ochsner is already the largest health care system operating in the state, with 40 hospitals, more than 300 health and urgent care centers, and substantial market share in the greater New Orleans area. The system continues to grow and compete for patients, as evidenced by its recently completed $360 million expansion. By combining resources to create a stronger network of hospitals, however, the Transaction will allow the Parties to compete more effectively against Ochsner and others, thereby promoting competition to the benefit of patients in the greater New Orleans area by, for example, allowing patients to have more options in their selection of providers.

2. The Transaction will not have an adverse impact on quality, availability, or cost of health care.

The Transaction will allow the Parties to provide greater access to higher quality health care without an undue increase in health care costs, to the benefit of the New Orleans community and the state of Louisiana. The Transaction enables the Parties to combine patient volumes and share clinical expertise, leading to better patient outcomes through increased volumes.¹⁵⁸ The Parties will also improve quality through substantial investments in EJGH, Tulane Lakeside, and Lakeview, including investments in facility modernization to improve patient experience and implementation of a unified EMR system across all hospitals to improve care coordination.

Additionally, the Transaction will not have an adverse impact on availability of health care services, as the Parties do not plan to discontinue any services currently provided by LCMC Health or Tulane. Instead, the Parties plan to relocate clinical services from TUMC to EJGH and University Medical Center New Orleans.¹⁵⁹ TUMC will then be repurposed for other needs, such as expanded outpatient programs, clinical labs, and Tulane's forthcoming Nursing Program.

Finally, the Transaction will not have an adverse impact on health care costs, as various mechanisms are in place to ensure costs do not unduly increase for patients. Importantly, the Parties will be subject to ongoing active supervision by the Louisiana Department of Justice (the “Department”).¹⁶⁰ Active supervision includes submission to and review by the Attorney General of an annual report, as well as the authority to approve or deny future changes to hospital rates. This supervision will ensure that the Parties will not increase inpatient and outpatient prices unduly. Additionally, the combined entity will continue to face robust competition, thereby incentivizing the Parties to keep costs down.

3. The anticipated benefits to quality, access, and cost cannot be achieved without the Transaction.

Without the Transaction, the Parties will not achieve the same level of benefits that the proposed Transaction will provide. Today, the UHS Hospitals are jointly owned by Tulane University and HCA, a for-profit management company based in Nashville, Tennessee. The Transaction, on the other hand, would bring together two mission-driven, local organizations with the shared goal of providing access to high-quality health care to patients in the greater New Orleans community. The Parties are uniquely suited to work together to achieve this goal.

LCMC Health has consistently proven itself as a committed community health partner, including through multiple partnerships with local and state government to operate hospitals in underserved communities, beginning with the formation of LCMC Health in 2009. Over the following decade, LCMC Health partnered with the City of New Orleans, Jefferson Parish, and the State of Louisiana to operate geographically isolated and financially distressed hospitals, including, most recently, purchasing EJGH in 2020.

At the same time, the UHS Hospitals and Tulane’s Medical School are vital assets in the New Orleans health care landscape, offering numerous clinical services, specialties, and research capabilities. By combining the resources of both entities, LCMC Health and Tulane can more effectively serve patients together. Without the Transaction, the Parties would not be able to improve quality by relocating clinical services and combining patient volumes; [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Nor would the Parties be able to establish the planned premier academic medical center at EJGH or to repurpose the TUMC space. These facilities are crucial to the Parties’ plans for recruiting and retaining highly skilled physicians, nurses, and other providers, as well as bringing additional jobs and economic benefit to both Jefferson and Orleans Parishes. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Finally, implementing an integrated electronic medical record system across all hospitals—and the associated benefits of reduced medical errors, increased care coordination, and better population health management—is not financially or operationally feasible without the Transaction.

These benefits, as well as many others discussed throughout this Application, could be lost to the community if the Application is not approved.

academic and clinical affiliation between LCMC Health and Tulane, as well as LCMC Health's proposed financial support for Tulane's School of Medicine; (ii) a potential real estate joint venture between the Parties; (iii) LCMC Health's acquisition of University Healthcare System, L.C. and its affiliated hospitals from Tulane; and (iv) a post-closing governance framework.

- February 2022 – August 2022. During this period, LCMC Health and Tulane, as well as their outside legal and financial advisors, attended weekly or bi-weekly meetings to negotiate the definitive terms and related agreements for the academic and clinical affiliation. These discussions have generally concerned the structure of the Agreement, the nature of the relationship between LCMC Health and Tulane under the Agreement, financial considerations related to the Transaction, and benefits associated with the Agreement and related topics. In February 2022, the Parties also entered into an amended non-disclosure agreement.
- February 2022 – October 2022. During this period, LCMC Health, HCA, and Tulane, as well as their outside legal and financial advisors, held various conferences to discuss the HCA Sale and the transition services HCA would continue to provide to UHS after the close of the HCA Sale.

As outlined above, the conversations between LCMC Health and Tulane have deepened their working relationship and continued to promote a collaborative engagement upon which to build the post-Transaction relationship. Through these productive discussions, the Parties identified four goals concerning the Transaction:

- Develop a renowned, premier academic medical center with at least a $220 million investment aimed at furthering Tulane's academic mission of delivering the highest level of evidence-based patient care, education, and research to the New Orleans community.
- Provide strong and sustained community investments in the local New Orleans community and focus investments by offering expanded employment opportunities and providing high-quality, differentiated care.
- Streamline daily clinical operations supported by advanced, leading technology, including implementing a system-wide EMR platform.
- Expand access by creating an innovative model of inpatient care, allowing for expanded access to Tulane's world class medicine at new, destination-level sites of care.

Extraordinary together

LCMC Health and Tulane University today announced intentions to partner to expand access to comprehensive and specialty care across Southeast Louisiana, enhance the region's capabilities as a destination for medical innovation and training, and provide community investments and benefits.

Upon approval of the proposed partnership, Tulane Medical Center, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital will be acquired from HCA Healthcare and will join LCMC Health. Both LCMC Health and Tulane University value our providers and employees and are committed to retaining our staff across both organizations. All employees at the three hospitals – Tulane Medical Center, Tulane Lakeside Hospital, and Lakeview Regional Medical Center, will continue to have jobs under this exciting partnership. Additionally, this partnership will bring LCMC Health and Tulane University employees new and expanded opportunities for growth and advancement.

The partnership builds on the nonprofit organizations' long history of collaborating to improve the health of patients and communities in New Orleans and across Louisiana. Together, Tulane University and LCMC Health will advance academic medicine to enhance the care provided to patients; increase investment in groundbreaking research, innovative technology, and lifesaving treatments; expand opportunities to train the next generation of physicians, nurses, and scientists; and accelerate the journey to make Louisiana a destination for healthcare.

“LCMC Health and Tulane University have shared values and a vision to partner to bring the best of community healthcare and academic medicine to all those we serve,” said LCMC Health CEO Greg Feirn. “With this transformational partnership, we can build on our strong history of collaboration with our academic partners, Tulane University and Louisiana State University, to do more for our patients, communities, and region together than would be possible as separate organizations. By joining forces, we will increase access to comprehensive and specialty care across our region, ensuring all our patients and communities receive extraordinary care, right here at home.”

“Together with LCMC Health, we can combine our strengths to expand world-class academic medicine in the greater New Orleans area,” said Tulane University President Michael A. Fitts. “Academic medical centers provide the most complex and high-quality care and are the birthplace of new treatments and technologies. This partnership will help drive clinical, educational, and economic innovation and growth that improves the quality of life across our entire region.”

Enhancing Patient Care

In the proposed partnership, over the next 12-24 months, the majority of services provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to nearby East Jefferson General Hospital and University Medical Center New Orleans, creating more opportunities for comprehensive, integrated care at facilities that can support new growth and provide an enhanced patient experience.

This shift will increase access to comprehensive care in downtown New Orleans and create expanded hubs for specialty care, innovation, and academic medicine in both Orleans and Jefferson Parishes. As transition planning advances, both organizations are committed to ensuring a seamless transition for patients, all of whom will continue to receive the high-quality care they need and deserve.

As part of the partnership, LCMC Health has committed to an initial capital investment of $220 million in the operations of East Jefferson General Hospital, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital. These funds will be used to maintain the standards of care and patient experience, invest in new equipment and facilities as well as ensure these facilities attract the best and brightest medical providers.

Investing in Innovation, Research and Revitalization

This partnership will also allow Tulane University to build on a one-time impact of $1 billion on the Louisiana state economy and includes a revitalization of the Charity Hospital building and the repurposing of the Tulane Medical Center building. This thriving center of cutting-edge research and innovation will feature a new nursing program, clinical research programs, educational space for students, graduate programs in public health, social work, professional advancement, and medicine, along with a new space dedicated to research. Through these initiatives, Tulane University will add an estimated 2,300 jobs across New Orleans and Louisiana.

Together, LCMC Health and Tulane University will build on their ongoing commitment to meaningful community partnership, including work with the Louisiana Department of Health's Family Connects/maternal healthcare initiative, Children's Hospital New Orleans' ThriveKids program, and Tulane University's Louisiana Community Engagement Alliance (LA-CEAL).

LCMC Health and Tulane University filed the intent to transition into this combined structure with the Louisiana Department of Justice. A review by the Louisiana Department of Justice and a public comment period will take place during the next 90 days. LCMC Health and Tulane University anticipate the agreement will be finalized late this year or early next year, pending regulatory and governance approvals with transition planning and activities to follow.

LCMC Health to spend $150M to acquire 3 HCA Healthcare hospitals in Louisiana

CAROLINE HUDSON

HCA

LCMC Health, as part of a partnership with Louisiana's Tulane University, has agreed to buy three hospitals from Nashville, Tennessee-based HCA Healthcare.

LCMC Health, as part of a partnership with Louisiana's Tulane University, has agreed to buy three hospitals from Nashville, Tennessee-based HCA Healthcare for $150 million.

If the agreement is approved, Tulane Medical Center, Tulane Lakeside Hospital and Lakeview Regional Medical Center will become part of the New Orleans-based system. LCMC said the approximately 1,900 employees at those three facilities will continue to have jobs as well as "expanded opportunities for growth and advancement."

The deal, expected to close later this year or early next year, will encourage academic collaboration with Tulane University and Louisiana State University, plus increase the region's access to specialty care, according to LCMC CEO Greg Feirn. It also moves the three hospitals from for-profit ownership to not-for-profit.

"It allows us to grow our relationship with Tulane and allows Tulane a larger clinical portfolio from which to train its students and residents," Feirn said. "For something this transformative for a community and the state, it's the right time."

Within the next two years, most services provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to East Jefferson General Hospital and University Medical Center New Orleans. LCMC has also agreed to invest $220 million over five years in the three hospitals for new equipment and facilities.

The deal complements Tulane's expansion plans in downtown New Orleans, part of a $600 million commitment to the area. The university is planning to revitalize the Charity Hospital building, which closed after Hurricane Katrina devastated the area in 2005. Tulane is taking 350,000 to 400,000 square feet of the old hospital and will operate its school of public health and employ hundreds of researchers there. The school also is repurposing Tulane Medical Center for outpatient clinics, research and a new nursing school, said Michael Fitts, Tulane's president.

Collaboration to bring multi-faceted and lasting benefits to New Orleans and Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, La. (January 3, 2023) – LCMC Health and Tulane University today announced that the organizations have finalized their partnership, following approval from the Louisiana Department of Justice. Through this partnership, Tulane Medical Center, Lakeview Hospital, and Lakeside Hospital will join LCMC Health.

This partnership brings wide-ranging benefits to New Orleans and Southeast Louisiana by expanding access to comprehensive and specialty care, advancing academic medicine, boosting innovation and training in the region, and providing investment and other benefits to the community.

"The shared vision between LCMC Health and Tulane University to provide unparalleled patient care and medical research advancements in Southeast Louisiana made this partnership a natural fit," said LCMC Health CEO Greg Feirn. "As we integrate our operations, we are able to make locally-based decisions that best serve the comprehensive and specialty care needs of patients in our region."

All employees at the three LCMC Health hospitals – Tulane Medical Center, Lakeside Hospital, and Lakeview Hospital – will continue to have jobs under the partnership as well as new and expanded opportunities for growth and advancement. The combined organization will also mean more investment in groundbreaking research, innovative technology, and lifesaving treatments.

"I can't overstate how important this partnership will be to improving healthcare and boosting medical research in our community," said Tulane University President Michael A. Fitts. "Combining the best community healthcare with the latest advances in academic medicine will provide the best care for our families, friends, and neighbors while helping to drive our region's economy."

Optimizing the Patient Experience

The integration of Tulane University's facilities with LCMC Health will take place over the next 12-24 months. Operations at all facilities will continue as normal while LCMC Health and Tulane collaborate to ensure a seamless transition for patients, physicians, and staff.

Over time, Tulane Medical Center will shift the majority of its services to East Jefferson General Hospital and University Medical Center New Orleans. This will create expanded opportunities for comprehensive, integrated care at facilities that can support new growth and provide an enhanced patient experience.

This approach will increase access to comprehensive care in downtown New Orleans and create expanded hubs for specialty care, innovation, and academic medicine in both Orleans and Jefferson Parishes.

Investing in Louisiana

This partnership is part of Tulane University's transformative commitment of $1 billion to Louisiana's economy. This commitment will emphasize commercialization of research and entrepreneurship and include reimagining of the Charity Hospital and Tulane Medical Center buildings. Together these facilities will house a new nursing program, clinical research programs, educational space for students, an exponential increase in space dedicated to research, as well as graduate programs in public health, social work, and medicine. All told, these efforts will create an estimated 2,300 jobs in New Orleans and across Louisiana.

These jobs will come in areas across clinical, educational, and support departments, helping to attract and retain talent in the local community. Through this partnership, Tulane University's new nursing program will help address the nursing shortage in Louisiana by expanding the pipeline of students entering the nursing field – making meaningful progress towards addressing the 2,475 unfilled full-time nursing positions projected in New Orleans by 2025.

About LCMC Health

Established in 2009, LCMC Health is a Louisiana-based, not-for-profit hospital system serving the healthcare needs of the Gulf Coast region. LCMC Health currently manages Children’s Hospital New Orleans, East Jefferson General Hospital, New Orleans East Hospital, Touro, University Medical Center New Orleans, and West Jefferson Medical Center.

About Tulane University

Founded in 1834, Tulane University is one of the country’s most highly ranked, sought-after universities. It is a member of the prestigious Association of American Universities, a select group of the 63 leading research universities in the United States and Canada with “preeminent programs of graduate and professional education and scholarly research.” Tulane also is ranked by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching as a university with “very high research activity.” Of more than 4,300 higher educational institutions rated by the foundation, Tulane remains in a prestigious category that includes only two percent of universities nationwide.

Access

LCMC Health is committed to providing individuals with disabilities equal opportunity to participate in and benefit from LCMC Health programs and services. We offer reasonable accommodations, including access to service animals, to ensure our programs and services are accessible to and usable by individuals with disabilities.

Service animals are welcome throughout all of our clinics and hospitals. We apply the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) requirements, which define a service animal as “one that is trained to do work or perform tasks for the benefit of a person with a disability.” Persons with service animals will be accommodated unless LCMC Health formally determines such service animal constitutes a “direct threat” or requires a “fundamental alteration” of its facilities or services.

The Federal Trade Commission has adjusted the maximum civil penalty dollar amounts for violations of 16 provisions of law the FTC enforces, as required by the Federal Civil Penalties Inflation Adjustment Act Improvements Act of 2015. The act directs agencies to implement annual inflation adjustments based on a prescribed formula. The new maximum civil penalty amounts will become effective on January 11, 2023.

The maximum civil penalty amount has increased from $46,517 to $50,120 for violations of Sections 5(l), 5(m)(1)(A), and 5(m)(1)(B) of the FTC Act, Section 7A(g)(l) of the Clayton Act, and Section 525(b) of the Energy Policy and Conservation Act. It has increased from $612 to $659 for violations of Section 10 of the FTC Act.

The maximum civil penalty amount has increased from $1,323,791 to $1,426,319 for violations of Section 814(a) of the Energy Independence and Security Act of 2007. Merger Process Reform: A Sisyphean Journey?

BY JOE SIMS, ROBERT C. JONES, AND
HUGH M. HOLLMAN

THE MERGER REGULATORY PROCESS as we know it has existed for thirty years. There have been marginal shifts (up and down) in enforcement intensity with changes in administrations and personnel, but there has been one constant: complaints about the burden of the Second Request process. Some of this is inevitable—prosecutors and potential defendants will rarely have identical perspectives. But there has been enough consensus on the flaws in the process that there have been a series of agency efforts to improve it. The problem has not been solved, and we believe a real solution will require a completely different approach to the problem. This article proposes such a new approach.

Ten years ago, Joe Sims and Deborah P. Herman¹ (now Deborah Platt Majoras) wrote a lengthy article about the first twenty years of Hart-Scott-Rodino.² They concluded that the implementation of the statute had far exceeded the goals of its drafters and, like so many other legislative enactments, had taken on a bureaucratic life that dwarfed the relatively modest expectations of its legislative authors.³ Since that article was published, there have been several serious attempts at reform,⁴ but the antitrust community is still debating most of the same issues. Indeed, notwithstanding all the good faith efforts by the agencies to improve the situation, the problem has actually gotten worse in some important respects.

Before we catalogue the problems, it is worth recognizing some ways in which the process is better. Raising the qualifying thresholds,⁵ as the Sims/Herman article advocated, has happened, and it did make a difference—not enough, since too many transactions are still caught in the HSR net, but, to borrow a phrase, the situation is not as bad as it could be. In addition, in many (but not all) circumstances, there has been a noticeable improvement in transparency, with agency staffs being more open about their issues and concerns earlier in the process. We say not all, because this is still more a function of particular staff lawyers' attitudes than it should be, but on balance agency transparency during the merger review process is better than it was a decade ago. This is important, since in the vast majority of transactions both sides should have the same goal—finish the process as efficiently as possible and only then argue about the outcome, if necessary.

So there have been some improvements, but they have not kept up with either technology or economic sophistication. Two reinforcing phenomena—electronic document/data availability and more sophisticated economic analysis by the agencies—have led to burdens on the parties that dwarf these positive effects. There are many problems with the Second Request process, a number of which we will discuss in this article. But the 800-pound gorilla is the technology problem—too much electronic material available and too much of it demanded by the agencies. These are the primary forces driving the average cost of a Second Request today to $5–$10 million—ten to twenty times what it was a decade ago! Intensive or lengthy Second Request investigations can cost the parties twice that amount or more.

Some tension is inevitable here. The agencies need enough information to make an informed decision about whether to challenge the transaction. No one wants those decisions to be made without the necessary information; the arguments here are about what is necessary. In addition, in the relatively small number of circumstances where the agencies actually challenge or threaten to challenge a transaction, they eventually need to have the facts and data necessary to carry their burden of proof in court. No responsible person can object to the reasonable discovery necessary for that; again, the debate is about the scope and timing of that discovery. Finally, it is not practical to expect the agencies to forgo seeking to review potentially useful information that is reasonably available to the parties; again, the debate is all about the adjectives. But there is at least one point that is not debatable—if the chickens are to be protected, the design of the process cannot be left exclusively to the foxes.⁶ Letting the prosecutors unilaterally decide how to draw the line between the relative burdens on the agencies and the parties is not likely to produce a balanced outcome.⁷

This is the practical conundrum: many (perhaps most) would agree that the merger review process could be less burdensome, more efficient, and quicker, while still accomplishing its legitimate public purpose. But there is no real chance for systemic, balanced change so long as the agencies get to make all the decisions. The one constant in all the various reform efforts over the years—again, no doubt well-intentioned and undertaken in good faith—is that they have not solved the basic problem of Second Request burdens.

There is a better way, and it is something that the agencies have feinted at but not properly implemented: impose binding, not recommended, limitations on Second Request production requirements in exchange for the agencies having both the time and the opportunity to perfect their discovery in federal court when they decide to challenge a transaction. Pre-complaint discovery would be minimized in return for post-complaint discovery limited only by the federal rules and a court's discretion, with the agencies assured of the time to engage the court by the imposition of a limited automatic stay upon filing of a complaint in federal court. Properly implemented, this approach would allow the agencies to obtain through Second Requests the information they need to make an informed decision about which transactions to challenge, and to impose substantial discovery burdens only on challenged transactions. At the same time, all parties would see a significant reduction in the pre-complaint merger process burden.⁸

Joe Sims and Robert Jones are partners and Hugh Hollman is an associate in the Washington D.C. office of Jones Day. The views expressed in this article are those of the authors, and not of their firm or any firm client.

This approach could result in a higher percentage of transactions challenged, if the agencies take the approach of litigating in closer cases because of the opportunity to gain additional discovery. But we doubt it would produce a significant difference. And it would mean that for those transactions that were challenged, the amount of time required to litigate the matter might increase. But if the result of this approach was a shorter average Second Request investigation time for all transactions, combined with a slight increase in the number of transactions challenged and a somewhat longer average litigation time, the net impact would be strongly positive.

While the requirement to go to court is a critical constraint on the agencies' power, there is no comparable constraint on the burdens they can and do impose during the Second Request process.

Of course, there is one other feature of this approach that will make some at the agencies nervous—becoming just another litigant, subject to the discretion of a federal court as to what additional discovery, over what time period, would be available post-complaint. It is hard to be too sympathetic to any agency concerns about having to conduct their discovery pursuant to federal court rules and oversight, assuming they could be guaranteed sufficient time to have the court make informed decisions on their discovery and timing requests. The agencies would no doubt worry that the parties would make the standard claims of exigencies, and that at least some courts might not take the time to give the agencies' requests the consideration they deserve. That is why our approach requires something that was considered (but rejected) in the original HSR legislation: a limited automatic stay of any transaction challenged in federal court.⁹

An unlimited stay would give the agencies too much leverage and would create too big an incentive to bring marginal cases for our comfort, so we would limit the automatic stay to thirty days. This would give the agency the time to make a showing to the court as to what additional discovery was required and why; give the parties a chance to respond; and give the court the time to itself make an informed decision, not only about discovery but also about the schedule for a preliminary injunction hearing (or possibly a trial on the merits, if the parties agreed). As a practical matter, most parties will also want time in the federal court proceeding to conduct discovery because that is their first opportunity for third-party discovery. So a short automatic stay, during which all the parties to the litigation and the court sort out the remaining schedule, should be both efficient and a source of comfort for the agencies that they will have the time to have their positions heard and considered by the court.

The Mountain Is Getting Higher

While it may seem (and perhaps is) completely irrelevant today, there is really no doubt that what Congress intended when it passed the HSR Act in 1976 was to provide the federal antitrust agencies advance notice of, and a minimal amount of easily retrievable information about, significant proposed transactions.¹⁰ The agencies were supposed to request data "already available to the merging parties [and] lengthy delays, and extended searches should consequently be rare."¹¹ But today's HSR process bears little resemblance to this model, having become a full-blown merger regulation system. As a practical matter, the HSR process is distinguishable from any other regulatory system only by the fact that the agencies must seek court intervention to actually block a transaction.

While the requirement to go to court is a critical constraint on the agencies' power, there is no comparable constraint on the burdens they can and do impose during the Second Request process. Clearly, the costs associated with complying with a Second Request are well beyond what was originally intended or contemplated by Congress, and are growing exponentially. The ABA Antitrust Section collected information on costs from its members and provided aggregated results to the Antitrust Modernization Commission (AMC) in 2007.¹² Other commentators also provided estimates of the length and cost of the Second Request process.¹³ The average Second Request investigation was reported as taking six to seven months and resulted in average compliance costs of $5 million. Those are average costs; for larger deals costs can quickly rise to the $10–$20 million range.¹⁴ And since those data are two years old, and costs seem to be constantly rising, the actual numbers today are certainly higher.

A primary driver of increased costs is the explosion in the use of electronic communication and recordkeeping and the resulting massive increase in the number of electronic documents and data that are gathered from individuals' computers and companies' network drives. In larger deals, upwards of 175,000 pages per source is not uncommon—and this number has tripled in the last three years. Although electronic review methods have improved to help deal with this document explosion, there is an associated increase in the cost of complying as each additional page still needs to be reviewed to determine its responsiveness to the agencies' request and whether it is privileged.

Electronic review is a cost and burden primarily borne by the merging parties as they cull down the documents to a subset that is responsive to those requested in a Second Request. The average number of electronic pages gathered from a merging party for the transactions we have worked on in the 2006–08 time period was over 6 million pages. The average number of electronic pages produced to the agencies during that same time period was 1.8 million. If this is typical, and we have no reason to think it is not, parties are reviewing more than three times the large volume of documents actually being turned over to the agencies. Accordingly, the huge growth in electronic documents is having a disproportionately larger impact on the parties to transactions than on the agencies.¹⁵

Nonetheless, the agencies have also been affected. This year, former DOJ Assistant Attorney General Tom Barnett noted that the agencies have increased their storage capacity to hold data turned over by parties by 14,000 percent since 1998, and they anticipate that their electronic storage will grow by 36,000 percent by 2013.¹⁶ Unfortunately, storage is relatively cheap, so this growth is not likely to generate increased incentives for the agencies to reduce parties' burdens.

Another source of increased costs is privilege review. There is a strong correlation between the cost for each individual searched for responsive documents and the number of privileged documents kept by that individual. This is hardly surprising, as reviewing for privilege is more expensive, usually requiring more than one wave of review and then (under current agency procedures) an intensive process of drafting a log that complies with the specifications laid out by the agencies. Of course, the agencies do not bear a similar burden and, indeed, in recent times have increasingly used quibbles over minutiae on the log to delay substantial compliance claims. In fact, at the DOJ there seem to be agency staff members who are specializing in privilege log review, since they reappear on multiple transactions in that role. This implies that at least the DOJ is devoting increased resources to privilege log review. Since we are not aware of any evidence that parties are systemically misusing the privilege designation, why this would be done is unclear. There is no question that creation of the privilege log and arguments over it lengthen the review process and significantly add to the expense.¹⁷

Apart from the actual costs of complying, lengthy investigations also leave the parties to transactions in limbo, with all the associated costs and problems. And while the average deal is in limbo for seven months, a non-trivial number of the larger transactions are delayed longer, sometimes over a year. During that time, any savings and efficiencies sought through the transaction are delayed, and the parties face other risks, including the loss of important personnel and limitations on how they can respond to marketplace opportunities or changes. Recent experience in the credit markets is an extreme illustration of how time is the enemy of transactions, and the Second Request process has now become, in many cases, the gating event to closing.

It is not meant to be a criticism of the agencies' staff at all to state the obvious—there is little institutional incentive to speed up the process. Just the opposite is true, more time to respond gives the staff more time to think, analyze and become more comfortable with their decision. One constant we have found across the Second Requests we are familiar with is that the intensity of the staff focus on compliance with the nuances of the requests drops dramatically, and the staff willingness to negotiate burden-reducing modifications increases dramatically, once the staff is assured of ample time for its investigation. Again, this is both logical and hard to criticize, but it does impact the burdens on the parties. While there are people at both agencies who do their best to move the process along, relying on these personal efforts is not a systematic solution to the problem.

The Latest Round of Reforms and Results

Working with another firm that is very active in the merger review process,¹⁸ we compiled a series of statistics on deals that the two firms handled that resulted in Second Requests. In particular, we evaluated the following data points: (1) length of time to comply; (2) number of custodians; (3) time limit for search; (4) volume of documents per custodian; (5) privileged documents; (6) data requirements; and the (7) appeal process. Obviously, this is a very limited sample, but it is all we had access to; it would no doubt be interesting to see a broader range of data.¹⁹

Length of Time to Comply. In 2006, both agencies introduced reforms to the merger review process that were designed to reduce the length and burden of Second Request investigations.²⁰ But their duration has not been reduced. During fiscal year 2005, the average length of an investigation was reported by the AMC to be about six to seven months.²¹ Post-2006, our experience is that investigations last an average of seven months, and some take much longer. It is clear that a major part of the length of Second Request investigations is a result of the huge burden on parties to assemble all the documents and data for compliance. But in addition, the reforms themselves unintentionally have built in additional delay with their timing agreement requirements.

In their 2006 reforms, in order for the parties to qualify for a lower number of employees to be searched, the agencies required the parties to agree to a form of timing agreement.²² Timing agreements contain provisions setting out when the parties will substantially comply and by when the parties will turn over their documents and data. They often include other details, such as which employees are deposed and the dates for their depositions or investigational hearings. To qualify for lower custodian limits—and this is what we were referring to earlier as a feint toward a real solution—the agencies also require the parties to agree to a sufficient period for the agencies to conduct post-complaint discovery should the investigation result in contested litigation.²³

This is a seed that could and should be grown into a real reform, but as now being used, and in the context of otherwise unlimited discretion for the agencies, it is not useful. Parties in DOJ transactions do not take advantage of the promise of this reform initiative because the burden of providing the agencies with a guaranteed period of post-complaint discovery is not being offset with a commensurate reduction in the Second Request burden on the parties.²⁴ Parties in FTC transactions are much more likely to agree to a timing agreement, but that is largely because FTC staff practice is to make all modifications of the Second Request contingent upon such an agreement. Indeed, as currently extant there is no logical relationship between timing agreements and the supposed burden-reducing focus of the reforms. Our experience since the 2006 reforms is almost uniform: staff focuses heavily on the timing agreement from the outset, postponing serious consideration of the merits of the case or how to facilitate compliance.

Like many of the other suggested initiatives, the timing agreement has also morphed into more than the guidelines contemplate. For example, the FTC guidelines call for either a rolling production or a thirty-day extension to the post-compliance period,²⁵ but our experience is that staff (supported by and at the urging of Bureau of Competition management) are now typically requiring both, and are adding more constraints, such as a requirement that compliance not be certified before a specific date. In all but one of the post-2006 reform transactions in our sample, there has been an extension to the post-compliance period and a rolling production.

Timing agreements should be eliminated altogether as a condition for limitations on the scope of Second Requests. It will be in the interest of many parties to have the certainty of a timing agreement, but it should not be a condition to reasonable limitations on the scope of Second Requests. Our proposal eliminates the need for agencies to use Second Request modifications as leverage to gain a timing agreement.

Number of Custodians. A core feature of the 2006 reforms was the presumption that no more than a definite number of employees needed to be searched. The FTC set the default number at thirty-five, while the DOJ decided on thirty custodians.²⁶ In our experience, this default number is almost completely irrelevant. The AMC reported, based on data submitted by the ABA Section of Antitrust Law, that the average number of custodians searched was 126.²⁷

In our sample, the average was lower—forty-seven custodians—still considerably higher than the default. These numbers are somewhat misleading, however, since embedded in them is what often seems to be an interminable negotiation (and accompanying information production) required to convince staff to reduce the number of custodians to be searched. Clearly, the exceptions have swallowed the rule here.

While it may seem arbitrary, what is needed is an absolute limit that cannot be exceeded during the Second Request process. And since (1) more and more often it is the data that are critical to the analysis, not the documents, and (2) a relatively small number of custodians will virtually always have all the documents reasonably needed to make a complaint decision, the limit can be relatively small. We would suggest twenty-five custodians. Only an absolute limit will be effective, given the natural instincts of most staffs to assure they will not miss something that might possibly be useful.

Time Limit for Search. A line that both agencies drew in the sand in their 2006 reforms was a two-year default relevant time period for which a party is required to search for documents.²⁸ This was a reform over the Model Second Request that previously provided for companies to produce responsive documents from January 1 of the calendar year three years prior to the issuance of the Second Request.²⁹ The DOJ also set a three year cut-off for data that is not in the FTC reforms, another one of those inconsistencies that are so frustrating to the outside world.³⁰ In fact, these supposedly hard lines also have been largely ignored.

Generally, the agencies will ask for documents from the beginning of a calendar year two years previously—not from the date of issuance of the Second Request—resulting in the actual time period for documents varying between two to three years on average. In about a quarter of the deals in our sample, agencies have either required production of documents for longer periods or requested longer time periods for certain document requests (or custodians) that vary between three to six years. Because most of the burden on the parties is for search and review, rather than the actual production, curtailment of only some specifications to a shorter period often does little to limit the burden.

A similar trend is found for data requests, except the average data time periods are three to four years, and up to ten years for some deals. This is a significant source of unnecessary burden on the parties. We understand the dynamics here—if we were agency economists, we might want more data rather than less. But this instinct requires some balance. The reform time limits were a step in the right direction, but they need to be more rigorously adhered to.

Volume of Documents per Custodian. Our data show that the volume of documents per custodian, mostly electronic documents, is growing dramatically. In 2005, the average number of pages gathered from each source was 43,396. In 2006 that number had almost doubled to 75,557. But in the 2007–08 time period the average jumped to 179,205—four times greater than the average just three years before. Similar to the number of custodians, the cost of compliance is highly correlated to volume. Staff’s response has usually been suggestions to reduce the volume of production, which does not assist the parties in dealing with the process of collection and review of the documents.

Much of this additional volume comes from electronic documents in company shared drives. Often companies have shared drives that serve as an electronic central filing system used by the entire company. Since shared drives are a repository for information for numerous employees—they often contain a vast quantity of documents and data that the agencies treat as a separate source of information to be reviewed, limited only by the generally applicable default time period for documents. To cope with this burden, we are aware of some law firms and parties simply turning over the shared drives without any review, making the agencies' task more difficult, and risking disclosure of privileged information. We don't find this an attractive solution. Unfortunately, the reforms do not allow parties to pull files belonging only to the agreed-upon custodians from the shared drives. There is no good reason for the agencies to use the existence of shared drives to be used to effectively expand the custodian list to include every document on the shared drives. Instead, the custodian limitation should encompass only natural persons, and a search of each custodian should include a requirement that the parties ask each custodian on the search list which documents he or she accesses on any shared drives and only those documents should be reviewed for responsiveness.

Privileged Documents. Our analysis revealed a very high correlation between the volume of privileged documents and the cost of production. This is not surprising as firms often have additional reviews for privileged documents, and the agencies require parties to provide a log of the privileged documents that sets out various details, such as recipients of the document, date, etc. We have also noticed an increase in the number of privileged documents per custodian. Most likely thanks to e-mail and the ease with which documents are transmitted, the number of privileged documents per custodian has increased by approximately eight times since the pre-2006 time period.

The FTC tried to address the burden imposed by the privilege log with their partial privilege log initiative.³¹ A party opting for the partial log provision is first required to provide a complete list of all the names of the custodians and the number of documents contained in each custodian's files that will be withheld under a claim of privilege.³² The FTC will then identify within five business days 10 percent of the total number of custodians searched or five custodians, whichever is greater, for which the party is required to produce a complete log.³³ In order to exercise this option, a party must agree to provide a complete log for all custodians within fifteen days of a discovery request.³⁴

In theory, this initiative seems to promise a reduction in the number of privileged documents needing to be logged, but it has not produced that result. The partial privilege log provision often becomes simply another source of delay from negotiations over which custodians should qualify for the partial log.³⁵ The result of all the various issues that arise regarding the partial log is that the parties will often end up doing a complete log anyway as their privilege teams are already in place and it would be more arduous to put together a complete log in fifteen days a few months later in response to a discovery request if the transaction ends up being challenged.

Privilege logs are a significant burden and impose very significant costs on the parties. We suggest that, at a minimum, the FTC adopt the DOJ process of allowing documents to and from counsel to be omitted. And indeed, absent some reason to believe that the parties or their lawyers are abusing the privilege issue, we suggest that complete omission of the privilege log requirement would not make a meaningful difference in the agencies' ability to make a challenge decision, while it would significantly reduce the Second Request compliance cost and time involved for the parties to a transaction. A log could be required in any litigation, or if there is some reason to believe that the parties or their counsel are abusing the privilege exemption.

The most dramatic source of growing burden going forward is likely to be data. Merger analysis is increasingly data driven, as are business decisions, and more data means more opportunities to demand and analyze data.

Data Requirements. All of what we have discussed so far is important, but the most dramatic source of growing burden going forward is likely to be data. Merger analysis is increasingly data driven, as are business decisions, and more data means more opportunities to demand and analyze data. The problem here is not so much the amount of data demanded by the agencies but rather how they insist on it being provided. Turning over raw data that has not been archived is often not a source of huge delay and expense as the data almost always exists and can be produced or accessed electronically. But the agencies generally require parties to create and run programs to turn the large volumes of data into a format that the agency prefers to work with. Reprogramming mountains of data is time-consuming and very expensive, since it frequently requires significant involvement by outside economists and other consultants. Even worse, the agencies frequently require the parties to extract old archived data, requiring additional programming to make it comparable to more recent data.

As huge as the cost is becoming for economists to manipulate the data to conform to agency requirements, much of the data production cost is hidden because often it is incurred by the client directly, using employees who must be paid overtime and/or neglect their normal duties. Of course, one way to help control these costs is to truly limit the time periods for which data are required. Another very practical possibility is to require that any data the parties use in presentations to an agency or in litigation be provided to the agency in the same form as it is used by the parties. But the potential for inappropriate burdens here remains, and will remain, very significant.³⁶

Appeal Process. The appeal process that has become a feature in most of the agencies' reform initiatives is irrelevant.³⁷ It has been our experience that the frequent departures from the guidelines are almost always supported by management. In one recent matter, we sought to use software programs to eliminate near-duplicates³⁸ from a very large production; staff refused, we appealed, and the staff position was upheld, despite the considerable burden that would have been alleviated and (in our view) the minimal effect on the agency's substantive analysis. Indeed, when the rare appeals have been taken, our experience is that it is more likely that agency management will insist upon additional requirements than overrule the staff. As a result, no firm active in this process that we are aware of believes that an agency appeal process creates any real protections against overreaching. If there is to be any effective appeal process, it would have to involve an independent third party, as was suggested in the Sims/Herman article ten years ago.³⁹ The common reaction to that suggestion was that it was impractical, and that may be correct, which is one of the reasons why we suggest that hard limits on pre-complaint discovery are essential to any meaningful reform.

The Solution

Some things are clear. The merger review process continues to become more costly. Agency "reforms" have not really changed this trend, and logically cannot be expected to do so. The problem is likely to get worse, not better, with the growth in available electronic documents and data and the increasingly data-driven approach to merger analysis taken by the antitrust enforcement agencies.

Given this diagnosis, what is the cure? We propose here a paradigm shift, not just some more tweaking of the current flawed system. Our solution would require new mindsets from both the agencies and the antitrust bar—reflecting a recognition that the merger review process by the agencies does not need to be, and in fact should not try to be, absolutely precise. Today, the agencies try very hard to be right in their enforcement decisions—a laudable goal unless, as has happened, it increases the costs for everyone far above what is gained from a public policy perspective. We think the agencies should try to be mostly right, or put another way, try to achieve the 90 percent solution, not the 100 percent solution.⁴⁰

Adoption of this approach might mean a few more merger challenges, since we all know that some close calls are made not to litigate, but usually only after extended and burdensome Second Request investigations. And more litigation could mean more losses by the agencies, but not necessarily, if they do not significantly change the standards applied in bringing cases. But the potential gains from a streamlined merger review process are enormous.

Just do some very simple math. There are seventy Second Request investigations in a typical year.⁴¹ If the average costs are now approximately $6 million, and we reduced that cost by a third, these savings alone would be $140 million. Add to that the internal savings for the parties, the savings to the agencies, and the additional savings from eliminating the extraordinary outlier transactions, and you are talking real money. More importantly, if we reduced the seven-month average investigation time—let's say to four months—the potential positive impact as a result (in faster realization of efficiencies and elimination of uncertainty) would likely be orders of magnitude much greater than the direct savings. And perhaps just as important, the merger enforcement process would be just that, and not a slog through meaningless documents and data for months on end.

Let's be extremely conservative and just say that we are looking at hundreds of millions in possible savings. On the other side of the ledger, there might be additional costs for a small portion of the transactions—those that are challenged but would not have been challenged with a more expansive Second Request. Even under this system, we believe the number of deals likely challenged would remain small. And for those challenged transactions, there would be post-complaint discovery costs, which might be greater if the magnitude of Second Request discovery is reduced. So the prospect of increased costs for a few balanced against reduced costs to the many (parties to deals and consumers, who realize the results of efficiencies faster) seems a small price to pay.

How exactly would we accomplish this? We urge (through legislation if necessary) imposition of the following conditions on Second Request investigations:

1. Eliminate the timing agreement as a condition of any Second Request modification.
2. Limit the number of custodians that must be searched to twenty-five in every transaction.
3. Limit the time period for documents to two years and for data to three years.
4. Require parties to make rolling productions of data and documents, and to provide the agencies with all data used to support any presentations.
5. Eliminate the requirement of a privilege log; any abuse will likely be rare, would be uncovered in a litigation, and if necessary, specific penalties could be imposed as a deterrent.
6. Require the agencies to make a decision whether to challenge the transaction within forty-five days of certification of substantial compliance.⁴²
7. Impose an automatic thirty-day stay on the closing of any transaction from the filing of a complaint in federal court. Require the parties to come to an agreement within ten days on both discovery obligations and a schedule for a preliminary injunction or trial on the merits, or present within another seven days their respective positions to the court, leaving an additional thirteen days for the court's decision. Post-complaint discovery would be subject to the Federal Rules and the court's discretion.

Conclusion

The ABA's Section of Antitrust Law's recently published Transition Report calls for the agencies to assess the impact of their merger process review initiatives.⁴³ The Antitrust Modernization Commission made a similar plea.⁴⁴ Obviously, the problems that have been a part of this process from its beginnings three decades ago have not yet been solved.

We hope that this article offers some useful ideas toward a solution. While we recognize the data limitations in our sample, we think the two firms whose experience we relied on have a reasonable basis for evaluating how the process is actually working. Risking sounding like the agencies, broader data sets are always useful, and thus we would encourage a more systematic investigation of the actual facts.

Still, the heart of the problem is that today the agencies have the incentive (and in their view the need) to use the Second Request process to prepare for litigation in every deal. As a result, the costs and delays that are imposed on transactions that are not challenged are greater than they need to be. The only practical solution to that problem is to eliminate the need for (and ability of) the agencies to strive for that goal, or even just for maximum precision in their decisions whether to challenge. For the staff, more time will almost always be desirable. There is no way to eliminate that natural human impulse. Consequently, it is necessary to place what admittedly are arbitrary limits on what can be demanded and the delays that can be imposed by the agencies pre-complaint.

We recognize that to some extent we are trying to go back to the future and make the Second Request process something more akin to what was originally intended by Congress some thirty years ago. But the core concept of the original HSR legislation was sound—create the ability to evaluate whether to challenge a transaction and then allow that challenge to take place prior to the transaction closing. Unfortunately, inexorable processes of bureaucracy and technological change have overwhelmed this concept and produced instead a regulatory process that is made barely palatable only by the fact that the agencies need to seek federal court intervention to actually block a transaction.

Our proposed reforms attempt to reduce or at least slow down the increase in costs on parties to mergers, while still allowing anticompetitive mergers to be effectively challenged. Let the debate begin. ■

See 2007 HSR Report to Congress, supra note 3, at 2 n.2 (“The decrease in the number of reportable transactions since fiscal year 2000 is, to a considerable extent, a result of the significant statutory changes to the HSR Act that took effect on February 1, 2001. The legislation raised the size-of-transaction threshold from $15 million to $50 million (with annual adjustments for inflation that began in 2005), and made other changes to the filing and waiting period requirements.”).

⁷ See J. Thomas Rosch, FTC Commissioner, Reflections on Procedure at the Federal Trade Commission, Remarks at the ABA Antitrust Masters Course IV at 10 (Sept. 25, 2008), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/speeches/rosch/080925roschreflections.pdf> (“Moreover, the pre-complaint investigation is not a level playing field. Staff can and do engage in ‘one-way’ discovery during this period; Respondents can engage in no discovery until after a complaint is issued. This ‘one way’ discovery conducted by the staff, particularly when coupled with the ‘leave no stone unturned’ approach, can be enormously burdensome and expensive for Respondents.”). This is all completely understandable. The agencies want to be right on the competitive merits; they do not want to have to rely on what they see as incomplete evidence in deciding whether to challenge a transaction. And they want to be as prepared as possible to litigate a case before they file a federal court action; they do not want to rely upon the uncertainty of federal discovery after a complaint is filed. Let’s be candid—the longer it takes the parties to comply with a Second Request, the longer the agencies have to accomplish these, sometimes quite complicated, tasks.

⁸ FTC Commissioner Rosch tries to get to a similar result by simply lowering the bar for bringing cases. See J. Thomas Rosch, FTC Commissioner, A Peek Inside: One Commissioner’s Perspective on the Commission’s Roles as Prosecutor and Judge, Remarks Before the NERA 2008 Antitrust & Trade Regulation Seminar (July 3, 2008), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/speeches/rosch/080703nera.pdf> (“But plaintiffs in private antitrust cases (and other litigation) don’t have the benefit of the “one-way” discovery that our staff has prior to issuance of a complaint.”); see also Rosch, supra note

7, at 11–12 (“Let me turn now to my radical thoughts. What would happen if a 60% probability were deemed a sufficient reason to believe to vote out an antitrust complaint?”). But it is not the standard for bringing cases that is the problem; rather, it is the reluctance to depend on federal court discovery for those cases that are litigated. Based on our own experience and insights from others, we believe that most former agency decision-makers would concede that, while more information is sometimes (not always) useful, they would be capable of making reasonably informed decisions using the same criteria as today with a significantly lower volume of information than is typically available under current processes.

¹⁷ More aggressive use of clawback concepts would not solve this problem. Few clients will be comfortable with simply producing potentially privileged documents without review, even if (which is not at all clear) they could easily retrieve them if they discovered that privileged documents had been produced. Moreover, the agencies have no ability to change existing state and federal law regarding waiver of privilege.

²³ See FTC 2006 Reforms, supra note 20, at 19 (“Accordingly, for the custodian presumption to apply to a party, the party must agree that, if the FTC brings a litigation challenge to the transaction, the party will agree to propose to the court jointly with the FTC a scheduling order that contains at least a 60-day discovery period.”); see DOJ 2006 Reforms, supra note 20 (“The [timing] agreement shall include provisions to ensure that the Division has sufficient time to conduct post-complaint discovery if it challenges the transaction in district court.”).

²⁵ See FTC 2006 Reforms, supra note 20, at 15–16 (“For the custodian presumption to apply to a party, the party also must agree to produce the documents and data responsive to the second request 30 days before it submits its certification of substantial compliance with the second request, or to enter into a mutually acceptable ‘rolling’ production or other timing agreement.”).

³⁵ For example, FTC staff will ask for counsel's documents to be logged—virtually all of which likely will be privileged and accordingly useless for the merger evaluation. This is in stark contrast to the DOJ Staff which, while they have not instituted a similar partial log reform, allow the parties to completely omit documents sent only between the company and its inside counsel provided they are acting solely in their legal capacity, and documents between the company and its outside counsel not provided to third parties. See U.S. Dep't of Justice Model Second Request, Instruction R.2.g, available at <http://www.usdoj.gov/atr/public/220239.htm>. The FTC Staff has also specifically stated in their Second Request instructions that they retain the right to require the parties to produce a complete log for all persons even if the parties choose to do a partial log, which effectively adds another arrow to their quiver to potentially hold up compliance with a Second Request at their option. See Federal Trade Comm'n Model Second Request, Instruction Q.5, available at <http://www.ftc.gov/bc/hsr/introguides/guide3.pdf>.

³⁶ Commissioner Rosch has argued that the agencies need to focus more on the anticompetitive story (if any) rather than the economic models that have come to dominate agency analysis. See Rosch, supra note 7, at 10 (“[the staff] present recommendations to the Commission that are primarily based on complex economic analysis rather than on the stories about competitive effects that are told by non-economic evidence.”). We agree. First of all, this would significantly reduce the burdens of everyone, parties and agencies. Second, our perception, like Commissioner Rosch's, is that the over-emphasis on economic evidence in merger litigation is a major cause of the poor litigation record of the agencies. “Our economists vs. their economists” is not a prescription for litigation success, since most judges (who are not economists) have a very hard time distinguishing between the two on any principled basis. Some of this over-emphasis on economic analysis, of course, is the result of the decreasing availability of the burden-shifting presumptions (largely based on market share) that used to give the agencies such a huge advantage in merger litigation—remember Justice Stewart's famous aphorism about the only common thread he could see in merger opinions was that the government always wins. That is no longer the case. But as recent history shows, the solution is not more economic analysis. Instead, better story-telling by the agencies is the solution (assuming, of course, there is an anticompetitive story to be told). Unfortunately, Commissioner Rosch would pair this with a substantially reduced agency burden in federal court and internal FTC procedural reforms, the combined practical effect of which would be to eliminate any meaningful opportunity for parties to test an agency challenge in court. That seems hard to justify on the merits, so it is usually justified (as he has) on the basis that Congress “intended” this outcome. See Rosch, supra note 8, at 16. That is not a very compelling argument.

³⁸ Near-duplicates is a term used to describe content that is slightly different, e.g., e-mails that are forwarded between users. Eliminating duplicates and near-duplicates can reduce the documents to be reviewed by up to 30 percent. See Sheila Mackay et al., Document Review and Technologies to Make Them More Efficient, 733 PLI/LIT 357, 364 (2005).

³⁹ Sims & Herman, supra note 2, at 902.

⁴⁰ We would not support, and do not think it necessary to accomplish the objective, a 60 percent solution. See Rosch, supra note 7, at 11–12.

⁴¹ The DOJ reported an average number of 39.9 Second Requests during the period 1998–2007. U.S. Dep't of Justice, Antitrust Division, Workload Statistics 1998–2007. The FTC reported 384 Second Requests issued from 1996 to 2007, i.e., on average 32 per year. See Fed. Trade Comm'n, Horizontal Merger Investigation Data 1996–2007 (Dec. 1, 2008), available at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/2008/12/081201hsrmergerdata.pdf>. On average, therefore, the agencies issue approximately 70 Second Requests each year. In 2007, the agencies issued 63 Second Requests (31 issued by the FTC and 32 by the DOJ). See 2007 HSR Report to Congress, supra note 3, at 5.

⁴² Our view is that the agency should be required to go to federal court within fifteen days of certification of substantial compliance to object to certification. While this seems harsh, our view is that most parties and their lawyers will not improperly certify, and if they do and are determined to have done so they should be subject to some significant penalty. Absent a requirement to go to court, the agencies will have an incentive to reject substantial compliance certifications to buy more time, and absent a real penalty some parties may be tempted to make improper certifications. The penalty could be more time to challenge the transaction following actual substantial compliance, and/or a financial penalty significant enough to deter mis-certification. Part of the Second Request problem is that all parties are penalized to protect against the occasional wrongdoer; the better practice is to severely punish the wrongdoer and eliminate the tax on the innocents.

⁴⁴ AMC Report, supra note 13, at 167 (“There is little question that second requests have the potential to impose significant costs on the merging parties. The evidence of those costs is largely anecdotal, however, with little systematic quantitative information on the burdens second requests impose. The agencies are in the best position to collect such information.”).

Prepared Remarks

DISPARATE IMPACT: WINNERS AND LOSERS FROM THE NEW M&A POLICY

Commissioner Noah Joshua Phillips
Federal Trade Commission

Eighth Annual Berkeley Spring Forum on M&A and the Boardroom
San Francisco, CA
Wednesday, April 27, 2022

Thanks, Jan, for the kind introduction, and our hosts, Berkeley Law's Center for Law and Business and Freshfields, for the invitation to be here. My last work trip before the pandemic was to the Bay Area, and it's good to be back.

This year's Berkeley Forum comes at a critical time, just over one year into an administration as hostile to mergers and acquisitions (M&A) as any in my lifetime. This is perhaps a good place to remind all of you that my remarks are my own and do not necessarily reflect the view of the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) or my fellow commissioners.

But back to M&A policy. The traditional view of M&A (to which I subscribe) is that it is part of the way that companies grow (or shrink) and evolve, as assets move to the users that value them most highly. This market, which Henry Manne dubbed the "market for corporate control", also disciplines management and encourages competition.¹ Under this framework, the role of the antitrust enforcer is to determine which deals present threats to competition, block or remedy them, and—in keeping with Ronald Coase²—otherwise reduce transaction costs and minimize distortions to the market.

But to the new leadership at the antitrust agencies and their fellow travelers, that view is anathema. Their view of M&A boils down to three ideas. First, M&A generally produces little social value and a great deal of social cost.³ Second, the costs include a wide swath of ills including lessened competition but also disadvantaged labor,⁴ inflation,⁵ and undermined democracy.⁶ You name the problem, and there’s a good chance some prominent antitrust-reform Progressive has blamed it on M&A.⁷ Third, M&A is a privilege granted to companies by the government, rather than a natural part of commerce.⁸

Much of the change to merger policy over the last fifteen months is taking place in the context of merger review under the Hart-Scott-Rodino (HSR) Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976. If you share the hostile view of mergers to which antitrust reformers subscribe, then HSR—a process Congress designed to help agencies spot and address ahead of time deals that lessen competition—looks more like an opportunity to slow or stop M&A activity in general. And the latter, what I’ve called elsewhere the “repeal of Hart-Scott-Rodino,”⁹ is exactly what we are seeing. Using HSR this way has several benefits:

First, it allows you to talk about it, broadcasting hostility to M&A that has a positive branding effect for enforcers and may also have some deterrent effect for M&A;

Second, you can sow uncertainty and run up the cost of getting deals done, taxing M&A and making the market for corporate control less efficient;

Third, these strategies can be accomplished without courts; and

Fourth, it shields enforcers from political accountability for enabling M&A.

These “features” explain the merger control policies adopted over the last fifteen months that together constitute the only real novelty thus far in the Biden Administration’s approach to M&A. The changes are not particularly well-calibrated to make antitrust enforcement more efficient or effective, and indeed—as Jan’s faithful reporting on Twitter of actual merger enforcement statistics shows—it has not been.¹⁰

Like all policy, the new M&A policies being deployed by the agencies include tradeoffs. And one such tradeoff, I think, deserves particular notice. Contra the professed goals of Progressive antitrust reformers, to rein in the biggest companies, the gratuitous taxes on M&A being imposed by the antitrust agencies are regressive, hitting smaller companies the hardest. Policies designed in the name of “anti-monopoly” are disproportionately taxing companies that few would consider monopolies, making it harder for them to compete.

Taxing M&A

How are the agencies taxing M&A? Antitrust enforcement over the last fifteen months has been anything but vigorous—indeed, it has been sclerotic. By that I mean not just fewer cases being brought, but a longer process with fewer decisions being made.¹¹

The merger review process is already expensive. Merging parties typically end up paying hefty sums in attorney and consultant fees, not to mention the time spent internally to comply with agencies demands. One study estimated the median cost of Second Request compliance at $4.3 million.¹² That is separate and apart from the up-front expense of negotiating deals and conducting due diligence. Full-phase merger investigations can last from several months to a year or more. Unanticipated delays can impose costs beyond fees and distraction, like having to extend deal financing or losing key employees and customers—or even losing out on the deal.

While supporters of agency leadership cheer what they hope will be a deterrent to merging generally, these kinds of costs are felt more heavily by smaller firms. And that disadvantages them relative to larger ones, to whom the costs look more like a rounding error. The fact is that mergers are a way for smaller firms to join forces to compete more effectively and efficiently against larger rivals. Combining can put financially struggling firms on firmer footing, or improve the terms on which they can borrow to grow their business. Advisers to traditional retail grocers on M&A made a recent submission detailing how competition from the Amazons and Wal-Marts of the world was leading investors to flee traditional grocers, resulting in lessened investment, store closing, and bankruptcy.¹³ While those hostile to M&A might discount this narrative, antitrust reformers have not been shy about basing their criticism of Amazon and Wal-Mart on the challenges faced by precisely these smaller kinds of companies.¹⁴ If growth by M&A is deterred substantially, why would anyone believe that the giants would be the most hamstrung?

Granted, some of the deals in the sample were quite large, but even half the median—$2 million—is a big outlay for a small-to-medium-sized business. And the smaller you are, the harder it is to spend that kind of money.

Beyond the drawn-out process, the Commission has adopted several policies openly taxing M&A in a way that does nothing for competition and also disparately impacts smaller players.

Early Termination

In the early days of the Biden Administration, FTC leadership suspended early termination (“ET”) of the initial HSR waiting period. ET is reserved for transactions that raise no apparent competitive concerns. The FTC told the public that it expected the suspension to be “temporary” and “brief”, and justified it by citing the change in administrations and an “unprecedented volume of HSR filings for the start of a fiscal year”.¹⁵ That didn’t make sense then. The uptick in filings had started long before, and the agency had not only managed it but prosecuted—under Chair Joe Simons—the most prolific merger enforcement in decades.¹⁶ And presidential transition was nothing new. The justifications make even less sense now, over a year since the “temporary” and “brief” termination began. The number of HSR filings had already dropped 70% from the 2020 peak when the suspension went into effect,¹⁷ and the Administration came into office more than a year ago.

The suspension of ET continues to delay what are, by definition, competitively innocuous deals. It is using the HSR process not to protect competition but rather just to tax M&A. These deals can help Americans, even save lives. The day before announcing the suspension, the Commission granted ET to Thermo Fisher’s acquisition of Mesa Biotech.¹⁸ The small biotech company had developed an innovative rapid-PCR-testing platform for the novel coronavirus, and combining it with Thermo Fisher’s resources, scale, and distribution would better meet then-exploding demand for testing.¹⁹ With America and the world struggling through the pandemic, the grant of ET just 24 hours before the suspension took effect was good for the public—and awfully convenient for the FTC when one considers the negative PR from holding up a deal that stood to improve COVID screening. This incident not only belies the misguided assumption that M&A offers nothing of value, it demonstrates that those impacted by anti-M&A policies are not just giant monopolies, but often small companies . . . and people who need help.

Ending ET accomplishes nothing for competition and nothing good for M&A. But there is another thing worth noting. By never granting ET, we, as enforcers, cannot be accused of “permitting” the deal. More on that soon.

Prior Approval

Another example of gratuitously taxing M&A is the new Commission policy on prior approvals, adopted in October with the zombie vote of former Commissioner Rohit Chopra.²⁰ Under this policy, all consents require Commission prior approval for future transactions both by merging parties and divestiture buyers for 10 years. The Commission also threatens to impose restrictions for markets not at issue in the transaction.²¹ The new policy warns merging parties that they are more likely to be slapped with prior approval provisions if they substantially comply with the FTC's compulsory requests in a full phase investigation. In marginally less ominous language, the Commission is saying: give up and don't make us investigate your merger, or we'll make you pay.²² The Commission also holds out the prospect of pursuing prior approval remedies even after parties drop the offending deal, the precise embarrassing and wasteful conduct that led the agency to adopt a policy limiting prior approval requests in 1995.²³

Giving the Commission a veto over future M&A and all the time it wants to render it imposes significant obligations on merging parties, and innocent divestiture buyers. It slows and chills future M&A activity whether it lessens competition or not. Perhaps those hostile to M&A rest easier now that Hikma Pharmaceuticals, a $2 billion generic drug manufacturer, cannot buy another injectable skin steroid without permission.²⁴ They are surely relieved that 30-employee XCL Energy cannot buy more land to drill in Utah without government approval.²⁵ But these two are hardly Pfizer and ExxonMobil. And say what you will, but requiring Price Chopper and Tops to obtain the FTC's permission before acquiring a supermarket in Vermont or upstate New York for the next 10 years is probably not keeping Amazon executives up at night.²⁶

Meanwhile, after years of rhetoric claiming that antitrust enforcers are falling down on the job by insinuating that every large pharmaceutical deal or purchase by a large tech company must, somehow, be anticompetitive and unresolvable, are we not supposed to notice AstraZeneca's $39 billion acquisition of Alexion Pharmaceuticals,²⁷ Merck's $11.5

billion acquisition of Acceleron Pharma,²⁸ and Facebook’s $1 billion acquisition of Kustomer,²⁹ each of which went through without any prior approval or other kind of obligation?³⁰

Smaller companies are more likely to accede to prior approval requirements because they have less leverage and often need the deal more, and with a prior approval obligation their ability to engage in M&A will be less than their larger competitors. That is a competitive disadvantage to larger rivals.

And let’s not forget the divestiture buyers. We are punishing the companies (often smaller ones) that have done nothing but step up to help resolve a competitive concern. This is what Commissioner Wilson and I dubbed “bonkers crazy”.³¹

Who does all of this help? One answer, as with the termination of ET, is agency heads who do not wish to be associated with “clearing” mergers. Prior approval requirements deter consents, not mergers. Among other things, they scare off better buyers of assets. Without a consent, there is nothing for enforcers to approve. Sure, this strategy probably will push a few otherwise settleable matters into expensive, uncertain litigation and force staff to review prior approval applications for transactions that would not otherwise merit investigation. Fine, companies will fix it first. And, yes, the agencies will be less effective and efficient as a result. But at least the leadership will be able to dodge some difficult and unpopular decisions. This is a political benefit, not a policy.

I am very concerned we are going to start seeing deals with divestitures but without consents. There are today murmurings in the private bar that the agencies are refusing to engage on remedies, and instead are conveying their competitive concerns and leaving it up to the merging parties to attempt a resolution. This is fixing it first with a wink and a nod—and no enforceable agreement with the government. As a result, the public loses out on the protections that a consent agreement provides—including, ironically, prior approval policy. Only agency heads, who get to avoid the appearance of blessing mergers, gain. Reading strident dissents about failed remedies for years, it never occurred to me that one solution might be neither blocking nor remediating deals at all.

Pre-Consummation Warning Letters

The final change to merger control I'll highlight is the promiscuous use of pre-consummation warning letters, sometimes called “close-at-your-own-peril letters”. The point of HSR is to enable the antitrust agencies to review transactions, and block or remedy the anticompetitive ones, before they are consummated.³² That is not always possible, of course. If the agencies do not expect to complete their review before the merging parties are free to consummate their deal, they will sometimes issue pre-consummation warning letters that typically inform the parties that the investigation is ongoing, may ultimately find that the merger is illegal, and the parties cannot avoid an enforcement action by consummating now.

When a merger presents legitimate competitive concerns and there is a good reason why the investigation will not be completed in time, I have no objection to issuing such letters. But last August, the Director of the FTC's Bureau of Competition announced a new practice of issuing these letters far more liberally.³³ By my count, of late, the FTC has sent warning letters in at least 60 investigations. Some of those are in matters where we haven't even begun to conduct an investigation. In others, the real investigation is over and we lack a reasonable basis to conclude the merger violates the law. But the letters say we're still investigating.

There is a bad government aspect to this. For those matters where we've decided there isn't a competitive issue to address, one of two things must be true. Either we are wasting staff's time and taxpayer dollars on needless investigation, or we are misrepresenting to parties what is really happening.

But to parties trying to make and implement M&A decisions, the result—and, I fear, the goal—is to sow uncertainty about the future. Uncertainty, in turn, discourages post-merger integration and investment. This effect is particularly harmful for small companies, which are more likely than larger firms to need M&A to become more efficient and competitive, and which will have a harder time remaining viable should their merger be unwound. How is that a good thing? Once again, there is a critical benefit to agency heads: because investigations never end, we can never be seen as approving the deals we are investigating.

How is the M&A Tax Working?

If these various M&A taxes have borne fruit as strategies to stop more anticompetitive mergers, those fruit are not apparent. But the disproportionate burdens already are.

Are the big guys running scared? The New York Times' DealBook recently reported that while global M&A is down overall from last year—a natural and predictable corollary of plummeting equity values and rising interest rates—there has been a sharp increase in the value and volume of very large deals—i.e., $10 billion or more—“despite increased scrutiny from antitrust regulators and other factors that dampened enthusiasm for smaller deals”.³⁴ If that was the goal in the first place, it is very different from the rhetoric.

Conclusion

Policy involves tradeoffs. In their zeal to tax M&A however they can, especially in ways that courts cannot police, those running the antitrust agencies and their supporters are already inviting perverse consequences. They are driving up costs and sowing uncertainty that disparately impact smaller players, putting them at a competitive disadvantage to the biggest companies. And, apart from press releases and avoiding political accountability, what's the payoff?

Everything I have described today involves the process for merger control. But substantive changes are surely coming, as the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice ("DOJ") and FTC undertake revisions of the merger guidelines. I am not opposed to this project in principle, and I am open to exploring well-supported, administrable changes to the 2010 Guidelines.

But the hostile mentality about M&A responsible for recent process reforms is a bad place to start, and I am concerned that bias is already skewing the Guidelines revisions. The January 18 Request for Information issued jointly by the DOJ and FTC solicits "specific examples of mergers that have harmed competition" but not of mergers that benefited competition. Or consider the "listening forums" undertaken by FTC Chair Lina Khan and Assistant Attorney General Jonathan Kanter, with the ostensible purpose of "hear[ing] from those who have experienced firsthand the effects of mergers and acquisitions beyond antitrust experts." Public sessions are great, but there is no transparency to me or the public about how the presenters—who have uniformly negative things to say—are being selected. This stands in stark contrast to countless past public hearings, where commissioners besides the Chair got input into who would speak.

Even well-crafted policy has unintended consequences. The reforms to the merger process already in place are not well-crafted, so it's little surprise the consequences have not been good. They are doing little for competition, weakening small companies vis-à-vis larger competitors, and serving only to support personal branding and lack of accountability at the agencies. While the RFI process thus far has left much to be desired, the antitrust agencies still have a choice.

Prudence dictates that any new approach to merger enforcement should be warranted by developments in legal and economic analysis, and only after a thorough evaluation of both the administrability and likely impact of that new approach. The process should be transparent. I urge my colleagues and DOJ leadership to proceed with care, and I encourage the public to participate. We've seen too many mistakes already.

Thank you.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

It Takes Two¹: Modernizing the Merger Review Process

MAKAN DELRAHIM
Assistant Attorney General
Antitrust Division
U.S. Department of Justice

Remarks as Prepared for the 2018 Global Antitrust Enforcement Symposium

Georgetown University Law Center
Washington, D.C.

September 25, 2018

I. Introduction

Good morning, and thank you for inviting me to speak here today. It is a pleasure to be at Georgetown University for this year's Global Antitrust Enforcement Symposium.

Events like these, which bring competition enforcement officials together to speak with members of the private bar, the business community, and the academic community, serve an important role in the continued development of antitrust law and its enforcement. They facilitate the rule of law by increasing transparency and predictability in enforcement. This, in turn, promotes competition and conserves both public and private resources by allowing the private bar to better counsel their clients so they can avoid anticompetitive behavior. Such events also allow competition agencies yet another opportunity to understand concerns that the business community may have about antitrust enforcement.

Today, I am going to address one of those concerns. My remarks will focus on modernizing the merger review process.

First, I will address the fact that mergers increasingly take longer to review and clear. Many think that is a problem. I do too, and I will explain why.

Second, I will discuss a series of changes that we are making at the Antitrust Division to address this problem and expedite the merger review process.

The Division is committed to achieving this result whenever possible without compromising the quality of merger reviews, but we cannot do it on our own. The merging parties and the Division both exert significant control over the pace and timing of compliance. It is important to recognize that shortening any investigation requires the cooperation of the merging parties. We need you to submit the necessary information promptly and work with us in good faith to resolve open issues expeditiously. It also means that parties shouldn't hide the eight ball!

II. The Drawbacks of Unduly Lengthy Merger Review

Why do I believe that the merger review process needs to be modernized?

There is widespread agreement that significant merger reviews are taking longer to complete. According to one source, in calendar year 2017, significant merger reviews conducted by U.S. antitrust enforcers took an average of 10.8 months to resolve.² That's up from an average of 7.1 months in 2013,³ which is a 65% increase, according to this source.

Several factors likely have contributed to this increase, some of which are beyond our control.

First, in this electronic age, merging parties frequently maintain enormous quantities of data and documents. It takes longer for the parties to produce them, and it takes longer for enforcement agencies to analyze them.

Second, more and more transactions are international in scope. Necessary coordination with our foreign counterparts — while beneficial— could add time.

Third, when divestitures are required to protect competition and remedy anticompetitive elements to transactions, we increasingly require upfront buyers that are pre-approved before consent decrees can be filed. That also adds time.

So the question is, what can we do, despite these factors, to increase the efficiency of merger reviews?

Nobody wins with unduly lengthy reviews — other than lawyers and expert economists, perhaps. The Antitrust Division’s mission is to protect competition for the benefit of American consumers. That means ensuring that pro-competitive mergers are not unduly delayed by our review process. Indeed, most mergers are pro-competitive, or at least competitively neutral.

As far back as 1982, the Horizontal Merger Guidelines reflected this idea, stating that, “While challenging competitively harmful mergers, the Department [should seek] to avoid unnecessary interference with the larger universe of mergers that are either competitively beneficial or neutral.”⁴

Shortly after the guidelines were issued, then-Assistant Attorney General William Baxter elaborated on this idea. He faced criticism that the 1982 Merger Guidelines were too clear and provided too much guidance. This, the argument ran, would “encourage mergers right up to the line” drawn in the Guidelines. Baxter noted that this criticism “exhibit[ed] an inherent hostility to the phenomenon of mergers themselves.”

Baxter rejected this hostility, emphasizing that mergers are “an important and extremely valuable capital market phenomenon, that they are to be in general facilitated, and that it is socially desirable that uncertainty and risk be removed wherever possible to do so, subject, of course, to the very important limitation that where a merger threatens significantly to lessen competition, it should be halted.”⁵

⁵ William F. Baxter, A Justice Department Perspective, 51 Antitrust L.J. 287, 288 (1982). See also Thomas O. Barnett, Assistant Attorney General, U.S. Dep’t of Justice Antitrust Div., “Merger Review: A Quest for Efficiency,” at 6 (Jan. 25, 2007), <https://www.justice.gov/atr/file/519266/download>.

I agree with Bill Baxter.

Delay is a form of uncertainty and risk, and we should seek to remove it from the merger-review process whenever possible.

Changes made to the HSR Act nearly twenty years ago reflect the same goal. In my time on the staff of the Senate Judiciary Committee, I worked on legislation that raised the HSR Act filing thresholds to reflect inflation since 1976, and, perhaps more importantly, pegged them to inflation going forward. This dramatically reduced the number of reportable transactions,⁶ allowing the agencies to focus their resources on identifying transactions that are more likely to raise competitive concerns.

Let me pause here to make an important broader point.

Too often, effective leadership in antitrust enforcement is equated with the number of enforcement actions brought. The more enforcement actions brought, the thinking goes, the better the enforcement regime. In 1940, Justice Robert H. Jackson, then the Attorney General, rejected this thinking. As he said, “Any prosecutor who risks his day-to-day professional name for fair dealing to build up statistics of success has a perverted sense of practical values, as well as defects of character.”⁷ I stand with Attorney General Jackson.

Our job is not to bring the most enforcement actions. Our job is to get the right result. More than that, our job is to get the right result in an efficient manner, which often means reaching consent agreements with parties to remedy fully the sources of anticompetitive harm. Only when that is not possible, should we litigate.

⁷ Robert H. Jackson, Attorney General, U.S. Dep’t of Justice, “The Federal Prosecutor” at 3 (Apr. 1, 1940), <https://www.justice.gov/sites/default/files/ag/legacy/2011/09/16/04-01-1940.pdf>.

That brings me to the second reason that unduly long merger reviews are a problem: they can waste public and private resources.

Certainly everyone in the business community who has received a second request, and everyone in the private bar who has worked on one, understands how burdensome compliance can be. We always want to minimize that burden consistent with upholding the antitrust laws.

Some perspective is important. Last year, the Division opened an investigation into only 2.3% of proposed transactions, and issued second requests in less than 1% of proposed transactions.⁸ That 1%, however, is expensive. It is also resource intensive.

The government also spends enormous amounts of time and money reviewing mergers that go to a second request. Now, let me be clear, this is time and money well spent when it is necessary to protect competition. Some transactions present knotty problems and it takes a while to untangle them. Once we are in a position to understand the competitive significance of the transaction, however, every additional minute and dollar spent reviewing the merger is deadweight loss. We have limited resources. As a related side note, over the past ten years the Antitrust Division's budget has stayed roughly constant in nominal terms, which means it has declined in real terms, as salaries and other expenses have risen. A significant part of my job, then, is ensuring that we use those limited resources wisely.

III. Improving the Process

So, how can we improve the process?

In a moment, I will announce a series of reforms we are taking to modernize merger review process, but let me lay down an important benchmark to help orient our thinking on this:

⁸ U.S. Department of Justice, Antitrust Division Workload Statistics FY 2008 – 2017, <https://www.justice.gov/atr/file/788426/download>.

Provided that the parties expeditiously cooperate and comply throughout the entire process, we will aim to resolve most investigations within six months of filing.

We are not unilaterally disarming, to be sure.

We will never compromise our ability to enforce the law effectively.

With the merging parties' cooperation, we can expedite our review without compromising quality, and provide expeditious certainty to the business community, and the markets.

Of course, every case is different. Not every investigation can be resolved in six months. Indeed, in some cases, the parties may prefer a longer investigation rather than a quick decision by the Division. Or the parties may wish to extend the timing for various reasons. If the goal of the business community is a shorter review, however, we share that goal and are committed to working towards it.

With that said, let me discuss what we are doing going forward, and will continue to do, to modernize the merger review process. Every merger investigation has distinct stages, and I will discuss improvements that we are making at each stage in the merger review process.

1) Meet with the Parties Early. Often the first stage in an investigation is for the parties to meet with staff. One improvement that we are making is that the Antitrust Division Front Office will be open to an initial, introductory meeting. We expect that these meetings will be most productive if the parties include key executives from relevant businesses. We want to understand their deal rationale and any other facts they believe will be important to our analysis.

2) Model Voluntary Request Letter. Another improvement is that we soon will publish a model voluntary request letter on the Antitrust Division's website. As many of you know, the Division often asks for the voluntary production of key information during the initial waiting period. This information is crucial to resolving mergers during the initial waiting period for the simple reason that there are enormous information asymmetries between the parties and the enforcer, especially early in a merger investigation. Parties should be prepared to provide key information within the first few days of their HSR filing, if not before filing, to allow the staff time to confirm critical facts through the parties' document productions and our own independent investigation. One of my deputies, Barry Nigro, gave a speech on this topic last February,⁹ and I would encourage you to read it.

Publishing the model voluntary request letter is intended to give the parties a head start in identifying the kind of information they should look for, so that they can be proactive and submit it as early as possible in the process. A tailored version of this letter is sent to the parties in almost every investigation we open. It identifies information we believe will allow us to assess quickly whether there is any potential anticompetitive harm that would require a longer, more in-depth investigation. The sooner we get this information, the sooner we can close investigations that do not raise competitive issues. When a more in-depth investigation is required, we can use that information to narrow the scope of the investigation as much as possible.

3) Pull-and-Refile Accountability. We also have implemented a system to track what happens when parties pull-and-refile their HSRs. The Division cannot, of course, resolve all concerns within the initial 30-day waiting period. The parties, rather than face a second request they believe unnecessary, may choose to pull-and-refile their HSRs. Our new system is designed to ensure that we have an investigative plan in place to maximize our use of the additional time.

⁹ Bernard (Barry) A. Nigro, Jr., Deputy Assistant Attorney General, U.S. Dep't of Justice Antitrust Div., "A Partnership to Promote and Protect Competition for the Benefit of Consumers" (Feb. 2, 2018), <https://www.justice.gov/opa/speech/file/1030711/download>.

We will determine whether we can close the investigation without issuing a second request, or, if one is necessary, narrow it as much as possible.

4) Model Timing Agreement. We are also publishing a model timing agreement on our website. As many of you know, timing agreements are a mechanism to encourage an orderly process by which the parties comply with the second request and the Division analyzes the transaction and decides whether to clear it, seek remedies, or seek to block it. Done right, timing agreements are mutually beneficial. The Division gets certainty on timing — which is in the parties' control — and the parties get certainty, among other things, on the number of custodians, the number of depositions, and the availability of meetings with the Front Office.

Too often, though, negotiations over timing agreements are taking on a life of their own. Both the parties and the Division are spending too much time on process, slowing our ability to get to the heart of the matter. To facilitate reaching an agreement, we will be publishing a model timing agreement on our website.¹⁰

5) Reforming Timing Agreements. We are also cognizant that timing agreements are a deviation from the process that Congress outlined in the HSR Act, which sets a deadline of 30 days for the Division to decide once the parties certify compliance with the second request. Thus, we also intend in the coming months to make changes to the model timing agreement in order to narrow potential areas of disagreement, facilitate more efficient reviews, and bring the process closer in line with the HSR Act. While we are still fine tuning the specifics, here are a few examples.

¹⁰ The only model timing agreement currently available online — and often cited to us by parties — is only applicable if the parties participate the Merger Review Process Initiative. See Dep't of Justice, Merger Review Process Initiative (rev. Dec. 14, 2006), <https://www.justice.gov/atr/merger-review-process-initiative-policy>.

- A) Fewer Custodians: We will seek documents from fewer custodians than we generally have in the past. While every investigation is different, as a general matter we will assume that 20 custodians per party will be sufficient unless the Deputy AAG in charge of the investigation explicitly authorizes more.
- B) Fewer Depositions: We will also take fewer depositions than in the past. Again, while every investigation is different, we generally will not seek more than 12 depositions unless the deputy in charge of the investigation authorizes a greater number.
- Together with reducing the number of custodians, these changes will tangibly reduce the burden on the parties of complying with a second request.
- C) Shorter Time from Compliance to a Decision: We also will strive to make a decision as quickly as possible from the time the parties' certify compliance. We will make a decision in no longer than 60 days — sooner, if possible —with the proviso that a Deputy AAG can authorize an extension if necessary.

In exchange for these benefits, we also are going to modify what we expect from the parties:

- D) Faster and Earlier Productions of Documents: We will expect to receive documents and other information earlier in the compliance period. If the parties employ traditional document reviewers, this will mean a more robust rolling production, with the parties producing several tranches of documents roughly evenly spaced over the compliance period. For parties employing technology assisted review, it will mean completing the bulk of the production a certain number of days in advance of certifying full compliance.

- E) Earlier Production of Data: Data is increasingly important in many investigations. Data is often the key to getting merger decisions right. Frequently, there is no reason that data cannot be produced substantially earlier than production of the main bulk of documents. We will expect to receive early cooperation on identifying relevant data for our economists to analyze. We will further expect production of useable data substantially before the second request compliance date.
- F) No More Privilege Log Gamesmanship: We also want to eliminate gamesmanship on privilege issues. The Division respects the attorney-client privilege and the work product doctrine, but too often we see parties game the process, withholding large numbers of documents as privileged, only to de-privilege and dump many of these documents on us much later in the process, often on the eve of a particular deposition. While some of the de-privileged documents might be close calls, most never should have been withheld in the first place.
- G) Longer Post-Complaint Discovery Period: Finally, we will require adequate time to conduct post-complaint discovery in the event that it results in contested litigation. Because most merger investigations do not result in contested litigation, and parties therefore can reduce the burdens of the second request review by agreeing to defer some discovery until after a complaint is filed.¹¹

6) CID Enforcement. In addition to those improvements to the timing agreement, which you will see on our website when the model timing agreement is posted, we are going to take steps to ensure that third parties comply with our civil investigative demands in a timely manner. A second request is the primary tool by which we get information from the merging parties. While the merging parties are generally the most important source of information about the competitive significance of a transaction, third parties often possess critical documents and data.

As you know, the Antitrust Civil Process Act empowers the Assistant Attorney General of the Antitrust Division to issue CIDs for relevant materials.¹² In significant merger investigations, this can be an essential tool to collect third-party documents, data, and testimony. As you can imagine — in fact, as many of you know firsthand — third parties rarely greet CIDs with enthusiasm. Compliance is often slow and incomplete. This hampers the Division’s ability to analyze the transaction at issue expeditiously. Going forward, we are going to hold CID-recipients to the deadlines and specifications in the CIDs we issue. When necessary, we will not hesitate to bring CID enforcement actions in federal court to ensure timely and complete compliance.

7) Demonstrating Leadership in Parallel Investigations. We are also seeking ways to improve coordination with foreign enforcers in parallel investigations. To facilitate the process, when facing parallel investigations, parties should consider aligning time periods with other jurisdictions if possible, and where appropriate ask us to help with that. If there is cooperation on the parties’ side, we will gladly help reduce the burdensome red tape wherever possible.

8) Withdrawing the 2011 Remedies Guide. We are also taking a close look at our remedies policy. Negotiating remedies to anticompetitive mergers often adds significant time to the merger review, and our commitment to shortening the duration of merger reviews extends to the remedies phase. While our review is underway, I want to be transparent with the bar about what the Division's practices will be. To that end, today, I announce the withdrawal of the 2011 Policy Guide to Merger Remedies. The 2004 Policy Guide to Merger Remedies will be in effect until we release an updated policy.

9) Release of Merger Review Statistics. I have described a long list of changes we will be making.

How will you know if they have had an impact?

We will increase transparency.

Going forward, we are going to release statistics that show, on average, how long the Division is taking to review mergers. Specifically, we will release the average duration of second request investigations and the average length of time from the opening of a preliminary investigation to the early termination or closing of the investigation, including investigations that did not result in the issuance of second requests. The Division previously released these statistics in connection with the 2006 amendments to the Merger Review Process Initiative.¹³ We believe that releasing them periodically going forward will increase our own accountability and give the private bar and the business community greater insight into our process.

IV. Conclusion

To conclude, we are committed to accelerating the pace of merger review consistent with enforcing the law because we believe that doing so is good for American consumers and taxpayers. We have taken action already, and we plan to do more in the coming months. It does take two, however. To that end, I welcome the private bar and any other interested parties to reach out to discuss any other ideas we should consider as we continue to make our processes more efficient.

FROM THE CHAIR

To All Committee Members:

Welcome to the Summer 2014 edition of The Threshold! While the weather has been unseasonably cool in many parts of the country, our authors have been in hot pursuit of interesting and important merger antitrust developments.

We lead off with two “inside baseball” articles on recent merger challenges by the FTC and DOJ. Lisl Dunlop and Heather Kafele, who represented Ardagh in the recent FTC v Ardagh case, discuss a number of interesting issues that arose during twelve months of hard fought investigation, litigation, and settlement negotiations. They focus on relevant market, efficiencies, the FTC’s controversial double-barreled administrative and federal court litigation process, and interplay between the ongoing litigation and concurrent settlement negotiations. In the second inside baseball article, this one related to the DOJ,'s U.S. v. Bazaarvoice case, Chul Pak and Robert Corp, who represented Bazaarvoice, discuss practical lessons learned regarding the importance (or not) of customer testimony, the proof necessary to establish a third party as a rapid potential entrant, and the evidentiary rules in a bench trial.

Next, Peter Broberg and Andrew Dick present findings from the Antitrust Section's second request compliance survey. The survey was funded by the Section and implemented by the Mergers & Acquisitions Committee. While the number of survey responses was not as high as we had hoped, the responses we did receive demonstrate that despite some FTC and DOJ efforts to reduce burdens, second request compliance costs remain very high, averaging $4.3 million among the 17 second requests for which we received reports. Ronan Harty and Jesse Solomon review the fiscal 2013 Hart-Scott-Rodino annual report, and discuss the interesting statistics which show, inter alia, that in the post-clearance phase of review DOJ issued second requests at almost double the rate of the FTC.

We conclude with two articles exploring international issues. Ninette Doodoo discusses China's new streamlined notification procedures applicable to so-called "simple" mergers, and concludes that while the new procedures may reduce the notoriously lengthy MOFCOM review process for some mergers, it is too early to tell how effective the new procedures will be in practice. In our International Roundup piece, Julie Soloway, Leah Noble, Chris Dickinson, and Brittany Shames discuss the increasingly important intersection between foreign investment review and merger antitrust review in the EC, China, Canada, and the United States—including an analysis of last month's groundbreaking DC Circuit decision in the Ralls Corp. case.

The committee continues to be hard at work, not only on this issue of The Threshold, but also on a new edition of the Premerger Notification Practice Manual, a new edition of the Mergers and Acquisitions book, and several changes to our committee website, including updates of our invaluable product market catalogue, the addition of a new resource base of antitrust-related merger agreement clauses, and the conversion of our website to the ABA Connect platform.

The next Threshold will be out in November. As always, we would be delighted to publish letters to the editor commenting on any past articles, and we would be doubly delighted to hear from you about any articles you would like to write yourself.

Enjoy the newsletter!

FINDINGS FROM THE SECOND REQUEST COMPLIANCE BURDEN SURVEY

Peter Boberg and Andrew Dick¹

Negotiating the scope of a Second Request is a familiar exercise because the costs and burdens of compliance with overbroad requests can be substantial. Practitioners routinely ask the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) or the Department of Justice (DOJ) for dispensations to spare their clients undue burden, measured in both time and expenditures. The agencies have undertaken general steps to reduce this burden, including the issuance of best practices guides and merger review process initiatives,² but evaluating the practical efficacy of those steps has proven difficult. With notable exceptions, recent reports of compliance costs that have made it into public antitrust discourse tend to be sparse and anecdotal.³ The last systematic effort to collect information on Second Request compliance burdens was undertaken by the ABA Section of Antitrust Law and submitted to the Antitrust Modernization Commission in February 2007.⁴ The Section sent a survey to law firms to collect quantitative and qualitative information on the compliance burden in Second Requests issued over a several-

² In February 2006, the FTC announced reforms to “streamline the merger review process by formalizing well-defined best practices. [The reforms were] designed to facilitate rapid identification of the relevant issues, preparation of more focused second requests, and use of consistent investigation timetables.” See <http://www.ftc.gov/sites/default/files/attachments/merger-review/mergerreviewprocess.pdf>. In December 2006, the DOJ followed with its own initiative to “streamline the merger investigation process to improve the efficiency of the Division’s investigations while reducing the cost, time and burdens faced by parties to transactions that are reviewed by the Division.” See <http://www.justice.gov/atr/public/220237.htm>.

³ One notable exception to the largely anecdotal reports is the article by Joe Sims, Robert C. Jones and Hugh M. Hollman, Merger Process Reform: A Sisyphean Journey? 23 ANTITRUST 60, 60-68, (Spring 2009), available at <http://www.jonesday.com/files/Publication/2b1280d6-4240-404c-9b46-260a50aee4b4/Presentation/PublicationAttachment/14fb43c1-7cca-4095-874a-9551d8459a1b/Spring09-SimsC.pdf>.

⁴ Letter from Joseph Angland to the Antitrust Modernization Commission re: Data Regarding the Burden Involved in Responding to HSR Second Request Investigations (Feb. 22, 2007) available at http://govinfo.library.unt.edu/amc/public_studies_fr28902/merger_pdf/070222_aba_mergers.pdf.

year period. The merger reviews covered by that survey occurred roughly 10 years ago, making it a timely anniversary to update our knowledge about the actual costs associated with Second Request compliance.

In late 2013, the Mergers & Acquisitions Committee authorized an updated survey of practitioners to collect information on Second Request compliance burdens. The survey was issued to approximately 400 practitioners. Counselors were asked to assemble and provide information about their experience in complying with Second Requests for mergers that were reviewed between 2011 and 2013. Charles River Associates collected the survey responses and prepared summary findings.⁵ The summary findings mask all identifying information and individual respondent data to preserve confidentiality of the Second Request compliance process.

A total of 17 responses to the Second Request questionnaire were collected, with greater representation coming from mergers reviewed by the DOJ (11) than by the FTC (6).⁶ Notwithstanding the different survey response rates, the quantitative and qualitative information reported by respondents was relatively similar between the two antitrust agencies. Where possible, we compare findings from the current survey with those found by the Section roughly a decade ago. Overall, this comparison suggests that improvements in compliance costs have been isolated or uneven, despite the adoption of extensive merger review process initiatives by both agencies. As some commentators have noted, this stasis may reflect two countervailing phenomena: pressure exerted by practitioners (and indirectly by the business community) on the antitrust agencies to take steps to limit the scope of Second Requests versus the explosive growth in electronic document and data production and storage, meaning that each custodian covered by a Second Request now yields vastly more material that must be reviewed and analyzed by the merging parties and the assigned agency.

⁵ Sam Giller and Annie Pemberton at CRA provided invaluable assistance in compiling and summarizing the survey responses.

⁶ While the survey questionnaire was sent to counsel for both the “A” and “B” sides of transactions, the survey data suggest that the 17 responses received covered 17 unique Second Requests. Thus, we refer interchangeably to the sample as 17 responses or 17 Second Requests.

Transaction size and review process. The 17 Second Request responses included transactions ranging in size from $85 million to $7.4 billion, with a median value of $1.0 billion. In roughly one-quarter of the transactions (4 out of 17), the merging parties provided the agency with informal notice of the transaction before making the HSR filing, and on average four weeks of advance notice were given. About one-third of the Second Requests (6 out of 17) were preceded by pulling and refiling the HSR, confirming that this strategy is not a fail-safe means to avoid an extended investigation. Parties certified substantial compliance in the majority of the Second Requests (11 out of 17). In the remaining instances, early termination was granted prior to substantial compliance (4 out of 17) or the parties did not certify compliance (2 out of 17). Eight of the 17 Second Requests led to the acquisition ultimately being cleared, while in the remaining 9 cases a settlement was negotiated with the agency.

The median investigation length was 5.9 months from the issuance of the Second Request until the investigation was closed or an action was taken by the reviewing agency. Investigations ranged from as short as 1.25 months to as long as 11 months. These findings are generally comparable to those from the 2007 survey, which reported a median investigation length of 7 months and a range of 3 to 12 months.

Relevant markets. The Second Requests ranged in scope from as few as one market to as many as 18 separate relevant product markets (median = 3) and from one to eight relevant geographic markets (median = 1). The size of the broadest geographic markets identified by the agencies ranged from as small as a state (n = 1), to the entire U.S. (n = 4), to North America (n = 2) to worldwide (n = 10).

Data and document production. Merging parties produced very large volumes of data and documents in all cases. The median data production totaled 28.8 GB. Most often, merging parties provided data to the agencies in the form of summary reports generated in response to specific agency requests (10 instances) and in only three cases did the parties provide entire databases to the agencies. In an average investigation, slightly more than 300,000 documents—comprising more than 1,600,000 pages—were produced to the reviewing agency. These materials were collected from an average of 26 custodians, and never fewer than eight custodians. This represents a significant decline from a decade ago, as the earlier survey reported a median of 94 custodians whose files were searched. However, there continue to be notable outliers: in the current survey one respondent reported that 171 custodians were searched as compared to a maximum of 126 custodians in the 2007 survey. The current survey found that the median number of physical locations searched for documents and data was two, although this ranged as high as 24 locations in one instance. Thus, while the data suggest there has been some progress towards narrowing the scope of custodian searches, such progress has been uneven.

E-mails and electronic documents. Not surprisingly, e-mail and other electronic documents were a major source of information collected by the reviewing agencies. On average, responding parties reviewed 47 GB of emails and other electronic documents using review tools. These materials were estimated to represent in excess of 4.8 million pages (including attachments). This compares to an average of about 1.1 million page-equivalents of e-mail and other electronic documents per Second Request investigation a decade ago.

Interrogatory responses covered an average of 64.5 pages per Second Request, with some responses ranging upwards of 300 pages in length. These interrogatory responses were accompanied by an average of 1 GB in electronic production. Interestingly, the current survey suggests that not only has the average length of interrogatory responses declined considerably (down from a median of 275 pages) but so has the accompanying electronic production (down from a median of 13 GB).

Question	Number of Responses	Responses
		Median	Range

Discovery tools. All survey respondents stated that they used an e-Discovery service to conduct their electronic document production. Keyword searches were commonly used during electronic document review (14 out of 17 Second Requests), but in only a minority of instances were predictive coding (4 instances) or e-mail threading (3 instances) used. In every Second Request, metadata were produced as well as native files. In all instances, parties were required to search backup and storage archives.

Compliance costs. The median estimated cost of compliance was $4.3 million, with a range of $2 million to $9 million.⁷ As a percentage of the value of the transaction, compliance costs were about 0.45%, with a range of 0.05% to 5.5%. On a per month basis, the median compliance cost was $996,000 per month, and ranged from $286,000 to $1.8 million per month. Expressed on a per custodian basis, the average compliance cost was about $151,000, and ranged from $27,000 to $500,000 per custodian.

⁷ Survey respondents were asked to provide their own total cost estimate as well as estimates of each major cost component. The median total compliance cost of $4.3 million represents the sum of each cost component, and is slightly higher than the overall median estimate of $4.0 million.

Major line items of cost included attorney and paralegal fees (median of $2.49 million), electronic review ($830,000), data processing ($358,000), economist fees and disbursements ($300,000), and attorney and paralegal disbursements ($200,000). Attorney fees ranged from a low of $955,000 to a high of $8.0 million.

In the 2007 survey, the Section found that the median total compliance cost was $3.30 million. Of this total, attorney and paralegal fees and disbursements made up the largest share ($2.42 million). Thus, over the last decade, it appears that legal costs have stayed relatively constant while other cost items have contributed to roughly a $1 million increase in the total compliance cost per Second Request.

		Median	Range

Costs of copying or other reproduction of documents and information	11	$22,259	$1,100–$526,000

Staffing and in-house resources. On average, merging parties assigned eight regular attorneys and 60 temporary attorneys to a merger review. In some cases, this ranged as high as 55 regular attorneys plus 195 temporary attorneys for document review. Paralegals were used more sparingly, with a median of two and range of one to 15 regular paralegals, and a median of zero and range of zero to 55 temporary paralegals. Antitrust counsel supplemented their own (or contracted) resources with assistance from in-house counsel, paralegals, and management. The median investigation consumed 550 hours of assistance from in-house counsel (at an estimated cost of $90,000) plus 20 in-house paralegal hours. The average burden on in-house management and other (non-legal) personnel was 500 hours per investigation.

According to the 2007 survey, the median number of regular staff attorneys per investigation was nine (with a range of three to 78) and the median number of temporary attorneys was 45 (with a range of three to 385). In-house counsel devoted a median of 300 hours per investigation and in-house management and other (non-legal) personnel spent an average of 1,550 hours working on Second Requests.

Summary. Over the last decade, together the FTC and DOJ issued 46 Second Requests in a typical year.⁸ If the average Second Request compliance cost is roughly $4.3 million per party per investigation, then total compliance costs in a typical year are on the order of $400 million. This burden does not include costs borne by the agency (staffing and computing resources), internal costs incurred by merging parties (time and attention paid by in-house counsel and management), or compliance costs associated with extraordinary outlier transactions. Nor do these costs include the delayed realization of merger efficiencies and synergies. Even a relatively modest percentage reduction in these compliance costs, therefore, holds the potential to save “real money” and produce “real benefits” to both merging parties and consumers.

Case Nos. 23-cv-1890, 23-cv-1305

Judge Lance M. Africk
Section 1

Magistrate Judge Michael B. North
Division 5

DECLARATION OF JODY B. MARTIN

I, JODY B. MARTIN, declare the following:

1. I am a United States citizen over the age of eighteen. I am competent to make this Declaration, and I am not a party to this litigation in my individual capacity. I make and submit this Declaration pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746.

2. If called upon as a witness, I could testify to the matters to which this Declaration refers and would be competent to do so.

3. I am Chief Legal Officer at LCMC Health (“LCMC”), where I have been employed since 2017. In that role, I serve as the system’s primary legal advisor and manage the many legal issues that arise for the system, including compliance and risk management functions.

4. On October 10, 2022, LCMC, and HCA Healthcare, Inc. (“HCA”), Tulane University (“Tulane”), and University Healthcare System, L.C. (“UHS”) applied to the Louisiana

Attorney General (“LADOJ”) for a certificate of public advantage (“COPA”) under Louisiana’s COPA statute, seeking authorization for LCMC to acquire Tulane University Medical Center, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital (the “Acquisition”).

5. On December 28, 2022, the Louisiana Attorney General granted a COPA for the Acquisition after determining that the Acquisition “is likely to result in lower health care costs or is likely to result in improved access to health care or higher quality health care without any undue increase in health care costs.” La. Stat. § 40:2254.4. By issuing the COPA, the Attorney General authorized the Acquisition to close immediately. The transaction closed on January 1, 2023, and LCMC has been integrating the acquired facilities since that time.

6. As part of the COPA process, LCMC made commitments to the State of Louisiana to improve the quality of and access to health care in the greater New Orleans region. Among other things, LCMC promised to relocate to East Jefferson General Hospital certain advanced clinical services and academic medical specialty care currently provided at Tulane Medical Center. This relocation is essential to preserve existing services, make more efficient use of these resources, enhance quality by sharing clinical expertise and practices, and support the establishment of an academic medical center at East Jefferson General Hospital.

7. My understanding is that the relief sought by The Federal Trade Commission (the “Commission”) in this action includes halting further integration of the transaction until thirty days after the parties have “substantially complied” with the Commission’s merger review. I understand that as a practical matter this could mean halting integration for a period of several months to over a year.

8. Halting the further integration of East Jefferson General Hospital and Tulane Medical Center would harm patient care and prevent LCMC from providing the full benefits of the Acquisition, including the commitments to improve quality and access to care that LCMC made to the State of Louisiana as part of the COPA process.

9. For example, Tulane Medical Center faces significant staffing challenges that have reduced access to life-saving care and threaten to further reduce critical staffed bed space needed to serve patients. As one example, I understand Tulane Medical Center's cardiac catheterization lab previously operated with multiple cath lab teams but has recently been forced to consolidate its staff into a single team due to staff attrition. Accordingly, Tulane Medical Center, which is the only Comprehensive Stroke Center in Orleans Parish, can treat only one stroke patient at a time. LCMC expects that by transitioning Tulane's clinical care providers and staff to LCMC employment on October 1, 2023, it will be able to stabilize such staffing issues. However, if LCMC is unable to transition those staff and providers as part of its integration plan, it may not be able to address the current staffing shortages and stop attrition.

10. As part of the integration plan, LCMC also plans to move a linear accelerator, which is used to provide radiation therapy to treat cancer patients, from Tulane Medical Center to East Jefferson General Hospital as soon as possible. Moving the machine will greatly increase access to cancer treatments. LCMC estimates that East Jefferson General Hospital will be able to treat approximately four to five times more patients per day than Tulane Medical Center is able to treat using the same equipment today. Relocating the machine, which will take at least 8 weeks and requires extensive planning, will be significantly delayed and may not be possible if LCMC is unable to continue integration. Delaying the move further will significantly restrict the availability of radiation treatment for cancer patients.

11. LCMC also plans to relocate clinical services from Tulane Medical Center to East Jefferson General Hospital and other facilities, beginning on October 1, 2023. The vacated space will be repurposed, in part, for Tulane University's planned nursing program. The space for the new nursing program will be evaluated by the Louisiana State Board of Nursing in November prior to the Board's consideration of the program in December. Halting the planned relocation of these clinical services will threaten the success of the launch of Tulane's nursing program, which is desperately needed due to the rampant nursing shortage across the state.

12. As part of the COPA approval process, LCMC also committed to establish an academic medical center at East Jefferson General Hospital, including making $220 million in capital investments to modernize its facilities (such as investing in robotic surgical systems), offer new medical services (such as kidney, pancreas, liver, bone marrow, and stem cell transplants), and add new specialty care units. An order requiring that the parties cease integration efforts would further impede LCMC's ability to fulfill this promise to the LADOJ and the people of Louisiana.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

DECLARATION OF ANGELIQUE FREEL

I, Angelique Freel, declare as follows:

1. I am a United States citizen over the age of eighteen. I make and submit this Declaration pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746.

2. If called upon as a witness, I could testify to the matters to which this Declaration refers and would be competent to do so.

3. I am the Director of the Civil Division for the Louisiana Department of Justice, Office of the Attorney General, and I have served in that capacity since May 2, 2017. Prior to serving as Director, I worked in various capacities in the Civil Division since July 16, 2007, including Assistant Attorney General, Section Chief of the Education Section, Section Chief of the Governmental Litigation Section, and Deputy Director of the Civil Division.

4. I submit this declaration upon personal knowledge or information and belief, including inquiry of relevant attorneys and staff of the Louisiana Department of Justice (“LADOJ”).

5. Pursuant to Louisiana Administrative Code (“LAC”), Title 48, Part XXV, Section 501, et seq. the application for the underlying Certificate of Public Advantage (“COPA”), was submitted to me in my capacity as Director of the Civil Division. I personally received and reviewed the application; requested supplementation of the COPA application; presided over the public hearing; conferred with consultants, attorneys, staff of the LADOJ, and the Attorney General relative to consideration of the COPA application.

Louisiana’s COPA Statute

6. In 1997, the Louisiana State Legislature passed, and Governor Mike Foster signed into law, La. R.S. 40:2254 (the “COPA Statute”). This COPA statute provided the framework for the LADOJ’s review and consideration of the COPA.

7. The COPA Statute is the result of “the legislature[’s] find[ing] that the goals of controlling health care costs and improving the quality of and access to health care will be significantly enhanced in some cases by cooperative agreements and by mergers and consolidations among health care facilities.” La. R.S. 40:2254.1. The stated purpose is to provide the state, through the LADOJ, with direct supervision and control over the implementation of cooperative agreements, mergers, joint ventures and consolidations among health care facilities for which certificates of public advantage are granted. Id.

8. The express stated “intent of the legislature [is] that supervision and control over the implementation of these agreements, mergers, joint ventures, and consolidations substitute state regulation of facilities for competition between facilities and that this regulation have the effect of granting the parties to the agreements, mergers, joint ventures, or consolidations state action immunity for actions that might otherwise be considered to be in violation of state antitrust laws, federal antitrust laws, or both.” La. R.S. 40:2254.1.

9. The COPA Statute placed responsibility for the supervision and control of proposed agreements with the LADOJ. Specifically, it established a process for merger parties to apply for, and the LADOJ to consider and approve or reject, a COPA. La. R.S. 40:2254.1-2254.12.

10. After review, the LADOJ may grant a COPA if it “finds that the agreement is likely to result in lower health care costs or is likely to result in improved access to health care or higher quality health care without any undue increase in health care costs.” La. R.S. 40:2254.4. In order to make that determination, the process for approving a COPA requires submissions by applicants, consultation with experts, notice to the public, input from a range of stakeholders, a public hearing, and consideration by State officials.

11. Pursuant to the COPA Statute, and in accordance with the Louisiana Administrative Code, the LADOJ promulgated rules and regulations that specify the required form of COPA applications, the substantive information to be included, and the procedures to be followed. LAC 48:XXV.501-519. Among other things, applicants are required to (i) provide descriptions of the products and services offered by the parties to the agreement, (ii) provide descriptions of the market and regulatory conditions and competitive dynamics, (iii) identify business plans and other documents discussions each party's projected performance, business strategies, and competitive analyses, (iv) describe performance goals for achieving (and the quantitative standards for measuring) reductions in health care costs and improvements in quality and access, (v) provide descriptions of anticipated efficiencies and cost savings from the proposed transaction and how they will be passed on to consumers, (vi) provide descriptions of meetings held by the parties with financial advisors, partners, outside experts and consultants, government officials, and other parties regarding the transaction, (vii) submit any fairness opinions analyzing the transaction along with any supplemental expert analysis, (viii) submit minutes of the parties' board meetings addressing the transaction and the documents, presentations, or reports distributed at such meetings, (ix) provide six years of detailed financial records and five years of valuation information for each party, (x) provide contact information for each party's officers, directors, managers, executives, experts, and others that had substantial input into any phase of decision-making or planning of the transaction, and (xi) submit any market studies or analysis conducted by each party. LAC 48:XXV.507.

12. If a COPA is issued, the COPA Statute requires the LADOJ to conduct "active supervision" of the transaction. La. R.S. 40:2254.9(3). Specifically, the COPA Statute requires recipients of a COPA to submit, and the LADOJ to review, periodic reports demonstrating compliance with any terms and conditions imposed by the LADOJ in connection with the COPA issuance. La. R.S. 40:2254.11. The LADOJ's regulations further require the recipients of a COPA to submit annual reports evaluating the continued benefits of the agreement, including information regarding their progress towards meeting specific benchmark goals of health care cost, quality, and access. LAC 48:XXV.517.

13. The Attorney General may bring an enforcement action to enforce any terms or conditions imposed by the LADOJ relative to the COPA. La. R.S. 40:2254.10.

14. The LADOJ shall revoke a COPA if it determines that the COPA is not resulting in lower health care costs or greater access to or quality of health care that would occur in the absence of the agreement. La. R.S. 40:2254.6.

COPA Application Submitted by LCMC and HCA

15. On October 10, 2022, LADOJ received an application for a COPA regarding the proposed transaction between LCMC Health, HCA, Tulane University ("Tulane"), and University Healthcare System, L.C. ("UHS").

16. The parties' initial COPA application spanned 175 pages, including, among other things, information about the parties and their operations, the services they offer, their contractual relationships, the competitive dynamics and market conditions for health care services in the New Orleans area, the projected cost-savings that would result from the transaction (including from the elimination of certain duplicative expenses and optimization of capital expenditures), and specific investments and other patient-friendly initiatives that LCMC would be able to undertake as a result of the Acquisition.

17. In addition, the COPA application included exhibits reflecting the parties' financials, strategic plans, board deliberations, and consultant analysis of the transaction, among other subjects.

18. After a review of the initial application, the LADOJ requested additional information and supplemental information before deeming the application complete.

19. As part of that iterative review process, the parties made supplemental submissions to LADOJ on November 2nd, 4th, 10th, 15th, and 18th, after which time the LADOJ deemed the COPA application complete.

20. The completeness determination commenced a 30-day period within which the applicable regulations required the LADOJ to hold a public hearing for the public to provide input regarding the COPA application. See LAC 48:XXV.511.B.2. The LADOJ scheduled the public hearing for December 8, 2022.

21. Consistent with the applicable regulations, which require the LADOJ to publish notice of the public hearing in the official journal of the parishes where the hospitals are located at least 10 days prior to the scheduled hearing, the LADOJ caused notice of the hearing and instructions to provide public comments to be published in the St. Tammany Farmer – the official journal for St. Tammany Parish, where Lakeview Regional Medical Center is located – and the Times Picayune/The New Orleans Advocate – the official journal of Jefferson and Orleans Parishes, where Tulane University Medical Center and Tulane Lakeside Hospital are located. The notice in the St. Tammany Farmer ran on November 24, and November 30, 2022, and the notice in the Times Picayune/The New Orleans Advocate ran on November 21, 22, and 23, 2022.

22. On December 5, 2022, the LADOJ posted notice of the hearing on the Attorney General's website at <https://agjefflandry.com/Article/13095>, and a physical notice was posted at the Claiborne Building, located at 1201 N. 3rd St., Baton Rouge, Louisiana, where the hearing was scheduled to take place.

23. Written comments were submitted to the LADOJ in advance of the public hearing. All written comments were made part of the public hearing record. See Exhibit A (attachments to transcript).

24. The public hearing on the COPA application was held on December 8, 2022, at the Claiborne Building in Baton Rouge. All interested persons were allowed to present testimony, facts, or evidence related to the COPA application, and were permitted to ask questions. The hearing began at 10:00 a.m., and it adjourned at 1:40 p.m.

25. Attorneys and staff from LADOJ, along with consultants, considered and discussed the comments that were presented at the hearing.

26. At the conclusion of the public hearing, I announced that I would extend the public comment period and continue to accept written comments through December 13, 2022.

27. A transcript of the public hearing (with all attachments, including the written public comments received) is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

28. After consideration of the COPA application and the public comments received in connection with the hearing, and after extensive analysis by LADOJ attorneys and staff regarding the transaction, the facilities, and the likely effects on health care and competition in the state, which also included input from expert consultants who reviewed the COPA application, the LADOJ determined that the application materials satisfied the statutory requirements and that a COPA should be issued in connection with the Acquisition.

29. The Attorney General approved the COPA. The COPA approval is reflected in a letter from Louisiana Attorney General Jeff Landry to the parties dated December 28, 2022. See Exhibit B.

30. The Attorney General's approval remains subject to various terms and conditions as the statute authorized. The terms and conditions empower the LADOJ to "actively supervise" both the transaction itself and the new health system on an ongoing basis to promote the value-based health care objectives of the COPA Statute. See Exhibit C.

31. Notably, one of the conditions set out in the approval letter is a requirement for the newly-created health system to submit periodic reports (on quarterly, semi-annual, and annual bases) regarding the investments and other initiatives that the parties described in the COPA, and to collect and submit a wide range of data in order to benchmark the new health system's progress towards the health care cost, quality, and access objectives contemplated by the COPA.

32. With each report, the LADOJ is evaluating the progress towards the proposed improvements to quality and access to healthcare. The LADOJ recently received a quarterly report and evaluated progress towards the following:

- Creation of a new nursing program at Tulane Medical Center;
- Development of Tulane's Downtown Campus;
- Redevelopment of the Abandoned Charity Hospital Downtown;
- Creation of a Premier Academic Medical/Teaching Center at East Jefferson General Hospital;
- Capital investments at East Jefferson General Hospital, Tulane Medical Center, Lakeside Hospital, and Lakeview Hospital;
- Creation of Centers of Excellence--a planned comprehensive stroke program, cardiac care services, solid organ/bone marrow transplant services;
- Medical research;
- Expansion of electronic medical records systems;
- Material openings, closures, mergers of outpatient facilities;
- Material openings, closure or mergers of inpatient facilities; and
- Any required reporting events.

33. In addition to ongoing reporting and monitoring requirements, the COPA also requires that the new health system obtain prior written approval from the LADOJ for any proposed changes in the rates it charges payors for health care services.

34. The LADOJ reviewed LCMC Health's Rate Review Application submitted on April 21, 2023, and subsequent submissions made during May 2023 and June 2023. The LADOJ approved Blue Cross Blue Shield of Louisiana and United Health Care contracts on June 30, 2023. See Exhibit D.

35. The LADOJ is currently reviewing LCMC Health's Rate Review Application submitted on June 30, 2023, for Vantage Health Plan Inc., and Aetna Network Services, LLC.

36. The terms and conditions of the COPA require the new health system to adopt a corrective action plan if the LADOJ determines at any time that its activities are inconsistent with the COPA Statute's policy goals, and it expressly reserves to the LADOJ the right to revoke the COPA if it determines that the transaction is not achieving its objectives for health care cost, quality, or access.

37. The LADOJ may also bring an enforcement action to enforce the terms of the COPA or revoke the COPA.

38. The FTC did not contact the LADOJ prior to the approval of the COPA application, nor did the FTC provide a public comment to the LADOJ concerning the proposed transaction.

39. The relief requested by the FTC in this lawsuit, if granted, would interfere with the State's right to implement and actively supervise the COPA, as well as the access and quality of healthcare available in the State.

I declare under the penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

PROCEEDINGS

MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: My name is Angelique Freel. I'm the director of the civil division. And it is my division that receives the COPA application and assists the Attorney General with review and a determination as to the application.

First off, I want to thank everyone that is here today. You know, we occasionally have hospital transactions, but they're not this well attended. And so we appreciate everyone here today, coming here, hopefully, to provide a comment when it's appropriate. And so thank you for being here. We are -- we certainly do appreciate your input.

I'd like to start by just introducing who's up here today. And right here is Brett Robinson, he's also an Assistant Attorney General in the civil division.

We have Nicole Hebert, and she's an Assistant Attorney General in the federalism division.

And then to my right, we have consultants that are assisting us with the review. We have Ben Gaines and Lanzi Meyers with the Gachassin Law Firm. We have CPA Chris Rainey.

1 To my left, we have Nancy Cassagne, and we
2 have Eric Marshall and Eric Pfeifer from Leavitt.
3 And so this is the team that is assisting the AG's
4 office in review of the application.

5 At this time, I'd like to give you a little 6 bit of background of the COPA process. And, as 7 everyone knows, this is an application for a
8 Certificate of Public Advantage regarding a proposed
9 transaction between HEA, Healthcare, Inc., Tulane
10 University, Tulane Healthcare System, LLC, and 11 Louisiana Children's Medical Center d/b/a LCMC
12 Health.

13 So the purpose of a COPA is to better serve
14 the citizens of Louisiana by pursuing and attaining 15 the key aims of value-based healthcare, namely a
16 decreased cost of care, improved quality of care,
17 and our increased access to care.

18 And for COPA and other transactions, the 19 State of Louisiana aspires to work with healthcare
20 organizations to help the State and to lead the 21 nation to achieve these goals.

22 For approval to be granted, the State must 23 have reasonable assurance that the goals will be 24 met. So in terms of this specific application, the 25 application was received by our office on October

1 10, 2022.

2 As we started reviewing the application, we
3 felt like additional information was needed for it
4 to be complete. And so we did not deem it complete
5 until November 18, 2022.

6 Once that happened, that triggered some 7 delays as to when we had to make our decision and 8 when we needed to hold this public hearing. And so
9 under the law, we had to hold the hearing by 10 December 18, 2022. We are here today. We decided 11 we didn't want it to be that close to the holidays.
12 We wanted to make sure that people had an 13 opportunity to come here.

14 And so we're here today for the public
15 hearing. And in an appropriate time, you'll be able 16 to give comment. And then by February 16th, the 17 office has to administer a decision.

18 So I alluded to the fact that there will be 19 a public comment period. That is why we are here,
20 primarily. And it's important that you do give us
21 some input because the comments will help the 22 Department identify potential benefits and risks
23 associated with the COPA, and help form additional 24 questions that we might need to pose to the 25 applicants.

1 To my left, in the front, is an assistant
2 with the AG's office, Michelle Boutte. She has 3 cards. We're going to ask that if you would like to 4 provide public comment, that you please just fill
5 out a card. And when it's appropriate, we'll go
6 through those cards and call you up to the mics to 7 provide that comment.

8 The green card indicates that you're in 9 support of the transaction. You don't have to 10 speak, but you can elect that on the card. You can 11 just show your support for it, or you can indicate
12 that you're in support, but you'd like to speak.

13 The white card is for information. And the 14 red card is if you're against the transaction. And,
15 again, you don't have to speak. You can indicate 16 whether or not you want to speak. Just to get 17 through everyone, the public comment period will be 18 limited to three minutes.

19 We do have a court reporter here. She's to 20 the left. She'll be transcribing everything. It'll 21 be part of a record.

22 And we also, per our publication in the 23 official journals, we gave an address for public
24 comment. And we have received a good many public
25 comments in writing, in advance of this transaction.

1 And we will go through those after everyone in this
2 room has had an opportunity to testify. That way,
3 if you need to leave, we don't want you to be
4 delayed by us going through the paper comments.

5 If you want to submit a comment in writing,
6 my email is below. I ask that you do that very
7 soon. We'll -- we're going to close the record,
8 probably the early part of next week, I'd say by 9 Tuesday.

10 And at this time, we are going to go ahead
11 and turn this over to the applicant for a
12 presentation to provide some history and a general
13 description of the proposed transaction.

14 MR. PATRICK NORTON: All right. Good
15 morning. My name is Patrick Norton. I'm the senior 16 vice president, chief operating officer, and 17 treasurer of the Cotton Bowl-bound Tulane
18 University. And we are looking forward to 19 describing our partnership and the benefits that 20 will accrue to New Orleans, our region, Louisiana,
21 and beyond. Thank you.

22 MS. JOANN KUNKEL: And good morning. My 23 name is JoAnn Kunkel and I'm the chief financial 24 officer for LCMC Health. I live in New Orleans, and 25 I'm honored to be here today to talk about the

1 history of LCMC Health and the combined vision of
2 our partnership with Tulane University.

3 Today, LCMC Health is a six-hospital health
4 system, proud to call Louisiana home. Each year,
5 nearly one million primary and specialty care clinic
6 visits are delivered by over twenty-seven hundred
7 LCMC physicians and providers.

8 We're a large employer with almost eleven
9 thousand employees. We've been recognized as a top
10 place to work in healthcare. Recently, over 11 seventy-five percent of our employees participated
12 in an annual employee engagement survey. We saw
13 year-over-year gains in our employee overall rating
14 as a place to work, and in both employee and 15 provider overall ratings as a place for care.

16 Overall scores are higher than national
17 average. This is exemplified by our mission
18 statement: Health, care, and education beyond
19 extraordinary. And live daily through our values.
20 We bring heart and soul. We're in it together. We 21 give a little extra.

22 LCMC Health has a long history of serving
23 the community and its healthcare needs. In the 24 beginning, we were Louisiana's only standalone
25 children's hospital. The devastation of Hurricane

1 Katrina and the closing of Charity Hospital
2 displaced the indigent population. Caring for the 3 neediest patients created financial distress at many 4 of the local hospitals.

5 In 2009, Touro Infirmary was experiencing
6 financial stress. And as a long-time partner of 7 Louisiana Children's, the two came together to 8 preserve the community assets of Touro and to form
9 LCMC Health.

10 Similar to Touro, other local hospitals
11 found themselves facing financial hardship. And 12 throughout the next decade, LCMC Health continued to 13 respond to the call in the community by stepping up
14 when asked to partner with and preserve the 15 community health assets, including: New Orleans East
16 Hospital in 2012; in 2015, pursuing and entering 17 into the public private partnership with the 18 University Medical Center in downtown New Orleans;
19 and in Jefferson Parish, adding both West Jefferson
20 Medical Center and East Jefferson General Hospital
21 in 2015 and 2020.

22 We, LCMC Health, believe we are better
23 together.

24 MR. PATRICK NORTON: Tulane University has 25 a long and storied history. We're nearly two hundred

1 years old. We are the largest private employer in 2 Orleans Parish. We contribute over $3 Billion to 3 the Louisiana economy a year. We have over four 4 hundred faculty positions. And we have over seven
5 hundred and fifty medical students.

6 We have the most engaged -- second most 7 engaged students in community service as ranked by 8 the Princeton Review. And Forbes ranked us as #2 in 9 the state, across all industries, for employee
10 satisfaction.

11 And if you think about the pandemic and 12 what different industries went through during the 13 pandemic, we had no furloughs, no layoffs. We made
14 commitments to our employees. And we care deeply 15 about our community, our employees. We've been 16 around for over two hundred years, or nearly two 17 hundred years, and we aren't going anywhere.

18 We have over five thousand employees, as 19 well. And we are the second oldest medical school
20 in the south. Okay.

21 MS. JOANN KUNKEL: LCMC Health and Tulane
22 University are both mission-based not-for-profit
23 organizations that call Louisiana home. We have 24 shared values and a vision to bring the best
25 community healthcare and academic medicine to all

1 those we serve.

2 Together, we will not only increase access
3 to comprehensive and specialty care across the 4 region, but also advance groundbreaking research,
5 innovative technology, and life-saving treatments
6 that ensure all our patients and communities can 7 receive the highest quality care.

8 As part of the transaction, the three
9 Tulane hospitals are joining LCMC Health: Tulane
10 Medical Center, Lakeview Regional Medical Center,
11 and Tulane Lakeside Hospital. We are, and remain, 12 committed to all employees and are offering jobs to 13 everyone. And we are committed to quality care and 14 access for all current and future patients.

15 LCMC Health has committed to investing $220
16 Million toward the economic development of East
17 Jefferson General Hospital to create a premier 18 academic medical center, which will serve as 19 Tulane's primary teaching facility. The investment
20 will also contribute to enhancing access, services,
21 and quality at the system's downtown University
22 Medical Center.

23 We will create an expanded hub for 24 specialty care, innovation, and academic medicine at 25 East Jefferson. We will expand clinical services

1 and academic expertise at University Medical Center.
2 And we will -- ensuring that our patients and
3 communities downtown have increased access and 4 quality care close to home.

5 MR. PATRICK NORTON: So in addition to 6 creating two academic medical centers, two: one in 7 Orleans Parish right where the UMC is; and one in 8 Jefferson Parish where EJ is. We are also committed 9 to the quality of care and increase access to 10 quality healthcare.

11 In addition to that, this now allows us to 12 take the property downtown and to re-purpose it for,
13 really, for the benefit of the citizens of New 14 Orleans and for the citizens of Louisiana.

15 So the Tulane downtown campus will also be 16 a home to a new nursing program. There is a
17 shortage of nurses, not only city-wide, regionally,
18 but also nationally. And we look to start a cohort
19 in 2024. And in steady state, we will be graduating 20 two hundred and twenty nurses a year out of this new 21 nursing program that will be in downtown in the 22 property that -- where the hospital is now.

23 This could not have been done at the speed
24 or the scale without the partnership of LCMC. Just 25 not possible.

1 In addition to a new nursing program, we're
2 going to be doing some more clinical research. And 3 that's really important, right? Academic medical 4 centers bring research from the bench to the 5 bedside. And that really does help with health
6 outcomes and a quality of care that we provide to 7 New Orleanians and everybody in Louisiana. We want
8 to be destination healthcare. We want people from 9 Louisiana to stay here in our state, as opposed to 10 going outside of our state for healthcare.

11 We're also looking at other uses -- and 12 I'll speak about that in a moment -- that's going to 13 happen in that property as well.

14 So we are committed to improving care in 15 Louisiana, both LCMC and Tulane. Two Hundred and 16 Twenty Million Dollars ($220,000,000.00) will be 17 invested in the community at East Jefferson, at 18 Lakeside, and Lakeview, to provide best-in-class
19 academic medical center facility improvements. So
20 $220 Million have been committed to be deployed out
21 into our healthcare eco system.

22 In addition, Tulane has committed $100
23 Million in capital investments dedicated to creating 24 a new nursing program, clinical research programs,
25 and educational space for students at the Tulane

1 downtown campus.

2 The hospital building as it is now sits at
3 the epicenter of our downtown campus. Our downtown
4 campus is where our research is happening, where
5 School of Public Health's home is, where our School
6 of Medicine's home is, and where our School of 7 Social Work is as well.

8 That is part of this. And if you know New 9 Orleans, it's between Claiborne and Elks, and 10 between Canal and Gravier, is really the Tulane
11 downtown campus. This hospital building, all
12 600,000 square feet of it, is at the center of it.
13 And that's going to be redeveloped for the School of 14 Medicine, for other purposes, but also for the 15 benefit of the citizens of the area.

16 We also create $286 Million -- or will 17 create $286 Million in annual economic impact and 18 potential creation of 2,300 new jobs in downtown New 19 Orleans and throughout the state.

20 And just to further talk about our downtown
21 development, we are creating this vibrant community
22 and a research hub. So we are investing, or what's 23 being invested, is approximately $600 Million to 24 downtown New Orleans, including new constructions
25 and enhancements.

1 And one big project downtown, which you may
2 have heard of, is the revitalization and renovation
3 of the iconic Charity Hospital. Right? A million
4 square feet of space that has been dormant since
5 after Katrina. And when we move into it, along with 6 others, it will be twenty years after Katrina.
7 Twenty years after Katrina. So it would have been 8 laid dormant for that long.

9 In this building, which is going to be, you
10 know, predominantly housing the School of Medicine
11 and the School of Tropical Medicine -- of Public
12 Health and Tropical Medicine, will be lots of 13 research labs. There's an explosion of research
14 that's happening at Tulane University.

15 We've done over $200 Million of research and 16 plan to do $300 Million a year of research in the 17 foreseeable future. And we're going to take that 18 research and, once again, from the bench to the 19 bedside, and fuse it into our new healthcare system
20 -- right? -- with LCMC, but also at the same time,
21 scale it, commercialize it, monetize it, through
22 incubator startups, through Art Tulane Innovation
23 Institute, which just got launched over the summer.

24 So Tulane is doubling, tripling,
25 quadrupling down on research and healthcare. And

1 this is just an example of it right here.

2 MS. JOANN KUNKEL: And as was mentioned in
3 the opening, this slide is really why we're here
4 today. We believe this transaction will improve
5 healthcare for all Louisianans.

6 This partnership will expand access by
7 creating a new and vibrant academic medical center
8 at East Jefferson, while maintaining UMC as a 9 premier academic medical center for downtown New 10 Orleans, and by expanding clinical programming,
11 provider recruitment, and retention.

12 This partnership will improve quality by 13 combining clinical expertise to enhance patient
14 outcomes and investing in facilities and higher
15 quality services, delivering the highest patient
16 experience.

17 And this partnership will contain costs by 18 creating efficiencies, allowing for reinvestment in 19 local operations, and eliminating out-of-state
20 overhead funding for hospital management, bringing 21 operational oversight local.

22 MR. PATRICK NORTON: And this is just a
23 sampling of some of the overwhelming public support
24 we've received so far, and I believe you've received
25 a lot as well, or certainly probably lots of emails,

1 as you mentioned on this, from our council, from the
2 New Orleans council, from our state senators, from 3 presidents of parishes, parish presidents, and from 4 the chancellor of LSU healthcare system. That just 5 shows the positive overwhelming support. This is 6 just a small sampling.

7 And you see here, in this room, some more
8 public support. We couldn't fit in this room, or 9 probably in this building, all of the individuals
10 that have been coming up to us and expressing their 11 public support about this transaction and how it's 12 going to affect the lives of New Orleanians and 13 citizens of Louisiana and beyond.

14 And we look forward to hearing some of the 15 comments and coming back and having some closing
16 comments. Thank you.

17 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay. In advance of 18 this hearing, there were some people that indicated
19 that they are here. And I just want to go ahead and 20 recognize them. And then we'll start with comments.

21 So we have Jennifer Van Vrancken, Jefferson
22 Parish Council Member, District 5; Jerry Bologna,
23 President and CEO of JEDCO; Ruby Brewer, Chief
24 Nursing Officer, East Jefferson General Hospital;
25 John -- Dr. John Heaton, President and Chief Medical

1 Officer of LCMC Health; Allison Guste, Vice
2 President of Quality and Nursing, LCMC Health;
3 Charlotte Parent, AVP of Community Affairs,
4 University Medical Center New Orleans; Chip Cahill,
5 Board Member of LCMC Health; Sam Valera, Marketing
6 Director, LCMC Health; LaDana Williams, Director of 7 Public Relations, LCMC Health; John Pourciau, AVP
8 Government Affairs, LCMC Health; Peter Waggoner,
9 Greater New Orleans, Inc.; Terrie Sterling, LCMC
10 Health; Percy Manson; and other persons affiliated 11 with Tulane University, including physicians,
12 residents, and students; Dr. Lee Hamm, Dean, Tulane
13 University School of Medicine.

14 So with regard to the public comment,
15 notice of the hearing and opportunity for public
16 comment appeared in the official journals of St.
17 Tammany, Orleans, and Jefferson Parish. They were 18 published in both the Times-Picayune, in Advocate,
19 as well as the St. Tammany Farmer. And at this 20 time, for purposes of the record, we will be giving 21 the court reporter the Notices and Certifications of 22 Publication.

23 All right. And just a reminder, if you
24 would like to speak today, you can fill out a card.
25 We encourage you to do so. And at this time, we'll

1 start with public comment.

2 Michelle, can you provide me with the cards
3 that have been submitted as of now?

4 We'll go ahead and start with Jennifer Van
5 Vrancken, Jefferson Parish Council member, District
6 5.

7 MS. JENNIFER VAN VRANCKEN: Okay.

8 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you. And I
9 apologize if I mispronounced your name.

10 MS. JENNIFER VAN VRANCKEN: No. You got it
11 fine.

12 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay. Great.
13 Thanks.

14 MS. JENNIFER VAN VRANCKEN: Do I sit here?

15 MR. BRETT ROBINSON: Yes.

16 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: And does she need to 17 press something for the mic? It should be on? The 18 mic should be on.

19 MS. JENNIFER VAN VRANCKEN: So I'm Jennifer
20 Van Vrancken. I'm a Jefferson Parish Councilwoman, 21 and I represent the Metairie area, which is where 22 East Jefferson General Hospital is based. So I have 23 a little prepared statement that I'll read into the 24 record. But funny enough, as I was driving here
25 this morning from Jefferson Parish, I had on WWL

1 Radio. Tommy Tucker is doing a Radiothon this
2 morning to raise money for Children's Hospital.

3 And it just so happens that in the 9:00
4 hour, as I was driving here, he was interviewing a
5 doctor, Dr. Bradford. She is a pediatric
6 cardiologist. So she explained she teaches -- or 7 treats, rather, children who have heart issues. She 8 even treats in utero before their born. And then
9 she explained she treats as adults, those patients
10 who started their heart treatment as children
11 because she said she has specialized training that 12 cardiologists who trained to treat adults don't 13 have.

14 I am the oldest of three siblings. My 15 youngest sibling, my brother, had heart surgery at a 16 year-and-a-half. And back in the '80s, they were 17 really just on the cusp of being able to fix things
18 that he had. He had Tetralogy of Fallot. We had an 19 older cousin who passed away from that same 20 situation.

21 So at a year-and-a-half -- I was the oldest
22 in the family. My mom said -- I was, roughly, 10.
23 She said, "When you see him running around, if he 24 starts to turn blue, make sure to slow him down and,
25 you know, let him catch his breath." And so I

1 remember that very well.

2 So he had surgery at a year-and-a-half.
3 And they were able to fix those three conditions
4 that he had. Today, he is 42, has a wife and a son
5 of his own. And it is because of that specialized 6 training that he's here and he is, you know, part of 7 our family and, obviously, like I said, has a family
8 of his own.

9 So it very much hits home with me when we 10 talk about East Jefferson General Hospital becoming 11 a training facility for the next generation of 12 doctors.

13 So, personally, as someone who lives in the 14 community, I want to be here to submit my personal
15 support as a resident and a family member who calls
16 the area around East Jefferson Hospital home.

17 More formally, as the councilwoman in whose 18 district the hospital sits, I have to say this 19 proposed partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane
20 University is absolutely phenomenal news for 21 Jefferson Parish and, of course, for our entire 22 region because they don't just serve the Jefferson
23 Parish boundaries, but serve the Metro New Orleans
24 Region.

25 Two years ago, LCMC Health provided a major

1 win to patients, providers, and employees when it
2 purchased East Jefferson General Hospital. Their
3 focus on our local community and the high quality
4 healthcare access earned them overwhelming support
5 from East Jefferson and beyond, putting the future
6 of East Jefferson on solid ground.

7 I've been an elected office for seven
8 years. I had some resounding wins of my own. I
9 will tell you I've never been part of a campaign
10 that will be as successful as that East Jefferson
11 sale to LCMC because voters supported that ninety-
12 five percent.

13 That is unheard of. Your most, you know,
14 popular politicians always have about twenty percent
15 who vote against them, just because. So ninety-five 16 percent support for the sale of East Jefferson to 17 LCMC shows you the level of support there is in our 18 community for LCMC Health and East Jefferson.

19 As a result of the LCMC Health and Tulane
20 University partnership, Jefferson Parish is going to 21 gain a premier academic medical center right there
22 on the campus of East Jefferson, wherein partnership
23 with Tulane and LSU, the next generation of medical 24 professionals will be trained.

25 People from all across the country will

1 seek to travel to Jefferson Parish for specialized
2 healthcare. And I can't think of anything more
3 exciting than the educational opportunities ahead
4 for the students, the young medical students and
5 residents, as well as the positive economic impact
6 that I know it will have on Jefferson Parish.

7 This investment is transformational for 8 both residents who will now have the opportunity to 9 train at a world-class facility, as well as for the 10 patients who will continue to receive excellent
11 healthcare right at home in Jefferson Parish.

12 These two organizations share a deep
13 commitment to our community, and I am absolutely 14 delighted to welcome Tulane University into 15 Jefferson Parish. I wholeheartedly support this 16 partnership and look forward to a prosperous and 17 healthy future for Jefferson Parish. Thank you.

18 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

19 All right. Next, we have -- and I
20 apologize if I mispronounce the name, please correct
21 me -- Jerry Bologna, President and CEO of JEDCO. Am
22 I saying it correctly?

23 MR. JERRY BOLOGNA: Close enough.

24 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay.

25 MR. JERRY BOLOGNA: Bologna, yes.

1 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay. Okay.

2 MR. JERRY BOLOGNA: Better than most. Good
3 morning, members. My name is Jerry Bologna. I'm 4 president and CEO of JEDCO, the Jefferson Economic 5 Development Commission. I'm here to speak in
6 support.

7 And I want to start by saying long before
8 this partnership was even discussed, Jefferson
9 Parish, our elected leadership, our business
10 leadership, had identified medical innovation and 11 destination healthcare as a priority for our parish.
12 We saw it as a growing sector, something that we 13 knew would create job opportunities for our 14 residents. And we've been working to that end.

15 Additionally, while we're the largest
16 parish in Southeast Louisiana, we've always lacked 17 strong university linkages and partnerships. So to 18 that end, we believe that this partnership helps
19 serve both, and helps us get to where we need to be.

20 The proposed partnership of LCMC Health and 21 Tulane University is a significant win for Jefferson
22 Parish. With the commitment -- with their 23 commitment to invest over $222 Million into the 24 three Tulane facilities, Jefferson Parish will see 25 an infusion of investment in our medical sector that

1 will benefit our community tremendously.

2 The new academic medical center that will
3 be created at East Jefferson General Hospital will 4 provide research, innovation, and healthcare access
5 that will be second to none. With someone who had 6 both of my daughters born at East Jefferson, and my
7 primary care physician, who I started seeing at age
8 18, is still there, we certainly welcome this 9 partnership.

10 We look forward to strengthening our
11 partnership with LCMC and Tulane in the future.

12 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

13 Next, we have a green card from Ruby
14 Brewer, Chief Nursing Officer, East Jefferson
15 General Hospital.

16 MS. RUBY BREWER: Good morning. My name is 17 Ruby Brewer. I'm the Chief Nursing and Quality
18 Officer at East Jefferson General Hospital. I've 19 been a nurse forty-three years. I can say it's a 20 career that I have had -- I have found great joy in.
21 I've never regretted becoming a nurse. And leading 22 nursing has been one of the most rewarding
23 experiences of my life, especially at East
24 Jefferson.

25 I have a master's degree in nursing, and I

1 have a master's degree in business, as well as an
2 advanced nursing executive board certification.

3 During my tenure at East Jefferson, I've
4 been the senior vice president of quality for eleven
5 years, and I assumed the chief nursing officer role
6 nine years ago.

7 My role has really evolved around advancing
8 the quality of patient care and developing the 9 clinical team to achieve the highest standards in 10 patient care. So I can tell you that nursing is 11 truly valued at East Jefferson and LCMC Health.

12 I represent five hundred and fifteen nurses
13 who work hard every day to make sure that the care 14 we're delivering to our community provides the 15 highest standard of care.

16 (Fire alarm interruption.)

17 MS. RUBY BREWER: East Jefferson is well
18 known for excellence in nursing practice. And to 19 demonstrate this commitment, East Jefferson was the 20 first hospital in Louisiana to achieve Magnet
21 designation, and is the only hospital that's been 22 designated five consecutive times. This is --

23 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Oh, can you just 24 pause for just a second? I just realized that the 25 court reporter is having an issue.

1 Okay. I think we're good.

2 MS. RUBY BREWER: Okay.

3 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

4 MS. RUBY BREWER: As I said, we've been
5 designated five consecutive times. Our most recent
6 designation was this year. And that does take a lot
7 of work, commitment, and dedication of our nursing
8 team.

9 So you may say, well, what is a Magnet
10 designation? Well, the Magnet Recognition Program
11 demonstrates organizations worldwide, where nursing
12 leaders successfully align their nursing strategic 13 goals to improve the organization's patients
14 outcomes. The Magnet Recognition Program provides a 15 roadmap to nursing excellence, which benefits the 16 whole of an organization. To nurses --

17 (Fire alarm interruption.)

18 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: I was worried that 19 they were going to tell us there was a fire alarm,
20 so that worked out well. Sorry. You just keep 21 getting interrupted. I apologize.

22 MS. RUBY BREWER: That's okay. That's 23 okay. Nurses are flexible.

24 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay.

25 MS. RUBY BREWER: To nurses, Magnet

1 recognition means education and development through
2 every career stage which leads to greater autonomy
3 at the bedside. To patients, it means the very best
4 care delivered by nurses who are supported to be the 5 best that they can be.

6 So you've kind of heard a little bit about 7 the plans for promoting and advancing the career of 8 nursing in the community, so that's very exciting.
9 East Jeff and LCMC support for this designation
10 demonstrates ongoing support for the advancement of 11 nursing practice and patient care.

12 Nurses are empowered to have a voice in 13 patient care delivery design. And to become a 14 Magnet organization, you have to prove that you have 15 achieved these standards through involvement of 16 bedside nurses.

17 I love working at East Jeff. I'll say
18 this, I was from the area and this was an 19 opportunity for me to return home. And I love
20 working for East Jeff and LCMC because we support
21 each other in serving our community, region, and 22 state. We get patients from all over the state.
23 LCMC -- and some of our neighboring states.

24 LCMC's commitment and support has allowed
25 East Jeff to continue fulfilling our mission to

1 deliver extraordinary care with pride. The East
2 Jefferson team has worked tirelessly during the
3 pandemic, Hurricane Ida, and current workforce
4 shortages to find innovative ways to deliver patient
5 care with great outcomes. Strong collaboration and 6 teamwork is the foundation of our care delivery
7 model.

8 I've worked at East Jeff, like I said, for 9 eleven years, which means through the uncertainty of 10 potential sales to other hospitals. And I'm glad 11 that we ended up with LCMC Health. And as Jennifer 12 was talking about, it was an initiative that was 13 approved with a ninety-five percent approval. And I
14 will tell you our nurses were big campaign leaders
15 in that sale approval. We wanted to be part of LCMC
16 Health.

17 I've seen firsthand how LCMC Health values
18 communities and the voice of nurses. I know that 19 our voices will be prioritized moving forward, and I
20 look forward to working with all nurses at EJ and 21 Tulane hospitals to ensure we are really showing our 22 -- allowing our nurses to shine. Thank you.

23 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you for coming
24 today. I appreciate it.

25 Next, Allison Guste with LCMC Health, Vice

1 President of Quality and Nursing.

2 MS. ALLISON GUSTE: Good morning. My name
3 is Allison Guste, and I am the Vice President of 4 Quality and Nursing for LCMC Health. I've been a
5 registered nurse for seventeen years, and have spent 6 most of my nursing career with LCMC Health. They 7 have developed me into the leader that I am today.

8 In 2004, I started my healthcare career in 9 the emergency department at Touro Infirmary. I was 10 a nurse tech and a nursing student at the time. I
11 knew immediately within the first week at that ER
12 and at Touro, that that was my home. These people
13 were my family.

14 After nursing school graduation in 2005, I
15 continued my career as a BSN nurse at Touro. As a 16 front-line leader, in 2009 I was a clinical 17 supervisor in the ER when LCMC Health acquired Touro
18 Infirmary.

19 This was a very positive experience for the 20 hospital, for myself, and for the staff that I
21 called my family. The hospital began to thrive
22 post-acquisition. We all know that Katrina brought 23 hard financial times for many of the local 24 hospitals. And this is what saved the hospital and 25 the community.

1 My professional development -- I'm sorry --
2 over the years, LCMC Health has not only invested in
3 the community, but they have invested in me,
4 personally. My professional development and career
5 growth are evident as my start as just a nursing
6 student at the hospital, and now standing before you
7 today is the vice president of quality and nursing.

8 Still, the journey continues, as they
9 continue to support me through certifications,
10 professional development, and I'm in the final
11 semester of my master's program. It's a great honor
12 and privilege to represent and work with the three 13 thousand plus nurses across our health system.

14 Nursing at LCMC Health is the backbone of 15 everything that we do. They are the glue that holds 16 our health system together. They're with the 17 patients and their families during some of life's
18 most critical and vulnerable moments. That means 19 nurses, like all caregivers in our facilities, have 20 the opportunity to make a difference, positively 21 impacting the outcomes and the experience for every 22 patient we serve.

23 Beyond the time-honored reputation that
24 nurses have for compassion and dedication, LCMC
25 Health nurses have risen to the challenge of today's

1 complex healthcare environment. As patient
2 advocates and skilled providers, the role of nurses
3 has never been more critical at LCMC. Our nurses
4 have received recognition, as you heard Ruby Brewer
5 speak of, in various avenues over the last years.

6 East Jefferson, as you know, has obtained
7 their Magnet designation for the fifth time. They 8 are one of only forty-three hospitals in this
9 country that has obtained that designation
10 consecutively.

11 Children's Hospital obtained their first
12 designation this year in 2022. And University 13 Medical Center is in the process of applying for 14 designation.

15 Magnet status is regarded as the highest 16 recognition of excellence in nursing a hospital can 17 receive. Only nine percent of U.S. hospitals
18 achieve this designation. It is the model around
19 nursing excellence, the model of professional
20 practice culture, and it is the voice for nurses.

21 Our nurses were recognized not only as a
22 group via Magnet designation, but also individually
23 via the Louisiana State Great 100 Awards. Out of 24 those one hundred awards, forty-three nurses were 25 LCMC Health nurses.

1 Over the last month, I've been honored to
2 participate in several town halls and leadership
3 meetings at Tulane, Lakeview, and Lakeside; most 4 recently, yesterday. The nurses and staff have 5 repeatedly expressed excitement about working with a 6 local healthcare system that invest in their 7 community, where they receive the returns to their 8 hospital.

9 When local systems collaborate and work
10 together, we put our patients best interests first.
11 Great things happen when we work together.
12 Together, while we listen and leverage the voice of 13 our nurses, this partnership will expand
14 professional development in cases like you've seen
15 with me, and training opportunities, and bring new 16 clinical, educational, and support, and new jobs, as 17 we keep and attract our top talent here in New 18 Orleans.

19 This partnership will create more
20 opportunities and integrate care at facilities that 21 can support the new growth and even better patient
22 care, and an even more extraordinary nursing
23 experience.

24 I am proud to be an LCMC Health nurse. I
25 look forward to welcoming the six hundred new nurses

1 at Tulane, Lakeview, and Lakeside. We are an LCMC
2 Health nursing family. Thank you.

3 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you for your
4 time.

5 Next, we have Charlotte Parent, RN, AVP of 6 Community Affairs, University Medical Center, New
7 Orleans.

8 MS. CHARLOTTE PARENT: Good morning.

9 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Good morning.

10 MS. CHARLOTTE PARENT: My name is Charlotte
11 Parent, and it's my privilege to serve as the vice
12 president of business development at University
13 Medical Center, part of LCMC Health.

14 I joined LCMC Health in 2016 in the role as 15 assistant vice president of community affairs and 16 network navigation, and after previously serving as 17 a City of New Orleans Health Director. I was born
18 and raised in New Orleans; trained at Charity School
19 of Nursing; received my diploma in nursing; then 20 went on to Loyola University; and then finally,
21 University of New Orleans, where I received my 22 degree in healthcare management.

23 My career as a nurse and nurse leader was 24 invaluable to me in my current leadership role and 25 community affairs work at UMC. It has been an

1 essential role for the community and the region.
2 UMC is the largest training center for future
3 healthcare professionals in the state, serving as a
4 training center for two major medical schools.

5 It is because of our experience in
6 providing care to our community through the two
7 medical schools at UMC that I can wholeheartedly
8 support the partnership.

9 The proposed partnership between LCMC
10 Health and Tulane builds on the already game-
11 changing investments both organizations have made in 12 downtown New Orleans. This investment includes a 13 revitalization of the Charity Hospital building and 14 re-purposing of the Tulane Medical Center building.

15 The downtown campus will become a thriving
16 center of cutting-edge research and innovation, and 17 represents $286 Million in economic impact to New 18 Orleans.

19 I say this because the downtown is 20 University Medical Center at that center. A state-
21 of-the-art facility built after Katrina provides 22 services for the State of Louisiana. We have over 23 seventy specialty clinics. We are the region's only 24 level 1 trauma center, and have an accredited burn
25 center.

1 All of these services are currently
2 provided by Tulane and LSU physicians and learners.
3 Collaboration is not new to us. It is our culture.
4 As an academic medical center, we provide care to 5 all patients, but we understand one of our primary
6 missions is servicing the under-served.

7 A majority of our patients are on Medicaid
8 or uninsured. We welcome the patients who have 9 received their care at Tulane, who still need us,
10 and we'll provide that quality care focused on the 11 patient. We have always, and will continue to,
12 serve as the area safety net.

13 Many of the Tulane programs will shift to 14 UMC and East Jefferson, and we embrace that change.
15 We know how to take care of the community because 16 we've been doing it. And we have the best track
17 record of doing it.

18 Thank you for your time, and I urge you to 19 support the partnership.

20 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you for your
21 time.

22 Next, we have Dr. John Heaton, President
23 and Chief Medical Officer, LCMC Health.

24 MR. BRETT ROBINSON: I just want to make a 25 quick announcement. If you come to the table to 1 speak, make sure you sign in on the sign-in form.

2 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

3 MR. BRETT ROBINSON: And you can sign
4 after.

5 DR. JOHN HEATON: Will do. Thank you for 6 having me this morning. My name is John Heaton. I
7 am the President and Chief Medical Officer of LCMC
8 Health. In that role, I am the Senior Clinical 9 Executive for the health system. I oversee a number 10 of operational roles, none more important than the 11 delivery of a consistent and safe quality product to 12 all of the people that we serve across our 13 hospitals.

14 I am a native New Orleanian. I've lived in 15 St. Tammany Parish for about twenty-five years. I
16 am a trained pediatric anesthesiologist. I obtained
17 my undergraduate degree in Louisiana at Nicholls,
18 and went to LSU Medical School, obtained my post-
19 graduate medical education in New Orleans, with the 20 exception of a year of fellowship, and have a
21 business degree from Carnegie Mellon.

22 I provided healthcare in New Orleans for 23 decades. And the proposed partnership between LCMC
24 Health and Tulane University represents a
25 transformational opportunity to fulfill the promise

1 of world-class healthcare delivered at home.

2 As I said, I've been at this for quite a
3 while, both directly delivering care to patients in 4 the operating room, but also as a clinical faculty
5 member of both Tulane and LSU Medical School over
6 the years teaching their residents and students.
7 This has always made sense, and we're proud to see
8 it come to fruition.

9 A primary driver of this partnership is our 10 shared desire with Tulane to invest in the future of 11 healthcare in our community and increase the quality
12 and access to advanced life-saving academic 13 medicine. We will enhance the services at UMC to 14 serve Orleans Parish and we establish -- and we will 15 establish a new premier academic medical center and 16 leading teaching institution in Jefferson Parish.

17 This allows us to provide more training,
18 give us less the -- more recruitment, and retention
19 of high-caliber clinicians.

20 Additionally, we already support a, at 21 LCMC, a vast array of research across the biomedical
22 spectrum from lab-based science, to translational
23 research, to clinical trials in all major disease
24 areas.

25 Tulane, alone, conducts something on the

1 order of $230 Million worth of research per annum.
2 Together, we will be able to collaborate to further
3 research -- further these research endeavors and 4 offer clinical trials closer to home for our 5 residents, to push the boundaries of our medical 6 practice, to provide patients and students access to 7 enhanced healthcare services.

8 The evolution of our healthcare system in
9 New Orleans over the last forty years is nothing
10 short of extraordinary. And this will be a key
11 catalyst to making the next forty years equally
12 extraordinary. Thank you.

13 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Sorry, I had my mic
14 off. Thank you for your time.

15 Next, we have a red card from Steven
16 Morelock, representing New Orleans community.

17 MR. STEVEN MORELOCK: Hello.

18 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Hello.

19 MR. STEVEN MORELOCK: My name is Steven 20 Morelock. I'm a resident of New Orleans and I'd 21 like to read a letter that's been signed by a lot of 22 my fellow community members.

23 We write as denominational and community
24 leaders across New Orleans and Louisiana, in our 25 support of the nurses of Tulane Medical Center, who

1 are demanding a voice in the future of healthcare in
2 New Orleans. We are asking for the upcoming public
3 hearing on the sale to be held locally in New
4 Orleans, not Baton Rouge, ensuring meaningful
5 participation and input from our frontline
6 healthcare workers and the community they serve.

7 We're deeply concerned that the proposed
8 sale of Tulane Medical Center to LCMC Health will 9 negatively impact access to quality and affordable
10 healthcare services for thousands of Louisianians.
11 LCMC has already announced plans to shut down most 12 inpatient services at Tulane Medical Center within 13 twelve to twenty-four months of acquiring the 14 hospital.

15 Many of our community members have gone to 16 Tulane Medical Center for years. Losing such a 17 popular hospital serving patients not only in New 18 Orleans, but across Louisiana, is a loss for 19 communities around the state.

20 We fear a two-system duopoly in New 21 Orleans, made up of LCMC and Ochsner Health, will 22 raise healthcare costs and reduce services. This is 23 especially worrisome in such a precarious time in 24 our nation. Now more than ever, high-quality
25 healthcare needs to be made more accessible and

1 affordable.

2 When Charity Hospital closed, New Orleans
3 lost one of the state's last public hospitals that
4 served everyone, regardless of income level. Now,
5 we stand to lose another hospital in downtown New
6 Orleans that has long served low-income patients.
7 We worry Medicaid patients, who are
8 disproportionately black and people of color, will 9 lose access to care.

10 Louisiana's minority residents already
11 experience significantly lower life expectancies
12 than white residents, and the closure of services
13 and a higher healthcare cost may exacerbate this 14 health equity crisis.

15 Nurses are on the front lines of keeping
16 our communities and congregants healthy and safe.
17 We stand with Tulane Medical Center nurses because 18 we trust nurses to put patients first. We urge you
19 to block the sale in order to ensure that there are 20 no cuts to jobs or patient care services at Tulane
21 Medical Center, and that there is no increase in 22 healthcare costs for the community.

23 Sincerely signed, Shawn Moses Anglim,
24 Pastor of First Grace United Methodist Church;
25 Margaret Washington, retired RN and nurse educator;

1 Betty Roberson, the CEO of EDUTRONICS; Callie Winn
2 Crawford, a retired United Methodist pastor; Jonah

12 Thank you very much.

13 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you for coming
14 today. And I just wanted you to be aware that the 15 reason that the hearing is here is because the law
16 dictates that. There is a specific rule that says
17 that the hearing must take place in Baton Rouge,
18 Louisiana, and that's in the Louisiana
19 Administrative Code.

20 MR. STEVEN MORELOCK: I understand that.
21 Just please take into consideration that that's 22 going to affect turnout for people who are 23 stakeholders in this conversation.

24 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Well, I appreciate
25 that. We did publish the Notice in the official

1 journal, and we did allow people to provide comment
2 in writing in advance of the hearing. So that was 3 an option.

4 Do you want to provide us with a copy of 5 that letter?

6 MR. STEVEN MORELOCK: Absolutely.

7 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

8 All right. Next, we have a red card from 9 Olivia Cooper, present, and would like to speak.

10 So it indicates you're representing Tulane
11 Medical Center. Are you -- can you -- are you here,
12 sent from Tulane, or you just work there? What's --
13 can you just tell us the connection?

14 MS. OLIVIA COOPER: Yes. I'm a registered
15 nurse at Tulane Medical Center.

16 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay.

17 MS. OLIVIA COOPER: Good morning. Thank
18 you to the Attorney General's Office for holding 19 this important forum. My name is Olivia Cooper, and 20 I am a nurse in the transplant ICU at Tulane Medical 21 Center, where I have worked just over a year.

22 The lack of transparency by HCA and LCMC in 23 this process has completely dismayed me. The only 24 information we have been given is that LCMC will 25 acquire Tulane Medical Center and subsequently close

1 the hospital, removing vital services to our patient
2 population. The hospital and the Attorney General's 3 Office should want to collaborate with nurses in 4 deciding the future of Tulane Medical Center. We 5 are the ones most involved in the direct care of 6 patients.

7 We see firsthand, every day, the dire needs
8 for quality and accessible healthcare options for 9 patients across Louisiana. Nurses are the key cog
10 in keeping the hospital running and our patients
11 safe and cared for, yet our voices are not even 12 considered in the decision-making process of the 13 future of our hospital.

14 It is evident to anyone working in 15 healthcare that the increased need for healthcare
16 services will only continue. Being able to provide 17 services for a population of people who are getting 18 sicker should be a top priority of not only New 19 Orleans, but for Louisiana's public healthcare
20 priorities at large.

21 Spending money trying to promote a system
22 for, quote, destination healthcare, just results in 23 decreased accessibility to care for residents of 24 Orleans Parish.

25 The Tulane transplant ICU has an enormous

1 population of patients who come, not only for
2 surgeries, but for lifelong care after receiving a
3 transplant. Additionally, many of the patients we 4 serve come to us as transfers from other hospitals,
5 who don't have the resources to care for them.
6 Where will these patient populations go if the 7 hospital shuts down?

8 Just in this past year, I have seen the 9 astronomical need for our services in New Orleans
10 and throughout the South. Shutting down this 11 hospital would be a huge loss for the community and 12 the patients we serve.

13 My understanding of the COPA law is that
14 the application cannot be approved unless it results
15 in improved access to healthcare. With LCMC making
16 clear its intentions to shut down Tulane, a hospital
17 at the epicenter of New Orleans Parish, how would 18 this improve access to healthcare for its residents?

19 Not only can access to healthcare decrease,
20 the cost of care will surely increase as well. LCMC
21 would hold over fifty percent of the New Orleans
22 healthcare market if this sale goes through. What's 23 going to stop them from employing the same
24 practices, of higher costs and less care, the other
25 systems in heavily concentrated markets do?

1 Look around the room and acknowledge the
2 presence and voices of those that are most directly
3 impacted by this decision. I implore you to grant
4 our community their civic right to give input in 5 this process. Thank you for your time.

6 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you for coming
7 here today.

8 Next, we have Michael Robertshaw, who 9 submitted a red card and is present, and would like 10 to speak.

11 MR. MICHAEL ROBERTSHAW: Can I speak from 12 here or should I be over there?

13 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: The mic is on --

14 MR. BRETT ROBINSON: I think that one.

15 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Wait. Which one?

16 MR. BRETT ROBINSON: All those mics are on,
17 but that -- the furthest to the left, or right,
18 seems to be the best.

19 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: And your card
20 indicates that you're a nurse at Tulane Medical 21 Center; is that right?

22 MR. MICHAEL ROBERTSHAW: Yeah. I'm sorry
23 for that confusion. I'm actually -- so I'll just 24 state my name for the record. It's Michael 25 Robertshaw. I'm a ICU nurse at Tulane Medical

1 Center, representing the unionized Nurses at Tulane
2 Medical Center.

3 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay. Okay.

4 MR. MICHAEL ROBERTSHAW: Okay. Thank you
5 very much to the board for being here. Gosh, I have 6 so much to say and I'm going to try to whittle it
7 down into some comprehensive statements within three 8 minutes.

9 I was hoping I could just ask a favor. Do
10 you mind putting back up here on the board the 11 original three things that this board is 12 considering? The very first slide. Can I ask you
13 to do that, please?

14 MR. BRETT ROBINSON: So you're talking
15 about lower healthcare costs, improved access --

16 MR. MICHAEL ROBERTSHAW: Yeah. What this
17 board is charged with making a decision based on, I
18 would really appreciate it if you could put that up.

19 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Yeah. We can get
20 with our IT people to do that.

21 MR. BRETT ROBINSON: I'll just state it
22 real quick, just so -- for your purposes. It's 23 lower healthcare costs or improved access to 24 healthcare, higher quality healthcare without any 25 undue increase to healthcare costs.

1 MR. MICHAEL ROBERTSHAW: Great. Thank you
2 very much for that. I really appreciate it. So we
3 have heard a lot of statements here today that 4 essentially say those exact three points. There has 5 been very little detail as to how that is going to 6 be accomplished.

7 The nurses at our hospital learned about
8 this sale through Nola.com. We were never involved
9 in the process. And we have continually heard those 10 three points are going to be satisfied, with 11 incredibly little detail as to how they will be 12 satisfied. I encourage this board to dig down into 13 the numbers and actually ask the hard questions.
14 How are you going to satisfy the roughly twenty-15 eight thousand patients that come through the 16 emergency room at Tulane?

17 We have emergency room patients who come to 18 our emergency room because they are waiting too long 19 at UMC, and they come to our emergency room. It is 20 totally unclear to the nurses at Tulane Medical 21 Center downtown how you can decrease cost, improve
22 quality of care, and increase access when you close
23 a downtown hospital. That has yet to be made clear.
24 And I think it needs to be made clear before this 25 body makes a decision.

1 We are the ones who are holding your
2 families' hands when they die. We are the ones who
3 are cleaning your family when they are soiled. We 4 are the ones that are comforting our community and
5 taking care of them day-in and day-out. And no
6 disrespect to the nurse administrators who have 7 spoken here today, I'm grateful for your work, but 8 nobody is asking the nurses on the ground, who are 9 doing the hard work day-in and day-out, what we 10 think. And that needs to happen.

11 Thank you for your time.

12 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

13 Next, we have Kaylen Edwards. Again, it
14 says representing Medical Center. Are you a nurse
15 at -- a nurse? Okay. Thank you for coming. If you 16 don't mind, when you finish, just sign the sign-in 17 sheet.

18 MS. KAYLEN EDWARDS: I did this morning
19 when I walked in. Good morning, everyone. My name
20 is Kaylen Edwards, and I am a new nurse at Tulane
21 Medical Center. I really appreciate the opportunity 22 to speak with you guys today about the sale and the 23 pending closure of our hospital.

24 As a new nurse, I'm still learning. I'm 25 still training. Most of my colleagues are new

1 nurses as well, and have only started practicing
2 within the last year or two. We only have a few
3 experienced nurses throughout the facility, which 4 has made my education journey very challenging.

5 There's been so much uncertainty with the 6 sale and the closure since the closure has been 7 announced. We don't know where we will be
8 transferred to and when. We don't know the pay --
9 our pay or our benefits, if those will be 10 maintained.

11 This has even led to more experienced
12 nurses leaving our facilities in droves to go and 13 travel. I worry that our patients, that our 14 community, is going to continue to suffer. We have 15 so many long-standing patients who have been coming
16 to our hospitals for years, ones that I've taken
17 care of myself -- I've had the privilege of taking 18 care of myself.

19 It takes time to build those relationships,
20 to build trust with doctors and nurses. And our 21 patients will -- are unsure if they will be able to 22 maintain those relationships.

23 We have -- we already have a health equity
24 crisis in our city and our state. Louisiana's
25 black, homeless, and patients with mental illness

1 face higher rates of comorbidities, multiple 2 diagnoses, and less access to care, and they seek
3 care at lower rates than others. This happens for 4 many reasons, including a history of exclusion in 5 healthcare that has led to mistrust in the 6 healthcare system.

7 This means that the relationship, the trust
8 between doctors and patients and nurses is even more
9 important for these patients. I worry that closing
10 our hospital is only going to exacerbate that 11 problem. If we close an accessible community
12 hospital, it's going to make it harder for our 13 community to access that care.

14 In the wake of COVID-19 it highlighted how 15 unprepared we are for pandemics. And to need -- and 16 the need to prepare for those future pandemics is 17 now. We didn't have enough beds, PPE, or nurses.
18 And, now, we're facing new viruses like monkey pox
19 and future ones that are still unknown.

20 How does losing a hospital, hundreds of 21 beds downtown, better prepare us for another
22 pandemic? We need to be increasing our capacity to 23 provide good, quality care. I worry that if the 24 sale is improved -- approved and the hospital
25 closes, we're only going backwards from here.

1 Our community needs more time to discuss
2 potential impacts of the sale, and the hospital
3 closure on nurses, other healthcare workers, and 4 especially our patients before any decision is made.
5 Thank you so much for your time.

6 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

7 Next, we have a green card from Chip
8 Cahill, present and would like to speak, Board
9 Member, LCMC Health.

10 MR. CHIP CAHILL: Thank you, and good
11 morning.

12 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

13 MR. CHIP CAHILL: My connection with LCMC
14 is a trustee and board chairman for West Jefferson
15 Medical Center. But before we were affiliated with 16 LCMC, we found ourselves to be, at West Jefferson,
17 to be a struggling community hospital. We were a 18 standalone hospital. We were fortunate enough to 19 have a leader who saw that we wouldn't be able to 20 survive as a standalone hospital. We wouldn't be 21 able to survive merely by affiliating ourselves with 22 East Jefferson and standing as two community
23 hospitals together.

24 And we reached out to the public, and
25 convinced the public that this would be the right

1 thing to do, that we would find a suitor that would
2 best meet the needs of the Westbank.

3 And we began a long journey of meeting with 4 suitors. And every suitor showed me a picture and 5 told me, "This is what your ugly hospital is going
6 to look like after we invest in it." Well, along
7 came a suitor, finally, one of the last ones that I
8 met with. LCMC showed me what the inside of our 9 hospital would become, how they would fix the things
10 that we wanted to fix, but didn't have the money to 11 fix.

12 And as time went by, everything worked out.
13 Everything they said they were going to do, they 14 did. The promises came true.

15 I was a bad little kid. And one year, I
16 burned my hand on New Year's Eve, and my mom had to 17 take me to the West Jeff emergency room. And she 18 took my younger brother and my younger sister also.
19 And in those days, the emergency room, the waiting
20 room, was wide open and all of the families sat
21 waiting to go in to the back of the hospital in the 22 reception area.

23 And several ambulances came in while my mom
24 was there with her three children. She couldn't 25 leave the other two at home by themselves. And

1 people came in who had serious injuries. I saw two
2 people who I'm sure died that night; one was a
3 serious car wreck, the other was a stabbing. And my 4 mom was trying to cover all of our eyes. She
5 couldn't do it. And she told us to try to forget
6 about it, but I never did forget about it.

7 One of the first things that LCMC did is
8 rebuilt our emergency room. So now, the ambulances
9 pull up at their own bay in the back. You don't 10 have to parade in front of the families anymore.
11 The affiliation with LCMC caused the creation of a 12 children's emergency room on the Westbank, which was 13 something that was a real blessing and was really 14 needed. Geriatric emergency room was next.

15 Everything that they talked about, they 16 did. And when all the smoke cleared, we're getting 17 a pretty facade on the outside of the building, too,
18 but nobody from LCMC ever called our building ugly.

19 Thank you very much. And I think this 20 would be a great thing.

21 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

22 MR. CHIP CAHILL: Sure.

23 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Next, we have 24 Nathaniel Beech, green card, present, and would like
25 to speak. Senator Cameron Henry said to thank you

1 for stopping by.

2 MR. NATHANIEL BEECH: Thank you. Good
3 morning, everyone. My name is Nate Beech, and I'm 4 the second-year class president of the med school
5 class at Tulane School of Medicine. I'm a New 6 Orleans native. I attended Jesuit High School. I
7 attended Tulane University for my undergrad, and now
8 have the privilege to go to Tulane Medical School
9 and further my education, and follow my father in 10 his footsteps to becoming a physician. And he is a 11 person who's practiced in this city for over twenty 12 years now, both at LSU and now at Tulane.

13 The partnership between Tulane and LCMC
14 offers an immense opportunity and possibility of 15 building an even stronger academic medical centers
16 throughout the city in New Orleans and across the 17 state. These teaching hospitals are groundbreaking
18 for research and education, with the goal of 19 creating new treatments and techniques that 20 physicians, residents, and students can use to 21 provide and improve quality of care for patients in 22 New Orleans systems and across the state.

23 In addition, it will also offer the ability
24 and opportunity for a new nursing program to be 25 built in the hospital, while also addressing the

1 projected twenty-five hundred nursing positions that
2 will be unfilled in 2025 in the City of New Orleans.

3 Overall, this partnership has the ability
4 to improve quality of care, not only across the City
5 of New Orleans, but across the state, and allowing 6 Louisiana to become a hub for medical care and 7 education across the southeastern United States.

8 Thank you.

9 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

10 Next, we have a red card from Mea Ratcliff
11 present, and would like to speak, Tulane Medical 12 Center nurse, patients, and community.

13 MS. MEA RATCLIFF: Good morning. My name
14 is Mea Ratcliff. I am a registered nurse. I've 15 been a registered nurse for twenty-two years. I
16 graduated from Southern University School of Nursing
17 here in Baton Rouge.

18 I want to talk about a couple things that 19 I've heard today. I heard that $220 Million is 20 going to be invested in Lakeside Hospital in 21 Jefferson Parish, and East Jefferson General
22 Hospital, also in Jefferson Parish, and in Lakeview,
23 which is in Covington.

24 I've not heard anything about what's going
25 to happen in Orleans Parish as far as the hospital

1 system. How is this going to decrease the cost of 2 care with only two major hospital systems in New
3 Orleans?

4 I hear that our services and our beds are
5 going out to Jefferson Parish. I hear everything
6 that's good for Jefferson Parish. I don't hear
7 anything good here for Orleans Parish. This COPA
8 that you mentioned: decreased cost of care, improve
9 quality of care, and increase access to care.
10 Tulane serves a huge indigent population. How are 11 these people going to get to Jefferson Parish?

12 And then we're talking about moving them
13 over to UMC that's already overburdened and 14 overloaded in our healthcare system. We have 15 gunshot wounds frequently, unfortunately, in Orleans
16 Parish. So we're going to close down an emergency
17 department in Orleans Parish? And we're going to 18 close down a hospital in Orleans Parish?

19 And our hospital is ugly, but I really 20 don't care that much about that. I do care that 21 we're there for our community and for our patients
22 that have been coming to us for years now. I don't 23 see how it's going to improve any services in 24 Orleans Parish. And I'm very worried about that,
25 and for our patients.

1 We don't have a great bus system. We don't
2 have -- the train bypasses Baton Rouge. There's not
3 very good infrastructure for patients to get around.
4 A lot of our patients walk to our hospital or they
5 bike to our hospital. So I don't see any increase
6 in services to them.

7 And for us, we're going to lose a hospital
8 that we've been at for years and years and years.
9 We love our hospital. We love our patients. We 10 love taking care of our patients. We love our 11 community. And I don't hear anything proactive for 12 Orleans Parish with this hospital being shut down
13 and our emergency department being shut down.

14 And during COVID, there were not enough
15 beds anywhere. And so we're talking about shutting
16 down a 230-bed hospital and half of our services
17 being moved to Jefferson Parish. I think that's a 18 huge concern, and that should be taken into 19 consideration.

20 It all sounds great. It all sounds
21 beautiful because they're able to make it sound that 22 way, but who it's going to affect is our community
23 and our patients. So please take that into 24 consideration before moving forward with this.

25 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you. Did you

1 do the sign-in sheet?

2 MS. MEA RATCLIFF: I did.

3 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay, great.

4 MS. MEA RATCLIFF: And is there going to be
5 another hearing? And will it be in New Orleans?

6 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: This is the only
7 hearing.

8 Next, we have a green card, Terrie
9 Sterling, present and would like to speak, with LCMC
10 Health.

11 MS. TERRIE STERLING: Good morning, and 12 thank you. I'm Terrie Sterling, and I'm speaking on 13 behalf of Deon Guidroz, the ACNO, the Assistant
14 Chief Nursing Officer, at Tulane, who requested that 15 I read these comments into the record.

16 My name is Deon Guidroz, and I am the 17 assistant chief nursing officer for Tulane Medical 18 Center. I've worked for Tulane for thirteen years.
19 During that time, I've had several roles from 20 managing quality and patient experience initiatives,
21 to directing the medical surgical units for the 22 system. I worked on matters such as staff
23 retention, and quality, and patient safety.

24 I know what Tulane means to the New Orleans
25 community, and how important that community is to

1 our staff and to our health system. It is with that
2 community in mind that I ask you to approve this
3 partnership. If approved, this merger would join
4 two local institutions who are deeply invested in 5 the health and safety of our city and our region.
6 That will lead to clear benefits to the patients
7 you've heard people speak about seeking care at 8 Tulane Hospital.

9 With a plan to invest millions of dollars
10 in mid city, and an assurance to retain the existing 11 workforce, LCMC Health is making a commitment.

12 Having worked in both staff engagement and 13 patient experience, I know that quality facilities
14 matter, not just to patients, but to the staff who 15 work in our hospitals. The people of Tulane Health
16 System, both those who work for us and those who we 17 serve, deserve world-class facilities and world-
18 class care.

19 If approved, this partnership would lead to 20 a clear win-win for everyone in our community.

21 Thank you.

22 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

23 Next, we have a green card from Dr. Gary
24 Haynes, Tulane University School of Medicine.

25 DR. GARY HAYNES: Good morning. Thank you

1 for the opportunity to address this panel. I'm Dr.
2 Gary Haynes. I'm the chair of the Department of 3 Anesthesiology at Tulane School of Medicine. I've 4 been with Tulane about seven years, and in academic 5 medicine and a bit in private practice for more than 6 thirty years.

7 And with that range of experience, which
8 has been in the Midwest, in the Southeast, and now
9 in the Central South here in Louisiana, that range
10 of experience informs me that this is a very 11 positive affiliation plan, and it's one that I
12 strongly approve. I think there are many advantages
13 that we could talk about, but just to be brief, I'll 14 only address three.

15 First, the purpose of this Tulane/LCMC
16 affiliation will be to create an academic medical 17 center with East Jefferson General Hospital as the 18 premier flagship hospital for a place where I want
19 to emphasize it's for maximally effective education
20 of doctors and nurses. This is a huge problem that 21 the United States has. It's a problem that this 22 state has right now, New Orleans, particularly, with 23 the shortage of nurses. This is not going to get 24 any better if we don't do something different and 25 take a new path.

1 One of the challenges I have right now is
2 how to find the clinical experience for our
3 residents in anesthesiology and in other
4 specialties, that not merely meets a minimum
5 requirement, but goes beyond that and has a much
6 more robust experience for our resident physicians
7 and medical students.

8 As you've heard, the LCMC/Tulane
9 affiliation will create a nine-hospital system, and 10 that will allow us to expand our opportunities for 11 clinical research. Now, Tulane University is one of 12 the nation's, and North America's, premier research
13 institutions. Much of that is in basic research.
14 We need to do more in clinical research because that 15 brings new healing, new therapies, new opportunities
16 to our patients and everyone in the state, and even 17 beyond the borders of the state.

18 As you know, there's a very serious
19 shortage of nurses, also physicians. And in doing
20 this, we'll be able to create this program for nurse
21 training. Right now, it's estimated that we might 22 need nearly twenty-five hundred nurses by the year
23 2025. I do not know if that's accurate, but I can 24 tell you right now we need hundreds of nurses in New 25 Orleans and in the state. And we have to do

1 something to address this.

2 The second point is that the affiliation
3 will promote additional comprehensive and 4 specialized care in the New Orleans area. We will
5 continue some outpatient services, outpatient
6 clinics, at the Tulane Hospital location, and 7 increase our role at University Medical Center,
8 while creating a new role at East Jefferson General
9 Hospital for Tulane doctors.

10 This will not decrease and we're not 11 interested in decreasing our presence in the 12 downtown area. We will increase our clinical 13 presence at University Medical Center and shift some 14 of our other clinical activities to East Jefferson
15 General Hospital.

16 But this is important because in making
17 these shifts and these moves, it will open up space
18 that is much needed for a nursing program in the 19 immediate downtown area.

20 And the third thing I would just focus on,
21 or mention, is that hospital consolidation is often
22 a focus of hospital systems throughout the country.
23 Our focus is on growth, expanding services, and 24 improving the efficiency and delivery of quality
25 medical care. I think this will happen because LCMC

1 Healthcare and Tulane are mission-based nonprofit
2 organizations that have shared interests and goals.
3 We share values and commitment in emphasizing the 4 high quality efficient and effective healthcare.
5 And, along the way, that means keeping an eye and a
6 focus on how to reduce hospital and medical costs,
7 not just let them expand indefinitely.

8 So, in closing, I would just say this is 9 all about developing a robust academic medical 10 center, and growing EJ General Hospital into a major 11 teaching hospital, growing comprehensive and 12 specialized medical care while maintaining Tulane's
13 presence in the city, and increasing the range of 14 what we do by aligning major institutions that share
15 common goals and values.

16 Thank you.

17 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

18 Next, we have a red card from Caleb Holmes
19 in opposition.

20 MR. CALEB HOLMES: I'll waive speaking.

21 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay. So you do not 22 want to speak, but you're in opposition; is that 23 correct?

24 MR. CALEB HOLMES: Yes.

25 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

1 All right. We also have a red card from 2 Curtis Williams, Step Up Louisiana, present and
3 would like to speak.

4 MR. CURTIS WILLIAMS: Good morning
5 everyone. How are you doing?

6 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Great.

7 MR. CURTIS WILLIAMS: To the Attorney
8 General's Office, to LCMC, Tulane, and HCA, my name
9 is Curtis Williams, and I'm a lifelong resident of 10 the Greater New Orleans area, and a member of Step 11 Up Louisiana. Thank you for providing us with the 12 opportunity to express our comments and concerns.
13 There are four major points that we would like to 14 highlight about this proposed merger.

15 First, the process feels a bit rushed.
16 This deal has huge consequences for patients, and 17 the community, and workers, and should have included
18 the opportunities for input from all stakeholders
19 before, during, and this hearing, including a
20 community meeting in New Orleans.

21 Second of our major concerns is what will 22 happen to the employees. We would like to offer
23 that LCMC consider these very reasonable economic 24 justice demands laid out by the nurses union to be 25 considered for all Tulane Hospital employees

1 involved in this deal: One will be no cuts to jobs
2 or services, guaranteed placement, and new
3 facilities; Number two, workers are given the power
4 and equity to make decisions that best serve all of 5 stakeholders during a transition; Number three,
6 workers' pay and benefits maintained; Number four,
7 LCMC recognize the nurses union and remain neutral
8 for all unionization efforts.

9 The third concern is the concerns of the 10 patients. I personally have sat in UMC for over 11 eight hours to be seen, only to be told that they 12 weren't able to help me because it wasn't a big 13 enough trauma. That would be a concern. And how 14 would that impact more wait times? We are concerned
15 with losing another ER in New Orleans and having a 16 negative impact on additional wait times. Also,
17 patients having to get transported to East Jeff or 18 West Jeff.

19 Hospital isn't always feasible and it isn't 20 always affordable. By reducing the competition in 21 the city to only two hospital networks, we worry
22 about higher costs and lower pay to workers. Can 23 you assure the community this won't happen?

24 Fourth, and final, we hope and believe that 25 LCMC will continue to work well with Step Up and

1 communities throughout this process. We are
2 extremely happy -- we were extremely happy to
3 partner with LCMC during our Get out the Vax efforts
4 in late 2021 and early 2022 on over a dozen vaccine
5 events, and were happy to be in contact with LCMC
6 administration in the lead-up to this hearing.

7 Step Up wants to continue to be your
8 partner, but those are our concerns, and that's 9 where we stand for right now.

10 Thank you.

11 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you for coming
12 here today.

13 I still have some cards to go through. I
14 just want to make sure, in case anyone walked in 15 late, that if you would like to speak, you can get a
16 card at the front from -- they're just placed up
17 here -- to complete a card, and we'll call you up.

18 Next, we have Percy Manson, representing a 19 faith-based community, present and would like to 20 speak.

21 MR. PERCY MANSON: Good morning. My name
22 is Percy Manson. I am one of the many community
23 leaders in the New Orleans area, and I'm here today
24 representing the faith-based community, and I'll 25 read their statement.

1 Recently, LCMC Health and Tulane University
2 announced a new partnership that will increase
3 access to comprehensive and specialty care, advance
4 groundbreaking research, and expand life-saving
5 treatment that ensure all our patients and
6 communities can receive the highest quality of care
7 right here in the Greater New Orleans Area.

8 We write this as a faith-based community.
9 Through this partnership, Tulane Medical Center,
10 Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane
11 Lakeside Hospital will join the LMCE [sic] Health
12 family. The majority of the services provided to 13 Tulane Medical Center will shift to University
14 Medical Center New Orleans and East Jefferson
15 Hospital.

16 LCMC Health has publicly committed to all
17 employees at three hospitals: Tulane Medical Center,
18 Tulane Lakeside Hospital, and Lakeview Regional 19 Medical Center, that they will continue to have jobs
20 under the new partnership. This includes nurses,
21 physicians, and all staff.

22 Additionally, this partnership will allow
23 the repositioning of Tulane Medical Center building
24 with multiple use, including a new nursing program.
25 Through this initiative, Tulane University will

1 create an estimated twenty-three hundred jobs across
2 the State of Louisiana.

3 Downtown will continue to have high-quality
4 access to care for the Medicaid and under-served
5 population at the University Medical Center in New 6 Orleans. UMC services and offerings will actually 7 grow, allow for more access for the community. We
8 understand that Tulane Hospital operates --
9 operations will continue as normal as LCMC Health
10 and Tulane plans for a gradual transition over the 11 next twelve to twenty-four months.

12 We support this partnership and its intent
13 given to the above commitments, and we are grateful
14 that LCMC Health and Tulane keeps line of 15 communication open to the community. Representing 16 this is one of the largest minister alliances, which 17 is President Willie Gable, Interdenominational
18 Ministerial Alliance of Greater New Orleans, and 19 Rev. Bishop Tom Watson of Watson Memorial 20 Ministries, and Pastor Rev. Jamaal Weathersby of New 21 Hope Baptist Church in New Orleans.

22 Thank you for your time.

23 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

24 Next, we have a green card from LaDana
25 Williams, present and would like to speak, Director

1 of Public Relations, LCMC Health.

2 MS. LADANA WILLIAMS: Good afternoon. My
3 name is LaDana Williams, and I'm reading a statement
4 on behalf of Rhonda LaBat, University Medical Center
5 patient.

6 Over the last thirty years, I've had my 7 fair share of ups and downs with my health. For 8 years I went back and forth to different hospitals
9 for treatment. Most of the doctors gave me
10 medication that kept me lethargic and feeling
11 miserable. I suffered from massive weight gain,
12 which led to me being a diabetic. Also, my thyroid
13 and esophagus conditions were getting worse.

14 A few years ago, things got really bad.
15 University Medical Center was recommended to me
16 through Daughters of Charity. Because I had so many 17 issues with my thyroid, esophagus, stomach, back,
18 and other chronic conditions, a team of doctors
19 worked together to get me better. Seeking care at 20 UMC was life changing. The UMC doctors diagnosed me
21 with anemia and treated me for my condition.

22 Since receiving this great care from 23 doctors, nurses, and the hospital staff, I'm a non-24 medicated diabetic with thyroid levels that have 25 been lowered and my esophagus is better, which has

1 really enhanced my quality of life. I am here today
2 because of the excellent treatment I received at 3 UMC. It's such a big hospital, but the doctors and 4 nurses all know me, which makes it feel more like a
5 -- more than just a hospital.

6 My mom and my son both receive treatment at 7 UMC. Unfortunately, my mom passed away a few years
8 ago, but I'll always be grateful for the nurses that 9 took such great care of us. My son was treated at 10 UMC for COVID. He received great care as well. It
11 means a lot when you go to the place and get treated
12 well.

13 LCMC Health and Tulane coming together will 14 be good -- a good thing for our community. There's 15 a lot of learning that takes place at UMC, and 16 that's important because that's one of the reasons
17 they were able to diagnose my condition. I'll 18 always be eternally grateful and thank God for 19 giving my physicians wisdom, knowledge, and healing
20 hands, and for leading me to UMC for care. It
21 changed my life.

22 Thank you.

23 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

24 Next, we have a green card from John
25 Pourciau, present and would like to speak, AVP

1 Government Affairs, LCMC Health.

2 MR. JOHN POURCIAU: That was a great
3 pronunciation of the last name, there, by the way.
4 Brett should be able to get you right, though. We
5 went to school together.

6 And it's good to see you take a bit of a
7 step back from your busy schedule as the face of the 8 ethics annual videos, too. So we appreciate that.

9 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Yes. Face and voice.

10 MR. JOHN POURCIAU: Indeed, and voice.

11 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Yes. Yes.

12 MR. JOHN POURCIAU: It's true.

13 Good afternoon. My name is John Pourciau.
14 I'm the AVP of Government Affairs for LCMC Health,
15 and today I would like to read a statement from 16 Newell Normand, the former sheriff of Jefferson
17 Parish.

18 I have both personal and professional
19 experience with East Jeff General Hospital. I could 20 not be more supportive of the proposed partnership
21 between its parent, LCMC Health, and Tulane
22 University.

23 My mother received care at EJ for stage 4
24 lung cancer, more than seven years ago. She was 25 given six months to live. The top-notch care she

1 received from EJ's doctors and nurses turned around
2 her quality of life and she is still alive today.

3 This partnership will transform EJ into an
4 academic medical center that will attract the best
5 and the brightest healthcare professionals to our 6 area so that we can continue to provide excellent
7 care. The Tulane and LCMC Health partnership brings 8 something to the table that didn't exist before.
9 The partnership will broaden and deepen the level of 10 service and delivery of care, and give the community
11 more options.

12 This partnership's proposed investments in 13 downtown are masterful. Investing in our healthcare
14 corridor will benefit our entire region in a
15 tremendous way. It is a difference maker for us
16 here in the City of New Orleans.

17 Thank you.

18 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

19 Next, we have a green card in support from 20 Peter Waggonner, present and would like to speak,
21 Greater New Orleans, Inc.

22 MR. PETER WAGGONNER: Hi. I'm Peter
23 Waggonner, Public Policy Manager for GNO, Inc.,
24 reading a prepared statement from Michael Hecht,
25 President and CEO of GNO, Inc.

1 MR. BRETT ROBINSON: Can you pull the
2 microphone closer to you? Thank you.

3 MR. PETER WAGGONER: The proposed
4 partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane
5 University helps realize a long-held vision by many,
6 including myself, of transforming our region into a
7 hub for destination healthcare. With these 8 investments, our region will have increased access
9 to the latest medical breakthroughs and clinical 10 trials that are intrinsic to academic medical 11 centers.

12 Jefferson Parish will gain a world-class
13 academic medical center at East Jefferson General
14 Hospital, with an estimated economic impact of 15 nearly $475 Million. Tulane University can build on 16 its historic investment to grow its downtown campus
17 with a vision of becoming a world-renowned research
18 and innovation powerhouse. And patients in St.
19 Tammany, Jefferson, and New Orleans Parishes, and 20 the entire region and state will receive state-of-
21 the-art enhanced care from a locally-owned nonprofit
22 system.

23 There is much to be excited about when you
24 look at collaboration between LCMC Health, LSU, and 25 Tulane from the estimated 2,300 jobs that will be

1 created to the thousands of lives that will be
2 improved.

3 Thank you.

4 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

5 Next, we have a green card from Emily
6 Brown, present and would like to speak. And this
7 says representing Tulane Medical School. Are you a
8 student there?

9 MS. EMILY BROWN: Yeah, I'm a medical
10 student.

11 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Great. Thank you.

12 MS. EMILY BROWN: Good morning. I'm Emily
13 Brown. I'm a third-year medical student at Tulane.
14 And I came to Tulane from Florida because I wanted
15 to learn medicine at a program with a mission to 16 serve its community, and that's the reputation that 17 it has for medical applicants.

18 I've not been disappointed. I see a deep
19 commitment to serve. And in the last year, I've had 20 the privilege of working at a wide variety of 21 hospitals in and around New Orleans, and I've seen
22 firsthand that there's a difference at LCMC
23 facilities. And it can be hard to define,
24 especially for me, as I don't have much experience,
25 but there's a feeling that there are adequate

1 resources, a feeling of strong teamwork, and I see
2 consistently high-quality patient care.

3 As a Tulane student, having hospital
4 administrators who share my values of compassionate,
5 mission-driven care, is really exciting. It's 6 exciting for me, and I know it's exciting for my 7 fellow students. From where I stand, I see great
8 benefit to our patients in partnering with LCMC.

9 Thank you.

10 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

11 Next, Jacquelyn Turner, Tulane University.
12 And are you a med student also?

13 DR. JACQUELYN TURNER: I wish. I'm a 14 physician.

15 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Oh, sorry. Sorry.

16 DR. JACQUELYN TURNER: That's okay.

17 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Well --

18 DR. JACQUELYN TURNER: Hi. My name is 19 Jacquelyn Turner, and I'm actually the Vice Chair of 20 Surgical Education in the department of surgery. So
21 I'm going to come and speak on two different
22 aspects.

23 One, I didn't -- I wasn't born and raised -
24 - I didn't grow up in New Orleans, so I can't give 25 some of that background, but as a newcomer, I can

1 tell you that the mission of HCA has been surprising
2 to me. And I appreciate that you brought up the 3 mission of LCMC. There has been a malalignment of 4 the mission statement with HCA, in my opinion. As 5 an educator, I've helped to implement programs for 6 our medical students, for our undergraduate 7 students, through pathway programs that helped
8 under-represented minorities get into med school.

9 And I did this for years in Atlanta,
10 Georgia, with Grady Memorial Hospital, with the help
11 of a couple of schools, Morehouse School of Medicine
12 and Emory University. And I came here trying to do
13 the same thing, and it has been a challenge under 14 the current HCA leadership and council. I
15 appreciate that LCMC has included education in their 16 mission statement, and I firmly believe that when 17 that's in your mission statement, that that goal is 18 going to be executed. So I believe that the 19 education -- from an education standpoint, that our 20 mission is much more aligned with the current LCMC
21 mission.

22 Two, as a provider, most of my patients are 23 under-served with Medicare, Medicaid, or not having 24 any insurance, about forty percent when I look at my 25 patient-pair mix. And with that said, again, I see

1 malalignment of my mission in serving my patients
2 with the current HCA mission statement. I say that
3 because, as a provider, I came and I am operating
4 under an archaic electronic medical record system
5 that, to me, belongs in 1980.

6 I -- it's very hard and difficult to take
7 care of patients when the electronic medical system
8 is so outdated. And it's sad to say that because,
9 you know, it's my understanding that Tulane has lost
10 funding, and so we're not the premier HCA child. So 11 we were not given the updated electronic medical 12 records system that some of the other HCA hospitals
13 have. So, again, with LCMC already having some of 14 these up-to-date technologies, it's in line with the 15 care of their mission statement -- aligned with 16 their mission statement.

17 In terms of diversity, I am truly a
18 proponent of improving health equity and educational 19 equity. And I really appreciate HCA's ten-page 20 document on their website that details out their 21 priority for improving the community health plan.
22 It's a plan that's going to begin this year that is 23 supposed to be carried out until at least 2025, with 24 five priorities. On this priority, they want to 25 include access and continuity of care, improve

1 mental and behavioral health, improve health
2 education and health literacy, improve
3 discrimination in healthcare, and improve health-
4 related impacts of violence.

5 So I wouldn't support an arrangement or an
6 acquisition that did not put our community first.
7 So as an African-American, I do believe that HCA is 8 trying to help with -- I'm sorry -- LCMC is trying 9 to help with healthcare disparities for both its 10 community and for its workers.

11 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you, Dr.
12 Turner.

13 I see we're getting close to noon, but I
14 would like to push through and get through these 15 cards, and then break before we get to all of the 16 written comments, because I know some of you may 17 need to leave.

18 The next green card we have is Dr. Robert
19 Hoover, present and would like to speak.

20 DR. ROBERT HOOVER: Good morning.

21 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Good morning.

22 DR. ROBERT HOOVER: I am Robert Hoover. I
23 am the chief of nephrology, which a lot of people
24 don't know what nephrology is. Everybody knows what 25 cardiology is. But nephrology is the study of

1 kidney diseases, and I'm the Chief of Nephrology at 2 Tulane University.

3 I have a somewhat different perspective
4 than many of the folks that have spoken here. I'm 5 kind of a newbie to Louisiana and New Orleans. I've 6 been here now for a year-and-a-half. And I think
7 the perspective that I bring is a broad-based 8 understanding of what a true academic medical center
9 is, and what a true academic medical center brings
10 to a region and to a state.

11 And to talk about that background:
12 previously, I was at Emory University; University of 13 Chicago; Vanderbilt University; Yale; and Harvard.
14 And so I've seen what a true academic medical center
15 is, and can be, and what it can do. And I think it
16 really starts with the three missions of any true
17 academic medical center, which is: research, patient
18 care, and education.

19 And any true academic medical center has to 20 cover all of those three things. They synergize
21 together. They form a union that, essentially,
22 improves all of those aspects, so that when you join
23 the patient care, and you join the research, and you
24 join the education all together, it creates a
25 synergy that is really unrivaled in medicine. And I

1 think it is in the short term and long term,
2 essential for a region to have if they are going to
3 advance to the best quality healthcare that we can 4 have.

5 And I will tell you, honestly, when I got 6 here I was surprised that Tulane University Medical 7 Center was not meeting that standard. And I didn't
8 understand why at first. It took me a while to 9 figure this out. And what I figured out was that 10 our partner at Tulane University Medical Center was 11 completely misaligned with our missions. They did
12 not have any of those missions that we had. I --
13 you know, they did healthcare and they made money.
14 And, you know, that -- the other parts of our 15 mission were not part of their mission.

16 And, in fact, this means that our main
17 hospital has not received the resources that you
18 have to have to be a true academic medical center.
19 We have not received the, really, the commitment
20 that is absolutely necessary if you're going to make 21 a true academic medical center. And so I believe
22 we've fallen short of that measure. And we've done
23 so because we've had a bad partner. And it is 24 absolutely essential, and it was and is absolutely
25 essential, that we find a better partner.

1 And I think we have found a better partner
2 now with LCMC. As others have detailed, they are, I
3 think, aligned with our mission. And I think we
4 will be able to achieve the goal of getting access
5 to a true academic medical center in New Orleans and 6 in Louisiana.

7 The one other point I want to make, us
8 kidney doctors we're kind of numbers people. So 9 some of this, for me, is about numbers. And, for 10 example, Tulane University Medical Center, due to 11 staffing issues, is not able to actually open all of 12 its beds right now. About half of our beds are 13 open, about a hundred and twenty beds instead of the 14 two hundred and forty that we actually have. And 15 then there's another twenty or thirty patients that 16 are in the ER, boarding in the ER.

17 These patients -- so, really, right now,
18 Tulane University Medical Center is only about a 19 150-bed hospital. And UMC is also, because of short 20 staffing, which is plaguing all of us, is also not 21 have all of their beds open. About half of their 22 beds are closed.

23 So there are plenty of beds at University
24 Medical Center and plenty of beds at East Jefferson
25 Hospital to accommodate those 150 patients that

1 we're presently caring for at Tulane University
2 Medical Center. All it will require is staffing.
3 And since LCMC has pledged that every employee at 4 Tulane Medical Center will have a job at LCMC, the 5 staffing will be able to move to the other
6 facilities and open up those beds. And so the 7 number of beds will not decrease. In fact, I think,
8 really, the synergy will allow the number of beds to 9 increase in the metro Louisiana area.

10 Those are my comments. Thank you.

11 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

12 Next, we have a green card from Jordan Lo,
13 present and would like to speak. Now, are you a
14 student?

15 MR. JORDAN LO: I am, yes.

16 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay. Thanks. Thank
17 you.

18 MR. JORDAN LO: My name is Jordan Lo, and I
19 am a first-year medical student at Tulane
20 University. I am also the class president of my 21 class.

22 I would like to take a brief moment to 23 express why I believe this partnership between LCMC
24 Health and Tulane will be pivotal and beneficial to 25 the New Orleans region, as well as the School of

1 Medicine student body. As a first-year medical
2 student, fresh out of the medical school application
3 cycle, I, and many of my classmates, chose Tulane
4 because we wanted to make this institution our
5 destination for getting our medical education here.
6 And this partnership with LCMC will only bolster and 7 confirm that we made the right decision in making
8 Tulane our home for the next four years.

9 First, we chose Tulane because we wanted to 10 serve and provide for the community of New Orleans.
11 And with this partnership, we will improve our 12 ability to accomplish this goal because it'll 13 increase access to comprehensive care in the 14 downtown New Orleans area and Jefferson Parishes,
15 ultimately allowing our class to serve the community
16 even further and better than before.

17 Second, we wanted to come here to Tulane
18 for the opportunity to help with advancements in 19 groundbreaking research and lifesaving treatments.
20 With this partnership, we will be able to achieve
21 this goal as well with the increase funding,
22 resources, and faculty in these new academic medical 23 centers that we can then engage in research with.

24 And lastly, we also -- I support this
25 partnership because it will provide more

1 opportunities for us to rotate through the different
2 facilities during our clinical years in our third
3 year. This will -- not only will this be more
4 beneficial to providing more care to our community,
5 but this will also strengthen the pipeline of 6 physicians, nurses, and others who will choose to 7 make New Orleans the place where they live and 8 practice for decades to come.

9 I am excited about the future here at 10 Tulane and LCMC, and I am confident that New Orleans
11 will benefit tremendously from this partnership.
12 Thank you.

13 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

14 Next, we have a green card from Dr. Ralph
15 L. Corsetti, Tulane University School of Medicine.

16 DR. RALPH L. CORSETTI: I am also not a
17 medical student. I'd like --

18 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Sorry. She didn't --
19 a lot of y'all had put M.D. behind your name, and so
20 that's why I got confused. I'm sorry.

21 DR. RALPH L. CORSETTI: It's all good.

22 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Yeah, so, thanks.

23 DR. RALPH L. CORSETTI: I'd like to thank 24 the panel and committee for the opportunity to speak
25 this morning. I'll be relatively brief, since a lot

1 of comments have already been made. I certainly
2 appreciate the red-card comments, predominantly from 3 the nursing staff at Tulane. I understand their 4 emotions and feelings about the issues at hand.

5 I'm Ralph Corsetti. I'm a surgical
6 oncologist, which is a cancer surgeon. I did my 7 training at Tulane thirty years ago in the early
8 '90s. I've been a Tulane staff member. I'm a full
9 professor of surgery in the Department of Surgery,
10 and a Vice Chair for Clinical Affairs in the 11 Department of Surgery.

12 Number one, this merger, to me, is 13 undoubtedly a great thing for the residents and 14 citizens of the State of Louisiana, and also for the 15 state itself. As we know, Louisiana is often called 16 the cancer ally between Baton Rouge and New Orleans
17 because of everything that comes down the river.
18 And for patients to often leave the state to head to 19 Houston or Birmingham, which are both five-hour
20 drives, for NCI-designated cancer centers is just 21 something I've seen happen over the thirty years
22 that I've been here.

23 I grew up in the Northeast. I'm not a
24 native of Louisiana, but I've been here for over 25 thirty years, and taken care of tens -- over ten

1 thousand cancer patients, probably, in my career.

2 This affiliation will allow access to basic
3 science and clinical practitioners. So with 4 Tulane's intense basic science commitment and RO1
5 grants, which are significant research grants funded
6 by the federal government, to have access to 7 clinical patient volume will improve all of those 8 things up there. It will decrease cost. It will 9 improve quality of care. It will increase access to 10 care by providing clinical trials.

11 We have doctors, myself, we've written
12 clinical trials. I've just got a clinical trial
13 approved, but we need to access patients. We have 14 methods now where we can do less invasive things for 15 -- and I take care of a lot of breast cancer
16 patients. And, you know, we are now moving towards,
17 you know, just removing lumps without even doing
18 radiation or mastectomies. In these clinical 19 trials, we need access to the patients. And this 20 partnership will allow for that.

21 I think it's going to be a great thing. I
22 can't wait until it gets started. Certainly,
23 there's precedent in this area. I was a resident
24 when Charity became a designated level 1 trauma
25 center. That would have never happened without the

1 cooperation of the two trauma directors between 2 Tulane and LSU, who worked very collaboratively to
3 make that happen and created, basically, a one-plus-
4 one-equals-three kind of situation, and improved
5 quality for the patients in the state and the city.

6 This designation and partnership will allow
7 retention. There's a lot of doctors that leave
8 Louisiana. And we see in the healthcare rankings
9 that Louisiana is often in the bottom five, if not 10 often fiftieth in healthcare rankings. And these 11 are a lot of the factors that drive those healthcare
12 rankings. And increased access to care means having 13 -- retaining and retention of the brightest minds.

14 So these collaborative agreements will 15 hopefully lead to bright -- a bright future for the 16 State of Louisiana.

17 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you. And make 18 sure you sign in, if you didn't.

19 DR. RALPH L. CORSETTI: I have.

20 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay.

21 Next, we have a green card by Dr. Jose
22 Wiley, present and would like to speak, from Tulane.

23 DR. JOSE WILEY: Good morning. I'm Dr.
24 Jose Wiley. I'm the Chief of Cardiology at Tulane
25 University School of Medicine. I'm actually very

1 excited over the opportunity of Tulane transferring
2 affiliation from a national level for-profit partner
3 to a local Louisiana nonprofit organization vested
4 in caring for the well being of the people of 5 Louisiana.

6 As a cardiologist and a trained public
7 health officer, since I have a degree in public
8 health as well, allow me to speak of what I know
9 better, about cardiology. Six point two million
10 adults in the United States have heart failure. And 11 Louisiana falls into the top quintile of highest 12 heart disease death rates; most of them from heart
13 failure.

14 However, years ago, when I was a trainee at 15 Tulane under Dr. Elma LeDoux, who's here with us,
16 Dean Hamm, who's also here with us, we had a robust
17 advanced heart failure mechanical circulatory
18 support and cardiac transplantation program that 19 provided great care to the people of Louisiana. Not 20 long after, HCA pulled the plug and shut the program
21 down; perhaps because it was not profitable to them.
22 But that left the people of Louisiana with only one
23 cardiac transplantation program: Ochsner. Now,
24 talking about monopoly.

25 Now, we have the opportunity to partner

1 with a local organization that will offer the 2 opportunity to have a choice, a deserved choice for 3 better care.

4 In regards to having Tulane and LSU working
5 together closely, under this affiliation, what 6 better news than that? The sick don't care whether 7 you're Tulane or LSU. They care about good doctors,
8 nurses, and caregivers. This affiliation will 9 foster a new generation of better physicians and 10 healthcare providers to serve the great people of 11 Louisiana.

12 Thank you.

13 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

14 Next, we have a green card from Dr.
15 Nakeisha Pierre, present and would like to speak,
16 from Tulane School of Medicine.

17 DR. NAKEISHA PIERRE: Good morning --

18 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Good morning.

19 DR. NAKEISHA PIERRE: -- and thank you for 20 the invitation to speak. I am a New Orleans native.
21 Most of my medical training was done between the LSU
22 healthcare system and Tulane healthcare system. And 23 I have been on staff with Tulane, as faculty, for 24 fourteen years as a cardiac anesthesiologist.

25 So I had the opportunity, in conjunction

1 with my surgical partners, to care for the liver
2 transplant patients that our nurses have mentioned,
3 and patients whose disposition is the critical care
4 unit.

5 Our relationship with HCA is unsustainable.
6 Their goals are not aligned. The predecessor to our 7 current CEO, William Lunn, shared with our medical 8 community that their model of care was not a tripod
9 of healthcare, education, and research. He mirrored
10 it to a tricycle, where the big wheel was 11 healthcare, and then the tiny little pedals were 12 research and education.

13 I will share with you that healthcare and 14 the quality of healthcare, as a partner with HCA,
15 has not been a big wheel. They've all been very 16 small pedals. I'll give you a clinical example.

17 I was called to our post-anesthesia care
18 unit, or the recovery room, emergently to reintubate
19 a patient that was clearly in respiratory distress.
20 The support that I had from the nursing staff was 21 there. All of the personnel that I needed was 22 there. When I asked for the critical equipment that 23 I needed to secure this patient's airway, our airway
24 box was handed to us with masking tape around the 25 box. That delayed our ability and opportunity to

1 access the equipment that I needed. And when we
2 finally were able to break the tape, and open the 3 box, and get the things that were essential,
4 irreparable brain damage was caused to this patient.

5 That patient is a father. The patient is a
6 husband. That patient is a brother.

7 I take care of liver transplant cases.
8 These are critical cases. They're very sick. Those 9 patients often lose their ability to be able to 10 develop blood clots during a surgical procedure. I
11 rely on a very critical piece of equipment, called a 12 TEG machine, to be able to assess in realtime how 13 great of a job we're doing in restoring that 14 patient's critical ability to be able to form blood
15 clots.

16 I walk into the hospital. I just happen to 17 take the long way to our anesthesia surgical unit.
18 And I walk past our TEG machine, and there's just a 19 sign on it that says "Out of Order." No one had 20 been alerted; not the transplant team, none of our 21 surgeons, none of our transplant anesthesiologists.
22 This is a critical piece of equipment.

23 This is what we have been experiencing with 24 HCA for far too long. There is no investment in 25 patient care. There's no investment in patient

1 safety. It is incredibly difficult to make
2 meaningful changes. The leadership changes so
3 often, that most times now I'm not sure who, with 4 the exception of CEO and COO, who are in positions
5 of leadership there because it's a revolving door.

6 We're able to recruit good people, but it's
7 impossible to retain them because you're not in a
8 system that's invested in the patients, nor are they 9 invested in the clinicians, the practitioners, and 10 the nurses. The morale is the lowest that it has 11 ever been over my past fourteen years.

12 We're encouraged now to have a partner like
13 LCMC that we know is focused on all of those things
14 that are important to us as Tulane providers. I've 15 never considered leaving Tulane. Tulane has been my 16 home for the last fourteen years. My goal is to 17 retire and to be able to continue to make a 18 meaningful career. Prior to the announcement of 19 this merger, it was the first time that I considered
20 having to leave the state and look for a position
21 elsewhere because I knew that the partnership with 22 HCA, it just -- we were at the point where we were 23 providing unsafe care. And that's very difficult
24 for me to do, as someone that's invested in patient
25 advocacy.

1 So I would ask that you strongly consider
2 what it means to our patients, what it means to the 3 providers, what it means to our nurses to have a
4 partnership that really aligns with what we should
5 be in academic medicine.

6 Thank you.

7 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

8 Next, we have a green card from Darren
9 Cheng, present and would like to speak, Tulane
10 University School of Medicine student.

11 MR. DARREN CHENG: Good afternoon,
12 everybody. Thank you for the opportunity to speak.
13 As Dr. Corsetti alluded to earlier, you know,
14 definitely want to acknowledge the opposition and,
15 you know, the perspectives of many of the nurses
16 here.

17 I'm an MD/MBA student at Tulane and also 18 one of the founding members of the Racial and Social 19 Justice in Medical Education committee at Tulane.
20 And I'm here to really just bring a lot of shared
21 perspective and lived experiences to this
22 partnership with LCMC.

23 In my role at Tulane, I also oversaw twenty 24 plus student-run free clinics, which served the 25 under-served community in the Greater New Orleans

1 area as well. And so I certainly appreciate and 2 understand this idea of health equity in serving the 3 community of New Orleans for the last four years. I
4 attended Tulane as an undergraduate student in 2010,
5 so I've lived in New Orleans for a good twelve
6 years. And by the time I'm done, it'll be almost
7 fifteen years. And so I've gotten a really good lay
8 of the land of both Orleans Parish, Jefferson
9 Parish, and really the entire state.

10 There's a few things that I can touch on.
11 You know, before medical school, I was in nursing.
12 I did EMS, and so I certainly have the appreciation
13 of a frontline worker and what it takes to 14 successfully and almost seamlessly have a good
15 running hospital from the emergency department, all
16 the way up to the wards.

17 And so, you know, one of the linchpins is 18 the nursing profession. And I truly do believe that 19 this partnership will create a pipeline of nurses to 20 be able to sustain the demand of nurses in this
21 state and all around the country.

22 And there are opportunities for growth at 23 University Medical Center. And we can see it when 24 we're on the wards, in the emergency department, in 25 terms of beds not being filled. And that's always

1 been the problem when we have boarders in the 2 emergency department, having to go to other
3 emergency departments because of long waits, but you
4 know, if we are able to -- able to fulfill the need
5 of that nursing shortage, we can get beds opened up
6 on the wards and be able to clean up the emergency
7 department, and ensure those wait times stay low.

8 You know, I think another thing, too, is --
9 is being able to utilize and leverage this LCMC
10 network and the various hospitals that they have 11 within their network to open up different service
12 lines and the research across those different
13 hospitals. And I think from a long-term
14 perspective, there's definitely going to be more of 15 a spectrum of primary care in Orleans and Jefferson
16 Parish as well. There's certainly no secret that 17 there is a lack and a large disparity of primary 18 care in this country. And from a sustainability and 19 longevity perspective, we can bridge that health
20 equity gap by fostering this more physician and 21 patient alignment in a minority-majority population
22 like New Orleans, by exposing our trainees and our 23 medical students to primary care, not at just in 24 Orleans Parish, but in Jefferson Parish.

25 And being a former LCMC employee myself

1 working in nursing, I truly do believe that they do
2 foster and embody the values and the pillars that 3 they boast, and that they do give back to the 4 community. And, you know, this is certainly 5 something that I do believe that this partnership
6 with Tulane University School of Medicine and LCMC
7 Health is one that's going to be successful, and I
8 do think it is a win-win for everybody, not just the 9 community, but the patients and the trainees and 10 everybody else involved. So thank you.

11 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

12 Next, we have a green card from Paul
13 Gladden, present and would like to speak, Tulane
14 University School of Medicine, GME.

15 DR. PAUL GLADDEN: Good morning, and thank 16 you. I didn't put M.D. on there, hoping for the 17 student comment, too, but I guess I don't look young 18 enough. I do want to thank you for this chance to 19 speak in favor of this partnership. Having been 20 married for a significant amount of time, I'll also 21 tell you three minutes is more time than I normally
22 get to make my point, so we should be just fine.

23 I did train up in New York City, where I
24 did my residency and my medical school. And I
25 learned early on that if you're not looking for

1 improvements, and if you're not looking for change,
2 you're not evolving, you're actually devolving and
3 you're going to die. I think this is a great
4 opportunity.

5 Here in Louisiana, I am the Dean of 6 Graduate Medical Education, as well as the Chief of 7 Orthopaedic Trauma Surgery. And in that field, in 8 my clinical role, I can't thank LCMC enough for 9 their support and their true commitment for making
10 sure we're at our best when people are at their 11 worst. That is truly something I've seen over the 12 years that we do exceedingly well. That is a 13 service that we will never continue -- never not 14 provide, and it's with their support, we're able to 15 do so well for the people of not only Louisiana, but 16 the states around us.

17 As far as in an academic role, I need to 18 advocate for 540 residents and 40 different
19 programs. But actually, though, the best way I see 20 for doing that is to advocate for the millions of 21 people who potentially they will treat and the 22 thousands that they actually do. And by doing that,
23 they feel the success of having a good career, and,
24 more importantly, give good outcomes to patients
25 that Louisiana deserves.

1 So I'm not so much advocating for just my
2 residents, even though I think the world of them.
3 I'm advocating for the people they'll get a chance
4 to touch. And this partnership, I think, will 5 greatly improve their ability to take good care of 6 the people of Louisiana.

7 I'll just close by saying the partnership
8 will not only improve clinical care, it will improve
9 nursing numbers. We all realize that's been quite a 10 problem. And it will improve research. And in that 11 way, we can all take much, much better care of our 12 patients.

13 Thank you.

14 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

15 Next, we have a green card, present and 16 would like to speak, Lee Hamm, Tulane School of 17 Medicine.

18 DR. LEE HAMM: Thank you for having the 19 hearing. I'm Lee Hamm. I've been in New Orleans
20 thirty years. I wish I was a student. I'm the Dean
21 of the School of Medicine and the Senior Vice 22 President of the university, and have been up close
23 to this evolving plan and assessment of what will 24 happen.

25 The economic and research advantages of

1 this partnership are pretty straightforward and
2 obvious in a way, but I think what does need to be
3 focused on, in my mind, first are the patients. You
4 know, that's our ultimate responsibility as 5 caregivers and as a medical school. And it's the 6 patients today and the patients tomorrow. as well.

7 I love that first story about the heart
8 problem and the young child. That says a lot, but 9 it also is access to care. And we've got to ensure 10 that. And this plan will, undoubtedly. If we're 11 satisfied with the status quo -- no one is satisfied
12 with the status quo. This is a chance to make 13 things better in the community, this good
14 partnership between Tulane and LCMC.

15 The second for the medical school is the 16 learners. Is it going to make things better for the 17 students and residents? And because they represent 18 the care of the patients in the future. And it also 19 clearly will for them. One of the things that's 20 great about sitting in my position is I get to see 21 all the passion that they bring to this. And the 22 Tulane students frequently, as a few of them have 23 mentioned, they frequently come, not only for the 24 skill they'll learn, the compassion they'll learn,
25 but they really want to help communities. And this

1 will help us do this.

2 I love the passion of the nurses. They're
3 striving for making certain that the patients are 4 cared for properly. So we've got to have a great
5 plan, which is still evolving. But this is a great
6 partnership. You've heard a lot of the particulars,
7 and I don't need to do them.

8 Thank you for listening.

9 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Next, we have a green
10 card. We actually have two green cards. I think 11 it's the same person. Dr. John Stewart, present and 12 would like to speak.

13 DR. JOHN STEWART: I'd like to thank you
14 for the opportunity to come before you to discuss
15 why I think that the LCMC's acquisition of Tulane
16 and its assets will have a favorable impact upon our 17 state.

18 So I'm Dr. John Stewart. I'm the cancer
19 center director for the LSU-LCMC cancer center. I
20 am a native of Louisiana. Yes, Shreveport does 21 count. I'm a proud graduate of Louisiana Tech. I
22 had the opportunity to leave the state thirty years
23 ago, and trained at institutions throughout the East
24 and Southeast, including: Howard, Temple University,
25 National Cancer Institute, and Vanderbilt

1 University. I then was on faculty at institutions
2 throughout the Southeast, including Wake Forest
3 University School of Medicine, as well as Duke
4 University. And I was recruited to the University
5 of Illinois as the deputy director of the cancer
6 center.

7 So I think that it has been, personally, my 8 greatest professional privilege to come back to the 9 state of Louisiana to serve as the Cancer Center
10 Director, as we begin to understand how we address
11 issues and inequities in cancer throughout our 12 state.

13 So through partnerships with LSU and 14 Tulane, the LCMC system has thousands of -- has 15 trained thousands of medical, dental, and nursing
16 students. Why is this important? It is important
17 because our health outcomes in this state are 18 directly proportional to the opportunity to have 19 face-to-face interactions. We need more medical 20 professionals in our state. This partnership
21 represents an opportunity for us to train
22 professionals in the state and to stay local to 23 serve our citizens.

24 As was mentioned, I was recruited by LCMC
25 Health and LSU a year-and-a-half ago after being

1 away for thirty years. I came back to the state of 2 Louisiana knowing that there are tremendous
3 challenges in our current cancer rates, as cancer
4 visits an unequal burden on the citizens of our
5 state. This challenge presents a tremendous
6 opportunity to collaborate and address these cancer
7 rates and drive equitable care to all patients of 8 our state.

9 Together with LSU, LCMC Health has invested
10 $75 Million in pursuing the first and only National 11 Cancer Institute designation in the region to 12 support families and communities impacted by cancer.
13 I'm extremely optimistic that our path ahead, and I
14 look forward to collaborating with Tulane in the 15 future.

16 I'll end with a statement from my interim
17 chancellor, Dr. Steve Nelson: This unique
18 partnership will bring together highly trained
19 specialists in a multi-disciplinary approach,
20 combined with advanced medical technology that will
21 offer the best patient outcomes for complex life-
22 threatening diseases. Together, we will conduct
23 innovative research leading to critical advancements
24 to prevent, diagnose, and treat disease. Our city
25 and state will reap the benefits of the engine that

1 drive robust economic development, generating good
2 jobs, and enormous economic impact.

3 Again, thank you so much for the 4 opportunity to speak before you.

5 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

6 Next, we have a green card from Jeff
7 DeMond, Tulane School of Medicine, present and would 8 like to speak.

9 And after that, we have three more green
10 cards, and then we'll take a break.

11 MX. JEFF DEMOND: Good afternoon, everyone.
12 My name is Jeff DeMond. I use they/them pronouns.
13 I am a third-year medical student at Tulane
14 University School of Medicine. I'm honored to also 15 serve as our class president of the third-year
16 class. I'm a dual M.D. Masters of Public Health
17 student. And I'm a certified community engagement
18 advocate through the Uptown Office of Multi-Cultural 19 Affairs and Center for Public Service.

20 I've been reflecting a lot lately on what
21 the role of a medical student is in a hospital. I
22 think that it boils down to two main components that 23 have one central tenant. I think the components
24 are, of course, learning; and second, patient
25 advocacy. And I think that they are united in a

1 pursuit of love, not just for ourselves, but for our
2 colleagues, for our communities, and, of course, for 3 our patients.

4 I think that a partnership with LCMC Health
5 is the next step forward towards providing, not just 6 compassionate care, but the care that our patients
7 deserve. It's hard to provide the best patient care
8 to a patient who must be roomed in a hallway in 9 Tulane University's emergency room, something that 10 we see very often. Right?

11 I believe that LCMC shares a vision of 12 developing better opportunities for medical students
13 to learn, to engage in research, to become the best
14 providers that we can be. Right? In a short year-
15 and-a-half, I will have all of my little degrees,
16 and I'll go out into the world and be a resident,
17 and I'll be providing care in a way that I want to 18 speak to my own beliefs, and the reason that I
19 decided to attend Tulane University School of 20 Medicine. And I believe that LCMC and Tulane share
21 that vision.

22 Thank you for your time.

23 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Do you know what you
24 would like to get a residency in?

25 MR. JEFF DEMOND: Currently, I -- so I

1 worked with Dr. Corsetti a bit this summer, and I
2 did kind of fall in love with surgery at the time,
3 so that's what I'm thinking at the current moment.

4 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: I should have -- I
5 missed out. I should have asked all the students.
6 I'm sorry. I thought that you were going to tell me
7 you were going to want to do medicine because you're 8 just -- I thought your personality. So I was just 9 curious.

10 All right. Next, is Holly Lassere, who has 11 a green card, present and would like to speak.

12 MS. HOLLY LASSERE: Hi. Good afternoon.
13 My name is Holly Lassere. I am the marketing and 14 communication director at East Jefferson General
15 Hospital. And I have a statement to read on behalf
16 of one of our patients, Tatum Clautaire (phonetic).

17 My name is Tatum Clautaire, and when I was 18 18 years old, I had a stroke. As you can imagine,
19 this was a very scary time for me and my family, but 20 my fear was a little more bearable because of the 21 amazing care I received at East Jefferson General
22 Hospital and the LCMC Health family of hospitals.

23 The reason I went to East Jefferson was 24 because my grandmother suffered a massive stroke
25 when she was 54. She received care at East

1 Jefferson and had a favorable outcome because of a
2 new drug that was administered to her and reversed
3 the effects of her stroke. Because of that positive
4 experience, when I started showing signs of a
5 stroke, my mom knew exactly where she wanted to 6 bring me for treatment. Even though we lived closer
7 to Ochsner-Kenner, my mom instructed EMS to bring me
8 to East Jefferson General Hospital.

9 The emergency room nurses, Allison, Kimmy
10 (phonetic), and several others were amazing and 11 eased my fears. And then Dr. Peterson, an E.J.
12 Neurologist, diagnosed my stroke and started my 13 treatment. Dr. Dumont, a Tulane neurosurgeon,
14 operated and removed the clot on my brain. Dr.
15 Deffer also played a key role in my recovery. He 16 went out of his way and worked overtime to check on 17 me every day after my stroke to make sure I was 18 strong enough for my neck surgery, and then referred 19 me to LSU Cardiologist Dr. Cox.

20 Dr. Cox and Children's Hospital New Orleans
21 Cardiologist Dr. Bartakian performed a heart
22 procedure to close a hole in my heart. After that 23 procedure, I was still having an issue with 24 bleeding, so I followed up with Dr. Cox at 25 University Medical Center, where he was seeing

1 patients that day. Nurses from East Jefferson, Lori
2 and Nicole, helped coordinate all of my care. The 3 team at LCMC Health was instrumental to my recovery
4 and turned a very overwhelming experience into my 5 testimony.

6 The assistance, care, and concern of the 7 nursing staff, Lakiesha and others, was comforting
8 to my entire family. I'm happy to share that I am
9 in good health today, and currently a student at 10 LSU. After my experience, my mom shared a thank you
11 note with the team at East Jefferson stating: I
12 can't thank you all enough for the gift of peace it
13 gave our family to be so well cared for. Please be 14 assured that you will stay in our prayers. You are 15 truly angels on earth. My family is forever
16 grateful for what East Jefferson gave us. We know
17 that the partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane
18 will help even more families.

19 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

20 MS. HOLLY LASSERE: Thank you.

21 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Michelle, are we 22 missing a card?

23 MS. MICHELLE BOUTTE: Yes.

24 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay. Okay. Let me
25 just make sure they didn't get stuck together. We

1 have: Steven Morelock, Olivia Cooper, Michael
2 Robertshaw, Kaylen Edwards, Mea Ratcliff, Meg M --
3 okay, sorry. Let me just make sure I didn't miss
4 any other ones -- Caleb Holmes and Curtis Williams.
5 Okay.

6 Meg, do you want to go ahead speak? We
7 have a red card from Meg Maloney, in opposition,
8 would like to speak, representing the New Orleans
9 Workers Assembly. And I apologize. The paper is 10 kind of thin and it just got stuck together.

11 MS. MEG MALONEY: It's okay. Good morning.

12 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

13 MS. MEG MALONEY: My name is Meg Maloney.
14 I'm a New Orleans resident and member of the New 15 Orleans Workers Assembly. New Orleans Workers
16 Assembly is a network of unions, worker organizing
17 committees, and community organizations. I know
18 many people who cannot make it to this hearing
19 because it's being held in Baton Rouge instead of 20 New Orleans, the city which this is happening and 21 whose residents will be directly affected.

22 I do not see a single working-class person
23 on the screen while they were speaking of 24 overwhelming public support. In the words of 25 Bethany James, a patient who cannot be here today:

1 Healthcare is a luxury. It's not a luxury. It's a
2 necessity. The fact that this decision is being
3 made without the full input of those most affected
4 is honestly unacceptable.

5 Many people do not have the ability to take
6 off work to be here, nor can many afford to do so.
7 On top of this, countless residents do not have a
8 way to get to Baton Rouge, all the way from New 9 Orleans. There needs to be a hearing in the city of 10 New Orleans that's fully accessible to community
11 members and patients who are the most affected by 12 this decision.

13 The New Orleans healthcare system already
14 took a huge hit when Charity Hospital was closed, a
15 loss that rippled across the community. We need
16 access to care within our city limits. The last 17 thing our city needs is the closure of another
18 hospital. Access to care needs to be prioritized
19 above profit. The needs and input of patients, and 20 working-class community members needs to be a top
21 priority.

22 Myself and the New Orleans Workers Assembly
23 as a whole stand in full support of nurses and 24 patients who oppose the sale and closure of Tulane
25 Hospital. There is nothing stopping y'all from

1 holding a second hearing in the City of New Orleans.

2 This entire process feels rushed.

3 We call for an accessible hearing to be 4 held in the city of New Orleans and call on the 5 Attorney General to block the sale and not close
6 down Tulane Hospital.

7 Thank you.

8 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

9 Next, we have a green card from Jason Otis,
10 LCMC Health, present and would like to speak.

11 MR. JASON OTIS: Hi. I'm Jason Otis,
12 Senior Creative Director, LCMC Health, reading a
13 statement on behalf of Mayra Pineda of the Hispanic
14 Chamber of Commerce of Louisiana.

15 LCMC Health has been a strong partner to 16 our organization and is truly committed to the 17 betterment of Southeast Louisiana and to our 18 community. In fact, LCMC Health will be opening a 19 Hispanic clinic at West Jefferson Medical Center
20 later this month. This facility specializes in the 21 health needs of the Hispanic community, offering a
22 variety of primary and specialized care services
23 from highly-trained Spanish-speaking healthcare
24 providers. This is just one example of LCMC
25 Health's longstanding tradition of investing in New

1 Orleans and our region.

2 The partnership between LCMC Health and
3 Tulane University will ensure residents of our area
4 receive high quality and accessible healthcare,
5 along with investments in medical research,
6 innovation and training.

7 In addition, this partnership will bring
8 substantial economic benefits to the region through 9 various investments, ranging from facilities to 10 training programs, such as revitalizing downtown
11 facilities and launching a program to train the next 12 generation of nurses.

13 Moreover, this partnership will preserve
14 jobs in our healthcare sector and will create 15 additional opportunities across a range of 16 disciplines, including clinical, educational, and 17 support positions. It will cement New Orleans as a 18 destination for highly qualified medical 19 professionals, and the planned nursing program will 20 help immensely in addressing our nursing shortage,
21 which is particularly acute in Louisiana.

22 We believe this partnership will bring an 23 array of benefits, and is positive for our 24 community. On behalf of the Hispanic Chamber of 25 Commerce of Louisiana, I encourage you to approve

1 this partnership.

2 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you.

3 And the last green card we have is for Mike
4 Enlow, and it's not marked. I'm not sure if he 5 wants to speak or not.

6 Okay. Anybody else wanted to provide a
7 public comment?

8 (No response.)

9 Okay. We're going to go ahead and break
10 for twenty minutes until 12:45. There's a little
11 cafeteria if anybody needs anything. We have a lot 12 of public comments that were submitted to us in 13 writing. It's going to take a while to go through 14 them. And I'm just letting you know, so that you
15 can manage your expectations if you decide you're 16 going to stay for that. Thank you.

17 (A break was taken from 12:15 p.m. to 12:53
18 p.m.)

19 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: At this time, we're 20 going to allow closing remarks by the applicant, and 21 then we will continue recognizing the public comment
22 that was submitted to our office in writing.

23 MS. JOANN KUNKEL: Thank you. And thank 24 you for all of the comments. In closing, what we 25 want to reiterate is as we went through this,

1 develop this relationship and this new partnership,
2 our number one priority always has been, and always
3 will be, our patients. We seek to partner with 4 Tulane to be able to provide even higher quality
5 care to more patients than we do today.

6 In response to some of the comments that we 7 heard earlier, both TMC and University Medical 8 Center Downtown are currently underutilized and have 9 significant open unfilled capacity. Last year,
10 Tulane Medical Center was less than fifty percent
11 occupied. LCMC Health hospitals have more than 12 enough available space to care for the TMC patients,
13 including significant capacity that exists downtown
14 at University Medical Center, just blocks and a
15 short walk away from TMC.

16 Tulane students and staff regularly walk
17 from TMC to University Medical Center, and patients
18 will be able to do the same to access services at 19 UMC downtown, including significant Medicaid and 20 Medicare populations.

21 MR. PATRICK NORTON: So, yeah, just to 22 reiterate, one of our guiding principles, really 23 from day one when we were talking to LCMC, was how 24 to continue high-quality accessible healthcare in 25 downtown New Orleans. And as JoAnn had mentioned,

1 there is that just underutilization at both
2 hospitals, and there is plenty of space and not just
3 that, a commitment, right, to ensure that we are
4 going to meet the needs of all New Orleanians
5 downtown. So I just wanted to just reiterate that.
6 It's really important. And we heard it from the 7 nurses that were represented. And it's something
8 that, really, was our guiding principal.

9 I just want to go back and just, kind of,
10 summarize a few things from our perspective. And 11 one is we're local. LCMC Health, Tulane University
12 are local, mission-based, nonprofit organizations
13 that call Southeast Louisiana our home. We're 14 neighbors. We see each other all over. And there's 15 really, in my mind, nothing like home cooking.
16 Right? Everybody's home and we're kind of working
17 together.

18 We have shared values and a vision to 19 partner to bring the best of community healthcare.
20 Right? I mean, taking care of the patients that 21 come through the doors. And academic medical 22 center. You heard from a lot of the speakers, and 23 much more eloquently than I can make, about the 24 power of academic medicine. Right? And just to 25 reiterate, we're going to have two academic medical

1 centers: one at the UMC, that's, by the way, already 2 staffed with LSU docs, and Tulane docs, and
3 residents; and at East Jeff, which doesn't have an 4 academic medical center now. There will be two
5 within our area, which is going to be really
6 amazing.

7 We're going to increase access to
8 comprehensive and specialty care across our region,
9 advanced groundbreaking research, innovative 10 technologies, and lifesaving treatments to ensure 11 all of our patients throughout the region and 12 communities can receive the highest quality of care
13 right here in New Orleans.

14 MS. JOANN KUNKEL: And we do believe this 15 partnership will expand access to quality care.
16 We're committed to ensuring a seamless transition
17 for our patients, all of whom will continue to 18 receive the high quality care they need and deserve.
19 All patients who currently receive care at Tulane
20 Medical Center will be able to access the same high
21 quality care at LCMC's University Medical Center,
22 which is located downtown, and at East Jefferson
23 Hospital, as well as the other hospitals across LCMC
24 Health.

25 The combination of our efforts and clinical

1 volumes will increase the frequency of treatment and
2 services that our physicians provide, advancing
3 clinician's capabilities and directly resulting in 4 improved patient outcomes.

5 We will continue to engage and work with 6 the staff as we plan for the relocation of the 7 services.

8 MR. PATRICK NORTON: So when you think --
9 so when we -- in my role as COO and treasurer, I
10 have a long lense, and also a pretty large 11 portfolio, and one of them is strategy. And this is 12 one of these times that -- we talk about moments of 13 time, and this is one of those. Right? So where we 14 can provide that high quality accessible healthcare,
15 create two academic medical centers, and also 16 increase our research footprint downtown, provide a
17 scalable nursing program to meet a tremendous 18 shortage in our city and our state around just a 19 shortage of nurses. And we can do that really,
20 really quickly with that space.

21 So when I look at these assets and what
22 we're trying to accomplish, and we've heard win-win,
23 maybe we heard win-win-win, but this is one of those 24 moments in time when you look at these assets, and 25 you say, wow, we could leverage this, we could

1 expand the research footprint of Tulane University,
2 these nursing programs, clinical services, and
3 create two academic medical centers by joining
4 forces with LCMC.

5 So we're looking at continuing our
6 investment in downtown New Orleans, including new 7 construction, a multitude of enhancements, the 8 Charity Hospital building, it's -- it's -- you're 9 going to see a lot more activity happening outside
10 Charity in the next four weeks. And we're going to 11 repurpose that Tulane Medical Center building to 12 better serve the needs of our communities. Right?
13 Thriving center of cutting-edge research and 14 innovation is going to happen. That new nursing 15 program I mentioned; clinical research; educational 16 space; graduate programs in public health, social 17 work, professional advancement, all those things are 18 going to be enhanced and invigorated in that 19 downtown space.

20 You've heard us talk about the demand for 21 nurses. I don't need to go more into that.

22 And lastly on this point, Tulane University
23 will approximately add 2,300 jobs across New Orleans
24 and Louisiana. Twenty-three hundred jobs by our 25 development of downtown.

1 MS. JOANN KUNKEL: We also want to
2 reiterate that we are -- we do value the providers
3 and all employees. And they will continue to have 4 jobs. We value the providers and the employees
5 across all of the LCMC Health and Tulane Hospital
6 facilities, and are committed to retaining staff
7 across both organizations.

8 All employees at the three Tulane hospitals
9 will continue to have jobs under this exciting
10 partnership. Being able to staff appropriately will 11 also help us with the underutilization and the 12 capacity that we do have at our facilities,
13 utilizing the expertise of the staff that we do
14 have.

15 And, specifically, this partnership
16 transitions the operating interest of Tulane Medical 17 Center, Lakeside, and Lakeview, from an out-of-state
18 for-profit operator to a local not-for-profit with 19 demonstrated track record of putting the health of 20 the community first.

21 MR. PATRICK NORTON: So we -- just to 22 reiterate, we believe this partnership will result
23 in this, in really those three elements that the 24 COPA provides for: high quality and improved access
25 to healthcare for patients throughout our region

1 without any, really, undue increase in healthcare
2 costs. So we believe that is going to happen with
3 this partnership.

4 Both organizations currently operate with
5 excess capacity, as I mentioned, as JoAnn mentioned,
6 presenting a significant opportunity to be a more
7 efficient use of our resources, realize operational
8 and financial benefits that will attract higher
9 skilled labor and fund cutting-edge clinical 10 technologies, advanced patient care delivery in New 11 Orleans.

12 Patients will continue to have many options
13 when it comes to choosing what they want, where they 14 want to receive their care, as there will continue
15 to be multiple hospitals, health systems, and other 16 healthcare facilities that provide inpatient and 17 outpatient services in the region.

18 As was mentioned about the UMC, literally,
19 our school of med students walk. It's a few blocks.
20 They walk from taking classes from Hutchinson or 21 from the Murphy building, and they literally walk
22 across the highway and they're at the UMC. So the 23 proximity of our downtown hospital, UMC, is just a
24 couple of blocks.

25 And, lastly, this partnership will enhance

1 delivery of care, and advance health equity by
2 increasing access to comprehensive care in downtown
3 New Orleans -- we've said that many times, but we 4 can't say it enough -- and create expanded hubs for 5 specialty care, innovation, in both Orleans and 6 Jefferson Parishes, the two academic medical centers
7 that I spoke of.

8 MS. JOAN KUNKEL: And finally, combining
9 clinical services at East Jefferson General
10 Hospital, and expanding clinical services and 11 academic expertise at the University Medical Center
12 New Orleans, will enhance the delivery of care
13 across both Orleans and Jefferson Parishes.

14 We're excited to bring these and many other 15 benefits to patients in New Orleans and throughout
16 the State of Louisiana.

17 MR. PATRICK NORTON: So I hope our 18 presentation and all of the great public comments we 19 had really highlighted the extraordinary benefits
20 that will accrue to the citizens of Louisiana and 21 beyond. And we thank you.

22 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Thank you. I just 23 wanted to say that I am happy to hear that you're 24 going to take efforts to retain employees since we 25 did hear some concerns and some red cards from

1 nurses that were concerned about maybe losing jobs
2 or having changes in pay and benefits. And so I
3 wish they were here to hear that.

4 MS. JOANN KUNKEL: We have tried to 5 communicate the commitment. We have so many 6 positions available. We are very committed to all
7 of the staff.

8 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay.

9 MR. PATRICK NORTON: And by the way, we've
10 been very public about that as well. This is not a 11 secret. We've been public in all kinds of 12 communications. Actually been in the press, too,
13 about that commitment by LCMC to retain jobs.

14 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: And services?

15 MS. JOANN KUNKEL: Yes.

16 MR. PATRICK NORTON: And services.

17 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay. Thank you.

18 At this time, we are going to go through 19 the written comments that were received by our 20 office. They will be attached to the court
21 reporter's transcript of this proceeding. I will 22 not read them all, but I will indicate who sent 23 them. And if there's a date, I'll indicate that as 24 well. Thank you.

25 MR. PATRICK NORTON: Thank you.

1 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay. So we received
2 a letter that's undated from the National Nurses
3 Organizing Committee from Bradley Van Waus, W-A-U-S,
4 who expressed some concerns with regard to the 5 application.

6 We were sent a copy of a Jefferson Parish
7 press release dated October 21, 2022. It was sent 8 to us on December 5th, in support of the 9 transaction.

10 We received an email from Jay DeSalvo --
11 Dr. Jay DeSalvo in support of the transaction.

12 We received an email from Margie Galloway
13 in support of the transaction.

14 We received an email from Norman Barnum in 15 support of the transaction. I realize I didn't say
16 the date, but this one's dated December 6th.

17 We received an email from Walt Leger, III,
18 and he is in support of the transaction. And his 19 email is from Tuesday, December 6th.

20 We received an email from Christopher Roth
21 December 6, 2022, in support of the transaction.

22 We received a comment via email from
23 Charlotte Parent, dated December 7, 2022, in support
24 of the transaction.

25 We received a comment in support of the

1 transaction from Misty Sherlock December 7, 2022, in
2 support of the transaction.

3 We received a comment from Terri Taylor
4 Joseph in support of the transaction, and the email
5 is dated December 7, 2022.

6 We received a comment from Stephen Hales in 7 support of the transaction. The comment is dated
8 December 7, 2022.

9 We received a comment in favor of the 10 transaction from JoAnn Kunkel. The comment is dated
11 December 7, 2022.

12 We received a comment from Suzanne Haggard
13 in support of the transaction, via email, and it's 14 dated December 7, 2022.

15 For purposes of this record, just all of 16 the dates are 2022.

17 So we received an email in support of the 18 transaction from Andy Leblanc on December 7th.

19 We received a public comment from Lisa
20 Miranda, via email, in support of the transaction on 21 December 7th.

22 We received a public comment, via email,
23 from Shannon Belanger in support of the transaction
24 on December 7th.

25 We received an email, or a public comment

1 via email, from John R. Cook on December 7th in
2 support of the transaction.

3 We received a comment from Alison Anderson
4 in support of the transaction on December 7th, via 5 email.

6 We received a comment from Amy Edwards, via 7 email, on December 7th in support of the
8 transaction.

9 We received a comment from Eli Smith, via 10 email, on December 7th in support of the
11 transaction.

12 We received a comment, via email, from 13 Byron Stockstill on December 7th in support of the 14 transaction.

15 We received a comment, via email, from Ruby
16 Brewer on December 7th in support of the 17 transaction.

18 We received a comment from Lucio Fragoso,
19 via email, in support of the transaction on December
20 7th.

21 We received a comment in support of the 22 transaction on December 7th from Elias Ayoub.

23 We received a comment in support of the 24 transaction on December 7th from Robert Calhoun.

25 We received a comment, via email, from

1 Victoria Nguyen on December 7th, via email, in
2 support of the transaction.

3 Sorry, I'm kind of -- if I say things
4 duplicative, I apologize. It gets repetitive after 5 a while.

6 We received a comment, via email, in
7 support of the transaction from Quitman Gahagan.
8 It's dated December 7th.

9 We received a comment in support of the 10 transaction from Jonathan Brouk, and it is dated
11 December 7th.

12 We received a comment, via email, from 13 Robert Bradshaw in support of the transaction. And 14 the email is dated December 7th.

15 We received a comment, via email, from Eryn
16 Piper in support of the transaction. And that's 17 dated December 7th.

18 We received a comment, via email, from 19 Manuel Linares in support of the transaction. And 20 then that is dated December 7th.

21 We received a comment from Robin McGoey,
22 via email, in support of the transaction. And that 23 comment is dated December 7th.

24 We received a comment, via email, in 25 support of the transaction from Julissa Castro. And

1 that email is December 7th.

2 We received a comment, via email, in
3 support of the transaction from Lindsey Casey, and
4 that email is December 7th.

5 On December 7th, we received a comment, via 6 email, from Scott Cornwell in support of the 7 transaction.

8 On December 7th, we received an email from 9 Troy Bond in support of the transaction.

10 On December 7th, we received a comment, via 11 email, from Allison Guste in support of the 12 transaction.

13 On December 7th -- that's an easier way to 14 say it. I think I found my rhythm now.

15 On December 7th, we found -- we received a
16 comment -- on December 7th, we received an e -- I
17 don't know what I said. Okay. We received a --
18 now, I messed up my rhythm. Shoot. Okay. On 19 December -- I had it down. Now, I got to start
20 over. Sorry.

21 On December 7th, we received a comment, via 22 email, in support of the transaction from Chip
23 Cahill.

24 On December 7th, we received a comment, via 25 email, from Jennifer Schwehm in support of the

1 transaction.

2 We received on December 7th a comment, via 3 email, from Mark Kline in support of the
4 transaction.

5 On December 7th, we received an email --
6 public comment, via email, from Brad Sinclair in
7 support of the transaction.

8 On December 7th, we received a comment, via 9 email, from Jessica Cahill in support of the 10 transaction.

11 On December 7th, we received a comment, via 12 email, from Ryan Hildebrand in support of the part -
13 - Tulane University, LCMC partnership.

14 On December 7th, we received a comment, via 15 email, from Rosanne Halford in support.

16 On December 7th, we received a comment, via
17 email, from James Zanewicz, spelled Z-A-N-E-W-I-C-Z,
18 in support of the partnership.

19 On December 7th, we received a comment, via
20 email, from Judy Vitrano in support.

21 On December 7th, we received a comment, via
22 email, from Scott Landry in support.

23 On December 7th, we received a comment, via
24 email, from Gabriella Pridjian in support.

25 On December 7th, we received a comment, via

25 On December 7th, we received an emailed

1 comment and letter from David Ziccardi. Okay. This
2 particular person specifically asked Brett to read
3 it.

4 So I'll let you do that, Brett.

5 MR. BRETT ROBINSON: Okay.

6 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: And it'll give people
7 a break -- you have it?

8 MR. BRETT LANDRY: Sure. Yeah. Yeah.

9 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: -- from hearing me.
10 Okay. Well, I'll just put it here.

11 MR. BRETT LANDRY: All right. His name --
12 this is his letter, David Ziccardi. He sent it over 13 December 7th, but it actually is dated December 8th.

14 Dear Attorney General Landry, my name is 15 David Ziccardi. I'm a registered nurse at Tulane
16 Hospital in the emergency room and the post
17 anesthesia care unit. I've been in medicine and/or 18 the emergency services my entire life, fifteen of 19 which have been at Tulane. I'm writing to express
20 my concern about the pending sale of Tulane Hospital
21 to Louisiana Children's Medical Center and request
22 that you either deny the sale or place it on hold
23 until further details can be worked out.

24 There are many concerns that have been 25 expressed, such as the duopoly that would be

1 created, the likely rise in healthcare costs, and
2 the lack of communication from the parties involved.
3 I would, however, like to look at some of the 4 operational aspects that I do not believe have been
5 addressed by the corporations.

6 One of the proposals is to shut down Tulane
7 Hospital. Tulane is one of the two hospitals in 8 downtown New Orleans and the closest to the French
9 Quarter. University Medical Center is a Level 1
10 trauma center, located approximately three blocks
11 north of the other side of the interstate. Tulane's
12 emergency room routinely has patients coming over
13 citing ten plus hours sitting in their waiting room.
14 New Orleans police routinely bring psychiatric 15 patients to Tulane, stating that they were told by 16 UMC to go to Tulane because of the extended wait
17 times.

18 How will UMC absorb, not only those
19 patients, but the ones that Tulane treats
20 exclusively? Can UMC open and staff an equal number 21 of beds that are in Tulane's emergency room? Based 22 on the present conditions, it's extremely unlikely.

23 Another issue is the New Orleans Medical 24 Services. New Orleans Medical Services runs
25 approximately five ambulances for a city of almost

1 400,000. They routinely rely on Acadian and other
2 ambulance services to handle the calls that they
3 cannot service. If services are transferred to 4 Jefferson Parish, as it has been stated, how can 5 NOMES maintain even this level of service if
6 patients are requesting transport out of the parish?
7 As NOMES has told us in the past, you have to 8 transport the patient where they request, or it is 9 kidnaping otherwise. Longer transport times means
10 fewer ambulances available to take emergency calls.
11 Perhaps the patient could be convinced to go to a
12 local hospital. But once again, are those hospitals
13 resourced to handle this influx of patients?

14 Finally, and most importantly, I would like
15 this hearing to consider the sale from the patient's 16 perspective. The Census Bureau estimates that 17 twenty-three percent of New Orleans population lives
18 in poverty. Many of the patients and some of the 19 employees of Tulane rely on public transportation, 20 family and/or friends to get to their medical 21 appointments and jobs.

22 It is not uncommon for patients to express
23 they missed the dialysis treatment or doctor's
24 appointment because they have no transportation. It
25 is also not uncommon for patients to activate 911

1 with a minor complaint to secure a ride to the 2 clinics. If patients struggle to make appointments
3 that are in the parish, how will they make
4 appointments if services are moved out of the parish
5 as has been proposed? This would be a huge hurdle
6 for many of our patients to overcome, and compliance
7 with medical treatment plans will certainly 8 decrease.

9 Although there are numerous issues at hand,
10 the nurses at Tulane are willing to help address
11 these operational issues and perhaps make this a
12 win-win situation. To that end, I'm asking again
13 that you either deny or place on hold the sale until 14 there is input from the nurses on the conditions of 15 the proposed sale, and there is more transparency
16 from HCA and LCMC about the process.

17 Sincerely, David Ziccardi.

18 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay. Mr. Ziccardi's
19 letter dated December 8th will be part of the 20 record.

23 On December 7th, we received a -- and that
24 was in support -- we received a comment on December
25 7th from Jason King, and it was via email, and he

1 was in support.

2 We received a comment, via email, on
3 December 7th from Ahmed Mohiuddin, M-O-H-I-U-D-D-I-
4 N, Chief Physician Officer, and he was in support.

5 On December 7th, we received a comment, via

14 On December 8th, this morning, I received a
15 comment, via email, from Dr. Jennifer Avegno,
16 Director, New Orleans Health Department, in support.

17 On December 8th, I received a comment, via 18 email, from Cynthia Hanemann in support.

19 On December 8th, via email, we received a 20 comment from Beverly Brooks Thompson, and this is in 21 support.

22 And then, today during the hearing, it
23 looks like more comments were sent. And I will just 24 go through these quickly.

25 Okay. We received a comment today,

1 December 8th, from Jennine Elardo in support.

2 We received a comment, via email, from
3 Corky Thompson in support.

4 We received a comment, via email, from
5 Charmaine Caccioppi in support.

6 We received a comment, via email, from
7 Natasha Richardson in support.

8 All right. It's my understanding you have 9 an additional document you want to provide?

10 Okay. And what's your name?

11 MS. OLIVIA COOPER: My name is Olivia
12 Cooper.

13 MR. BRETT ROBINSON: Okay.

14 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Olivia?

15 MS. OLIVIA COOPER: Olivia Cooper.

16 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Cooper. Okay.

17 MS. OLIVIA COOPER: Yes. I'm a registered
18 nurse at Tulane. I spoke earlier in opposition. I
19 just, at this time, would like to support a
20 document, or put a document on the record that is a 21 petition that the majority of registered nurses at 22 Tulane Medical Center have signed.

23 The petition states: We, the undersigned
24 nurses and community members, demand to have a say
25 in the future of Tulane Medical Center. On Monday,

1 October 10th, LCMC and Tulane announced the proposed
2 sale of our hospital, with the intention to shut it
3 down. Many of us learned about this plan suddenly,
4 with no discussion or warning. We are gravely
5 concerned about what this pending sale and 6 subsequent closure of our hospital means to our 7 community and the patients we serve.

8 Together, we are demanding: Recognition of 9 our union, formed with the National Nurses
10 Organizing Committee/National Nurses United; no cuts
11 to patient care services or jobs; input of RN staff
12 on the conditions of the proposed sale; and 13 transparency from Tulane and LCMC in this process.

14 And I'd just like to reiterate that we have 15 a majority of staff nurses signing this petition, as 16 well as various members of the community who have 17 signed it as well.

18 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: Okay. Thank you. We
19 will make it part of the record. That's the court
20 reporter on the end, if you want to hand it down
21 there. Thank you.

22 MS. OLIVIA COOPER: Thank you.

23 MS. ANGELIQUE FREEL: All right.

24 Do y'all have anything?

25 I think that's it. At this time, we will

1 adjourn.

2 Thank you.

NOTICE OF PENDING APPLICATION FOR A CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC ADVANTAGE REGARDING A PROPOSED TRANSACTION BETWEEN HCA HEALTHCARE, INC., TULANE UNIVERSITY, UNIVERSITY HEALTHCARE SYSTEM, L.C. AND LOUISIANA CHILDREN'S MEDICAL CENTER d/b/a LCMC HEALTH

The Department of Justice, Office of the Attorney General, State of Louisiana, hereby provides notice that it has received an Application for a Certificate of Public Advantage regarding a proposed transaction between HCA Healthcare, Inc. ("HCA"), Tulane University ("Tulane"), University Healthcare System, L.C. ("UHS") and Louisiana Children's Medical Center d/b/a LCMC Health.

Under the proposed transaction, HCA will transfer its ownership interest in UHS to Tulane. LCMC Health will subsequently acquire the membership interests of UHS from Tulane and will become the sole member of UHS. UHS (which consists of Tulane University Medical Center, Tulane Lakeside Hospital and Lakeview Regional Medical Center) will operate as a local not-for-profit entity under LCMC Health.

Under the proposed agreement, the majority of services currently provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to nearby East Jefferson General Hospital and University Medical Center New Orleans. Additionally, LCMC Health has committed to capital investments in the operations of East Jefferson General Hospital, Lakeview Regional Medical Center and Tulane Lakeside Hospital. The proposed transaction is expected to close as soon as practicable if and when the COPA application is approved by the Louisiana Attorney General.

Pursuant to La. R.S. 40:2254.4 and L.A.C. 48:XXV.511, on or before December 7, 2022, all interested persons may submit comments regarding the transaction to:

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF PENDING APPLICATION FOR A CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC ADVANTAGE REGARDING A PROPOSED TRANSACTION BETWEEN HCA HEALTHCARE, INC., TULANE UNIVERSITY, UNIVERSITY HEALTHCARE SYSTEM, L.C., AND LOUISIANA CHILDREN'S MEDICAL CENTER d/b/a LCMC HEALTH

The Department of Justice, Office of the Attorney General, State of Louisiana, hereby provides notice that it has received an Application for a Certificate of Public Advantage regarding a proposed transaction between HCA Healthcare, Inc. ("HCA"), Tulane University ("Tulane"), University Healthcare System, L.C. ("UHS") and Louisiana Children's Medical Center d/b/a LCMC Health.

Under the proposed transaction, HCA will transfer its ownership interest in UHS to Tulane. LCMC Health will subsequently acquire the membership interests of UHS from Tulane and will become the sole member of UHS. UHS (which consists of Tulane University Medical Center, Tulane Lakeside Hospital and Lakeview Regional Medical Center) will operate as a local not-for-profit entity under LCMC Health.

Under the proposed agreement, the majority of services currently provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to nearby East Jefferson General Hospital and University Medical Center New Orleans. Additionally, LCMC Health has committed to capital investments in the operations of East Jefferson General Hospital, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital. The proposed transaction is expected to close as soon as practicable if and when the COPA application is approved by the Louisiana Attorney General.

Pursuant to La. R.S. 40:2254.4 and L.A.C. 48:XXV511, on or before December 7, 2022, all interested persons may submit comments regarding the transaction to:

Angelique Freal

Good morning,

As a leader at LCMC Health, I am proud to support the proposed partnership with Tulane University. I'm the System Director of Revenue Integrity at LCMC Revenue Cycle Administration and have seen the value LCMC Health places in high-quality patient care and employees like myself.

With the addition of the Tulane hospitals into the LCMC Health system, this partnership will bring LCMC Health and Tulane University employees new and expanded opportunities for growth and advancement. We can transform the healthcare landscape by bringing new investments and growing our teaching mission, all while serving the community.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Jennine Elardo, MPA, LSSBB

LCMC Health and Tulane University have announced plans to join forces to expand access to comprehensive and specialty care across Southeast Louisiana, enhance the region's capabilities as a destination for medical innovation and training, and provide extensive community investments and benefits. I am proud to support the proposed partnership. Both organizations call Louisiana home and have contributed significantly to the vibrancy of our state.

Upon approval of the proposed partnership, Tulane Medical Center, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital will join LCMC Health. The majority of services provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to East Jefferson General Hospital and University Medical Center New Orleans.

This partnership will bring together an award-winning, community-based healthcare system and a nationally recognized, leading research university, resulting in the collaboration our state and region need to make Louisiana a destination for healthcare.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

As an employee of Tulane University, I am proud to support the proposed partnership with LCMC. Academic medical centers are the birthplace of new treatments and technologies, and they provide the most complex and high-quality care. Teaching hospitals provide patients increased access to the latest medical breakthroughs and clinical trials. Tulane along with LSU and LCMC will transform the future of healthcare in our region by creating centers of extraordinary care for our communities.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

LCMC Health and Tulane University have announced plans to join forces to expand access to comprehensive and specialty care across Southeast Louisiana, enhance the region's capabilities as a destination for medical innovation and training, and provide extensive community investments and benefits. I am proud to support the proposed partnership. Both organizations call Louisiana home and have contributed significantly to the vibrancy of our state.

Upon approval of the proposed partnership, Tulane Medical Center, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital will join LCMC Health. The majority of services provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to East Jefferson General Hospital and University Medical Center New Orleans.

This partnership will bring together an award-winning, community-based healthcare system and a nationally recognized, leading research university, resulting in the collaboration our state and region need to make Louisiana a destination for healthcare.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

Dear Director Freel:

Thank you for hosting a public hearing on December 8, 2022, regarding the application for a certificate of public advantage related to the proposed transaction between HCA Healthcare, Inc., Tulane University, University Healthcare System, LLC, and LCMC Health.

We write today as the nursing leaders at LCMC Health. The voice of nurses matters greatly to LCMC. We have closely listened to their feedback, including the concerns repeated by the five TMC nurses who testified at the public hearing, and we appreciate the opportunity to submit for the record, our engagement with TMC nurses to date and our commitments moving forward.

1. Engagement to date: Since October 10, 2022, LCMC Health has repeatedly engaged with employees of Tulane Medical Center ("TMC"), Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital (collectively, the "three Tulane hospitals") to the extent allowed by HCA and the law. LCMC Health leaders have spent time across the three Tulane hospitals to introduce ourselves, share information about the transaction, and provide a forum for questions and feedback. We have held four town halls at TMC, two at Tulane Lakeside Hospital, and three at Lakeview Regional Medical Center. These were held at hours to accommodate both day and evening shift employees. Approximately 300+ employees across the three Tulane hospitals attended these town halls. We were encouraged by this participation.

In an effort to provide increased engagement with nurses at TMC, we participated in a 1.5 hour meeting with nurse leaders at TMC on December 7th, 2022. Approximately 20 TMC nursing leaders were present in addition to TMC's Chief Nursing Officer and Associate Chief Nursing Officer. In addition to general introductions, we used this meeting to continue relationship building and engagement. The key themes we heard during that meeting were excitement about the future with LCMC Health, and also apprehension regarding the unknown, particularly related to the relocation of services. We reiterated then, and will rearticulate now for the public record, that key stakeholders including nurses and physicians will be involved in relocation planning. We are committed to continuing to engage with all HCA employees about our partnership and their place in the LCMC Health family.

2. Employment commitment: All employees at the three Tulane hospitals will continue to have jobs under this partnership. LCMC Health and Tulane University intend to work together, following the close of the transaction, to not only retain the current nursing staff but to actively promote education through a new nursing program, attracting and employing additional nurses to support the level of patient demand beyond current levels. Maintaining and increasing nursing staff will allow the combined organization to address existing and potential patient capacity concerns. We are hopeful that this clarifies any misunderstanding held by TMC nurses regarding our commitment to their employment.

Both LCMC Health and Tulane University value our providers and employees and are committed to retaining our staff across both organizations. As stated in our application and articulated in each communication to the staff of the three Tulane hospitals, LCMC Health values the employees of the three Tulane hospitals, and looks forward to them joining the LCMC Health family.

3. Pay and Benefits: Offering competitive compensation and benefits packages is essential to not only retain but to also attract the best talent as we work together to make our community healthy. LCMC Health is committed to fair and equitable salaries. As committed to in the Unit Purchase Agreement ("UPA"), employees of the three Tulane Hospitals will be provided wage or salary levels and cash incentive opportunities substantially equal in the aggregate to those provided currently and benefits that will be no less favorable than those provided to similarly situated LCMC Health employees.

Thank you for accepting this letter as part of the public record.

Sincerely,

Ruby Brewer, RN
Chief Nursing Officer

Dear Attorney General Landry,

We write as denominational and community leaders across New Orleans and Louisiana, in our support of the nurses of Tulane Medical Center, who are demanding a voice in the future of healthcare in New Orleans. We are asking for the upcoming public hearing on the sale to be held locally in New Orleans, not Baton Rouge, ensuring meaningful participation and input from our frontline health care workers and the community they serve.

We are deeply concerned that the proposed sale of Tulane Medical Center to LCMC Health will negatively impact access to quality and affordable health care services for thousands of Louisianans. LCMC has already announced plans to shut down most inpatient services at Tulane Medical Center within 12 to 24 months of acquiring the hospital. Many of our community members have gone to Tulane Medical Center for years. Losing such a popular hospital serving patients not only in New Orleans, but across Louisiana, is a loss for communities around the state.

We fear a two-system duopoly in New Orleans, made up of LCMC and Ochsner Health, will raise health care costs and reduce services. This is especially worrisome in such a precarious time in our nation. Now, more than ever, high-quality health care needs to be made more accessible and affordable.

When Charity Hospital closed, New Orleans lost one of the state's last public hospitals that served everyone, regardless of income level. Now, we stand to lose another hospital in downtown New Orleans that has long served low-income patients. We worry Medicaid patients, who are disproportionately Black and people of color, will lose access to care. Louisiana's minority residents already experience significantly lower life expectancies than white residents, and the closure of services and higher health care costs may exacerbate this health equity crisis.

Nurses are on the front lines of keeping our communities and congregants healthy and safe. We stand with Tulane Medical Center nurses because we trust nurses to put patients first. We urge you to block the sale in order to ensure there are no cuts to jobs or patient care services at Tulane Medical Center and that there is no increase in healthcare costs for the community.

Nurses and Community Demand a Voice in the Future of Tulane

We, the undersigned nurses and community members, demand to have a say in the future of Tulane Medical Center. On Monday, October 10, LCMC and Tulane announced the proposed sale of our hospital with the intention to shut it down. Many of us learned about this plan suddenly, with no discussion or warning. We are gravely concerned about what this pending sale and subsequent closure of our hospital means to our community and the patients we serve.

Together We Are Demanding »

- » Recognition of our union, formed with the National Nurses Organizing Committee/National Nurses United.
- » No cuts to patient care services or jobs.
- » Input of RN staff on the conditions of the proposed sale.
- » Transparency from Tulane and LCMC in this process.

Nurses and Community Demand a Voice in the Future of Tulane

We, the undersigned nurses and community members, demand to have a say in the future of Tulane Medical Center. On Monday, October 10, LCMC and Tulane announced the proposed sale of our hospital with the intention to shut it down. Many of us learned about this plan suddenly, with no discussion or warning. We are gravely concerned about what this pending sale and subsequent closure of our hospital means to our community and the patients we serve.

Together We Are Demanding »

- » Recognition of our union, formed with the National Nurses Organizing Committee/National Nurses United.
- » No cuts to patient care services or jobs.
- » Input of RN staff on the conditions of the proposed sale.
- » Transparency from Tulane and LCMC in this process.

Nurses and Community Demand a Voice in the Future of Tulane

We, the undersigned nurses and community members, demand to have a say in the future of Tulane Medical Center. On Monday, October 10, LCMC and Tulane announced the proposed sale of our hospital with the intention to shut it down. Many of us learned about this plan suddenly, with no discussion or warning. We are gravely concerned about what this pending sale and subsequent closure of our hospital means to our community and the patients we serve.

Together We Are Demanding »

- » Recognition of our union, formed with the National Nurses Organizing Committee/National Nurses United.
- » No cuts to patient care services or jobs.
- » Input of RN staff on the conditions of the proposed sale.
- » Transparency from Tulane and LCMC in this process.

Nurses and Community Demand a Voice in the Future of Tulane

We, the undersigned nurses and community members, demand to have a say in the future of Tulane Medical Center. On Monday, October 10, LCMC and Tulane announced the proposed sale of our hospital with the intention to shut it down. Many of us learned about this plan suddenly, with no discussion or warning. We are gravely concerned about what this pending sale and subsequent closure of our hospital means to our community and the patients we serve.

Together We Are Demanding »

- » Recognition of our union, formed with the National Nurses Organizing Committee/National Nurses United.
- » No cuts to patient care services or jobs.
- » Input of RN staff on the conditions of the proposed sale.
- » Transparency from Tulane and LCMC in this process.

Baton Rouge, LA 70802

Dear Attorney General Landry,

On behalf of 222,000 Registered Nurses (RN), with members in all fifty states, National Nurses United is writing to express our objection to the anticompetitive behavior exhibited in the greater New Orleans area by LCMC Health. The recent acquisitions from HCA Healthcare add three hospitals to the system's six-hospital portfolio, creating a two-system duopoly in New Orleans and giving LCMC and its competitor, Ochsner Health, unrestrained leverage over patients and health care workers. We fear this goes against the public interest, by leading to further consolidation, higher healthcare prices, and cuts to vital services. If your office approves this deal, we ask for contract conditions requiring LCMC to maintain all facilities and services, along with incorporating RN and patient priorities into the final sale agreement.

LCMC's acquisition of Tulane Medical Center drastically increases New Orleans' market concentration in an already highly concentrated market. Our analysis of the Herfindahl-Hirschman Index (HHI) in the New Orleans market finds LCMC's market share would increase to 55 percent—raising the HHI by 1,357 points to 4,995. Such a significant increase of HHI warrants the strictest scrutiny by the Louisiana Department of Justice.

Studies show highly concentrated health care markets often result in worse care and increasing healthcare prices. Accordingly, LCMC is already announcing cuts. LCMC plans to eliminate most in-patient services at Tulane Medical Center, a well-utilized hospital serving low-income patients. This spells disaster for many Louisiana residents. Tulane Medical Center has the state's only comprehensive stroke center and performs specialized transplants not done anywhere else in Louisiana.

With LCMC already announcing its intent to close the majority of inpatient services at Tulane Medical Center, and the substantial research tying highly concentrated markets to price increases, it is clear the sale does not meet Louisiana's threshold to garner a certificate of public advantage, as detailed in LA Rev Stat § 40:2254.4 (2015): B. The department may not issue a certificate unless the department finds that the agreement is likely to result in lower health care costs or is likely to result in improved access to health care or higher quality health care without any undue increase in health care costs.

LCMC and Ochsner controlling the entire New Orleans health care market virtually guarantees less access to health care services. We appreciate your attention to the concerns raised in this letter and urge you to block the proposed transaction. If you are interested in hearing directly from Tulane Medical Center nurses, please contact me at BVanWaus@NationalNursesUnited.Org and we can arrange a meeting.

Sincerely,

Bradley Van Waus
Southern Region Director

Jefferson Parish President Cynthia Lee Sheng, along with members of the Jefferson Parish Council, announced their support of a proposed partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane University. See below for a press release with additional information.

NEWS RELEASE
JEFFERSON PARISH, LOUISIANA

October 21, 2022

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

JEFFERSON PARISH PRESIDENT AND COUNCILMEMBERS ANNOUNCE
SUPPORT
OF PROPOSED PARTNERSHIP BETWEEN LCMC HEALTH AND TULANE
UNIVERSITY

JEFFERSON, LA – Jefferson Parish President Cynthia Lee Sheng, along with members of the Jefferson Parish Council, announced their support of a proposed partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane University. The partnership will expand access to comprehensive and specialty care across Southeast Louisiana, enhance the region’s capabilities as a destination for medical innovation and training, and provide community investments and benefits for Jefferson Parish.

“This partnership will greatly benefit the residents of Jefferson Parish because many services will shift to East Jefferson General Hospital, creating more opportunities for comprehensive, integrated care at a local facility that can support new growth and provide an enhanced patient experience,” said Jefferson Parish President Cynthia Lee Sheng. “Collaborations like these help propel our parish and region forward, and set us up as an example of what quality healthcare can and should look like in a community.”

Under the proposed plan, Tulane Medical Center, Lakeview Regional Medical Center and Tulane Lakeside Hospital will be acquired from HCA Healthcare and will join LCMC Health. Over the next 12-24 months, the majority of services provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to East Jefferson General Hospital and University Medical Center New Orleans. As part of the partnership, LCMC Health has committed to an initial capital investment of $220 million in the operations of East Jefferson General Hospital, Lakeview Regional Medical Center and Tulane Lakeside Hospital.

“The proposed partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane University is phenomenal news for Jefferson Parish and the region,” said Jefferson Parish Councilwoman Jennifer Van Vrancken (District 5), whose district includes East Jefferson General Hospital. “As a result of the LCMC Health and Tulane University partnership, Jefferson Parish will gain a premiere academic medical center on the campus of East Jefferson, where, in partnership with Tulane and LSU, the next generation of medical professionals will be trained. People from across the country will seek to travel here to access specialized healthcare. I can’t think of anything more exciting than the educational opportunities ahead for students and residents, and the economic impact of that activity in Jefferson Parish.”

“Having LCMC Health in Jefferson Parish has been a blessing,” said Jefferson Parish Councilman Marion Edwards (District 1). “Their focus is on their patients, employees and our community and we are better, and healthier, for it. I wholeheartedly welcome Tulane University into Jefferson Parish and look forward to a productive partnership between these two nonprofits.”

“We look forward to this planned partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane University, which will expand access to health care across our region and parish,” said Jefferson Parish Council Chairman Ricky Templet (Division A). “This will set us up to be a destination for medical innovation and training, proving many community investments and benefits for years to come.”

“LCMC Health is a valued partner in Jefferson Parish. Its proposed purchase of three area hospitals, including Tulane Lakeside, will strengthen our ability to provide quality health care to our citizens and, in turn, make the region stronger as well,” said Jefferson Parish Councilman At-Large Scott Walker (Division B).

“This proposed partnership is great news for all our residents throughout Jefferson Parish because every individual deserves access to quality healthcare,” said Jefferson Parish Councilman Deano Bonano (District 2). “I’m proud to join my colleagues in support of this, and I look forward to the long-term quality of life benefits it will provide across the entire parish.”

“Access to quality healthcare for all residents of Jefferson Parish, including those in District 3, is absolutely critical,” said Jefferson Parish Councilman Byron Lee (District 3). “I am pleased to hear that LCMC Health and Tulane University are working together to build on their ongoing commitment to meeting the needs of our community.”

Subject: LCMC Health – Tulane University proposed partnership

Ms Freel,

My name is Jay DeSalvo. I am a board certified emergency medicine physician who has worked at Lakeview Regional Medical center since the hospital opened in 1995. I am from New Orleans and trained at LSU-NO Medical School and Charity Hospital. I am in strong support of the LCMC Health – Tulane University proposed partnership.

LCMC Health is a known partner in our region. I have watched their growth for the last several years and have seen their commitment to the communities they serve. Physician colleagues at neighboring hospitals have shared with me that the integration, at West Jefferson Medical Center for example, demonstrates the respect LCMC Health has for the practice of medicine and physician relations. We have also heard that nurses are very happy at LCMC Health hospitals.

Our hospital deserves the chance to continue to grow. My understanding is that LCMC Health has put a $220 million capital commitment on the table, some of which will go to infrastructure and informational technology upgrades at Lakeview. An upgrade to the Epic electronic health record will benefit my patients in a myriad of ways, including more efficient use of provider time, ease of access to patient's own records, and interoperability among referring hospitals.

Given that LCMC is a local non profit, all of the revenue generated by this partnership will be invested locally- to pay salaries, invest in health care infrastructure and provide improved care to our patients.

This partnership is exciting and will benefit our region.

Many thanks for your time,

Jay DeSalvo MD

East Jefferson General Hospital is closest to my house. I was so relieved when LCMC Health bought the hospital a couple years ago. I know they will do a great job at the Tulane hospitals because they really care about people.

My comment on behalf of NOLABA

We at NOLABA believe that collaborations amongst New Orleans' anchor institutions is a critical factor for actualizing growth of our economy. The partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane University exemplifies a strong focus on our greatest asset – our people, and NOLABA looks forward to supporting the strengthening of one of our premier academic medical centers (UMC), as it is a collaborative catalyst for healthcare innovation and research happening in our downtown BioDistrict.”

I am writing to submit the following comment for the meeting this Thursday related to the Proposed partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane University.

The proposed partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane University is a once in a generation opportunity to make New Orleans and Southeast Louisiana a destination for world class healthcare. These two local nonprofits have been vital community partners for the city and the Greater New Orleans region at large for many years. Having them join forces to create a new academic medical center will draw students and scholars to the region while giving more patients access to the complex and high-quality medical care found at academic medical centers. New Orleans and Louisiana have long been destinations for visitors, and I am excited that we have this opportunity to make southeast Louisiana the destination for world class healthcare and education as well.

Thanks. Please let me know if you require any other information.

I'm the AVP of Risk Management for LCMC Health and have seen the value LCMC Health places in high-quality patient care and employees like myself. In fact, I accepted this position after working for HCA over the Risk Management Department at the Tulane facilities in Orleans and Jefferson Parishes so can speak with clarity on the value that LCMC Health can bring to this partnership at these very hospitals.

With the addition of the Tulane hospitals into the LCMC Health system, this partnership will bring LCMC Health and Tulane University employees new and expanded opportunities for growth and advancement. We have the opportunity to transform the healthcare landscape by bringing new investments and growing our teaching mission, all while serving the community.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

For the past five-plus years, it has been my good fortune to work at LCMC Health. It is a fine organization comprised of incredibly talented women and men, all of whom share common goals of delivering patients unsurpassed clinical care while, at the same time, exhibiting that “little something extra” that makes the New Orleans region—and this system—such a remarkable place. It is an enterprise that is deeply community-driven and academically minded, both of which are attributes essential to the betterment of our region and, more specifically, to the health and well-being of those we have the great privilege to serve.

As a leader at LCMC Health—and as the Chief Operating Officer at West Jefferson Medical Center—I have seen first-hand the value LCMC Health places in high-quality patient care and employees like myself. And so it is, I am extraordinarily proud to endorse the proposed partnership with Tulane University.

With the addition of the Tulane hospitals into the LCMC Health system, this partnership will bring LCMC Health and Tulane University employees new and expanded opportunities for growth and advancement. Indeed, this integration will undoubtedly transform the healthcare landscape by bringing new investments and growing the system’s teaching mission, all while serving the community. Examples include West Jefferson Medical Center’s master facility plan (a $95MM planned campus-wide renovation), as well as the planned investments and campus development plans cast for East Jefferson General Hospital.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

Dear Mr. Landry,

As a leader at LCMC Health, I wholeheartedly support the proposed partnership with Tulane University.

I have had the distinct privilege of working with or for LCMC Health since its inception, initially as an attending physician who attended medical school and residency locally, followed by progressive leadership roles overseeing the academic operations across our family of hospitals.

Currently, I am honored to serve LCMC Health as the Chief Academic Officer for the health system- a health system that puts the health, care, and education of its community before all else.

With the addition of the Tulane hospitals into the LCMC Health system, this partnership promises to expand and advance not only the quality of healthcare but also the pipeline of future healthcare providers for our State.

Between LSU and Tulane, there are more than 100 graduate medical education programs, training >1,200 resident physicians, and in front of us is the unprecedented opportunity to support, promote, train, and retain these physicians for the State of Louisiana.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership.

Thank you for your consideration.

As an employee of the Tulane school of medicine, I am very proud to support the proposed partnership with LCMC. Academic medical centers are the birthplace of new treatments and technologies, and they provide the most complex and high-quality care. Teaching hospitals provide patients increased access to the latest medical breakthroughs and clinical trials. Tulane along with LSU and LCMC will transform the future of healthcare in our region by creating centers of extraordinary care for our communities.

This new partnership will allow LSU Health and Tulane to work closer than ever before, and create truly two great academic medical centers (one in orleans and one in Jefferson parish) that are able to serve our full community with leading-edge healthcare advances.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

For 30 years as faculty member of Tulane University Medical School and resident of New Orleans, I have contributed to patient care, education, research, and community service in the Greater New Orleans area as well as the state of Louisiana.

I urge you to support the proposed Tulane University - LCMC Health partnership.

Below are some of the reasons this partnership is important:

1. Tulane (along with LSU and LCMC) will transform the future of healthcare in our region by creating centers of extraordinary care for our communities. True academic healthcare systems provide increased access to the latest medical breakthroughs and clinical trials.
2. The partnership will allow further opportunities to expand the training of the next generation of physicians, scientists and other allied health professionals.
3. The partnership between Tulane and LCMC will be transformational for the greater New Orleans area. It will provide increased access to the latest medical breakthroughs and clinical trials to our community and establish national and ultimately international centers of excellence.
4. A non-for-profit, mission-based partner like LCMC (who understands academic medicine) aligns well with the Tulane's mission and philosophy. The partnership will allow Tulane to create an integrated and comprehensive health system right here in our community.
5. It's the right thing to do for our community, our state, and for Tulane.

I am the Director of the Tulane Hayward Genetics Center, am the Karen Gore Chair in Human Genetics and am a tenured Professor in the department of Pediatrics. I was born in New Orleans and have been a life-long resident of my city, except for 7 years of training in other states and countries.

Since March 2019, the Tulane Department of Pediatrics has transferred all of its in-patient and out-patient activities to Childrens Hospital of New Orleans, an LCMC facility. Previous to that time, we were at Lakeside under HCA management, a for-profit corporation. Having started in December 1993 at Tulane as a genetics faculty member, I observed firsthand the deterioration of the quality and breadth of pediatric services under HCA and its malingering management in the ensuing 25 years since they took major ownership. Tulane Pediatrics lost its sleep lab, the inpatient child psychiatry unit, pediatric urology and pediatric otolaryngology. HCA made no serious efforts to address the deterioration under they management. Our clinical genetics diagnostics laboratories at Hayward Genetics Center lost all clinical volume from Tulane in-patients and outpatients when HCA referred these samples to a new unknown Montana laboratory, removing these samples from use in our ABMGG-accredited laboratory genetic training program. Our genetic training program is the only one in Louisiana and we make every effort to keep Louisiana patient samples in Louisiana.

Since transitioning all pediatric care to CHNOLA in 2019, pediatric services have flourished and the care for Louisiana children has dramatically improved. LCMC has been a serious management partner and I have been part of many meetings which demonstrated LCMC eagerness to listen to ideas. They have instituted many efforts to improve Louisiana pediatric care, not the least of which was completing a $300million renovation of CHNOLA. The merger has encouraged successful collaboration between LSU and Tulane pediatric specialty services and the benefit to students and residents has been dramatic.

In every way, the transition for pediatrics out of an HCA facility and into the LCMC management has been positive for Tulane and Louisiana. I anticipate the same benefit to Louisiana if all other services at Tulane transition to management/ownership by the not-for-profit LCMC. Healthcare in Louisiana has long suffered from fragmentation and this transition offers the possibility of dramatic improvement in access to care. The benefits to residency training will also be positive with access of learners to speciality services which are currently unavailable or difficult to access. This has the potential of keeping more of our students in Louisiana as residents and physicians to begin to alleviate our physician shortages in all areas.

I am happy to address questions or telephone calls about this email or the proposed transition.

Good Morning Sir,

As a leader at LCMC Health, I am proud to support the proposed partnership with Tulane University. I'm the Chief Nursing Officer and Chief Operation Officer at New Orleans East Hospital and have seen the value LCMC Health places in high-quality patient care and employees at all levels.

With the addition of the Tulane hospitals into the LCMC Health system, this partnership will bring LCMC Health and Tulane University employees new and expanded opportunities for growth and advancement, as have I in my 6 years at LCMC. We have the opportunity to transform the healthcare landscape by bringing new investments and growing our teaching mission, all while serving the community.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. I appreciate your consideration.

To Whom It May Concern,

Please consider this my letter of support for the proposed partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane University. As a resident of New Orleans, I have seen firsthand the level of quality care and professionalism the LCMC Health team provides through numerous clinical, out-patient, and hospital interactions for my primary and extended family as well as myself.

The addition of the Tulane hospitals into the LCMC Health system is a significant opportunity to expand this exemplary level of care to a broader population, increase health outcomes, and bring new investment and opportunities into our community.

Your support and approval of the LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership would be appreciated.

Thank you.

On behalf of Representative Timothy Kerner:

I would like to submit this as a public comment for the December 8th hearing on the LCMC Health – Tulane partnership. I am supportive of their partnership.

Since it first began operating hospitals in Jefferson Parish in 2015, LCMC Health has proven to be a trusted, valuable healthcare partner for our people, and I am proud to support the proposed partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane University. Jefferson Parish stands to gain tremendously, both through the anticipated $474 million in economic impact and $220M in investments to hospital infrastructure. Jefferson Parish is world-class, and we deserve a world-class academic medical center.

Dear Attorney General Landry,

We write as denominational and community leaders across New Orleans and Louisiana, in our support of the nurses of Tulane Medical Center, who are demanding a voice in the future of healthcare in New Orleans. We are asking for the upcoming public hearing on the sale to be held locally in New Orleans, not Baton Rouge, ensuring meaningful participation and input from our frontline health care workers and the community they serve.

We are deeply concerned that the proposed sale of Tulane Medical Center to LCMC Health will negatively impact access to quality and affordable health care services for thousands of Louisianans. LCMC has already announced plans to shut down most inpatient services at Tulane Medical Center within 12 to 24 months of acquiring the hospital. Many of our community members have gone to Tulane Medical Center for years. Losing such a popular hospital serving patients not only in New Orleans, but across Louisiana, is a loss for communities around the state.

We fear a two-system duopoly in New Orleans, made up of LCMC and Ochsner Health, will raise health care costs and reduce services. This is especially worrisome in such a precarious time in our nation. Now, more than ever, high-quality health care needs to be made more accessible and affordable.

When Charity Hospital closed, New Orleans lost one of the state's last public hospitals that served everyone, regardless of income level. Now, we stand to lose another hospital in downtown New Orleans that has long served low-income patients. We worry Medicaid patients, who are disproportionately Black and people of color, will lose access to care. Louisiana's minority residents already experience significantly lower life expectancies than white residents, and the closure of services and higher health care costs may exacerbate this health equity crisis.

Nurses are on the front lines of keeping our communities and congregants healthy and safe. We stand with Tulane Medical Center nurses because we trust nurses to put patients first. We urge you to block the sale in order to ensure there are no cuts to jobs or patient care services at Tulane Medical Center and that there is no increase in healthcare costs for the community.

Sincerely,

As a result of this partnership, Tulane will be creating a new nursing program in downtown New Orleans. We already know the nursing shortage that is affecting healthcare systems and communities across the country. This shortage is felt deeply in Louisiana, where almost one-third (29%) of Registered Nurses plan to retire within 10 years.

Tulane University's new nursing program will create new paths and expand the pipeline of students eager to enter the nursing field – making meaningful progress towards addressing the projected 2,475 unfilled full-time nursing positions projected in New Orleans by 2025.

To whom it may concern:

As established business and restaurant owners in the Greater New Orleans area, we are proud to support the proposed Tulane partnership with LCMC. Academic medical centers are the birthplace of new treatments and technologies, and they provide the most complex and high-quality care. Furthermore, teaching hospitals provide patients increased access to the latest medical breakthroughs and clinical trials. Tulane along with LSU and LCMC will transform the future of healthcare in our region by creating centers of extraordinary care for our communities.

We urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

Hello,

My name is Maggie Gentry. I am a mom to a two-year-old boy, Isaiah, I have a great job in Marketing at the Tulane School of Medicine and I care deeply for the city of New Orleans. As a New Orleanian and an employee of Tulane University School of Medicine, I am proud to support the proposed partnership with LCMC. Academic medical centers are the birthplace of new treatments and technologies, and they provide the most complex and high-quality care. Teaching hospitals provide patients increased access to the latest medical breakthroughs and clinical trials. Tulane along with LSU and LCMC will transform the future of healthcare in our region by creating centers of extraordinary care for our communities.

The partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane University will be transformational for the New Orleans region, and greatly benefit patients, staff, and our community. It will advance groundbreaking research, innovative technology, and lifesaving treatments that ensure patients and communities can receive the highest quality of care, right here in the greater New Orleans region.

Expanded access to affordable, high-quality care will begin to close the gap in healthcare for historically underserved communities and increase quality of life for all our citizenry. As mission-based organizations, LCMC Health and Tulane working together makes sense.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

LCMC Health and Tulane University have announced plans to join forces to expand access to comprehensive and specialty care across Southeast Louisiana, enhance the region’s capabilities as a destination for medical innovation and training, and provide extensive community investments and benefits. I am proud to support the proposed partnership. Both organizations call Louisiana home and have contributed significantly to the vibrancy of our state.

Upon approval of the proposed partnership, Tulane Medical Center, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital will join LCMC Health. The majority of services provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to East Jefferson General Hospital and University Medical Center New Orleans.

This partnership will bring together an award-winning, community-based healthcare system and a nationally recognized, leading research university, resulting in the collaboration our state and region need to make Louisiana a destination for healthcare.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

Hello!

As an employee of Tulane Medical School, I just wanted to pledge my support for the proposed Tulane/LCMC partnership. I'm excited about the possibilities that this partnership could offer to medical education in New Orleans, and it could really affect the city for the better. Teaching hospitals are incredibly important for the next generation of doctors, and Tulane being able to partner with LSU and LCMC is a positive step in creating more opportunities. I'm especially excited about the potential for a nursing program at Tulane, as I know the shortage of nurses has been affecting the entire country.

Thank you for your consideration!

Dear Attorney General Landry and Team,

LCMC Health and Tulane University have announced plans to join forces to expand access to comprehensive and specialty care across Southeast Louisiana, enhance the region's capabilities as a destination for medical innovation and training, and provide extensive community investments and benefits. I am proud to support the proposed partnership. Both organizations call Louisiana home and have contributed significantly to the vibrancy of our state.

Upon approval of the proposed partnership, Tulane Medical Center, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital will join LCMC Health. The majority of services provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to East Jefferson General Hospital and University Medical Center New Orleans.

This partnership will bring together an award-winning, community-based healthcare system and a nationally recognized, leading research university, resulting in the collaboration our state and region need to make Louisiana a destination for healthcare.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

Thank you,

Caitlin Berni

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to express my solid support for the proposed partnership between Tulane and LCMC. Academic medical centers are the birthplace of new treatments and technologies, and they provide the most complex and high-quality care.

In particular, teaching hospitals provide patients with increased access to the latest medical breakthroughs and clinical trials. Along with LSU and LCMC, Tulane will transform the future of healthcare in our region by creating centers of extraordinary care for our communities.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health –Tulane University partnership.

Good afternoon. I am currently the Board chair of Touro Infirmary, one of the LCMC hospitals and on the LCMC Board. I have been on the Touro Infirmary board for more than 6 years and have seen and experienced the high-quality patient care provided by Touro. As a member of the LCMC Board, I see the LCMC system plans, actions, and results. I see how LCMC values its staff. I see the dedication to improving healthcare outcomes for its patient population. I am proud to be on these Boards.

I write in support of the proposed partnership between Tulane University and LCMC Health. Bringing Tulane hospitals in to the LCMC Health system creates new and expanded opportunities for research, medical education, patient care, and increased medical industry employment and investment in this region. This is truly transformationally positive!

I urge you to support this proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

To whom it may concern,

As an employee of Tulane University, I am proud to support the proposed partnership with LCMC. Academic medical centers are the birthplaces of new treatments and technologies, and they provide the most complex and high-quality care to patients. These teaching hospitals provide patients with increased access to the latest medical breakthroughs and clinical trials. Tulane, along with LSU and LCMC, will transform the future of healthcare in our region by creating centers of extraordinary care for our communities.

This initiative is especially important to me as an employee within the Tulane University Innovation Institute. The proposed partnership will catalyze biomedical innovations that we can help germinate and nurture; innovations that will ultimately benefit not only our region, but will help solidify the state as a source of cutting-edge medical breakthroughs and care that the entire country can one day benefit from.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

Warmest regards,

-Clay

Re: Support for Tulane-LCMC Partnership

Dear Mr. Attorney General,

As an employee of Tulane Medical School, I am proud to support the proposed partnership with LCMC. Academic medical centers are the birthplace of new treatments and technologies, and they provide the most complex and high-quality care. These technologies and treatments are often the drivers of growth, which create industries and jobs that improve quality of life for the entire region. Teaching hospitals provide patients increased access to the latest medical breakthroughs and clinical trials. Tulane, along with LSU and LCMC, will transform the future of healthcare in our region by creating centers of extraordinary care for our communities.

LCMC Health and Tulane University are mission-based organizations that call Southeast Louisiana home. We have shared values and a vision to partner to bring the best of community healthcare and academic medicine to all those we serve. The partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane University will be transformational for the New Orleans region, and greatly benefit patients, staff, and our community. It will advance groundbreaking research, innovative technology, and lifesaving treatments that ensure patients and communities can receive the highest quality of care, right here in the greater New Orleans region. It will also expand opportunities to train the next generation of physicians, nurses, and scientists—Tulane University's new nursing program will create new paths and expand the pipeline of students eager to enter the nursing field, making meaningful progress towards addressing the projected 2,475 unfilled full-time nursing positions projected in New Orleans by 2025.

This partnership will also increase access to comprehensive care in downtown New Orleans and create new hubs for specialty care, innovation, and academic medicine in both Orleans and Jefferson Parishes. The organizations involved will be collaborating and working together to put patients' best interests first to make great things happen.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

Very truly yours,

As an resident of Louisiana, I am proud to support the proposed partnership with LCMC. Academic medical centers are the birthplace of new treatments and technologies, and they provide the most complex and high-quality care. Teaching hospitals provide patients increased access to the latest medical breakthroughs and clinical trials. Tulane along with LSU and LCMC will transform the future of healthcare in our region by creating centers of extraordinary care for our communities.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

LCMC Health and Tulane University have announced plans to join forces to expand access to comprehensive and specialty care across Southeast Louisiana, enhance the region’s capabilities as a destination for medical innovation and training, and provide extensive community investments and benefits. I am proud to support the proposed partnership. Both organizations call Louisiana home and have contributed significantly to the vibrancy of our state.

Upon approval of the proposed partnership, Tulane Medical Center, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital will join LCMC Health. The majority of services provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to East Jefferson General Hospital and University Medical Center New Orleans.

This partnership will bring together an award-winning, community-based healthcare system and a nationally recognized, leading research university, resulting in the collaboration our state and region need to make Louisiana a destination for healthcare.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

Attorney General Landry
1885 N. 3rd Street
Baton Rouge, LA 70802

Dear Attorney General Landry:

My name is David Ziccardi. I am a registered nurse at Tulane Hospital in the Emergency Room and the Post Anesthesia Care Unit. I have been in medicine and/or the emergency services my entire life, 15 of which have been at Tulane.

I am writing to express my concern about the pending sale of Tulane Hospital to Louisiana Children's Medical Center and request that you either deny the sale or place it on hold until further details can be worked out. There are many concerns that have been expressed such as the duopoly that would be created, the likely rise in health care costs, and the lack of communication from the parties involved. I would however like to look at some operational aspects that I do not believe have been addressed by the corporations.

One of the proposals is to shut down Tulane Hospital. Tulane is one of two hospitals in downtown New Orleans and the closest to the French Quarter. University Medical Center (UMC) is a Level 1 trauma center located approximately 3 blocks North on the other side of the interstate. Tulane's emergency room routinely has patients come over citing 10+ hours sitting in their waiting room. New Orleans Police routinely bring psychiatric patients to Tulane stating they were told by UMC to go to Tulane because of extended wait times. How will UMC absorb not only those patients but the ones that Tulane treats exclusively? Can UMC open and staff an equal number of beds that are in Tulane's Emergency Room? Based on present conditions it is extremely unlikely.

Another issue is New Orleans Emergency Medical Services. (NOEMS). NOEMS runs approximately 5 ambulances for a city of almost 400,000. They routinely rely on Acadian and other ambulance services to handle the calls they can not service. If services are transferred to Jefferson Parish as it has been stated, how can NOEMS maintain even this level of service if patients are requesting transport out of the parish? As NOEMS has told us in the past, you have to transport the patient where they request or it is kidnapping otherwise. Longer transport times means fewer ambulances available to take emergency calls. Perhaps the patient could be convinced to go to a local hospital but once again are those hospitals resourced to handle this influx of patients?

Finally, and most importantly, I would like this hearing to consider the sale from the patient's perspective. The census bureau estimates that 23% of New Orleans population lives in poverty. Many of the patients and some of the employees of Tulane rely on public transportation, family and/or friends to get to their medical appointments/ jobs. It is not uncommon for patients to express they missed a dialysis treatment or a doctor's appointment because they have no transportation. It is also not uncommon for patients to activate 911 with a minor complaint to secure a ride to the clinics. If patients struggle to make appointments that are in the parish, how will they make appointments if services are moved out of the parish as has been proposed? This would be a huge hurdle for many of our patients to overcome and compliance with medical treatment plans will certainly decrease.

Although there are numerous issues at hand, the nurses at Tulane are willing to help address these operational issues and perhaps make this a win/win situation. To that end, I am again asking that you either deny or place on hold this sale until there is input from the nurses on the conditions of the proposed sale and there is more transparency from HCA and LCMC about the process.

Sincerely,
David Ziccardi

Tulane, University and Turo Hospitals are three of the hospitals I have used this past year. I was excited when I read about the intended purchase by LCMC Health as it will provide expertise and depth in our medical care. I know they will do a great job at the Tulane hospital because they really care about people.

Good afternoon,

On behalf of Congressman Troy Carter, I would like to submit a public comment for the December 8th public hearing for the LCMC Health – Tulane partnership.

Congressman Troy A. Carter, Sr.:

“This is a pivotal moment not just for Tulane University and LCMC Health, but also for the wider community’s health and wellness. This extraordinary partnership will allow these powerhouse institutions to combine their collective strengths to not only reach more patients, but also to enhance patient care to the highest level. The long-term potential of this partnership’s impact on the clinical, economic, and educational innovation is enormous, and I am thrilled to celebrate this partnership that will help improve quality of life across the entire region.”

Good afternoon,

As a leader at LCMC Health, I am proud to support the proposed partnership with Tulane University. I have seen the value LCMC Health places in high-quality patient care and employees like myself.

With the addition of the Tulane hospitals into the LCMC Health system, this partnership will bring LCMC Health and Tulane University employees new and expanded opportunities for growth and advancement. We have the opportunity to transform the healthcare landscape by bringing new investments and growing our teaching mission, all while serving the community.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

LCMC Health and Tulane University have announced plans to join forces to expand access to comprehensive and specialty care across Southeast Louisiana, enhance the region’s capabilities as a destination for medical innovation and training, and provide extensive community investments and benefits. I am proud to support the proposed partnership. Both organizations call Louisiana home and have contributed significantly to the vibrancy of our state.

Upon approval of the proposed partnership, Tulane Medical Center, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital will join LCMC Health. The majority of services provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to East Jefferson General Hospital and University Medical Center New Orleans.

This partnership will bring together an award-winning, community-based healthcare system and a nationally recognized, leading research university, resulting in the collaboration our state and region need to make Louisiana a destination for healthcare.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

CAUTION: This email originated outside of Louisiana Department of Justice. Do not click links or open attachments unless you recognize the sender and know the content is safe.

To Whom It May Concern,

Thank you in advance for the opportunity to share this letter with you.

My name is Windie Vignes Muller, Senior Director of Post Acute Services at East Jefferson General Hospital (EJGH). I am entering my 40th year in the healthcare field and it is truly been a privilege to service the Jefferson Parish and Orleans community over many years. I am a native of Metairie, Louisiana and am extremely committed and dedicated to the field of Rehabilitation. I currently manage the Inpatient Rehab Unit, the Skilled Nursing Unit, the Geriatric Behavioral Unit, the Wellness Center, Outpatient Rehabilitation and the Physical, Occupational and Speech Therapy teams.

My letter to you is to share the positive outcomes that EJGH has experienced since we were purchased by LCMC. Our team was most familiar with LCMC since they were managing Children's Hospital, West Jefferson Medical Center, Touro, and New Orleans East Hospital and Touro. It was an exciting day when we found out that LCMC was going to buy us and fully commit to our organization and the community. EJGH was unable to survive independently without becoming a part of a health system. We were fortunate to have LCMC purchase EJGH and now we have become a part of a health system that I am most proud to work with.

Over my years of working in many hospitals in the New Orleans area, LCMC healthcare has been a breath of fresh air to us at EJGH. The best part is that LCMC has continued the great personalized culture we have here and added even more to make us extraordinary!! Our team has felt most welcomed to become part of LCMC as of day one. LCMC has a personal touch with care that makes us more than a number. We actually feel part of a great team that serves many across our community. In addition, shortly after the purchase, we were quick to see capital dollars roll into EJGH with upgrades on the exterior part of the building to enlarging the Emergency Department and the Surgery Department. It means a lot to see the hospital move from a maintaining position to proactive in technology, growth, and team member engagement and patient satisfaction.

*I was unsure how my career would end several years ago, but now I stand confident with LCMC in my future and the future of our community.
I am one thankful team member of LCMC and proud to call myself part of the LCMC family.*

*Warmest Regards,
Winnie*

To whom it may concern:

As a leader at LCMC Health, I am proud to support the proposed partnership with Tulane University. I have the pleasure of serving as the AVP of Academic Affairs for LCMC Health. Previously, I served in the role of Director of Academic Affairs at University Medical Center New Orleans. In my time with this organization, I have seen the true value LCMC Health places in high-quality patient care and employees like myself. I tell everyone how I am blessed to work for an organization that cares so much about the well-being of its patients and employees.

Before I joined the LCMC Health family of hospitals, I spent several years at a Baton Rouge teaching hospital, also serving in a leadership role within academic affairs.

I can tell you from my own experience working in different health systems---the importance LCMC Health places on the level of excellence for 1) patient care within the Greater New Orleans community and 2) academics and our future healthcare workforce----it is like no other.

With the addition of the Tulane hospitals into the LCMC Health system, this partnership will bring LCMC Health and Tulane University employees new and expanded opportunities for growth and advancement. We have the opportunity to transform the healthcare landscape by bringing new investments and growing our teaching mission, all while serving the community. I am extremely excited about the potential for this partnership and its positive impact. I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership.

As an employee of Tulane Medical School, I am proud to support the proposed partnership with LCMC. This partnership will create an integrated and comprehensive health system that will offer best-in-class, destination health care located right here in our community. The majority of services provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to nearby University Medical Center New Orleans and East Jefferson General Hospital. Some outpatient services will remain at Tulane Medical Center, which will become home to a new nursing program, meeting a critical need in our state for nursing staff.

Academic medical centers are the birthplace of new treatments and technologies, and they provide the most complex and high-quality care. Teaching hospitals provide patients increased access to the latest medical breakthroughs and clinical trials.

Tulane along with LSU and LCMC will transform the future of healthcare in our region by creating centers of extraordinary care for our communities. It will expand opportunities to train the next generation of doctors, nurses and other health care professionals.

Subject: Support for Tulane-LCMC Partnership

To whom it may concern:

With this email I give my most emphatic, highest support for the Tulane-LCMC Partnership.

I am a neurologist. I have been in leadership positions at: 1) the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, MN (where I trained, was then faculty for 20 years, and then served as the system wide Chief of the Movement Disorders Division), 2) at NorthShore University HealthSystem in Chicago (where I was Chair of Neurology and co-Director of the NorthShore Neurological Institute), 3) at the University of Florida, where I has an endowed Chair in Alzheimer's Disease Research, and 4) now at Tulane (where I am Chair of Neurology, and co-Director of the Center for Clinical Neurosciences). I have been a physician for 37 years, and have worked in some of the most acclaimed medical centers in the world. I believe my experiences to be relevant to this discussion.

I support the Tulane-LCMC Partnership for the following reasons:

- Our vision for neurology at Tulane is to lead change: from survivorship to thriver-ship, creating a culture of joy. The LCMC Health affiliation is powerful support of our change vision.
- LCMC Health has demonstrated a clear interest in Tulane Neurology, as evidenced by: 1) our established University Medical Center (UMC) inpatient service, 2) our established UMC residents clinics, 3) compensation for Tulane neurology resident slots, 4) the anticipated launch in 2023 of the multidisciplinary Tulane-LSU-UMC Parkinson's Disease Center, 5) the anticipated relocation and consolidation of the multidisciplinary Tulane Healthy Brain Aging Initiative at UMC also in 2023 (<https://tulanedoctorsneuro.com/healthy-brain-aging-initiative/>) . Further, at East Jefferson Hospital, 5) we have recently launched a Tulane neurocritical care service, and 6) Tulane neurology outpatient clinics at that venue receive many referrals from hospital.
- We will be on one electronic medical record (EMR) platform, Epic, inpatient and outpatient. EPIC is considered by many to be best EMR in the world. This will improve the efficiency of our clinical practices. It will facilitate quality improvement and practice-based research in neurology using the EMR. It will also improve fair billing and collections.

- We will collaboratively build the premier academic neurology service line in the New Orleans region with two medical schools and a health system partner that are local and committed to this community. Even predating this announcement, there have been meetings of Tulane and LSU neurology and UMC hospital leadership to create EMR referral orders, triage algorithms, general neurology access, and to envision additional new programs.
- There will be no immediate changes following the approval of the Tulane-LCMC Partnership. It will be a strategic process of incremental change over two years. The needs of the community we serve and of our Tulane employees will be addressed thoughtfully.
- Tulane and LCMC Health are committed to retaining the faculty and staff at Tulane Health System who support inpatient and outpatient services. We anticipate new positions and opportunities with growth initiatives.
- We fully expect that the education of our medical students and residents will benefit from the LCMC Health relationship, to include better facilities, a better EMR platform, and a larger referral source of patients, with more inpatient and outpatient practice sites. We are encouraged that the new relationship will support residency program growth, clinical research, and our overall academic mission.

The Tulane-LCMC Partnership, if approved, will transform healthcare in New Orleans, Louisiana, and the Gulf Coast and South-Central US regions. I plead for your support.

LCMC Health and Tulane University have announced plans to join forces to expand access to comprehensive and specialty care across Southeast Louisiana, enhance the region's capabilities as a destination for medical innovation and training, and provide extensive community investments and benefits. I am proud to support the proposed partnership. Both organizations call Louisiana home and have contributed significantly to the vibrancy of our state.

Upon approval of the proposed partnership, Tulane Medical Center, Lakeview Regional Medical Center, and Tulane Lakeside Hospital will join LCMC Health. The majority of services provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to East Jefferson General Hospital and University Medical Center New Orleans.

This partnership will bring together an award-winning, community-based healthcare system and a nationally recognized, leading research university, resulting in the collaboration our state and region need to make Louisiana a destination for healthcare.

Subject: Support for LCMC/Tulane partnership - public comment for today's meeting

Dear Ms. Freel:

As the Director of the New Orleans Health Department and a practicing physician in New Orleans, I write in support of the proposed collaboration between LCMC Health and Tulane University. This partnership is a critical opportunity to improve access to high quality care for residents, advance medical education and training, and strengthen the biomedical sector in the region.

The partnership between LCMC and Tulane unites community and academic medicine - a partnership that will have important implications for graduate medical education. It creates more opportunities for medical residents to rotate at facilities across the region, enhancing the care provided to patients today and strengthening the pipeline of healthcare professionals who will choose to make New Orleans the place they practice in the future.

The financial investments that both entities have committed to this collaboration are also greatly needed. Funding for capital and programmatic improvements will be used to maintain the highest clinical standards of care and patient experience, invest in new equipment and facilities, and ensure that health care facilities attract the best and brightest medical providers. New investments by LCMC and Tulane University will also drive job creation and economic activity in and around downtown New Orleans.

The union of these two well-respected organizations is a win-win for the city of New Orleans and its residents and I urge the State to grant its approval.

Sincerely,

Dr. Jennifer Avegno
Director, New Orleans Health Department

To the Office of the Attorney General:

As an employee of Tulane Medical School, I am proud to support the proposed partnership with LCMC. Academic medical centers are the birthplace of new treatments and technologies, and they provide the most complex and high-quality care. Teaching hospitals provide patients with increased access to the latest medical breakthroughs and clinical trials. Tulane along with LSU and LCMC will transform the future of healthcare in our region by creating centers of extraordinary care for our communities.

The partnership between LCMC Health and Tulane University will be transformational for the New Orleans region, and greatly benefit patients, staff, and our community.

It will advance groundbreaking research, innovative technology, and lifesaving treatments that ensure patients and communities can receive the highest quality of care, right here in the greater New Orleans region.

It will expand opportunities to train the next generation of physicians, nurses, and scientists.

This partnership will increase access to comprehensive care in downtown New Orleans and create new hubs for specialty care, innovation, and academic medicine in both Orleans and Jefferson Parishes.

The organizations involved will be collaborating and working together to put patients' best interests first to make great things happen.

Maintaining access to affordable, high quality health care is essential to this partnership.

This partnership will create an integrated and comprehensive health system that will offer best-in-class, destination health care located right here in our community.

The majority of services provided at Tulane Medical Center will shift to nearby University Medical Center New Orleans and East Jefferson General Hospital. Some outpatient services will remain at Tulane Medical Center, which will become home to a new nursing program, meeting a critical need in our state for nursing staff.

Why?

LCMC Health and Tulane University are mission-based organizations that call Southeast Louisiana home.

We have shared values and a vision to partner to bring the best of community healthcare and academic medicine to all those we serve.

This partnership will strengthen the relationship between LCMC Health and Tulane University which already exists at Children's Hospital.

It will also deepen Tulane's long standing relationship with LSU Health.

Academic Medical Centers (teaching hospitals)

Academic medical centers are the birthplace of new treatments and technologies, and they provide the most complex and high-quality care. These technologies and treatments are often the drivers of growth, which create industries and jobs that improve quality of life for the entire region.

These centers are unique with doctors and researchers all working together to provide to create new therapeutics, treatments and increased clinical trials that are only possible with academic medical centers.

The partnership will make UMC stronger and create a new teaching hospital in Jefferson Parish, creating a robust health care system which will allow LA citizens to stay home for their care and bring new patients for outside the region looking for quality care.

Medical schools and major teaching hospitals also provide communities with the kind of complex care often unavailable elsewhere and provide treatment for a disproportionately high percentage of Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries, and the uninsured.

Education & Training

Tulane University, LCMC Health, and LSU Health's shared commitment will create more opportunities for students and residents to rotate at facilities across the region. These training experiences will not only enhance the care provided to patients today, but strengthen the pipeline of physicians, nurses and others who will choose to make New Orleans the place they live and practice for decades to come.

As a result of this partnership, Tulane will be creating a new nursing program in downtown New Orleans. We already know the nursing shortage that is affecting healthcare systems and communities across the country. This shortage is felt deeply in Louisiana, where almost one-third (29%) of Registered Nurses plan to retire within 10 years.

Tulane University's new nursing program will create new paths and expand the pipeline of students eager to enter the nursing field – making meaningful progress towards addressing the projected 2,475 unfilled full-time nursing positions projected in New Orleans by 2025.

I urge you to support the proposed LCMC Health – Tulane University partnership. Thank you for your consideration.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF COMPLIANCE

Effective: December 28, 2022

I. Legally Binding Effect of these Terms and Conditions and Corrective Action Plans

- A. Conditions of COPA Approval and Applicability of Terms and Conditions. The terms and conditions set forth herein (“Terms and Conditions”) are required as a condition for approval of the Certificate of Public Advantage (“COPA”) submitted by the above-named Applicants. The Louisiana Department of Justice, Office of the Attorney General (“DOJ”) may, at any time, alter these terms and conditions as it deems necessary to ensure that the COPA meets statutory and regulatory requirements. Pursuant to the terms of the proposed transaction among the Applicants for which a COPA application was submitted, LCMC Health will become the sole owner of Tulane University Medical Center, Tulane Lakeside Hospital, and Lakeview Regional Medical Center (collectively, the “UHS Hospitals”). As the sole owner of the UHS Hospitals and the operator of LCMC Health’s six hospitals (Children’s Hospital New Orleans, East Jefferson General Hospital, New Orleans East Hospital,¹ Touro Infirmery, University Medical Center New Orleans, and West Jefferson Medical Center) (together with the UHS Hospitals, the “Combined Entity”), LCMC Health (the “New Health System”) will serve as the sole continuing operator of the Combined Entity and the sole entity subject to these Terms and Conditions. The New Health System does not have the right to withdraw from these COPA Terms and Conditions during the term of the COPA. Further, pursuant to Louisiana Revised Statute 40:2254.4(D), any amendment to the terms of the transaction submitted by the Applicants or any material change in the operations or conduct of the New Health System shall be considered to be a new agreement and shall not take effect or occur until the DOJ has issued a new COPA approving such amendment or material change. The New Health System shall follow the timeframes and procedures set forth in the statutory and regulatory framework for COPA applications with regard to notifying the DOJ of any amendments or material changes.
- B. Corrective Action Plan. If, at any time, the DOJ determines that an activity of the New Health System is inconsistent with the policy goals described in Louisiana Revised Statute 40:2254.1, et. seq., the DOJ will notify the New Health System that it must adopt a plan to correct any deficiency in its activities. Within thirty (30) calendar days of notification, the New Health System shall return a written corrective action plan to the DOJ responding to each cited deficiency, including timeframes for corrections, together with any additional evidence of compliance. If the DOJ determines that the corrective action plan does not sufficiently address each cited deficiency, it will notify the New Health System that it must submit a revised corrective action plan within twenty (20) days of notification. If the DOJ determines that the corrective action plan does sufficiently address each cited deficiency (“Corrective Action Plan”), the New Health System shall use best efforts to implement the Corrective Action Plan and submit progress reports to the DOJ as set forth therein.

¹ New Orleans East Hospital (“NOEH”) is not owned by LCMC Health; LCMC Health manages NOEH, which is not financially integrated into LCMC Health. NOEH is a Hospital Service District hospital and a political subdivision of the state. Accordingly, NOEH contracts separately and is not part of the LCMC Health payor contracting process.

CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC ADVANTAGE
TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF COMPLIANCE

Effective: December 28, 2022

- C. Remedies. If the DOJ is not satisfied with any submitted corrective action plan, if the New Health System fails to comply with the terms and conditions set forth herein, fails to comply with any Corrective Action Plan, or if the DOJ otherwise determines that the transaction is not resulting in lower health care costs or greater access to or quality of health care, the DOJ reserves the right to revoke the COPA as provided for in Louisiana Revised Statute 40:2254.6. Additionally, the DOJ may pursue any other enforcement mechanisms available to it by law, including but not limited to injunctive relief.
- D. Court Costs and Attorney Fees. If it becomes necessary for the DOJ to file suit to enforce any provision of law, regulation, the terms and conditions of any Corrective Action Plan, or these terms and conditions, the New Health System shall be responsible for all costs associated with any such litigation, including but not limited to all court costs and attorneys' fees.
- E. Release of Liability for Corrective Action Plans. Subject to Louisiana Revised Statute 40:2254.7, the approval of any Corrective Action Plan does not confer any responsibility or liability for damages on the State of Louisiana or any of its officers, directors, employees, agents, or consultants. Applicants and their successors and assigns hereby RELEASE AND FOREVER DISCHARGE the State of Louisiana and all of its officers, directors, employees, agents, and consultants from any and all damages claims, debts, demands, losses, and liabilities whatsoever, known or unknown, whether in law or in equity, resulting from, respecting, relating to, or arising out of any Corrective Action Plan, which either party now has or may later discover. The New Health System may appeal a final decision on a corrective action plan or rate review decision in the manner provided in the Administrative Procedure Act.
- F. The New Health System may designate as "Confidential" and redact any document or material submitted to the DOJ that is exempt from disclosure under the Louisiana Public Records Act, including any document or material containing trade secret, proprietary, or competitively sensitive information. In accord with Louisiana Revised Statute 44:4 et seq. and other applicable statutes, rules, and regulations, nothing in the Terms and Conditions limits the New Health System from claiming any exceptions, exemptions, and limitations to the laws pertaining to public records.

II. Purpose and Vision – Creating Value for Louisiana Citizens

The purpose of COPA law and similar statute-regulated transactions is to better serve the citizens of Louisiana by pursuing and attaining the key aims of value-based healthcare, namely—

- Cost: Decreased costs of care
- Quality: Improved quality of care
- Access: Increased access to care

For COPA and other transactions, the State of Louisiana, through the Louisiana DOJ, aspires to work with healthcare organizations to help the DOJ and the nation to achieve these goals. For approval to be granted, the DOJ must have reasonable assurances that these goals will be met.

CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC ADVANTAGE
TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF COMPLIANCE

Effective: December 28, 2022

Ultimately, decreased costs, improved quality, and increased access to healthcare aim to create better patient engagement, higher patient satisfaction, and more value for patients.

III. Guiding Principles and Expectations for Monitoring

The New Health System agrees to pursue these goals and to employ these guiding principles, which will be key to monitoring the transaction and ensuring its future success.

- A. Relevant Metrics: The New Health System will be responsible for gathering, analyzing, and presenting its performance on relevant metrics to cost, quality, and access on a regular basis. The DOJ reserves the right to change, add, or remove metrics as it deems necessary to ensure that the COPA meets statutory and regulatory requirements.
- B. Competitive Benchmarking: The New Health System will be expected to measure and report its performance in cost, quality, and access compared to national benchmark or relevant peer competitors within the markets it serves, the State of Louisiana, or any other areas (such as neighboring states or similar metropolitan areas in other states, etc.) as appropriate and as may be added at the discretion of the DOJ as it deems necessary to ensure that the COPA meets statutory and regulatory requirements, to the extent that relevant information on such competitors is publicly available.
- C. Continuous Improvement: The New Health System should strive to create, build, and maintain a culture of excellence and continuous improvement. The DOJ expects the New Health System to show meaningful improvement in cost, quality, and access every year. The New Health System should improve beyond its baseline performance (past performance for the quarter and year prior to approval), and also relative to its peer group or competitive set.

IV. Key Monitoring Elements in the Louisiana Statute

Louisiana Revised Statute 40:2254.11 provides as follows:

If the department issues a certificate of public advantage, the facilities to whom the certificate has been issued shall submit a report to the department evaluating whether the cooperative, merger, joint venture, or consolidation agreement submitted to and approved by the department has been complied with during the preceding year and, if applicable, evaluating whether any terms and conditions imposed by the department when it issued the certificate have been met or otherwise satisfied during the preceding year. The report must be submitted annually or more frequently if required by the department. The department shall in turn issue findings as to whether the terms and conditions are being met or otherwise satisfied. The department shall keep copies of all reports and findings based on the reports.

CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC ADVANTAGE
TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF COMPLIANCE

Effective: December 28, 2022

Louisiana Admin. Code tit. 48, Part XXV, §517 outlines the information and supporting data that must be submitted by the New Health System. Annual reports following an approved COPA transaction shall include, but not be limited to, the following information:

- an update of all the information required in the COPA application;
- any change in the geographic territory that is served by the health care equipment, facilities, personnel, or services which are subject of the transaction;
- a detailed explanation of the actual effects of the transaction on each party, including any change in volume, market share, prices, and revenues;
- a detailed explanation of how the transaction has affected the cost, access, and quality of services provided by each party; and
- any additional information requested by the DOJ.

Louisiana Admin. Code tit. 48, Part XXV, §509 provides that the fee due with the filing of the reports required by Louisiana Revised Statute 40:2254.11 and described in Sections VIII-X shall be $15,000. If the actual cost incurred by the DOJ is greater, the parties involved shall pay any additional amounts due as instructed by the DOJ.

V. Structure of Monitoring

The DOJ will direct the monitoring of an approved COPA application. At its discretion, the DOJ may assign another existing or new department within the State of Louisiana, or an external organization, to monitor the New Health System and the terms of the COPA application, or to provide monitoring support to the DOJ. (The DOJ or other organization that does the monitoring is hereafter referred to as the “Monitoring Agency” or together, the “Monitoring Agencies”).

The New Health System will be required to submit advanced written notice of certain events and reports that include specific information at the request of the Monitoring Agency. The Monitoring Agency will require reports according to the following schedule:

- A. Rate Review – During the term of the COPA, the New Health System will be required to submit information related to changes in rates to the Monitoring Agency as described in Section VI.
- B. Quarterly Reports – Quarterly reports will include an update on the transaction objectives as set forth in the COPA application and supplemental submission, with specific focus on updates on the investment and repurposing of facilities claims. Quarterly reports will be required for first three (3) years or until completion of application objectives, whichever is longer.
- C. Semi-Annual Reports – Semi-annual reports will require submission of a set of key metrics tied to cost, quality, and access. The reports will be submitted semi-annually for first five (5) years following the transaction.
- D. Annual Reports – During the term of the COPA, the New Health System will be required to submit annual reports that detail an update on its application, a description of any change

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF COMPLIANCE

Effective: December 28, 2022

to geographic territory, any changes in volume, market share, prices, and revenues, and a detailed explanation of how the transaction has affected cost, quality, and access.

The time periods for which quarterly and semi-annual reports will be required may be shortened or extended at the discretion of the Monitoring Agency. All annual reports should be submitted on or before the anniversary of the COPA approval date. Quarterly reports are to be submitted in 90-day increments after the anniversary of the COPA approval date and semi-annual reports are to be submitted in 180-day increments, while applicable, after the anniversary of the COPA approval date. In the event of a hurricane, earthquake, flood, tornado, natural disaster, public health emergency, epidemic, pandemic or disease outbreak, or other force majeure event or “act of God” that affects the ability of the New Health System to submit a report during the time periods outlined herein, the New Health System must contact the DOJ to determine a late report submission date that is mutually agreed upon by the New Health System and the DOJ.

VI. Rate Review

A. The New Health System may not contract with a third-party payor for a change in rates for any services provided by such New Health System without the prior written approval of the DOJ. At least sixty (60) days before the proposed implementation of any change in rates for any services provided by the New Health System under a newly negotiated third-party payor contract, the New Health System shall submit any proposed changes in rates to the DOJ for approval. The information submitted to the DOJ must include, at a minimum:

- i. Completion of any Rate Review application form which may be adopted by the DOJ;
- ii. The proposed change in rate(s);
- iii. For an agreement with a third-party payor other than an agreement with a managed care organization that provides or arranges for the provision of services under the Medicare or Medicaid programs, information showing:
 - a. That the New Health System and the third-party payor have agreed to the proposed rates;
 - b. Whether the proposed rates are less than the corresponding amounts in a relevant price index published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor relating to services for which the rates are proposed, or a comparable price index chosen by the DOJ if the relevant price index is abolished; and
 - c. If the proposed rates are above the corresponding amount in the relevant price index, a justification for proposing rates above the corresponding amounts in such index.

CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC ADVANTAGE
TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF COMPLIANCE

Effective: December 28, 2022

iv. To the extent allowed by federal law, for an agreement with a managed care organization that provides or arranges for the provision of services under the Medicare or Medicaid programs, information showing:

a. Whether the proposed rates are different from rates under an agreement that was in effect before the date of the transaction;

b. Whether the proposed rates are different from the rates most recently approved by the DOJ for the New Health System, if the DOJ has previously approved rates following the issuance of the COPA; and

c. If the rates exceed the rates those described in subparagraphs (a) or (b) of this paragraph, a justification for proposing rates in excess; and

v. Any information concerning costs, patient volumes, acuity, payor mix, or other information requested by the DOJ.

a. To the extent that the DOJ requests such information, such information shall be provided no later than twenty (20) business days from the request.

B. The Monitoring Agency shall approve or deny the proposed rate change within sixty (60) days from receipt of a notice of proposed rate change.

C. The rate review process intends to ensure that rates remain at a level that is supported by economic, cost, or other growth trend indicators. The DOJ, in its sole discretion, may designate an individual or entity to review the provided materials and make a recommendation to the DOJ. The Monitoring Agency may evaluate proposed rate increases by comparing the proposed rates to: (1) price indexes, (2) cost report data and trends, (3) governmental program rates, and (4) other information as provided by the New Health System or as deemed necessary by Monitoring Agency. Based on evaluation, the DOJ shall approve the proposed rates unless the DOJ determines that rates inappropriately exceed competitive rates for comparable services in the New Health System's market area.

VII. Notice

The New Health System must provide written notice to the DOJ at least ninety (90) days in advance of any mergers, acquisitions, joint ventures, or other partnership arrangements.

VIII. Report Elements – Quarterly Reports

The New Health System must submit quarterly reports, in accordance with the schedule set forth in Section V, providing an update on the transaction objectives cited in the COPA application regarding the investments and repurposing of facilities, including but not limited to the following:

A. Changes in services at the Tulane University Medical Center New Orleans (“TUMC”) facility in Orleans Parish, to the extent available, related to:

CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC ADVANTAGE
TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF COMPLIANCE

Effective: December 28, 2022

- i. Creation of new nursing program in Orleans Parish;
 - ii. Development of downtown campus;
- B. Creation of a new, premier academic medical center and leading teaching institution in Jefferson Parish at East Jefferson General Hospital (“EJGH”), including:
- i. Transition or relocation of advanced clinical services from TUMC to EJGH;
 - ii. Investment in capital improvements at EJGH, Tulane Lakeside, and Lakeview;
- C. Creation of Centers of Excellence;
- D. Engagement in medical research;
- E. Expansion of electronic medical record system to Tulane Lakeside and Lakeview;
- F. Access changes such as:
- i. Material openings, closures, or mergers of outpatient facilities;
 - ii. Material openings, closures, or mergers of inpatient services; or
 - iii. Material service line changes.
- G. Any changes or events requiring reporting to The Joint Commission or other accrediting bodies, including any change in accreditation status.

IX. Report Elements – Semi-Annual Reports

The New Health System must submit semi-annual reports in accordance with the schedule set forth in Section V. To serve as long- and short-term baseline comparators, the New Health System should include data from one (1) year prior to the merger and one (1) quarter before the merger. Semi-annual reports should include data from these two (2) baseline comparators, in addition to the data from all preceding reports. Where possible, the New Health System should also compare the following measures to the top two (2) to four (4) competitors in the area. The semi-annual reports must include the following elements, to the extent available:

Cost

- Number of patients who benefited from charity care
- Description of capital investments
- Overall cost of agency nurses (details to be kept confidential)
- List of open care delivery positions
- Summary of charges billed and payments received for inpatient care, including drugs, from each facility
- Dollar value and service volume of programs and services for poor and underserved communities
- Final Medicare cost reports

Quality

- Patient satisfaction ratings

CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC ADVANTAGE
TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF COMPLIANCE

Effective: December 28, 2022

- Readmission rates
- A summary of quality improvement measures for each hospital
- CMS star ratings
- Leapfrog safety rating

Access

- Staffed bed changes greater than ten percent (10%) compared to the same period in the prior year.
- Inpatient volumes, broken down by major classifications such as pediatrics, women's health, Med Surg, ICU, etc.
- Outpatient volumes, broken down by each outpatient category, such as primary and specialty clinic visits, emergency department, outpatient surgery, etc.
- Emergency department times in minutes for each hospital
- Number of providers who have privileges to practice
- Current number of physicians, nurses, PAs in the market area and employed by the New Health System
- Number of newly recruited physicians seeing patients by the New Health System to the area in the past year

X. Report Elements – Annual Reports

In addition to the quarterly and semi-annual reports, the New Health System must submit annual reports as required by Louisiana law. The report must include all report elements listed for the quarterly and semi-annual reports, in addition to the following:

- A. An update of all the information required in the application. Provide an update on the claims made in the initial and supplemental COPA applications.
- B. Any change in the geographic territory that is served by the health care equipment, facilities, personnel, or services which are subject of the transaction. Provide detailed explanation of any change in geographic territory that is served by the health care equipment, facilities, personnel, or services which are subject to the transaction.
- C. A detailed explanation of the actual effects of the transaction on each party, including any change in volume, market share, prices, and revenues:
 - i. Volume: Provide a detailed account of how volumes have been impacted by the transaction.
 - ii. Market share: Provide a detailed account of how market share has been impacted by the transaction.
 - iii. Price: Provide a detailed account of how prices have been impacted by the transaction. Provide prices for a key group of services/procedures – recommend the most common

CERTIFICATE OF PUBLIC ADVANTAGE
TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF COMPLIANCE

Effective: December 28, 2022

- ten (10) to thirty (30) procedures or services. Include charts that compare change in price to general inflation and health care inflation.
- iv. Revenue: Provide a detailed account of how revenues have been impacted by the transaction.
- D. A detailed explanation of how the transaction has affected the cost, access, and quality of services provided by each party. Provide a narrative explanation of the transaction's impact on cost, quality, and access.

XI. Release of Liability

Subject to Louisiana Revised Statute 40:2254.7, the granting of a COPA application does not confer any responsibility or liability for damages on the State of Louisiana or any of its officers, directors, employees, agents, or consultants. Applicants and their successors and assigns hereby RELEASE AND FOREVER DISCHARGE the State of Louisiana and all of its officers, directors, employees, agents, and consultants from any and all damages claims, debts, demands, losses, and liabilities whatsoever, known or unknown, whether in law or in equity, resulting from, respecting, relating to, or arising out of any COPA application or approval, which such party now has or may later discover.

RE: Rate Review Application April 21, 2023

Dear Jody:

Our office has reviewed LCMC Health's Rate Review Application submitted on April 21, 2023, and the subsequent submissions made during May 2023 and June 2023. Based on comparisons to Bureau of Labor Statistics data available, we believe the rate increases are reasonable, and we are approving the Blue Cross Blue Shield and United Healthcare contracts as provided by LCMC Health, with the following notations:

1. Regarding the Blue Cross Blue Shield contracts for Children's Hospital, Touro, University Medical Center, and West Jefferson Medical Center, the rate increases should not be effective until June 21, 2023 rather than the April 1, 2023 date used. However, given the number of claims and the system changes that would be required to re-bill these claims, we are willing to approve the April 1, 2023 effective date, if you delay the proposed second-year increase for these contracts to July 1, 2024 rather than April 1, 2024, this will result in LCMC receiving approximately the same increase if the June 21, 2023 effective date had been used.
2. We want to monitor the actual transplant cases performed by the Tulane Health System under the Blue Cross Blue Shield contract to ensure the caseload is comparable to historical volumes.
3. We strongly urge LCMC to comply with all provisions of Section VI, Rate Review Section of the Certificate of Public Advantage dated December 28, 2022. LCMC Health should devise processes, communication methods, and timelines that will allow for proper effective dates for rate review going forward.

If you have any questions or if you would like to discuss this matter further, feel free to contact us.

Sincerely,
